The tour of Canada can not be a sight-seeing visit. It will be remembered by the Royal couple as a country whose roads are always lined by cheering men, women and children. Interiors of its buildings are crowd-filled rooms full of flashing bulbs of photographers. Life in the country as they have seen it, is a series of state luncheons, processions, military reviews, hospital tours and presentations of gifts.

From early morning until midnight or after they are almost constantly in the public eye. It might be exciting and exhilarating to wave to the crowds for one procession, sit on the dais at one state dinner, tour a single hospital and review one regiment. When it is a day-to-day experience, it resolves into a deadly grind.

The Princess must make small talk with an assortment of dignitaries—and with most of them it seems like slow going. She rarely meets people of her own age.

Not Exactly Thrilling

At least once in every town visited, the Princess receives a bouquet from a little girl or boy. This touches the local people, but occasionally there has been mild disappointment when the Princess did not respond to this ceremony as her mother invariably did during the Royal visit in 1939. Queen Elizabeth usually engaged in animated conversation and accepted the bouquet.

But Princess Elizabeth, who conducts herself with utter correctness, is young and this is the first time she has been really on her own. She's like a young actress who has learned her lines well, but as yet is still too self-conscious to try any ad libbing.

Food must be a grave problem to the travelling pair. At every important stop there's an official luncheon and dinner. The menus are frightening affairs of at least seven courses, featuring elaborate, rich dishes. A stevedore couldn't whip through such meals a couple of times a day without endangering digestion and figure, but the Princess must try to give the impression that she is eating heartily lest she offend. A couple of times when she skipped courses, notice was taken.

126-hour Week

After a week of this endurance contest, Elizabeth and Philip obviously were a couple of weary people — and they had almost another month of travel to face.

If this Royal tour does nothing more, it will banish forever an American notion that a monarch and his family hold down sinecures. Elizabeth is putting in a 126-hour work week—and there's no overtime pay.

Kurt Meyer Sent Back To Germany

To Serve Sentence In Prison Operated By British

OTTAWA, Oct. 19. (CP) — Kurt Meyer, the Nazi general convicted of complicity in the 1944 shootings of 18 Canadian prisoners of war, is on his way back to Germany—and another prison.

Shortly after the departure Thursday night of the 42-year-old German war criminal in an RCAF plane from Greenwood, NS, the government announced the transfer will not change Meyer's sentence of life imprisonment.

"As Meyer is the only German war criminal now held in prison outside of Germany, his transfer to a prison in Germany has been decided upon," an army headquarters statement said. "There he will serve his sentence along with other war criminals convicted by American, Canadian and British military courts.

Administered By British

"The prison to which Meyer is being sent is administered by the British occupation authorities and a number of other German war criminals are incarcerated there. His transfer will not change his sentence."

A group in the Maritimes has been trying for some time to have Meyer—in Dorchester, NB, penitentiary for the last 5½ years—released or transferred.

Meyer has been reported despondent and threatening to commit suicide over the long separation from his wife and five children in Germany.

Meyer, a thick-set, broad-shouldered former Hitler bodyguard five feet, 10 inches tall and with cold, grey-blue eyes, was placed behind the high, stone walls at Dorchester April 30, 1946.

He had been sentenced to death on Dec. 28, 1945, after a special Canadian military trial at Aurich, Germany, which ended Dec. 28, 1945.

This was reduced to life imprisonment on Jan. 14, 1946, by Maj.-Gen. Chris Vokes, then head of Canada's occupation force and now head of the army's western comand with headquarters at Edmonton. Gen. Vokes ruled Meyer's degree of responsibility did not warrant the extreme penalty.

The Weather

Peterborough Temperatures:

Today:
Night low..46 Noon...46
Noon barometer.....29.4

Yesterday:
Highest....69 Lowest..41

One Year Ago:
Highest....74 Lowest..43

Official forecasts issued by the Dominion public weather office at 9.30 a.m. EST today:

Synopsis:

The cool weather that has prevailed over Northern Ontario and the mid-west has finally spread into Southern Ontario this morning.

A disturbance developed suddenly over Lake Michigan on Thursday and moved rapidly northeastward causing rain and snow over Central and Northern Ontario. In its wake the cooler air surged eastward and this morning temperatures dropped sharply over southern sections of the province.

The cool weather will continue over the province on Saturday but winds will diminish considerably resulting in a pleasant autumn day.

Regional forecasts valid until midnight Saturday:

Lake Erie, Niagara, Lake Ontario regions: Windsor, Hamilton, Toronto cities:

Cloudy today with showers ending this afternoon. Clear with a few cloudy intervals tonight and Saturday. Continuing cool. Winds northwest 15 today, light tonight and Saturday. Low tonight and high Saturday at St. Thomas 32 and 45, St. Catharines, Windsor, Hamilton and Toronto 35 and 50, Trenton 35 and 45.

Summary for Saturday—Continuing cool.

Lake Huron, Georgian Bay, Haliburton regions; London city:

Cloudy with showers of rain and snow today. Cloudy and continuing cool Saturday. Winds northwest 20 today, light Saturday. Low tonight and high Saturday at Wingham and London 32 and 45, Muskoka and Killaloe 30 and 45.

Summary for Saturday—Cloudy and cool.

Bettors Give Attlee Chance

LONDON, Oct. 19 (AP). — British bettors showed today they think the chances of Prime Minister Attlee's Labor government winning the Oct. 25 election are improving.

Enough money was laid on Labor's chances to shorten the odds offered by London's legal bookmakers. One leading handbook cut its price against a Labor victory to 3 to 1 today. They had been offering 7 to 2.

The best offer against Winston Churchill and his Conservatives winning, however, remained at 2 to 9.

Stock Prices Mixed On Toronto Exchange

Increased demand for western oil stocks provided most of the increased volume of 2,420,000 shares. Base metals remained relatively quiet.

Agricultures and miscellaneous industrials took over as the market's strongest sections. Gains were fractional.

A broad list of western oils showed turnovers ranging to about 70,000 shares. Anglo-Canadian, Calmont, Gridoil, Kroy, Pacific Petroleum, Royalite, United Oil, Western Homestead and Sapphire posted gains to about 50 cents. Devon-Leduc, Central Explorations, Selburn and General Petroleum A eased.

Base metals developed little trend. Falconbridge and International Nickel added fractions while Consolidated Smelters and Quemont dipped.

Senior golds weakened slightly. Giant Yellowknife, Hollinger and Lake Shore edged lower. Malartic strengthened.

Informal Calgary Stampede Delights Royal Couple

CALGARY, Oct. 19. (CP)—This ranch-land city of 125,000 which likes to brag it has "everything under the sun" welcomed Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh with just about that. There was a "royal winter" Stampede, befeathered and war-painted Indians, a stage coach ride and an armful of cowboy-and-Indian gifts for the Royal couple, a ranchman's dinner and songs of which "All the Nice Girls Love a Sailor" was typical.

It was a radical departure from formality and stereotyped welcomes. But while Calgarians came up with almost everything representative of the Old West, they couldn't coax a sun out of snow-filled skies.

The five-hour Calgary visit was the coldest experienced by Elizabeth and Philip on their Canadian tour.

But warm memories remain in this friendly foothills city as the Royal couple, after a two-hour stop-over at Banff and a night spent on an undisclosed mountain siding, continued through the Canadian Rockies today and into interior British Columbia.

Day Of Rest

Today for the Royal couple was the first day of comparative rest since their arrival in Canada Oct. 8. Only four stops are scheduled — 20 minutes at Revelstoke, 10 minutes at Sicamous, 10 minutes at Salmon Arm, and one hour at Kamloops. They are scheduled to arrive at Vancouver tomorrow at 10 a.m. PST (1 p.m. EST).

Alternately showing nervousness and radiant smiling charm, the Princess braved Calgary's 16-above weather—16 degrees of frost—in the full-length mink coat she received as a wedding gift from Canada.

The Prince turned up the collar of his sporty camel-hair overcoat and clamped down on his head his white ten-gallon gift hat as better than half an inch of falling snow was whipped around by an 18-mile-an-hour wind.

After arriving at 10 a.m., the usual official platform welcome and inspection of the three-service, 100-man guard of honor, the visitors toured downtown streets in the Royal car. It was fitted with a transparent plastic top, first used in the tour at Winnipeg.

Crowd Of 100,000

The streets were lined by some 100,000 persons. Calgary's population was augmented by thousands of South Albertans for this first stop-over in Alberta.

The boisterous crowds broke through police lines time and again and ran right up to the Royal car, delaying the procession.

Many Calgarians brought out of moth balls the cowboy hats they have for each mid-summer stampede week.

The visit to the 19-teepee Indian encampment at the Exhibition Grounds, the chuck-wagon dinner and the miniature stampede high-lighted the visit.

At the hastily-erected Indian village, amid the steady beat of tom toms and the guttural chanting of gaily-beaded and buck-skinned braves, the Princess and Duke received the first of a number of gifts for their children.

The handiwork of Southern Alberta's five major tribes—the Blackfoot, Peigans, Stoneys, Bloods and Sarcees—it was a complete Indian costume, topped by headfeathers, for Prince Charles.

Visit With Chief

The Royal couple spent five minutes in the tent of Chief Heavy Shield, where they fired questions about the teepee and Indian life and were shown the original copy of the treaty signed in 1877 between the Indians and their "Great White Mother," Queen Victoria.

Said interpreter Percy Creighton to Princess Elizabeth:

"Your mother is our mother. You are our sister and Prince Philip is our brother-in-law."

A Sarcee wife said of Elizabeth: "She is such a little mother but so nice."

In the "Corral", Calgary's spanking-new hockey arena, the couple ate beef stew for dinner, enthused over a square-dancing exhibition and mingled with some 700 Boy Scouts and Girl Guides. The youngsters cut them off from officials and guards but they did not seem to care.

Outside they stepped into a blue stage coach drawn by four dapple-grey percherons for the drive to the stampede grounds where they were awaited by a crowd of 20,000, mostly children who had started filling the seats 5½ hours before.

Enjoy Performance

Seated on a platform and warmed by electrically-heated blankets, they showed great interest as cowboys ran through one hour of bronc and steer riding, calf roping, steer decorating and wild horse and chuckwagon races.

Prince Philip especially enjoyed this part of the welcome program, receiving explanations from stampede officials and passing them enthusiastically to his wife.

Here they received more gifts —complete cowboy outfits for Prince Charles and Princess Anne, moccasin slippers for Elizabeth and her daughter and a gaily-decorated cowboy shirt for Philip.

The Princess tapped her heels as the young crowd, during a short intermission, sang "She'll be coming around the mountain." They brought a smile and a wave of his Stetson from Philip as they sang "All the Nice Girls Love a Sailor" and "Let Me Call You Sweetheart."

The Royal train pulled out of Calgary 18 minutes late after an unscheduled visit to veterans in the Colonel Belcher hospital.

Use Atom Find Tree Murderer

OTTAWA, Oct. 19 (CP)—The atom is helping to track down a murderer—a tree murderer.

Dr. David A. Keys the scientist in charge of Canada's atomic energy project at Chalk River told the Engineering Institute of Canada about it Thursday.

He was citing examples of the uses being found for radioisotopes, the tracer atoms which are a by-product of the nuclear fission or uranium atom splitting at Chalk River. One field was forestry.

Insects which he described as pine weevils, he said, were spoiling and ruining pine trees and it is important that they be controlled.

So the tracer atoms had been put to work by government biologists to try to track down the sanctuaries where these weavils vanish in winter. Since they can track down flaws in industrial machinery and in the human body, there appeared to be no reason why they couldn't trap the weevil too.

Egypt Starts

banned all assemblies and threatened force against any violators. In Khartoum it was announced a meeting of the Legislative Assembly scheduled for early November had been moved up to next Thursday.

Both British and Egyptian troops were digging in along the canal area.

The British cruiser Gambia arrived Thursday night off Port Said at the Mediterranean end of the canal. Other sea forces were expected soon from the Persian Gulf, and a contingent of 1,000 parachute troops was put at the alert at Trieste for a move to the Suez.

On Secret List

A British spokesman said all Royal Navy movements now are considered "operational" and will be kept secret.

British troops were reported holding a strategic railway bridge three miles west of the canal at Nefisha. The report said the British troops took over the bridge from the Egyptians three days ago and were stopping all trains, checking passengers.

By arrangement with the Egyptian command, British troops are allowing Egyptian soldiers east of the canal to pass through the area if they give 24 hours' notice. Egypt has an army division in the Sinai Peninsula, east of the canal.

The independent newspaper Al Mokattam reported that all leave has been cancelled for officers and soldiers of the Egyptian army.

Dockers Walk Out

A British spokesman at Port Said stated that dock laborers had walked out but the labor situation in the canal area itself was good, with only a few laborers out.

(Reuters News Agency, meanwhile, reported that Egypt had launched an anti-British boycott in the first step of a passive-resistance movement.

(Reuters said thousands of handbills were pasted up during the night in major cities calling for a boycott of British goods.

(The report said a government committee had been set up to organize the movement.)

British troops already held the El Ferdan bridge, which straddles the canal about midway between Port Said and Ismailia. Two Egyptian soldiers were killed in the fight there Wednesday, the first clash between British and Egyptian troops.

A British spokesman said the Britons still held the El Ferdan bridge late Thursday. He doubted the Egyptians would get it back. British sources said they also still controlled Ismailia, where the first rioting broke out Tuesday. The Egyptians said the Britons had withdrawn, leaving Egyptian police in control.

A total of 12 Egyptians were reported killed and scores injured in the rioting which broke out along the canal after Egypt on Monday denounced her 1936 treaty allowing Britain to garrison the Suez area. Britain retorted that she would not accept the one-sided cancellation.

Traffic Undisturbed

Officials of the French-and-British-controlled Suez Canal Company reported on Thursday night that traffic through the great ocean short-cut had not been disturbed by the dispute.

It was learned Thursday that British military families have been evacuated from Suez and Port Said to nearby military camps.

Three more incidents were reported Thursday.

A British Army spokesman said a British supply truck was fired on between Ismailia and Tel-El-Kebir. No damage was reported.

Egyptian authorities in Ismailia announced that the bullet-riddled bodies of two Egyptian soldiers were found early today on the Suez-Ismailia highway, 10 miles south of Ismailia.

In Alexandria, 16 demonstrators were wounded in the legs when police fired to break up a student demonstration.

(In London, Britain tartly warned Egypt she would hold the Cairo government responsible for riot damage to British property in the Suez Canal and elsewhere in Egypt.)

Travellers Hold Ont. Conference

Twenty-five delegates and their wives, representing the 15 Associated Commercial Travellers' clubs scattered throughout the province are attending the association's sixth annual provincial conference being held at the Club Aragon today and tomorrow.

Today, commercial travellers enjoy a recognized status said Ontario Chairman Claude G. Murray of Ottawa. He added that Associated Commercial Travellers' has done much to "improve the salesman's life on the road."

Don Meredith, Peterborough, is provincial vice-chairman of the organization.

Mayor Max Swanston welcomed the delegates to the city when the conference convened this morning. Following the mayor's address, general business was discussed and the discussions will continue this afternoon.

A dance for delegates and their wives and members of the Peterborough A.C.T. club and their wives will be held at Club Aragon tonight. Tomorrow, the two-day convention will wind up with the election of the 1951-52 executive during the morning and will end with a luncheon at noon.

At the Saturday luncheon, dominion president, C. C. Stack of Toronto, first Eastern Canadian to hold the office of A.C.T. dominion president, will deliver an address, and dominion vice-president Hugo Shaw of North Bay will also speak to the conference.

During this morning's session, the conference elected its first permanent secretary-treasurer, T. D. Irvine of Ottawa.

In addition to sponsoring commercial travellers' insurance and awarding certificates of merit to hotels which meet the standards of A.C.T. inspection, the association also does social service work and is currently assisting the Canadian Foundation for Poliomyelitis.

UN Troops Make

A 10-hour Allied assault was beaten off the other hill.

Nearby Red screening forces dug in on hills less than a mile from a battle-scarred ridge line they abruptly abandoned Thursday to Allied troops after a two-week fight.

The Reds probed UN positions in the eastern mountains with a series of unsuccessful attacks.

A US Eighth Army communique indicated fighting was easing off along the front as hopes of renewed truce negotiations revived.

The armor-supported attack on the Kumsong front jumped off at dawn under cover of a morning mist.

Under an Indian summer sun, the Allies seized one hill southwest of Kumsong, attacked the highest hill in the area southeast of the city, and hit a ridge line directly south of Kumsong.

MP's Discuss Cost Of Living Improvements

OTTAWA, Oct. 19 (CP). — It was cost-of-living day again Thursday in the Commons.

The ever-present issue of high prices again formed the backbone of the continuing debate on the speech from the throne, with front-rank members of the government and opposition airing their views on just who—and what—is responsible.

James Sinclair, Parliamentary assistant to the Finance Minister Abbott, and J. M. Macdonnell, Progressive Conservative financial critic, provided differing reasons.

Mr. Sinclair said the trouble is that there is too much money in the hands of the people.

Mr. Macdonnell scoffed and said he wishes some of those who haven't enough "were here to say that they would like to see some of this overabundance of money."

Mr. Sinclair, who represents the British Columbia seat of Coast-Capilano, explained that Canada has an excess of purchasing power.

"We have sufficient consumer goods," he said, "but we have this excess purchasing power bidding for those goods."

Good Record

In a defence of the government's action in not instituting price controls and subsidies, he said Canada's record of fighting inflation at home is one of the best in the world.

Mr. Macdonnell, who sits for Toronto Greenwood, agreed that the whole blame could not be placed on the government, but suggested some of its policies were wrong. For example some of its taxes created inflationary pressures.

He did not want to see a return to the over-all controls of the Second World War, but something should be done.

His regret was that the government and the people generally did not regard inflation as a danger. It was hard to convince people when they were "riding high, wide and handsome that inflation is dangerous."

"If we felt we were in mortal danger," he said, "we would not be acting as we are."

T. N. Marshall Buried

Funeral service for Thomas Norman (Ken) Marshall, 94 Bennett St., who died in hospital Tuesday in his 70th year, was conducted Thursday at 2 p.m. by the Rev. R. E. Dargan of the Free Methodist church. Service was at the Kaye funeral home.

Pallbearers were Gordon Perry, Arthur Gilders, William Cuppy, Alex Sinclair, Earl Payne, Edward Kerr. Burial was in Little Lake Cemetery.

Hospital Plan Impossible Right Now–Frost

ILDERTON, Oct. 19 (CP) — Premier Frost said Thursday night it would be "fraudulent" to set up a government-sponsored hospital scheme in Ontario at the present time.

He was apparently replying to a recent statement by Liberal Leader Walter Thomson promising to initiate a contributory hospital plan.

In an Ontario election campaign address, the premier said there is not enough space in Ontario hospitals to handle the numbers who would be entitled to hospitalization under a compulsary, contributory plan.

The policy of the Conservative government was to provide sufficient hospital space before instituting a government hospital plan.

He said that talk of a provincial hospital plan was "a promise which is clearly for election purposes only."

Couldn't Give Service

"To impose such a plan on our people would be fradulent," he said. "Certainly I would not be guilty of putting my hand in the taxpayer's pocket and taking money for services which could not be performed."

Mr. Frost said that there was a shortage of hospital bed space and nursing personnel in Ontario because few new hospitals were built during the 1930's or the war years. After the war the Ontario government set about making grants to assist in building new hospital space.

"This government has been intensely interested in bringing to Ontario the best possible hospital care to lay foundation for a contributory health system and we have made great progress. What we are doing is based on reason and common sense."

Instal Street Lamps

COBOURG, Oct. 19 (ENS). — The streets are taking on a new appearance in Cobourg. For some months workmen have been installing the new metal standards to support the new street lamps, using earth boring equipment to convey the cable from west of the Town Hall to east of Division Street. Considerable patching work has been done on the paved streets by the public works department, and in general the streets are much improved.

Given Majority

COBOURG, Oct. 19 (ENS). — Well known in Cobourg, Captain Allan Platt, son of Mrs. William Platt of Cobourg, and the late Mr. Platt, has been promoted to the rank of major, his mother was advised this week.

A former Cobourg Collegiate pupil, he served overseas in the Second World War, where he was wounded in the latter stages of the war. He is stationed at the Royal Canadian School of Coast Artillery and Anti-Aircraft at Esquimalt, having been moved there from Picton.

Cobourg Stays Calm As Election Nears

COBOURG, Oct. 19 (ENS). — There is little doing in the political field apart from the work of the enumerators listing the citizens for the voters' list. Just who will carry the Liberal standard is still in the rumor stage, and of course, it is a foregone conclusion that the present member, the Hon. W. A. Goodfellow, will be the Conservative candidate.

From the standpoint of interest, it is hard to believe that the election is only a little over a month away, as so far the public have been very calm and disinterested about the whole thing.

Customs Worker Dies At Cobourg

COBOURG, Oct. 19—(ENS)—Employed in the customs office here for the past 27 years, Cecil V. Niles died suddenly yesterday in his 57th year. Funeral will be on Saturday with interment in St. Peter's Anglican cemetery. Pallbearers will be James Breckenridge, Cliff Boundy, Jack McNab, Cyril Dale, George Pickering and Orin Morris.

He was born in Cobourg and served in the First Great War with the Cobourg Heavy Battery. Surviving are his widow and four daughters, Mrs. Jane Owen and Mrs. Betty Brooks of Hamilton; Mrs. Dorothy Gunsolus of Peterborough and Mrs. Ruth Lewis of Cobourg. A sister, Mrs. D. E. Fisher, resides in Belleville.

Appointed Chancellor

TORONTO, Oct. 19 — (CP) — External Affairs Minister Pearson has been appointed Chancellor of Victoria College, University of Toronto, president A. B. D. Moore announced Thursday night after a meeting of the board of regents. Mr. Pearson is a graduate of Victoria College and at one time taught history at the university. He succeeds Maj.-Gen. A. C. Spencer, of London as Chancellor.

Mary Joanne Gummer

The funeral serivce for Mary Joanne Gummer, four year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Dummer, Dartford, who died after an illness of several months, was held in the Dartford United Church. The Rev. H. G. Lester officiated.

Pallbearers were Stuart Campbell, Donald Sykes, Arthur Ireland and Ray Ward. Floral tributes were carried by several boys and girls of the neighborhood. Burial was in Warkworth cemetery.

Rare Disease

OXFORD, England, Oct. 19 — (Reuters).—A rare disease has sent 134 people here to their beds with high temperatures, severe pains, fever and headaches. So far 110 children and 24 adults have been hit by the epidemic. Known as bornholm disease — after an outbreak first reported in 1910 from the Isle of Bornholm in the Baltic—it is believed to be a virus infection. It is not fatal.

Mr. Ketcheson And The Memorial Centre

Our news columns Wednesday told that Mr. Maurice E. Ketcheson had withdrawn his complaint made officially before Judge J. A. McGibbon, respecting management of the Memorial Community Centre funds. In a letter printed on this page today Mr. Ketcheson explains why he ventured to lodge a request for an official investigation and why he has withdrawn that request.

* * *

Recent Ontario legislation provides that:

"Any person may complain as to the manner in which any person or organization has solicited or procured funds by way of contribution or gift from the public for any purpose, or as to the manner in which any such funds have been dealt with or disposed of."

* * *

Under this clause Mr. Ketcheson, a citizen very much concerned because not a single stone has been laid or even a site chosen for the Centre, felt justified in asking for an investigation. He technically alleged mishandling of the funds collected from patriotic citizens, business firms and local industries to provide a fitting memorial to the city and district men who served during the last war. Mr. Ketcheson has withdrawn his request for an investigation, because the recent legislation is preceded by an Act passed on March 22nd, 1945, by the Legislative Assembly at the request of the City of Peterborough. This takes away the legal validity of his complaint. Mr. Ketcheson did not and has not charged that there has been any criminal misuse of the funds whatsoever. He charges that the funds have not been used at all, that a Memorial Centre was promised, and nothing has come of that promise. The City of Peterborough Act of 1945 does not require the Council or the Memorial Centre committee to put up a building, or any kind of rink whatsoever on or before any date. Therefore Mr. Ketcheson has no legal grounds for his complaint. He had no alternative but to withdraw it.

* * *

Mr. Ketcheson is to be praised for bringing this matter into the open, and as a private citizen taking the unusual step of appealing to the law on a matter of public concern. It is a fine example of citizenship. Cities and their affairs would benefit greatly if more questions were asked, as Mr. Ketcheson attempted to ask under the law. We approve his motives and agree that positive action is required. But we do not agree with him when he says that "We, the citizens, are at the mercy entirely of our City Council." We are not; the City Council is, so to speak, at the mercy of the citizens. It is we who elect aldermen to office. The Council is not a breed of men different from other citizens. They are not scheming autocrats. And they are possessed of at least as much good sense, ability and democratic spirit as other citizens. But like them, they are fallible and can stumble. As a body with special responsibilities they undoubtedly move a little more carefully and cautiously than they might as individual citizens.

* * *

Some positive action is required to allay the fears that the whole project is a dead duck. Everybody knows the situation. No agreement could be reached on a suitable site for the Centre. There is not nearly enough money to build the Centre as planned. Further, no steel is available. The Masons, wishing to build on their new property, applied to the Controller at Ottawa for a permit to get structural steel. This week they were informed that not a foot of steel could be had. But within these obstacles, some decision about the Centre can be made and some reassuring statements issued.

* * *

We suggest that the Committee publicly assess the entire situation, put it plainly to the people who generously gave money for it so long ago, and reassure them that the Memorial Centre will be built as soon as material is available, from the $210,000 (approximately) in hand, the $75,000 which the city has promised, and whatever other sums may be raised. If the building put up does not serve all the purposes planned for it in the brochure, it will at least fill some of them. Let decisions be taken now to go ahead with the Centre as best they can.

* * *

For its parts the Council should put the entire matter under review, strengthen the Memorial Committee if that is needed, and assure the citizens that it will make positive decisions, for instance about the site. The Council can take such decisions, as has been shown by the building of the new City Hall. There was a great pother about its site. But a decision was made. Architects were named. Plans were accepted. A contract was awarded. All this was done, after many years of hesitation, within six months. Now, a year later, we have the building completed. It is a positive fact, a result of somebody making positive decisions. The fine building was put up at a contract price of $643,062, set last year. Already, before it is officially opened and the paint dry, the building is worth, in the estimation of an expert appraiser, $750,000.

* * *

Let such positive action, which has had appreciable good results, be an example to the Council and the Memorial Centre committee in this matter so personally important to many thousands of citizens. Peterborough can build a City Hall within funds provided, even at last year's inflated building costs. It can build a Memorial Centre of some kind or other within the funds available, when the materials can be procured.

Victim Of Nationalism

A violent surge of fanatical Muslim nationalism is sweeping the Middle East, disordering governments, and causing bloodshed. Pakistan has not escaped from the unrest and fanaticism. Its Prime Minister Liaquat Ali Khan was assassinated Tuesday afternoon. His is the third assassination in these disturbed regions in recent months. Premier Ali Raz Mara of Iran was murdered. King Abdullah of Trans-Jordan was violently killed.

These assassinations, though they may be isolated events, coincidences rather than murder according to a planned pattern, do have a deep-lying relationship. In each extremists have been the perpetrators; groups wildly nationalistic, unstable, afire with perverted patriotism, hatred of foreigners and other religions than their own. The Moslem Brotherhood is being more than brotherly. Religious fanaticism veneers the nationalism and the lust for power of agitators. It is this which makes the situation so vicious. The leaders who have been killed generally have stood for a policy of moderation and negotiation in their dealings with other countries and with minorities within their own borders who differ in language or religion. These leaders are being killed off, and the extremists are rising to power on the crests of rioting. Pakistan is particularly unfortunate in losing its moderate Prime Minister at this time.

Both leaders who brought Pakistan to statehood and independence are now dead. The father of the Pakistan nation, Mohammed Ali Jinnah has died. His disciple and successor has been assassinated. Pakistan, already at war with India and burdened by racial and economic problems, is seething. Liaquat Ali Khan's steady hand is no longer at the helm. The nomination of the Governor-General Khwaja Nazimuddin to the premiership and the elevation of the Minister of Finance Ghulam Mohammed to the governorship, temporarily give stability to the government. Both men are moderates; both are friendly to Britain and the U.S.A. The question is whether they are strong enough to continue Liaquat Ali Khan's policies, and to curb the extremists.

On May 31st last year the late Prime Minister of Pakistan addressed the Senate and House of Commons of Canada in Ottawa and enunciated the principles to which he and his government were pledged: to preserve the Muslim religion; to observe "the principles of democracy, freedom, equality, tolerance and social justice as enunciated by Islam," and thirdly, "to safeguard our freedom at all costs."

"For our own part we have no aggressive designs and consider it our moral responsibility to pursue the path of peace and to help in the maintenance of peace and stability everywhere, particularly in the uneasy continent of Asia, on whose future, according to our way of thinking, world peace very largely depends. Nowhere in Asia are the circumstances for the development of the democratic idea more naturally favourable than they are in Pakistan; for nowhere are people more unified and more determined to apply their moral concepts of equality and social and economic justice to promote human welfare and to resist any attempt to tamper with their beliefs. But democracy, in Pakistan or elsewhere, is of little use to the common man unless its advantages are made available to him in his daily life and his standard of living is raised at least to a level which gives him a substantial stake in the way of life which he has chosen for himself."

These were his ideals, not yet realized in Pakistan.

He had a desire to co-operate with India and with the member-nations of the Commonwealth. In his Ottawa speech he affirmed Pakistan's adherence to the Commonwealth. In his concluding sentences he said: "The ideals of a freedom-loving, democratic, but young and underdeveloped country such as ours, could be epitomized in three words—peace, progress and co-operation. These three are but aspects of the same fundamental urge; for there can be no progress without peace, no peace without progress and the removal of the economic disequilibrium, so apparent in Asia, which keeps more than half the world in poverty and the ferment of discontent, or without international co-operation, which we believe to be the greatest need of all countries, great or small."

Fanaticism's murderous fire has bereft Pakistan of this co-operative spirit.

Notes And Queries

By ALPHA

Questions are solicited for this column particularly those relating to local lore and tradition.

SIR: I read recently in an Ottawa paper that every alderman in Ottawa is also a Justice of the Peace. Is that true of Peterborough, that every member of the City Council is therefore a J.P.?

ANSWER: According to Sec. 360 of the Municipal Act, Revised Statutes of Ontario, 1937, the head of every municipal council, the reeve of every town and every deputy reeve, shall be ex-officio, a Justice of the Peace; as also shall every controller and alderman in a city. But this statute was repealed in 1948, and no longer are our aldermen Justices of the Peace because they are aldermen.

For nearly a hundred years, from the Baldwin Act of 1849 until 1948, reeves and aldermen were automatically Justices of the Peace, and had the rights and duties of J.P's. For instance: Alderman R. S. Cotton, Mayor Roland Denne and Dr. T. W. H. Young occasionally sat on the bench at city police court and heard cases. Usually, they merely adjourned them until the magistrate took over.

I doubt very much that Ottawa's councillors are all J.P.'s now, unless there is a special statute for Ottawa's council so providing.

SIX-FOOT-TWO PRINCESS: A newspaper man who went to Trenton to see the parade, the Princess and the Duke there a week ago, today told me of the detailed training at the R.C.A.F. station that preceded the event. Complete rehearsals were carried out several times during the last days, when every drill movement, every detail of the receptions and presentations, was enacted and timed. For instance, the officers and stewards who were to be in the mess where the Princess and the Duke were entertained after the ceremonial parade, rehearsed their positions in the room; their entrances and exits; chewed on imaginary biscuits, held imaginary tea-cups. As little as possible was left to chance. In the drills themselves, a strapping air force man, six-foot-two tall with a large moustache, played the part of the Princess; adjusting his stride to what the officials gauged to be the length of hers, mounted the dais, shook hands with others representing visiting dignitaries, smiled, inspected the troops solemnly. In fact, from arrival at the Air Force gates, by car, to stepping into the big plane which was to take the couple to Toronto, he played the part of the Princess, and others went through the motions in complete rehearsal for the elaborate ceremony. The six-foot-two bowing and coyly-smiling 'Princess' apparently relieved the tedium of the rehearsals and delighted juniors in the ranks.

A TORONTO READER of this column writes: Centennial year history-writing as presented by The Examiner has thrown interesting light on many obscure phases of Peterborough's cultural and commercial development. Yet there seems to have been little or no reference to the private banking operations which were so important in earlier years. "Banking" has come to be associated latterly with the functioning of the chartered banks; but once-familiar names of private bankers will recur in the memories of many people of the older generation. Those remembered off-hand doubtless will include Mulholland and Roper, the Toronto Loan and Savings Company of Peterborough, and James Linton & Company of Lakefield. Perhaps further data will be available from other readers.

BLUENOSE: A Lakefield gentleman walked into Alpha's secret hovel near the jail and thundered: "Alpha. Behold a Bluenose!" I looked, but saw only a cheerful tinge of red on the proboscis confronting me. "I am a native of Nova Scotia, and I want to put you straight on how Bluenoses became Bluenoses." He proceeded to do so with gusto. And so I learn that when United Empire Loyalists, after the American Revolution, took ship from Boston and New York to go north to Nova Scotia so as to continue to live under the Union Jack, acquaintances and rabble left behind on the land jeered at them already chilled on the ship, heading out into the cold sea air: "Off with you, you bluenoses". Said my Nova Scotian native visitor now of Lakefield: "We wear it as a badge of honour. Put that in your column, Alpha". And so I have done.

DEAR ALPHA: In the Examiner's "Weekend" of September 29 there was a quiz on grammar. Would you please explain why the sentence—"I felt bad when I heard the news" is correct. I would use badly instead of bad.

ANSWER: I am not particularly fond of either. 'Bad' or 'badly' is a vague sort of word. I would prefer something more specific: 'I felt unhappy when I heard'; or 'I felt sad'; or lousy, or indignant or grieved. Note that all these words are adjectival. 'Bad' is an adjective, following the copulative verb 'felt' and modifying the subject 'I'. If you use 'badly', the adverb, it conditions the verb 'feel'—almost as if 'feel' were not used copulatively, but in the transitive sense of reaching out the hand to feel an object. Both constructions—'I feel bad', and 'I feel badly'—are allowable, but 'I feel bad' is preferable because it is more idiomatic.

DUKE'S PROMOTION: Early naval promotion for the Duke of Edinburgh is expected, I read this week in a Canadian Press report. He is to be raised from Lieutenant-Commander to Commander. Keen-eyed readers of this column have noticed that Alpha promoted him two weeks ago, in describing his ranks and titles.

FOR THE RECORD: Surely the last ten days were a record in sustained, mild, bright October days—not a frost, a drop of rain, or hardly even a cloud to mar the golden sequence. People went around without overcoats or even jackets, and owners of open cars blithely kept them open all week long.

"Brainy And Brave"

(Lethbridge Herald.)

No city of the same size as Ottawa has ever had a woman mayor before, and even if they had, we cannot imagine one being quite like Charlotte Whitton. She is one of the most forthright persons we know of. When she is against something she is against it with all her might, and likewise when she is for something, she is for it in exactly the same way.

Charlotte Whitton is brainy and brave and, some might say, belligerent. She never does anything by halves and she always knows what she is talking about.

Charlotte has plenty of good common sense, and she could easily prove to be as successful in the office of Mayor of Ottawa as any male who preceded her.

An American View: DIFFICULT TO MAINTAIN A GOOD FRONT

Letters To The Editor

WHY COMPLAINT WITHDRAWN

Sir: If I had known previously to my meeting with His Honour Judge J. A. McGibbon that our City Council had on March 23, 1945 persuaded our Provincial Legislature to pass a Private Bill and Bylaws Nos. 4399 and 4401 in respect to the proposed Memorial Community Centre I would have known I was up against an obstruction to carry out my grievance. I am not pleased that this was done, but there you are, it was passed.

I did not falter without reason in proceeding with my request for an investigation but the same government who passed this bill for the City Council would be the same to do the investigating. Any fair minded citizen will agree on reading the Chapter No. 33 of the 1945 Statutes of Ontario that an amendment would have to be made before anything could be accomplished. We the citizens are at the mercy entirely of our City Council. The amendment as a Bill No. 158 an act to amend the Charities Accounting Act is well worded. But, it does not overcome our difficulty when a Private Bill stands on our statutes, such as our local one.

You will see this gives our City Council full control. I fail to see how the Bill was passed by our Provincial Government. As I see it, the council are not compelled to erect this Centre for one hundred years or more.

Our soldiers who gave their lives and for whom this Centre is being erected as a memorial could not put off action or quibble over ground, or where they would fight.

The Bill passed by our Provincial Government does not as I read it, state when this building of the Peterborough Community Centre is to start.

If our soldiers had waited seven years where would we be now?

If you carefully read the Bill you will agree we are at the mercy of our City Council.

I have stated I would if possible assist the City Council and the Committee to get on with the building of the Centre and this is what I intend to do.

If our City Council do not select a location and show a start on building the Centre before the day of Nomination or Election of our members for the year 1952, I will on the day following, after the candidates have qualified, submit the following questions to each.

Of course they will have the privilege to ignore, agree, or reject the reply. After two days have elapsed I will then publish the names and their replies. I consider this as good a way to help our Council and Committee out of a stalemate, as any.

The elected members will know what they are expected to do or would not have received the sanction of the electors.

Following is the question to be submitted:

Will you if elected join with other members of the elected members and select a site for the Peterborough Memorial Community Centre and have the building of the Centre under construction not later than four months from the date you are sworn in as a member of the Peterborough City Council?

I will be pleased if any further advice or clarification of my reason for withdrawing my grievance is required, to make reply, but first please study the Bill of the Statutes of Ontario as published.

MAURICE E. KETCHESON.

A NICKEL WELL SPENT

Sir: The writer has made several enquiries from local residents regarding the added Weekend issue and they all expressed their appreciation. One farmer said there was a lot of interesting stuff in the magazine section. Farmers as a rule, are a congenial lot. They may grumble over the price of butter fat, yet, when the daily paper fails to arrive they sit back on their kitchen chairs and wonder what in heck nappened.

The citizens of Peterborough and district should feel a sense of pride in their local paper, for in the writer's opinion, the Evening Examiner stands second to none in Canada. The editorials are thought-provoking and are written in elegant style. Even if local and district subscribers are compelled to pay an additional nickel per week, the value is worth the price.

It is indeed true, human nature resents compulsion in any manner or form. There are occasions however when compulsion merits respects.

We humans, by virtue of our natural weaknesses, are everlasting belly-aching. Our vision usually does not extend beyond the length of our nose. Therefore, in respect to those men of vision, plus intellectual progress; we lay-people should avail ourselves of the added light, information and knowledge which the Peterborough Examiner offers.

The folks on the farm enjoy reading the magazine section of the Saturday issue, and the extra nickel will be paid unstintingly.

A. J. J. STRANGE.

Bailieboro.

NOT INTERESTED

Sir: I see by two letters printed in "Letters to the Editor" the general opinion of many of your readers. When you are told you must take the "Weekend" to have your Saturday paper it surely is high-handed. We are glad to have our local paper and like it very much, but not interested in "Weekend".

Would you use this attitude if you had the competition of another local paper?

Many of your readers subscribe to advertising or use want ads as well as buying your paper, and I know many are quitting the paper because of the "Weekend" issue.

Hope you will adjust this some way.

Sincerely,

G. M. H.

OFFERS TO FORM LEAGUE

Sir: Allow me to add my voice to the growing storm of protest against the sales policy of the Saturday Examiner. You, Mr. Editor, seem to think that this conditional sale is quite justified, and even go so far as to say that no one need purchase the Weekend Examiner if he doesn't wish to do so.

I hope that all regular readers of your paper will band themselves together into one seething mass of outraged humanity, and boycott the Saturday edition until you realize that it does not pay to interfere with the liberties of the people.

Unless we, the citizens, put a stop to this nefarious practice, it is quite conceivable that within the near future one will be unable to buy a gallon of gas without purchasing at the same time, a quart of unnecessary oil. Nor will our wives be able to buy a dozen eggs unless they also agree to buy a pound of bacon along with it.

This state of affairs will proceed to get out of control altogether until we reach the stage where we cannot purchase a tin of aspirins without agreeing to rent a bed in the Civic Hospital.

The undersigned will be very pleased to act as treasurer (at a small salary) of any body of citizens wishing to form a Non Compulsory Examiner Purchasers League.

Yours very truly,

J. GILCHRIST.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Behold, the Lord's hand is not shortened, that it cannot save; neither his ear heavy, that it cannot hear: but your iniquities have separated between you and your God, and your sins have hid his face from you, that he will not hear. (Isa. 59: 1, 2.)

Wherefore remember, that ye being in time past Gentiles in the flesh, who are called Uncircumcision by that which is called Circumcision in the flesh made by hands; that at that time ye were without Christ, being aliens from the commonwealth of Israel, and strangers from the covenants of promise, having no hope, and without God in the world: but now in Christ Jesus ye who sometimes were far off are made nigh by the blood of Christ.

For he is our peace, who hath made both one, and hath broken down the middle wall of partition between us; having abolished in his flesh the enmity, even the law of commandments contained in ordinances; for to make in himself of twain one new man, so making peace; and that he might reconcile both unto God in one body by the cross, having slain the enmity thereby....For through him we both have access by one Spirit unto the Father.

Now therefore ye are no more strangers and foreigners, but fellow-citizens with the saints, and of the household of God. (Eph. 2: 11-16, 18, 19.)

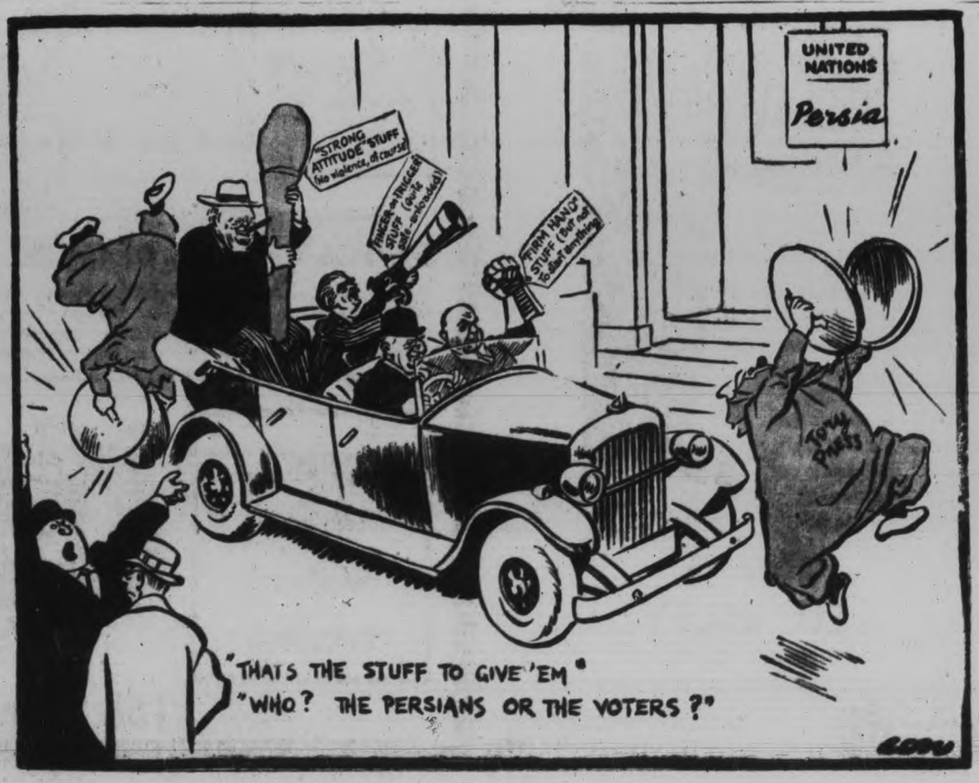
International Dance Festival

(UNESCO)

In the Royal Albert Hall, London, before an audience of some 6,000 people, a festival of international dances will be held on 22nd October, to introduce the celebration of United Nations Day on 24th October.

Under auspices of the United Nations Students Association for Great Britain, 70 performers will interpret dances from Brazil, Denmark, England, Estonia, Germany, Holland, India, Italy, Indonesia, Lithuania, Norway, Poland, Scotland, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, the Ukraine, United States of America, and the West Indies.

An orchestra of 50 musicians will accompany a programme which includes such items as the Gamble Reinlander from Norway, the Candlelight Dance from Sumatra, Irina and the Bird from Brazil, the Sailor's Hornpipe from Scotland, and the Polish mazurka.



NEEDED VITAMINS TOO

While a drove of bullocks was being driven through an Irish village from a fair, one of the animals suddenly stopped, and, notwithstanding all the efforts of the drover, would not move on its way. A chemist who happened to see the affair went up to the bullock and injected some medicine down its throat, which made the animal careen rapidly down the street.

About five minutes afterwards the drover entered the chemist's shop wiping the perspiration off his head, and asked the man behind the counter if he was the party who gave the bullock the medicine.

"I am," said the chemist.

"Well," said Pat excitedly, "I'll take a pennyworth of it myself. I've got to follow the beast."

An Open Letter From The Examiner To Its Subscribers:

THE EXAMINER has never, knowingly, done anything to disturb its subscribers. Day by day, year in and year out, its aim has been to serve the Community and inform its readers.

From time to time throughout the years, new features have been added – innovations have been introduced, but only after the acid test of public acceptance and public interest has been applied.

Over one year ago, we at The Examiner decided that our Saturday newspaper lacked the appeal – fell below the standard developed on other days. This was partly due to the shorter day on Saturday, which reduced the hours of the mechanical staff and thus shortened the time for news-gathering.

Various expedients were considered to correct this deficiency – some valuable; all costly. We contemplated a tabloid prepared and printed in our own plant – mechanical difficulties confronted us which made the scheme impractical.

Meanwhile increased costs of production, affecting us as they affect every other Canadian business, made it necessary to increase our price. Our problem was: should we simply raise our price, or attempt, while doing so, to give our readers a better newspaper by improving our Saturday edition? It was at this time that the Weekend Magazine was proposed to us. We studied this FIRST ALL-CANADIAN FEATURE WEEKLY MAGAZINE from every angle – its general appearance, its contents and its possible acceptability and after careful appraisal decided to use it and embody it in our Saturday Examiner as one paper – one issue, feeling confident that our subscribers would welcome it as a source of weekend reading and entertainment. While the cost of the "Weekend Magazine" at the present time exceeds the revenue derived from it, we will continue to include it in our Saturday paper.

In the main, we were right. Most of our subscribers – all but about 2% – have accepted it and like it, as comments from them readily indicate. They like the features, they like the Churchill Story of which Weekend prints more than any other magazine. (The book will sell for $6.50 when it is published in about nine months.) Future features of equal importance and timeliness will follow immediately after the Churchill Story. They like Kate Aitken and her Cooking and Beauty Chats – in fact there is a great appeal throughout for every member of the family – then there are the comics which always please and never offend.

Thanks for your confidence and confirmation of our judgement.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Collegiate football takes over the sports' spotlight at Morrow Park tomorrow aft. An important double-header, commencing at 1.30. Juniors go first, Oshawa Collegiate vs. Coach Al MacQuarrie's PCVS pack, and the latter must win to keep in there. This one is followed by a sudden-death playoff between Orillia and Bev Goulding's senior PCI-ers to see which squad goes into the big Red Feather tourney in Toronto as COSSA representatives. Fans can appreciate the importance of both grid melees on the southend pitch, and the biggest crowd of the season is likely.

* * * * * *

Red Feather tournament is a two-day competition starting a week from today. Cream of the high school rugby crop in the province compete, including Northern Ontario. Eight teams tangle in double-headers each night for the Ted Reeve Trophy. A gold watch goes to the outstanding player on each team in this tournament. Money raised goes to the Community Chest's Red Feather campaign in the places tickets are sold. Getting a big Toronto press each year, this tourney has become quite a thing for the collegians. special buses bring 'em in from all over, a thousand or more cheer-leaders and a bunch of bands do their stuff during the campaign, and the spirit of Mardi Gras rules the 60,000 or so noisy fans.

Puckists Go Into Huddle

Liable to be some arguments Sunday in Bella Villa when OHA senior "B" clubs confer on a group schedule. Lorne Cook of Kingston says the OHA will grant Kingston more than the regular number of imports in order for them to ice a team—since most of the Nylons are under suspension. Some imports, yet, but not too many. Eagles, Petes and Belleville will be there ready to protect their rights. Both local clubs have open workouts tonight, Eagles at seven and Petes an hour and a half later. Eagles go again at seven Oct. 21 in their last open drill, the team then being picked. Both clubs have missed a few regulars, owing to night work, etc., but these will be out on ice shortly.

* * * * * *

Quinte Redmen, under Coach Red Doran, will be a lot like their last season's squad. Maurice LeForte in goal, some of the others being: Vern Goyer, Keith MacDonald, Huck Reeves, Lou Schmidt, Johnny Mowatt, Ernie Trumble, Pete Jones, Jerry Desjardins, Junior Barrett, Red Doran, Doug Bone, Jud Semark, Graham and a few more, probably including Keith Montgomery, now reported working in Picton. The Redmen came on strong in the last half of last season to oust Eagles—who were riddled with injuries—and give Nylons a stiff struggle in their group final series ere Kingston took the seventh game. We believe Belleville will be a bit stronger this year. Doug Free is playing coach of Port Hope intermediates now.

After The Soccer Crown

Glad to run this letter from Sec. A. L. Featherstone of the Peterborough and District Football Association Commission: "Dear Sir—Mr. Arthur Arnold, president of the OFA, and council members Major A. Steel and Mr. W. Simpson will be present at the final game of the Ontario intermediate championships between Peterborough UE and Kingston United here Saturday. The Norman J. Howard Trophy will be presented the winner after the game. We hope all soccer fans will rally round their local team and help bring to Peterborough for the first time this trophy and championship. UE already has placed Peterborough's name on the Eastern Ontario League trophy this season, and has a one-goal lead on Kingston in the intermediate series, so there is every indication that a second soccer honor will be added to the city's sports achievements for 1951." It's at 3.30 at King Edward Park tomorrow.

Quite a grid scramble could develop yet in the ORFU senior "B" race as Cobourg Ghosts, Oshawa Raiders and the local Orfuns fight it out for the right to advance into one of the two provincial series open to them. The Ghosts were upset recently by Oshawa for their first loss of the season, and then Frank Gnup's Orfuns kicked the old bucket around in beating the Raiders right in Oshawa last start. The Ghosts take on East Yorks this weekend and are worrying as several regulars are sitting it out with injuries. Orillia plays Ryerson on the morrow, also. Orfuns — who have a football carnival tonight in the Brock—face their acid test next Friday here when Cobourg comes to do battle. Locals then are at East York on Nov. 3 to end the schedule.

Last Night's Stars

By The Canadian Press.

Detroit's Metro Prystai who got two goals and an assist to help Red Wings to a 6-1 victory over Chicago Black Hawks.

Rookie Dick Gamble who scored the winning goal in the third period as Montreal Canadiens scored a 3-2 victory over New York Rangers.

Hockey's Big Seven

By The Canadian Press.

Bert Olmstead of Montreal picked up an assist Thursday night to move into first place in the National Hockey League's individual scoring race.

The Canadien right-winger has six points from one goal and five assists. He leads in the assists division.

Maurice (Rocket) Richard, another Canadien, picked up his fourth goal of the season—highest for any player—to move into a second-place tie with George Gee of Chicago, Elmer Lach, Montreal and Tod Sloan, Toronto. All have five points.

The leaders:	G	A	Pt.
Olmstead, Montreal	1	5	6
Gee, Chicago	2	3	5
Richard, Montreal	2	3	5
Lach, Montreal	1	4	5

Hi Lee Matched With The Angel

Maurice Tillet, better known as The French Angel, will meet Hi Lee in the feature wrestling attraction at the Brock next Tuesday night. Anybody knowing these mat personages must realize it will be an unusual clash indeed.

The Angel, gnome-like but in a massive way, weighs 276 pounds and is enormously powerful. Besides, he knows every trick in the trade after meeting the world's topnotchers for more than 12 years.

Hi Lee weighs 290 pounds, is built along the lines of a 10-ton tank, but is amazingly fast. This grappler is one of the most hated in these parts and fans will be looking for the Angel to give him the works.

Supporting this stellar main bout will be Chief Suni War Cloud against Myron Cox in the semi-final, while the opener will bring together popular Pat Flanagan and Steve Stanlee. A record crowd is predicted.

Durham Crown Captured By Bethany, 9-8

BETHANY, Oct. 19 (ENS). — Playing an extra inning at Orono Wednesday, Bethany edged out Orono 9-8 to capture the championship of the Durham County Baseball League. They had won the North Durham schedule, taking Blackstock for the Duncan Trophy (given by W. J. Duncan of View Lake) in finals. Orono won the South Durham part over Port Hope. By taking the title, Bethany gets the James Trophy, donated by John James MP. It will be presented later at a village banquet.

Orono appeared to have this final game in the bag early, getting eight runs in the first four frames, one in the first, three in the third and four more in the fourth. Heath hurled good ball. In the fourth, Bethany picked up their first run, adding three in the fifth and four in the seventh to tie the count. They shoved the winner across in the eighth.

Edmunds pitched good ball all the way, though his mates gave him shaky support the first half of the tilt. They settled away later to play a good game. McGill caught for five innings, Reynolds then taking over as the team was rearranged in the field. Art Stewart, McGill, Edmunds, Rae Stewart, Ginn and Reynolds all hit well, the shortstop going fine at bat and afield. Teams:

Orono: Heath p, Armstrong 1b, Dean West 2b, Ray West 3b, Robbins ss, Lunn lf, Mercer cf, Jones rf.

Bethany: Edmunds p, McGill c, Reynolds c, Sisson lf, R. Stewart 2b, Ryley 3b, Ginn ss, Rowan lf, Lowes cf, Smith cf, A. Stewart rf.

Umpires: Winters and McGill.

PW Team Victorious

Prince of Wales defeated Central 2-0 at the Oval Wednesday in a School Soccer League contest. They scored twice in the first half but both were called back when G. Downer was offside. In the second, B. Bebee got one on a fine pass from F. Chambo. G. Downer booted in the next late in the tilt with some assistance from Patterson of Central who tried to stop a pass from F. Chambo. The scores, Chambo and J. Sutherland shone for the winners, with P. Hum. K. Hum and Patterson good for Central. Teams:

Central: Gray, Mathews, Brown, Craymer, Sorrie, Naish, Tranter, P. Hum, D. Lustic, K. Hum, Dunford, Harrington, J. Lustic, Findlay, Kelly, Patterson.

Prince of Wales: Allen, Carl, Boyce, Robinson, Sutherland, Peirson, Chambo, Bowen, Hunt, Oliver, Downer Johnston, Douglas Aulbrooke, Bebee.

Referees: D. Lawless, J. Northcott.

Senior Schools Draw

Queen Alex tied Confederation seniors 1-1 in a school soccer match at King Edward Park. Whitehill scored early for Confeds and Johnston got the equalizer with three minutes left to go in the first half. McClennan, Johnston, Whitehall and Merritt turned in outstanding performances. Teams:

Confederation: Hotston, Kimball, Hamilton, Linsey, Little, Merritt, Chamberlain, Parnell, Whitehill, Trotter, Griffin, Brown, Steele, Bailey, Graves Davey.

Queen Alex: Macklin, McNamee, Ireland, Wannamaker, Ball, Jackson, Eadie, McClennan, Reid, Johnston, Nelson, Downer, Kilborn, Olmstead, Croft, Hamilton, Maybee.

Queen Mary Wins

Queen Mary intermediates of the School Soccer League blanked King Edward yesterday at the Bonnerworth Field. Haig scored the first one early and Brown, who had assisted Haig, came through with the next in the same half. These two, with Dunn and Hendry were best for the winners, while Walling and Rowe shone for the other side. Teams:

Queen Mary Deck, Austin, McArthur, Jobbitt, Hendry, Clark, Foy, Dunn, Haig, Brown, Drury, Honey.

King Edward: Dettler, Finney, Lombard, Cuffe, Murduff, Trainor, Warner, Rowe, Walling, Davies, Riel, Quemby, Curtis.

RED FEATHER BOUND? Coach Bev. Goulding's PCVS Garnet and Greys will enter their final elimination round Saturday in Red Feather play when they meet Orillia Collegiate at Morrow Park. The game will also be a preview of the COSSA strength from the Georgian Bay area. Backfielders will be depending upon the front wall (Above, Left to Right) end, Spin Hope; middle, Stan Facendi; inside, Hugh Outram; snap, Paul Frise; inside, Larry Forbes, middle, Jim Telford, and end, Ted Sanders, to carry their weight. Master-minding the squad will be quarterbacks Bryan Young and Dave Langhorne.—(Examiner Staff Photo)

Suggest Baseball Players Given Special Tax Treatment

By DILLON GRAHAM.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19 (AP)—Freddie Hutchinson, Detroit Tiger pitcher, suggested today that baseball players—athletes with short careers—should be given special income tax treatment.

"There should be some allowance for ball players similar to depreciation on a structure or machine," he said.

Hutchinson told a House judiciary subcommittee that the average major league career of a player is about five years. Players were trained solely for the game. Some relief should be given them from taxes he said, because their biggest income lasts for only a few years.

A player should be allowed to deduct for his maintenance when he is away from his permanent home with his family in the city where his major league team is based, Hutchinson said.

The subcommittee is trying to determine whether baseball violates anti-trust laws.

Reserve Clause

One of the points in question is the reserve clause under which a player is tied to the club that owns his contract so long as he plays ball.

Hutchinson, the American League's representative on the executive council of major league baseball, favors it.

"In my opinion the reserve clause is a necessary and reasonable provision for the preservation of organized baseball," he said.

Hutchinson said the minor leagues could not survive without continuation of the reserve clause And, he added, "I do not believe that the big leagues would last much longer than the minors in the event the clause was removed."

As a rule players have been treated fairly, he said, and paid their value to the clubs.

King George Triumphs

King George seniors squeezed out a 1-0 decision in school soccer over Queen Mary. Ellis got the only goal in a first-half scramble in front of the goal. They played defensively in the second half and Queen Mary almost clicked several times in the second half. Ellis, English and Campbell stood out for the winners, with Passmore, Brady and Mason good for the other side. Teams:

Queen Mary: Harris, Passmore J. Dafoe, Finn, Morgan, Atkinson, Brady, Pluket:, Mason, Ellis, Stinson, G. Dafoe, Reynolds, Vincent, Lincoln.

King George: O'Neill, Barker, English, Ellis, King, Greenly, Campbell, Roberts, Dinesen, Harding, Clarke, Grills, Nurse, Storey, McIlmoyle.

Referees: Messrs. Crawford and Bird.

King Edward Winners

King Edward defeated Queen Elizabeth 8-0 in a senior school soccer tussle. Jack Rose kicked one in early and he added two more later. Albert Curtin got two, W. Rowe, B. Floyd and B. Stevens each getting one. The losers showed more confidence in the second half to test the King Edward goalie but failed to dent his armour. Willis, B. Whitnell and Heard went best for them, as Curtis, Rose and Orr were strong for the victors. Teams:

Q.E.: Welsh, Willis, B. Whitnell, W. Whitnell, Lyons, Lymburner, Drummond, Tighe, Taylor, Perry, Heard.

K.E.: Curtis, Rowe, Rose, Floyd, Perry, Reynolds, Stevens, Hill, Orr, Mills, Phillips, Waldie, Howden.

Wales' Boys Count

Prince of Wales took a 1-0 school soccer intermediate victory over Confederation yesterday on the former's grounds. Kent got the only goal in a keen, well-played game, both sides missing some good opportunities as the defences clicked in fine fashion. Teams:

Confederation: Patterson, Moffatt, Reid, Casey, Kimball, Pulkinghorn, Wood, Warner, Copping, Tuck, Ruttan, Duncan, Knox, Outwater.

Prince of Wales: Douglas, Byers, Vogelsang, Butler, Morley, Kent, Murphy, McIntosh, Woodbeck, Shaw, Parker, Innes, Playford.

Referee: V. Northcott.

Nylons Planning New "B" Team

KINGSTON, Oct. 19 (CP). — A club spokesman Thursday confirmed a report that the Nylon Social and Athletic Club, will make an application to enter a team in the Ontario Hockey Association Senior B series.

The announcement was made exactly a week after all but two members of the Nylons team were suspended for allegedly "throwing" a playoff series to Peterborough Petes last season.

The two, Joey Catlin and Bob Londry, were exonerated by the OHA sub-committee which suspended the coach and manager of the team for life, and 14 players from one to two years. Londry and Catlin are eligible to play for the new team this year.

The spokesman, Harold Langabar, said representatives of the organization will attend the group meting in Belleville Sunday. The team would be sponsored by the NSAC but would not be known as the Nylons.

The new club would be permitted to bring in as many imports as desired. Although no manager or coach has been selected, Gus Marker, former National Hockey League performer, and veteran defenceman Bill Mortimer are among those mentioned for the coaching berth.

Peterborough, with two teams, Belleville, Queen's University and Gananoque, with one each, are other entrants in the league.

Central Gets Tilt

Central intermediates pulled out a 2-1 verdict over Queen Alex in school soccer Thursday. P. McInroy got the first Central tally on a corner kick early, but Queen Alex rallied in the second half after a goal by D. Dinsdale, Duke counting on a deflected free shot in a tidy tussle. Teams:

Queen Alex: Hamilton, Stewart, Phillips, Nicholls, Ratz, Reid, Olmstead, Tucker, Duke, Found, Levine, Doherty, Agnew, Selby, Triggs, Jackson.

Central: Hayman, Pollock, Tetlock, Chalmers, Armstrong, Findlay, Simpson, Dinsdale, McInroy, Sorrie, Menzies, Birkhof, Barber, Lang.

Referee: H. Curry.

Habs Edge Rangers 3-2 As Red Wings Outclass Black Hawks 4-0

By JACK SULLIVAN, Canadian Press Staff Writer

Has anybody seen rave notices about big Bert Olmstead lately—or since he joined Montreal Canadiens in a straight player swap with Detroit Red Wings last Dec. 19? It would be a shout in the right direction if a few of the huzzahs aimed to National Hockey League players were sent his way.

The six-foot-two winger from the village of Sceptre, Sask., has been doing a nifty job of patrolling his side of the boards since Red Wings exchanged him for Leo Gravelle. And probably the first to admit it would be Goal-a-Game Maurice Richard who needs no introduction to North American hockey fans.

Big Bert happens to be a great supporter in point of goal getting—for the Rocket. When Richard scores, look for the name of James in parentheses behind him in the period goal-scoring summaries.

You guessed it, one usually is old reliable Olmstead. The Rocket needs no one to make him look good in hockey regalia but the 25-year-old Olmstead, who has been knocking around in pro hockey since 1945 and most of it in the minors, is a reliable guy to have on your side.

It would be a job for the figure Gilberts to total the exact number of assists credited to Bert on Richard goals last season. But Olmstead was a familiar name in the period summaries to the folks who followed that sort of stuff.

To many hockey followers outside of Montreal, he is the "other player" on the line with Richard and Elmer Lach, the starry playmaking centre who first saw the light of day in Nokomis, another Saskatchewan village.

On Assist

Richard brought his 1951-52 season's goal average to one a game Thursday night as he scored once in Canadiens' 3-2 victory over New York Rangers before 14,233 crowd at Montreal. And Mrs. Olmstead's boy was in on the assist with Butch Bouchard.

It was the Rocket's fourth goal of the season in as many games and it was the third time Olmstead gave him a helping hand. The victory swept Canadiens into first place in front of Detroit Red Wings who smothered Chicago Black Hawks 6-1 at Chicago.

Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion and Dick Gamble netted the other Canadien goals. Steve Kraftcheck and Nick Mickolski scored for the Blueshirts who now have lost both of their season's outings.

Without Black Jack Stewart, their veteran defence stalwart who suffered a slight skull fracture last Sunday at New York, the Hawks fell apart before the classy Red Wings who led 4-0 going into the final period.

Marty Pavelich with a goal and three assists and Metro Prystai with a pair of goals and an assist led the Detroit attack. Ted Lindsay, Gordie Howe and Fred Glover got the other Red Wing tallies.

Bill Mosienko scored the Hawks' lone goal late in the third period.

Blames Sunlight For Track Spill

SAN BRUNO, Calif., Oct. 19 (AP).—Jockey Ray York today blamed a blinding shaft of sunlight for a spill that injured three riders and fatally injured a horse Thursday at Tanforan race track.

York, astride Rickey Lee, was approaching the quarter pole in Thursday's sixth race when he suddenly screamed:

"My horse is blinded."

Rickey Lee stumbled and fell. Gold Jig, with Bobby Summers up, crashed into the fallen horse.

Jockey Taylor Powell of Inglewood, Calif., hoping to avoid a crash, steered his mount, Brief Light, into the rail. Both went down.

Summers suffered a fractured left collarbone and mild concussion. Powell suffered severe hip and pelvis bruises; York, a minor hip bruise.

The collision broke Gold Jig's back. The six-year-old gelding owned by F. M. Clark of Saskatchewan, had to be destroyed.

Flyers Bow To Reds 7-3

By The Canadian Press.

The three games played in the American Hockey League Thursday night resulted in a two-way tie for first place in the western division and a three-way deadlock for top spot in the eastern division.

St. Louis Flyers, who previously had won all their three starts to pace the western section, bowed 7-3 to Providence Reds, while Pittsburgh Hornets downed Cleveland Barons 2-1 to move into a tie with St. Louis.

In the eastern division, Hershey Bears downed Indianapolis Capitals 5-2 to move them into a first place tie with Providence and the idle Buffalo Bisons.

At Providence, Pete Kapusta paced the Reds' attack with two goals, while Jack Stoddard contributed one goal and three assists. Bon Pepin, Ken Davies, Ray Powell and Ray Laplante completed the Providence total. Jackie Hamilton drilled two goals in 21 seconds for the Flyers and John Witiuk scored their third.

Yank Players Get $6,446 For Series

CINCINNATI, Oct. 19—(AP)—The recent World Series was worth $6,446.09 to each New York Yankee who received a full share, the baseball commissioner's office announced Thursday. The Yankees won the series.

A full share for the losing New York Giants amounted to $4,951.03.

The Yankees voted full shares to 31 members; four others got $4,834.57 apiece; one was voted $3,223.04; nine members of the organization $500 each and two others $300.

The Giants voted full shares to 29 players; $2,475.51 to two others; three were voted $1,650.34 each; one get $1,000; three others $618.87; and two others $309.45.

The victorious Yankees received a total of $235,436.19, while the Giants' share amounted to $156,957.46.

Smaller Headstones

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Oct. 19 (CP).—Members of the Ontario Cemeteries Association, at a convention here Thursday said they hoped that the practice of using over-sized grave markers in Ontario cemeteries would soon die out. "These monstrosities constitute a hazard to the public," said G. W. Dalby, secretary-treasurer of the association.

Football Weekend Can Influence Playoffs

By JACK SULLIVAN.

Usually the bottom-placed clubs in any league get the brush-off in pre-game notices, but that isn't so in this weekend's Canadian football picture. Watch those weak-sister Montreal Alouettes and Calgary Stampeders—they can cause a lot of grief in the Big Four and Western Canada Unions.

Both still are licking their lips after tasting the sweet fruits of Grey Cup triumphs in recent years—the Stampeders in 1948, the Als in 1949—and, of course, they don't like the idea of sitting this one out. This year, too, the potential Grey Cup gate is a record-high $112,000 which means the seven per cent of the gross gate for participating clubs will be a financial plum.

The Stampeders and Als probably aren't fussy, who they knock over. And it's a cinch both will be out there Saturday with the old college try.

Calgary's hopes of getting to Toronto next month for the crowd-drawing Grey Cup went with the western winds a couple of weeks ago and their nuisance value mounted with each succeeding Western Conference game. They get their last crack of the season Saturday in the schedule wind-up against Edmonton Eskimos.

A big Calgary victory and Saskatchewan win over Winnipeg would send the Eskimos and Blue Bombers into a not-too-healthy sudden-death semi-final. This prospect for any coach or team is by no means comforting.

Mathematical Chance

The Alouettes, unlike the Stampeders, have a mathematical chance of snatching a Big Four play-off berth—but it is slim. If they don't click, they can still upset the applecart on play-off plans of the other Big Four clubs, particularly the third-place Toronto Argonauts and second-place Ottawa Rough Riders.

The Als have a home-and-home weekend series with Argos. One loss, coupled with an Ottawa victory over the Tiger-Cats at Hamilton, would boot them out of the running. They'll still have another shot at Argos and one at Hamilton before the season closes Nov. 3 and that's where their nuisance value could enter the picture.

This weekend, so the coaches say, is one of decision. It's the under-statement of the week.

Relaxed Situation

A relaxed situation prevails in the Senior Ontario Rugby Football Union. With another week to go in the schedule, it already has been decided that Toronto Balmy Beach and Sarnia Imperials will meet in the two-game total-point play-offs with the winner meeting the Big Four champion for the eastern Canada title.

The Imperials, only all-Canadian senior club in the country, meet McMaster at Sarnia Saturday and Beaches should have a soft touch at home against Windsor Rockets who still have to win a game this year.

Four Queen's regulars will be missing at Kingston for the University of Toronto senior intercollegiate game. Varsity, expected to be at full strength, is favored to make it three straight and hold its first-place position.

The other intercollegiate game matches McGill at London. The Redmen and University of Western Ontario Mustangs each is shooting for its second victory in three starts.

Here And There In Sports

By The Canadian Press

Manager Archie McGillis of Calgary Stampeders Thursday night was fined for language and actions considered detrimental to football at last Saturday's Western Conference game at Edmonton. Eskimos won the game 31-18.

Commissioner of referees Kent Phillips announced at Regina the fine after studying a report from Cliff Roseborough of Winnipeg, referee of the game.

Earlier this week Phillips fined George Trafton, Winnipeg coach, and Jack Wedley of Saskatchewan Roughriders after last Saturday's game at Regina. Trafton was fined for "heckling" officials and Wedley for reflecting on the racial background of an opposing player.

Wedley suffered an automatic $25 fine. Amount of the fines on McGillis and Trafton were not announced.

Bill Larochelle, speedy backfielder with Ottawa Rough Riders has been dropped from the roster of the local Big Four club, coach Clem Crowe announced Thursday.

The 24-year-old college star with University of Western Ontario several seasons ago, will be replaced in the backfield by Bernie Brennan, an Ottawa homebrew who played several years with Guelph Aggies. The coach said Larochelle has not been producing on a par with his work in other seasons.

Cleveland Barons of the American Hockey League Thursday signed right winger Joe Carveth of Detroit Red Wings, National Hockey League club. Carveth, 33, a native of Regina, played the first half of last season with Indianapolis; the last half with Detroit.

At Bartow, Fla., Burt Shotton, who guided Brooklyn into two National League pennants, said Thursday he would like to return to baseball but there's nothing in the wind for him. Shotton won pennants for Brooklyn in 1947 and 1949. When Branch Rickey shifted from the Dodgers to Pittsburgh Pirates Shotton was replaced at Brooklyn by Charley Dressen.

At New York, Harry Markson, boxing director of the International Boxing Club, Thursday announced a benefit boxing show for the family of the late George Flores, Oct. 29 at St. Nicholas Arena. Markson said all receipts —including television money — would go to the family after the fighters have been paid. Flores died after a knockout loss in a recent Madison Square Garden bout.

Recent reports that the property on which the Polo Grounds is located had been offered for sale and that the New York Giants might be forced to become tenants of Yankee Stadium brought a sharp denial Thursday from the owners of the land. The Giants own the ball park and pay an annual rental for use of the ground.

John Bailey, owned by Detroit Red Wings, is scheduled to join Glace Bay Miners today, coach Bud Poile announced Thursday night at Glace Bay, NS. A product of the Detroit chain and recent member of Windsor Spitfires of the Ontario Hockey Association junior loop, Bailey played with Denver in the defunct United States Hockey League last season.

To Carry Grain

FORT WILLIAM, Oct. 19 (CP)—Senator N. M. Paterson, of Ottawa, president of the shipping firm of N. M. Paterson and Sons, yesterday said his ships will finish the season carrying wheat instead of iron ore from Steep Rock Mine. Large iron ore shipments have been almost cleared away, he said, and the ships soon will take on loads of grain.

Typhoid At MacLeod

LETHBRIDGE, Oct. 19 (CP)—J. A. Beveridge, of Edmonton, acting provincial sanitary engineer, Thursday reported 14 positive cases of tyhpoid fever at McCleod. Three suspected cases were reported Wednesday and one yesterday.

Find Jersey Joe In Good Trim

By JACK HAND.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19 (AP). — Old, old, old Jersey Joe Walcott. The way they talk you expect to find a codger tripping over a snowy beard.

"They'll have to help him up the steps into the ring," one fellow wrote the other day.

Well, Jersey Joe was in town Thursday to accept his heavyweight championship belt. You never saw a more alert, healthy specimen. The kind of a man who can knock off your block with one punch. . . Just like he did last July with Ezzard Charles.

Will the layoff hurt? Will Walcott at 38 be the man he was at 37? Ask the man. What difference will a year make?

"If a man lives like some folks live, two months would make him too old" Walcott said.

"People call a man old just because he's 37. Every man isn't the same at 37. They don't notice how he lived in his 'teens. That's the most important part."

"Clean living and hard work. That makes the difference. I'm going to keep on fighting as long as God gives me strength."

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

Pat Egan, then a defenceman with New York Amerieans, raced in on Montreal Canadiens goaltender Bert Gardiner and scored, to complete the first major penalty shot in National Hockey League history 10 years ago today at New York.

Egg Prices To Drop

WINNIPEG, Oct. 19—(CP)—The general level of egg prices in 1952 will be "somewhat lower than in 1951," but there will be no collapse of the market, W. J. Landreth, of Winnipeg, chairman of the Canadian Poultry Council said Thursday. He was commenting on a report from British Columbia predicting "chaotic conditions" and imminent collapse in the egg industry.

Autumn

A THING OF BEAUTY IS A JOY FOREVER

Without any doubt, Autumn is the year's most colourful and lovely season, but it's beauty is not a "joy forever," because the beauties of the season are but a warning of the bitter winter days ahead.

That's why Fall is such an opportune time to trade your old car for a better one. You not only have a chance to enjoy driving your new car through the colourful Fall countryside, but you are assured of dependable transportation for those "hard starting" winter days ahead.

Here are just a few of the excellent late model used car values to be found at J. K. Hughes:

Herb H. Hannam Coming Nov. 2

Peterborough Federation are going to find themselves in a challenging position in their joint plans with Peterborough Chamber of Commerce for the dinner Friday, Nov. 2, at which Herb H. Hannam, president of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, will be the guest speaker.

It will be expected of Peterborough farmers to show a greater attendance than the urban C. of C. folks.

The suggestion of a joint dinner meeting probably came from the federation executives, and C. of C. promptly accepted it. This will be another occasion of closer rural-urban relations.

The Grey County junior farmer who taught rural school for four years and earned graduation from OAC in 1926 with the degree of BSA, was elected president of the International Federation of Agricultural Producers at their convention in Guelph in 1949. Mr. Hannam became vice-president of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture when it was organized in Toronto in 1935, and has devoted his life to the cause of the farmers of Canada with results that are nationally recognized and appreciated. He has been a prudent and persuasive leader in successive spheres of advancement, and has adhered all along that way to the sensible and cautious spirit of the farming community of this country in charting and projecting their unity and policies.

The Canadian Federation has left politics to its individual members, but opened the doors of government to its delegations and their presentments. Federation has cultivated friendly relations in many directions and has acquired a broad influence that has been sustained by its executive through aggressiveness tempered by moderation.

The Peterborough reception to Mr. Hannam should bring about a large attendance from the townships.

H. H. HANNAM, C.B.E., Ph.D., B.S.A.

Can't Find Plane

EDMONTON, Oct. 19 (CP) — Two RCAF planes Thursday failed to find any trace of a commercial plane missing for more than two days in northeastern Alberta. A single-engined plane owned by McMurray Air Service, piloted by W. J. L. Van Allen and carrying one passenger, Tuesday failed to complete a flight of about 250 miles from Fort McMurray, Alta., to Goldfields, Sask. he passenger's name is not known.

Skips Court Date

ST. CATHARINES, Oct. 19 — (CP) — Jockey Robert Wankmueller, of Newark, NJ, who faces charges of defrauding the public in connection with the Fort Erie racing scandal, did not appear when summoned Thursday before a special meeting of the Ontario Racing Commission. "Wankmueller . . . developed a case of sulkiness and just failed to show up," his lawyer, Arthur H. Thompson, said.

Soldiers Given Chance To Vote

TORONTO, Oct. 19 — (CP) — Arrangements will be made to allow Ontario residents now serving in armed forces in various parts of the world to vote in the Nov. 22 provincial election.

Alex Lewis, chief election officer for Ontario, said Thursday that six voting territories will be established to serve the 18,000 to 20,000 men involved. Territories would be in Korea; Japan; England and Europe; the Maritimes and Newfoundland; western and central Canada; Ontario, Quebec and Washington, DC.

The Election Act will prevent the 700 residents of Lambert Lodge, Toronto's home for the aged, from voting, he said.

He was replying to a written protest by H. W. Walters CCF member of the last legislature for Toronto Bracondale. Mr. Walters said that section 17 of the act placed the lodge residents "in a category with inmates of mental hospitals and penitentiaries" and did not allow them to vote because "they were receiving charitable support."

Mr. Lewis said he was "personally quite sympathetic" to the CCF member's viewpoint, but added that he had no authority to contravene the act.

Canada Still Has Big Housing Headache

By The Canadian Press

Canada still has a housing headache. About the rarest thing in the country today is an apartment or house for rent—cheap.

Building projects mushroom on the outskirts of cities and low-rental housing schemes appear from time to time, but no permanent cure for the country's housing ills yet has been found.

The federal government stepped in recently to help ease the situation by allowing smaller down payments and larger loans for homes. The chief sufferers still, however, are those who move from one city to another and can't afford high rents.

A Canadian Press survey shows that most itinerant Canadians are bound for oil-booming Alberta. But Calgary, Edmonton and other Alberta centres are as hard-pressed for room as the rest of the country.

Authorities in Edmonton—centre of the boom—say their housing situation still is tight. Although high-rental apartments are available, medium-priced suites are scarce. House-buying is fairly active, but not as much so as last year.

Low-Rent Plan

Edmonton hopes to solve part of its problem by promoting a low-rent housing plan.

The "no vacancy" sign is a familiar sight in Vancouver's residential districts. Only a few two-roomed suites, and those in the $100-a-month class, are available. House construction during the first six months of 1951 fell off, compared to the same period of last year.

In Regina, a house or suite for rent is a rarity. Houses are for sale only and at high prices. The city plans to open up 100 lots for house construction.

Toronto movers are on a merry-go-round. They move one family out of the city and return with another. Storage buildings are reported filled to capacity at all times.

Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation officials said the Toronto situation has not changed in months. The CM and H rentals office has 2,500 applications for homes from prospective lessees or buyers, but only 100 dwelling units under rent. Fifty new applications are received each month.

Authorities said greater Toronto, this year, will see its greatest year of house construction since the end of the war.

Montrealers are moving to new homes in suburban developments. There, as in the city, they pay $10,000 and up for houses.

Extreme Shortage

There is an exterme shortage in middle and lower-priced rentals. Apartments are renting from $60 to $110 and up.

In Quebec City, building has fallen off, due to tightened credit regulations, but the population has grown to 210,000. Last year when the population was 205,000, the city was short 2,250 dwellings.

A slight improvement was seen at Saint John, NB, although a shortage still exists. Those who can afford to pay high rents can usually find accommodation. One housing project of 88 units is under way and some units will be ready next month. The city is discussing plans to clear old tenements in a heavily-populated area and construct modern dwelling units.

Navy Acts

The navy is handling its own housing problem in Halifax by constructing a 300-family village at nearby Tufts Cove. Although a heavy program of public building construction has been going on, only a few small apartment houses have been erected in the city.

Rents in Prince Edward Island are cutting heavily into pay cheques. Only a few rooms, unsuitable for families, were said to be available.

St. John's, Nfld., is laying out a $750,000 housing project on the city's outskirts. A slum-clearing plan, which has relieved congestion in one area, is continuing. However, the arrival of more staff at the nearby Pepperell United States air force base has also brought more families to St. John's and the situation has tightened up again.

Cattle Prices Steady During Week

TORONTO, Oct. 19 — (CP)— Cattle prices were steady this week at the Ontario Stockyard here. The cattle run of 6,600 head was added to 1,000 carried over from last week. The supply was 1,100 fewer than the same week last year and 400 more than last week.

Included in the first arrivals were 1,200 Westerns, chiefly stockers. Better quality killers had first call with buyers. Plainer stock moved slowly, with a few hundred unsold at the close. Calves, hogs, and sheep were steady while lambs lost $1 cwt.

Good to choice weighty steers sold at $35-$36, with tops at $36.50. Common to medium light steers and heifers sold at $25-$32 and a few good heifers traded at $35. Medium to good cows closed at $26-$27.50, with canners from $16-$18. Good heavy bulls were $28-$29 and common light bulls sold as low as $22. Good to choice fed yearlings were $35-$37. Two sold at $38. Medium quality fancy yearlings were $31-$34. Best of the stockers sold readily at steady prices, with others moving slowly. Medium to good stockers were $32-$35 with stock calves up to $39. Common stockers sold downward to $27.

Calves received totalled 2,300, including 570 heavy Westerns. Good veal calves were steady at $36-$38 with common to medium mostly $30-$35. Grassers for slaughter were $20-$23. Light stock calves sold up to $38 cwt.

Sheep and lamb receipts totalled 2,500 head. Included were 550 Western lambs. Good ewes and wethers closed at $32.50. Medium to good sheep sold at $10-$23 and culls sold downward to $11.

Women Learn About Electrical Gadgets

LONDON (CP)—London housewives now can go to school to learn how to mend fuses, read meters and look after electrical gadgets in the home.

The classes have been organized by an electrical association after many requests by women for practical training.

"In some homes when a fuse burns out everything comes to a standstill," said an official. "It's only because the women don't know how a fuse works and gets a little scared."

Give Helpful Pointers For Bird Identification

Written For The Canadian Press By PERCY GHENT

Identification of birds, especially the sorting out of one species from another that closely resembles it, can often be simplified when it is remembered that there is always some precise, diagnostic point that settles the argument.

There are several woodland warblers, for instance, with black markings on their yellow breasts, but they follow a recognizable pattern. That sprightly, tuneful fellow the Canadian warbler, wears the markings like a necklace of jet. In addition, his eye-ring and eye line give the impression that he is wearing yellow spectacles.

Another bespectacled bird is the yellow-breasted chat, with his calls in every sharp and flat. His specs are white, and again, because the eye-ring and eye-line makes the impression, a striking one at a close-up view.

A yellow "bib" is worn by the yellow-throated warbler; the olive-sided flycatcher appears to be wearing a long white vest— unbuttoned.

So, in instance and among waterfowl and prairie birds as wel with the birds of one woods, a familiarity with some special, identifying mark adds interest to bird watching and is a substantial step toward the "expert" stage.

With a breeding range from Newfoundland to central Manitoba and southern Alberta, the Canadian warbler, one of the most musical as well as the most beautiful members of the woodland warbler tribe, has been frequently reported in its wide range this season. Its song suggests the goldfinch at his best.

Long-Eared Owl

With ear-tufts long and prominent, the long-eared owl which often winters in the more southerly regions of eastern Canada, is one of the best "mousers" of the bird world and deserving of protection at all times.

Its call is a low, almost moaning, "hoo-hoo-hoo" and on occasion gives forth with a catlike, "whee-you".

Autumn Color

Don't just admire the autumn fantasy of color in the Canadian scene—with the scarlet of maple, the gold of poplars and birches, the bronze and purple of oaks—and then dismiss the scene as an annual event of casual interest.

For in no other land is the fall festival of color more beautiful; it is doubtful if anywhere else on earth the scene approaches the splendor enjoyed in Canada.

Heading For Canada

TORONTO, Oct. 19—(CP)—A spokesman for the International Rescue Committee announced Thursday that 11 of the Czechs who escaped on the freedom train will arrive at Quebec City on the ship Castelbianco Oct. 22 or 23. The group is part of a party of 25 Czechs who created a sensation Sept. 11 when they reached West Germany aboard a train whose engineer took it from behind the Iron Curtain on an unused spur track.

Dies At Ceremony

BLENHEIM, Ont., Oct. 19 (CP) Veteran educator W. J. Baird, one of Blenheim's most prominent citizens, died in the new public school bearing his name Thursday night while an official opening program was in progress. Before some 400 persons in the auditorium, Mr. Baird had only moments before accepted an enlarged portrait of himself, from the school board, and presented it to Principal Ed Jacklin, to be hung in the new W. J. Baird School.

Unveils Statue

TORONTO, Oct. 19 (CP)—Hon. John Foote, VC, Ontario Reforms Minister, Thursday unveiled a nine-foot bronze statue in the main lobby of Osgoode Hall in memory of 50 members of the Law Society of Upper Canada who gave their lives in the Second World War. The memorial, created on a theme of hope for the future, is a figure of a young woman bearing in uplifted arms a small child.

W. C. Grant Named CCF Candidate

Candidate Twice In 1934, 1945 Makes No Predictions

William C. Grant, reeve of Lakefield village, Thursday night was nominated CCF candidate in the provincial election Nov. 22.

Thirty-five attended the nomination meeting in the Knights of Columbus Hall, Simcoe St., and voted unanimously for Mr. Grant. Five CCFers were nominated but the other four withdrew.

Mr. Grant has twice before been the CCF candidate in a provincial election. He was defeated in 1934 and in 1945.

In his speech of acceptance he refused to predict the outcome of the election in Peterborough, but he added: "We have a wonderful opportunity to put our organization on its feet so that in the near future, if not now, Peterborough will be changed from a Conservative ice box to a hot bed of labor."

John G. Morton, Canadian director of the IUE-CIO, was the CCF candidate in the 1948 election. He polled 5,927 votes to 7,729 votes for Charles Elliott, Liberal, and 10,257 votes for the Hon. Harold R. Scott, Conservative.

Those who declined nomination were J. Howard Miles, CCF candidate in the last federal election; W. J. Whibbs, vice president of the Peterborough and District Labor Council (CIO-CCL); Alfred Barber, president of the Labor Council; and William Beggs, president of Local 293, United Packinghouse Workers of America (CIO-CCL).

No Issues

Andrew Brewin, KC, past president of the Ontario CCF Association, said he could see no outstanding issues at stake and Premier Frost had gone "willy-nilly" into the fourth election in nine years.

"Every progressive thing the Frost government has done has been taken from the platform of the CCF," said Mr. Brewin. "But the government has taken them a few at a time and gone slowly."

Two examples were the Fair Employment Practices Act, and the Equal Pay bill, for women.

"A CCF government could do a better job in introducing legislation for such things as hospitalization, housing and workmen's compensation," he said. 'It's not that the old line parties are wick-

Films on the human factor in industrial accidents featured the day-long session of a course in "Human Relations in Safety and Supervision" conducted by Dr. J. L. Rosenstein at the Kawartha Golf Club Thursday.

Dr. Rosenstein, professor of the department of management, Loyola University, Chicago, was speaking to 66 students of the course, all industrial foremen of Peterborough and Lindsay.

Dr. Rosenstein, aided by the films, explained methods of preventing industrial accidents caused by mental attitudes — the show-off, day dreamer, and so on.

He said that most accidents of that nature could be prevented by simple discussions with the worker or workers involved. Criticism was necessary, but the foreman or superintendent involved should first ask himself to see what criticism could be applied there.

Some of the other subjects discussed were: secrets of successful supervision, understanding human nature, how to teach safety, how to get teamwork, etc.

P. J. Burke Chosen To Carry Liberal Banner In Election

P. J. (Paddy) Burke, president of the Canadian Legion here, was nominated as Liberal candidate for Peterborough on Thursday night by the Peterborough County Liberal Association. Three other men—Charles Elliott, W. B. Gordon and Ralph Standish—were also nominated, but would not stand. Mr. Elliott was Liberal candidate in the 1948 Provincial election. Speaker at the nomination meeting, Vernon Singer of Toronto, declared that the key to the election lay in swinging the CCF vote to the Liberal party. Mr. Singer, a lawyer, was for several years president of the Ontario Young Liberals' Association.

"The CCF is through in Ontario," he said. Mr. Singer quoted opinion polls which showed that the percentage favoring the CCF had dropped from 26 percent in 1948 to 11 percent this year.

He also mentioned the number of CCF organizers and workers, who, he claimed, had switched their allegiance to the Liberal party within the past year.

Hon. Harold R. Scott, minister of lands and forests, was taken to task by Mr. Singer for the way in which Mr. Scott's department is being administered.

"In 1943 the Department of Lands and Forests produced about $3,000,000 for the provincial revenue funds. The department should be a revenue producer for the people of Ontario.

Lower Revenue

"In 1950, only $1,000,000 went into the revenue funds from the department," said Mr. Singer. "It is a crime the way the department is being administered."

Main reason for the decrease in revenue was the fact that although timber cutting on government reserves had increased by two thirds, timber dues had not been increased until very recently.

Mr. Singer said the Department of Lands and Forests should have brought $6,000,000 into the provincial revenue funds instead of $1,000,000.

"Think of that $5,000,000 being cut off the tax requirements of the province," he said.

On the promise of hospitalization being advanced by Liberal leader Walter Thomson, Mr. Singer said that the people who were getting the best hospital treatment were millionaires and paupers.

Change Picture

The great middle class, said Mr. Singer, was the section of the population that was taking a beating on hospital expenses. Under the proposed Liberal hospitalization scheme, this would be changed.

Mr. Singer concluded by saying that "only in the Liberal party lies the possibility of fulfilling the real duties of government."

Charles Elliott introduced the speaker, who was thanked by Peter Pearson, warden of Peterborough county.

In his speech of acceptance, Mr. Burke said he had enlisted in the army as a boy of 15 and spent his 16th birthday in France. "I had spunk enough for that, and I'll certainly give my best for you in this election," he said.

T. J. Carley, speaking after the four nominations and three refusals, moved that Mr. Burke's nomination be recorded as a unanimous one.

Others who spoke briefly at the nomination meeting were Rork Ferguson, reeve of Norwood, Bert Tucker of Apsley, Jack Davidson of Havelock, and Mrs. John Duignan, president of the Peterborough Women's Liberal Association.

Chairman was Art Lewis, president of the Peterborough Liberal Association.

Dark October Days Baffle Weatherman, Cross Him Up

Lo, the poor weatherman. Throughout the year his predictions bring him a batting average of around .649 or better. He nurses the weather along, keeps it happy by letting it rain and hail now and then, and in return, it keeps his predictions pretty accurate. But, the dark October days have come, and to carry the misquotation a little further, they are the saddest of the year for the weatherman. November isn't much better.

An Example

Take today for instance. On Thursday, the weatherman said Friday would be hotsy-totsy. Up the thermometer would shoot giddily to record 70 or 75 degrees . . . no clouds, he said . . . nice and clear, said the weatherman.

In fact, Friday was to be a paragon even among Indian summer days. Take a look.

The only only good thing you could say about this is that it's pay-day.

October is a thankless month, says the weatherman. Lured by the gaudy reds and golds of autumn, the warm sun and the crisp fall air, hunters and hikers plan glorious weekends in the great outdoors.

Drizzle, Sizzle

And what happens? Drizzle, drizzle, campfires sizzle. The lovers of the outdoors grin moistly and a little ruefully and say oh well, it's grand to get out in the fresh air.

The trouble, says the weatherman, lies in the ability of a cold front (mass of cold air) to leap around and change direction suddenly. When one of the cold fronts hits a warm front, you get today's weather.

These waltzing masses of air can be headed south one afternoon, then switch around and head back north. And for no good reason. They do it because they like it.

That, say the weather experts, is what could have caused today's little misunderstanding.

Tomorrow, says the weatherman, crossing his fingers, will be cloudy and cool . . .maybe.

Child Stillbirths Hit Record Low

Peterborough has only had six still births in the first nine months of 1951—a stillbirth rate of 7.63 per 1,000 population and the lowest rate ever recorded for the city.

This announcement was made Thursday afternoon at the board of health meeting by Dr. R. A. Kelly, MOH.

The medical officer of health referred to this low rate as astounding and attributed it to the excellent pre-natal obstetrical care being carried on in the city.

The next lowest rate for the past six years in this nine month period was 18.1 in 1949. The highest was 29.30 in 1947.

Dr. Kelly also reported that there were 78 live births from Jan. to Sept., 1951, an increase of 25 as compared to the same period last year.

There were 27 deaths and no maternal deaths in this period.

Two hundred and forty-two people have died in Peterborough so far in 1951. Last year there were 257 deaths at this time.

During the month of September there were 23 cases of chickenpox; two German measles; two mumps and nine poliomyelitis, four showed no evidence of paralysis and there was one death.

Winter Warmth

CAMPBELLFORD, Oct. 19—(ENS).—Storm windows piled on a verandah acted as a magnifying glass Thursday to start a fire at the home of Max Free, six miles north of Campbellford. The freak fire, which destroyed only the wooden verandah recalled two similar fires in recent years. A Campbellford merchant noticed paper in his store window on fire and found it had been ignited by sun shining through bottles of vinegar In the other case, sun reflected from a rear view mirror was concentrated on a spot on the front seat of a car, setting fire to the upholstery.

Weekend Gives Full Treatment To War Memoirs

Winston Churchill's war memoirs appear in their fullest treatment in WEEKEND, the picture magazine which each Saturday is a part of The Examiner.

This week, the second of five parts of the fifth volume—Closing The Ring—appear in WEEKEND. It tells, with all the impact of Churchill's dynamic speeches, of the events following the close of the Quebec conference.

Briefly, part two of Closing The Ring, tells of trout fishing in Quebec, the invasion of Italy, the battle of Salerno and the coup of Taranto, a visit to the White House.

In another section of WEEKEND, staff writer David Willock writes of Roderick L. Haig-Brown, said by many to be "one of the few immortals in the field of writing about nature." Haig-Brown's writings are in the main about fishing—on the Campbell river near his home.

From fishing to artist's models is a step WEEKEND takes in its stride. Staff writer Jock Carroll interviews blonde Verna Watson of Toronto to tell readers just how un-glamorous is the life of an artist's model.

From the cover of WEEKEND bouncing Betty Hutton smiles as she swings in tights on a trapeze for The Greatest Show on Earth —Cecil B. DeMille's latest extravaganza. Inside pages tell some of her problems in the role of an aerialist.

Into the chilly Arctic went staff writer Clyde Kennedy, with photographer Bert Beaver, to tell WEEKEND readers about the Arctic Weatherman and his life in chilly and lonely Coral Harbour near the north end of Hudson Bay.

A peek into the style rooms of Christain Dior, creator of the New Look, is offered from Paris by staffer Mavis Gallant. She tells of a man, who can't sew a stitch, but who has made a name for himself with extravagant ideas.

Boxing's Bible Man—Nat Fleicher—is introduced to WEEKEND readers by Andy O'Brien, sports editor, who writes of the life and opinions of the editor of Ring Magazine.

In addition, readers are offered brief features, and the regular sections of WEEKEND, fiction, cartoons, and comics.

40 Scrap Batteries From Junk Yard

Thieves broke a padlock on the storehouse door of Peterborough Metal Co., 256 Simcoe St., early today and removed between 35 and 40 scrap batteries and a 90 pound bus radiator.

The value of the batteries and radiator is estimated at $150.

The main gate was still padlocked when the men went to work this morning, but the lock on the storehouse door had been removed.

Constables Gordon Trennum and Gerald Emmons are investigating.

Lid Clapped On Issue Of Accommodation For MOH In New City Hall

Open Meeting Of Board Of Health Held In Outward Calm, But Tension In Air; Dr. Kelly Asks About Future Plans

The controversial issue of department of health quarters was handled with outward calm at the board of health meeting Thursday afternoon. But there was a definite tension in the air. It was evident that some of the members were making an effort to give the idea that all is well in this issue.

The issue was first brought to light Oct. 12 when Dr. R. A. Kelly told the press that he felt the department had not received due consideration by the city council in the matter of being moved from the Turner house, to offices in the new city hall.

In his statement Dr Kelly explained that despite continued efforts by the department staff to meet with the council and explain difficulties which would arise in moving to the new quarters they were not given audience.

The medical officer of health said that he had approached both the mayor and the chairman of the board of health but had received no definite word on the matter until Oct. 9. This word was an order to move.

The issue was first suggested at Thursday's meeting by Dr. Kelly asking the board what steps he should take to accommodate the baby clinic which had formerly been at the Turner house. The doctor explained that lack of space made it impossible to hold the clinic in the department quarters at the city hall.

The board gave permission for these Friday clinics to be held at the Turner house until further notice. Arrangements were made for heating the house for the clinics.

Then came a discussion of whether or not continued negotiations should be carried on between the boards of health and education towards amalgamation of health services in the city's schools.

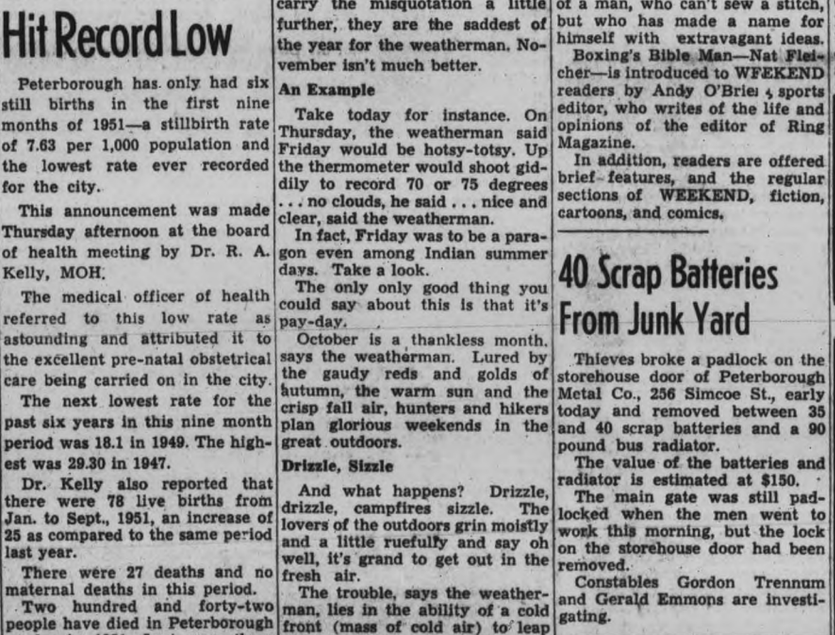
Dr. Kelly said that he had not made out an estimated budget for this amalgamation because he didn't know whether amalgamation was physically possible in the department's present quarters.

Need Offices

He explained that amalgamation would require additional offices for a school medical officer, a dental officer and nurse and two extra public health nurses.

The next issue brought before the board was the question of the Peterborough department being approached by an adjacent municipality for a discussion of the possibility of establishing a health unit there. If this health unit is established it may be the first step towards the establishment of a Peterborough county health unit. This would make Peterborough eligible for a provincial grant of between 25 and 30 per cent of the cost of maintenance.

Mayor M. J. Swanston made the statement that provision would be made for accommodation for both these developments when the time came. If the county health unit became a reality there should be a separate building with each party paying their share of the cost.



Continue Negotiations

Dr. Kelly was authorized to go on with negotiations in both directions.

And so came to an end for the press, department of health staff, with the exception of Dr. Kelly, and the board secretary, E. A. Outram, the open discussion dealing with this matter.

Following the regular meeting, the staff, Mr. Outram and Alderman P. J. Anglesey rose to go. Alderman Anglesey was called back and there was a closed meeting of the board and Dr. Kelly.

What happened or what was discussed at this meeting has not been disclosed. Mayor Swanston Board chairman, Col. J. A. Dewart and Dr. Kelly all said that they did not wish to make any comment when approached today.

County Farm Notes

By HARRY THEOBALD

Membership Of Boys' and Girls' Rural Clubs Reaches New Record . . . Inter-Club Competitions at Guelph This Week . . . Many Feeder and Stocker Cattle Coming From West . . . Holstein Prices Holding Firmly . . . Northumberland Dinner For Juniors.

A new record enrolment of Canadian rural youth in boys' and girls' clubs is reported at 57,816, an increase of 3 735 over last year

This information comes from James D. Moore, the former Peterborough county boy who is now public relations officer for the Club Work Council.

"Since 1931, the year in which the Canadian Council on Boys' and Girls' Club Work was organized, the membership has advanced from 21,142.

The average age is 14.3 years, and the average membership per club is 13.3. Also of interest is the fact that of the 57,816, the number of boys and girls is almost equal—28,853 girls and 28,963 boys."

This great company of boys and girls from the farms of Canada should be visualized by parents in any of the Peterborough townships when opportunity invites their own children. The Club Council has influential support throughout the country, and particularly in its executive, and certainly inclusive of the Departments of Agriculture of the provinces and the federal government. Its leadership is both practical and idealistic, and is essentially engaged in extending the training of home and school on a planned enlarging basis through the teen years.

Another aspect of this movement among and for the advantage of the young folk of the farms is its expanding international relations, the sharing of ideas and some limited association with the 4-H Clubs of the United States, the Junior Farmers of Britain, and elsewhere.

Met Finnish Juniors

Mr. Moore's recent bulletin mentions the meeting in England this year of a group of Ontario and Finnish Young Farmers.

T. R. Hilliard, associate director of extension with the Ontario Department of Agriculture reports that there were three boys and three girls in the delegation from Finland.

"Although we couldn't speak a word of Finnish, and they very little English, we were able to exchange a few comments about junior agriculture organization in our two countries.

The first thought that struck us was that 4-H Club Work is fast becoming international in scope. When we mentioned that we had projects similar to 4-H in Canada, a bond of fellowship between the two delegations was immediately felt, and conversation followed.

Finland adopted 4-H in 1926. They have the usual complement of competitions, training courses, field tours and tests are also arranged for the members.

The average age of the Finnish 4-H Club members is 14-15. Youths of 11 are eligible. Any youth interested in nature, and who may live in a town, may join.

Had 56,000 In 1949

In his first year a club member cares for a plot of land and its produce to the extent of an acre. Each year it increases until a boy of 15 may enroll a 10-15 acre plot. Courses in animal breeding for boys and homemaking for girls, are arranged for the older members. Sports and recreation are similar to our inter-club and inter-county sports days in Ontario. In 1949 there were 56,000 4-H club members in the Association and 461 club advisers."

That quotation from Dick Hilliard's report should be appreciated by parents. It outlines the spacious background of the Junior Club enterprise, and it should convey to parents a glimpse of the place of their boys and girls in their own county associations, and beyond that to the province, the nation and the prospect of international relations.

It will be a great day for rural young folk when their parents themselves apply for the organization of these clubs for the young folks of their own community.

ONTARIO FARM GLIMPSES

Eighteen bulls averaged $468 at the Bruce County Shorthorn sale. At a sale of Yorkshire pigs, 29 bred sows averaged $148.50. Harvesting of late crops is a problem. Many farmers are resorting to cutting corn with hoes.

Peterborough red clover seed is averaging up to seven bushels an acre, as reported in the Ontario Department's weekly crop review.

Western Ontario reports large numbers of stockers and feeders arriving from the west. Perth county comments that prices are comparable with finished cattle.

Fall wheat and pastures are making good growth. Use of forage harvesters for filling silos is increasing in Ontario county.

Ensilage corn is not so good as last year. Glengarry says quite a number of bulls of beef breeds have been bought for crossing purposes. Grain corn in Dundas is about a 60 per cent yield.

Silos are just about full, fall plowing is well advanced. The potato crop is of good quality. Frontenac livestock are going into barns in the best condition noticed in years.

CATTLE PRICES FIRM

The Holstein cattle market has levelled off at resale and actual use values, and general prices are firm and stronger than ever, J. M. Fraser, of Streetsville, commented to the Examiner here Wednesday

"The crazy prices are out," he said. "That's a good thing for the industry because they really didn't mean anything except that some men with a lot of money were willing to pay fancy sums for animals they liked and wanted. I can't see anything but a sound and steady market."

John Powell, of Brampton, also said the general level of prices was higher, but there appeared to be a little discrepancy here and there in the spread between animals that should rate in groups as better and good. The "good" in some instances had actually brought prices only slightly less than the better type.

Holstein association membership has doubled in the last ten years to its present 12,000. Although breeders have their troubles and trials, for every man who sells out there are two coming in. Quality is steadily improving, especially as an effect of the restriction applying to bulls requiring registration of dams.

SEPARATE BANQUET

Northumberland County junior farmers taking part in club work have become so numerous that the previous plan of meeting at the Holstein banquet has become difficult. Consequently, an all-junior event is planned for this year. The Holstein Friesian Association of the county with Gordon Macklin as president and Lindsay Anderson as secretary are sponsoring the calf club members. The County Hog Producers with Harry Doxtator as president and secretary Ray Petty, are looking after the swine club boys. This group totals 120 if all who finish the projects can be present. The special speaker will be A. M. Barr, principal of the Kemptville Agricultural School. It will be a very special junior evening on October 26, in the Morganston Church basement. Those wishing to attend are asked to let their local club leader know at once and the leaders are to contact the agricultural office by Monday, October 22.

CLUBS TO GUELPH

Northumberland was represented by two dairy club teams at the inter-club judging competitions at OAC, Guelph, on Friday (October 19). The Campbellford group were Clair Irwin and Will Petherick, and the Cobourg team, Harry Sirett and Paul McKinlay.

These teams came to Peterborough last Saturday at the invitation of Frank C. Paterson, agricultural representative, for coaching in judging. There were others from Peterborough, Hastings, and Prince Edward. They visited the farm of Norman McConkey, where Holsteins and Guernseys were seen.

In the afternoon Ayrshires were judged at the farm of Earl Rosborough and Jerseys at the farm of Bamforth & Kelly. These are all good herds surrounding Peterborough. The boys' teams were driven to OAC by agricultural representative Ralph Banbury. In Junior Homemaking Club work, Northumberland was represented by Miss Mary Dorland, Hilton, and Miss Ann Heenan of Grafton in charge of Miss Jean Noble, of the Women's Institute branch. The group attended a banquet Friday evening which was addressed by leaders of the junior work at provincial levels.

FROM SOUTH AMERICA

"We could sell more cattle in South America, particularly in the Argentine and Chile, if there wasn't an exchange problem," George Clemons, secretary-manager of the Canadian Holstein-Friesian Association, said at the Wednesday show here.

"It is largely a matter of their getting dollars to pay for our stock."

Mr. Clemons arrived back from the southern continent on Tuesday, after making the trip by plane. He said better class bulls were selling after the Chilean cattle show at 85,000 pesos, approximately $900.

"Holsteins of European and North American breeding are about equally divided in the south. One difference you notice is the small number of exhibitors, but their large exhibits. Cattle are far more widely distributed here. Canadian reputation is as good as ever. I saw some good Canadian cattle in every country."

His trip took him to Venezuela, Brazil, Uruguay, Argentine, Peru, Chile.

"I was in the Argentine when the revolution broke out, and it happened that there was another revolution when I was there in 1946."

LINDSAY GRAIN CLUB

Winners of the Lindsay Kiwanis Senior Grain Club of which Harvey Graham was leader were: Bill Mahood and Glenn Corneill, Omemee; Leigh Tamblin, Woodville; Jack Hutichinson, Lindsay RR 3; David Elliott, Dunsford; Jim Walden, Lindsay RR 2; Bill Jackson and Jack Magahay, Reaboro; E. J. Hone, Lindsay RR 3; Jim Nokes, Oakwood.

Ontario Holsteins Raid International Show

J. M. Fraser of Streetsville (left) and Dr. Hector I. Astengo of Rosafe Farms, Brampton, won both Grand Championships at the International Dairy Exposition in Indianapolis ten days ago.

With only six Holsteins from his herd, Mr. Fraser captured the coveted title of Premier Breeder. This picture of them was taken at the district Black and White championships show at Morrow Park here Wednesday.

John Powell of Brampton, public relations director, who accompanied the small group of Ontario Holstein breeders to Indianapolis told the Examiner it was a great achievement.

The 26 Canadian cattle collected:—10 firsts, four seconds, four thirds, four fourths, two fifths, one sixth, and two sevenths, eighths and ninths. Only one animal was outside the money.

In addition, a Canadian bred cow, now owned in the US, was reserve grand champion, and still another of Canadian breeding was first prize three-year-old.

Mr. Powell said a dramatic episode to the ringside was the meeting of Fraser's Spring Farm Juliette, All-Canadian aged cow for the last two years, and Rosehill Fayne Wayne, owned by Kil-Bar Farms, Hastings, Minn. Rosehill was twice All-American and once All-Canadian. She is now 12, doesn't walk as well as her younger rival, and Judge W. W. Yapp of the University of Illinois finally awarded the aged cow class title to the Fraser entry. This pair went on to Grand and Reserve Grand female championships.

Dr. Astengo's grand champion bull, A. B. C. Reflection Sovereign, proved his worth as sire when his progeny won the Junior Get-Of-Sire, two year old heifer, and senior yearling heifer classes.

Grand finale was the State Herd class, Mr. Powell said, "and here the Ontario entry headed by the Grand Champion bull was an impressive winner, with New York second, on a very uniform entry, Illinois third, Michigan fourth, Indians fifth, Wisconsin sixth, Ohio seventh and Kentucky eighth".

Also included in the Ontario group was the second place four-year-old from the C. L. Mitchell herd of Simcoe; a Fraser four-year-old that placed fourth; also his winning heifer calf; the first prize two-year-old and senior yearling from Dr. Astengo's herd, and the third-place senior yearling shown by Wilfred James of Lambton.

Mr. Powell said there were 223 head shown by 73 exhibitors. Fifteen of the 26 Canadian animals were from Peel county; the eleven others were from western Ontario with Hardy Shore and Alex Wood of Glanworth in charge.

"One of the major surprises of the show to the Canadians was the defeat of Spring Farm Fond Hope, owned by J. M. Fraser, in the class for two-year-old bulls. The winner here was Crescent Beauty Commander owned by Allen Hetts, Ft. Atkinson, Wisc. who went on to the Reserve Grand Championship. Judge Yapp took the microphone to explain this placing stating that he preferred the extreme dairy character and stylish carriage of the winner to the thicker type of bull exemplified by Fond Hope. Fond Hope and his maternal sister Juliette were outstanding winners in the Produce of Dam class. The entry of Gordon Ainslie, Blenheim, was eighth in this class and a bull bred by W. D. Fraser, Streetsville, Ont. was fourth."

"Canadian entries won four of the seven group classes. These included the Junior-Get-of-Sire by the Grand Champion bull and the Progeny of Dam mentioned above. Fraser added his fourth prize four-year-old to the winning produce to take the class for "best three animals bred by exhibitor". A group by Montvic Rag Apple Sovereign exhibited by T. R. Dent, Woodstock, was second in the Open Get-of-Sire.

Juliette was third, next to the second place Astengo two-year-old in the best udder class, while Ada Fern, shown by Gold Seal Farms, was sixth. This class was something of an innovation for the Canadian exhibitors as all entrants were required to be milked in the ring, a practice not customary in Canada."

Beaver Oat Derby Winners L. McMillan First Project of Norwood Fair

Lyle R. McMillan was the winner of this season's Beaver Oat Derby of the Norwood Fair. His total score of 378.6 points was four more than Ivan Begg's 374.6. Wilfred Buck was a close third, and behind him was Gordon Stinson.

Some thirty members entered this contest with the understanding that all would sow registered Beaver oats and treat at least one acre strip in each field with 250 pounds of commerical fertilizer (donated by the Society), and leave one acre adjoining unfertilized, as reported by President G. A. Brethen yesterday.

In addition each contestant was to exhibit a sheaf and a bushel of grain from the contest field at this year's recent Thanksgiving Day Fair.

"As this project was carried out to demonstrate the benefits derived from the proper use of commercial fertilizer a bonus of one point per bushel increased yield of the fertilized acre over the unfertilized was added to the regular field score.

Fertilizer Benefits

The difference in color of grain, stage of maturity and increase in yield was quite evident to owners and the passing public throughout the season. In a carefully conducted test of several fertilizers of different analysis conducted by a prominent fertilizer organization on a check field in this contest the threshing results showed increases up to 30 bushels to the acre on the fertilized strips over that on the non-fertilized. In view of these facts it would seem the estimated yields reported elsewhere are conservative. On the whole the yields on these contest fields were very high, up to 85 bushels to the acre of heavy high quality grain.

To encourage members to enter this contest and 'try out' commercial fertilizer right on their own farms in addition to the 250 lbs. free fertilizer donated by the society more than $200. in regular and special prizes were awarded those members who completed the project. In the specials the scores were very close.

Col. F. E. Birdsall's $10 special for the best field, was won by Ivan Begg RR No. 2, Norwood, just one-half per cent above the next highest, and one full per cent above the third place winner, while secretary Gordon Parker's special for best sheaf went to Gordon Stinson, and Mr. S. H. Buck's to Mr. Wilfred Buck for a grand bushel of grain scoring 98 points.

The winner of Canada Packer's beautiful Bulova gold watch for the highest gross score on field, sheaf and grain was won by L. R. McMillan, Norwood, with a high of 378.6 points out of a possible 400, closely followed by Ivan Begg with 374.6 2nd. Wilfred Buck with 372.2., 3rd. and Gordon Stinson with 370., 4th.

This demonstration project proving the importance of supplementing the use of farm manure with fertilizer 'out of the bag' following as it does last year's Norwood Fair project emphasizing the use of better seed, is deemed very valuable to this community and is heartily endorsed by the department of agriculture at Toronto."

(The competing members were all from Norwood rural routes except Mr. Hope.)

The tabulated scores follow:

	Field	Fertilizer Bonus	Sheaf	Bushel	Total
Possible Score	200		100	100	400
L. R. McMillan	183.6	15	88	92	378.6
Ivan Begg	184.6	10	84	96	374.6
Wilfred Buck	182.2	10	81	98	372.2
Gordon Stinson	176	10	90	94	370
Wes. Chamberlain	172	15	86	95	368
Wm. Forstall	173	5	83	97	358

N. McConkey Second In Premier Exhibitors

By some inadvertence the name of Norman McConkey was omitted from the reported list of four premier exhibitors at the Holstein show Wednesday. George McLaughlin, of Elmcroft Farms, Oshawa, was in front with 36 points. Mr. McConkey was a close second with 35, and Ontario county breeders were third and fourth, O. Chambers, of Wilfrid, 32 points, and Roy Ormiston 26½.

Eisenhower Gets Top Officer

OTTAWA, Oct. 19 — (CP) — The army's top intelligence officer is being posted to Gen. Eisenhower's headquarters near Paris, it was announced Thursday.

He is 41-year-old Lt.-Col. William A. Todd of Ottawa and Brockville who will serve as an intelligence officer at Gen. Eisenhower's supreme headquarters of the Allied powers in Europe.

Lt.-Col. Todd was the man in charge of the elaborate security arrangements for the recent North Atlantic Treaty Organization meeting here.

A former Brockville school teacher, he has served in the intelligence corps through most of his army career, starting in 1942.

UK Election May Decide Anglo-American Relations

LONDON, Oct. 19 (AP). — Americans have a big stake in the British general election.

When Britons vote Thursday, Oct. 25, the future of Anglo American relations—a big factor in the American scheme of defence against Communism—may hang in the balance.

Both Winston Churchill's Conservatives and Prime Minister Attlees' Labor followers are pro-American and anti-Russian, but they differ in the way they would conduct Britain's relations with the United States, and with Russia.

The US is counting on a strong and stable Britain as a bastion in her anti-Communism front lines. But right now Britain seems headed toward another financial crisis.

The voters will decide who is to lead the fight for solvency — Churchill, a dynamic leader respected by business, feared by many working men, or Attlee, a mild man whom most workers trust. They have varying ideas on how the struggle for survival should be carried on.

Might Be More Popular

In some respects, at least, a Churchillian foreign policy might be more to US liking than Labor's policy. Churchill would be committed to move faster toward the goal by a united Europe. which the US favors. He has vowed to work quickly for a more "intimate" and friendly relationship with the US. He would like to take the initiative in a big new peace offensive with the Kremlin.

The Conservative leader has campaigned for years for the idea of a united Europe. Like the US, he sees closer European unity as one bulwark against Communism. Like some US government leaders, he thinks the Labor government has dragged its feet in the united Europe movement.

Labor has been reluctant to surrender any of Britain's sovereignty to grouping of European governments, some of which might be regarded as unstable and anti-Socialist in their policies.

Like Old Times

In Anglo-American relations, Churchill thinks he would be able to build "the cordial and intimate understanding with America which played so important a part in the war."

His political argument is that left-wing Labor has weakened American confidence in Britain.

He says the US would pay more heed to the British point of view if he expressed it.

Churchill has not said exactly what he means by a more "intimate" Anglo-American relationship. This could mean more sharing of American atom secrets, a bigger role for British military men in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization setup.

22 Held For Fraud

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18 (AP)— The Federal Bureau of Investigation today announced the arrest of 22 persons on charges of fraud against the government in connection with the veterans' educational program. Fourteen arrests were made in Miami, Fla., two in Detroit, one in Dayton, O., two in New York City and three in the Newark, NJ, area.

Three Canadians In Hit Show At London

By MURIEL NARRAWAY

LONDON — (CP)—When the Broadway hit "South Pacific" opens its London run next month in Drury Lane's Theatre Royal, American singing star Mary Martin will have three Canadians to help her make it a success.

They are Calgary-born John McLaren, Ray Buckingham of Ottawa and Bill Nagy of Hamilton.

Biggest part of the three goes to slim, dark John McLaren who plays one of the four male leads—a United States naval officer called William Harbison.

McLaren came to London in 1940 with the Canadian army and ever since he's been tied up with British films, stage and radio. In fact, he got himself a two-year leave from the army to play "A Canadian Soldier Named Bill" in a British wartime radio program called "Front-Line Family."

Supporting Roles

Ray and Bill, on the other hand, start with small supporting roles. Thirty-year-old Bill, however is understudying the male comedy lead played by American Ray Walston, and hopes to take over the part in about six months.

At the moment, Nagy and Buckingham, who is 22, play seamen—but with something of a difference. Ray, who came here 3½ years ago as the juvenile lead in "Golden City," is using his bass voice in a character role. Bill plays a typical naval comedian nicknamed "Stewpot."

The three Canadians have one thing in common. They all like the British stage well enough to want to stay in Britain. The veteran resident is McLaren, who was demobilized in London and decided to stay. He has continued in radio and had film parts in "Man From Marocco," "Calling Paul Temple" and "Poet's Pub." His stage successes include the part of the Yank in Fifth Shepherd's "Hasty Heart." He has also played with American film star Joseph Calleia in "All My Sons."

Bill Nagy arrived in 1949 with the cast of the American play "Death of a Salesman," starring Paul Muni.

Word of "South Pacific's" tremendous success on Broadway has seeped through to London and opening night Nov. 1 is eagerly awaited.

Newspapers Interpret News To Help Modern Readers

Developments in communications during the last 25 years have changed the role of the newspaper from a mere recorder to an interpreter of events, G. Wilson Craw, Managing Editor of the Examiner told Peterborough Kiwanians in a luncheon address at the Empress Hotel Thursday.

Speaking on the topic "Interpreting the News", Mr. Craw said, "The newspaper monopoly on news has been broken by radio. Most readers know what happened before they start to read.

"Telling you the city council did something is no good today. You want to know why such and such a course was followed," he continued.

"Communuications have changed the world, even in my time and I have only been in the business 2,, years. When Mackenzie King was returned in 1926, news was still coming into the office by Morse Code.

"Next month, few people will get the results of the Ontario election through a newspaper. But you will still want your newspaper and you will want that newspaper to give you something different from the ordinary news you can hear over the radio. Hence in writing the story for our readers we must interpret it."

Mr. Craw said he believed that the future of newspapers as a medium depended on their ability to meet the challenge of this new situation by "developing adequate and intelligent means of explaining what is going on in the world."

Sensed Changed

Most sports editors have sensed this change said the Examiner's managind director. "They were the first to let some air into the staid and unreadable columns."

Although listening to radio bulletins is becoming a fixed habit, most people want something more and look to newspapers for sober explanation and considered guidance. Turning to the local scene, Mr. Craw said he believes readers want good interpretative reporting at the city hall level, the police department or the county court level.

Pointing out that the job of interpreting the news becomes more difficult as the field narrows, the speaker added, a story which interprets the news takes longer to write than a straight news report. "It takes time to acquire background and it takes time to train a staff of reporters who are able to acquire a background.

"That is what we are aiming at on the Examiner," he said and referred to the Examiner's coverage of the royal visit to Trenton as an example.

Toughest Assignment

Labor news is the toughest assignment on the newspaper today and the man who handles this field for the Examiner tries to be interpretative. Mr. Craw said that although unions and management often do not like it, "we try to tell our readers the why of the whole thing," and give them a better opportunity to understand management-labor problems so they can draw their own conclusions.

Mr. Craw said that there is still a place for straight reporting in spite of the trend toward interpretative writing. "There is no sense in trying to be interpretative in reporting an address or a sermon. Ending on a word of advice to public speakers and ministers, Mr. Craw suggested they should be more "interpretative" in their subject matter, and thus allow us to pass on to our readers what you are attempting to put across."

"It is a basic principle that 70 per cent of our knowledge is gained through our eyes. Newspapers will always have a place in the life of the community and the individual. The newspaper will always play the leading part in the distribution of information, knowledge and understanding of the problems of our lives whether they be in the civic, the provincial, the federal or the international field."

Mr. Craw was introduced by W. J. Garner and thanked by Walter Howell.

Egypt's Twisting Of Lion's Tail May Change Course Of British Election

By RELMAN MORIN

LONDON, Oct. 19—(AP)—The Londoner turns to his radio and says bitterly, "well, should we get the news and see how many British have been shot tonight?"

A metropolitan newspaper sarcastically warns its readers that British Honduras probably will be the next possession to revolt and demand independence.

People talk of the "vogue for twisting the British lion's tail."

Their bitter anger can have a profound effect on the national elections next week, helping Winston Churchill's Conservatives as it adds to criticism of the Labor government.

Most political observers both in and out of the government believe that will be the result of events in the Middle East.

Change In Events

When parliament was dissolved and the Oct. 25 election date was set, Britain was concerned mainly with domestic issues. Foreign affairs were a secondary issue to the average Briton.

As the campaign began to move, Churchill did his best to make foreign affairs a matter of primary concern.

He accused the Labor government of bungling in Iran, of failure to foresee the direction of events there, and of inability to handle them.

His success, however, was limited. Until the last few day, people were mainly concerned with wages, prices, food, housing and the like.

Although smarting with humiliation over Iran, their feel-

Must Have Services To Draw Workers

KITCHENER, Oct. 19—(CP)—Any municipality which wants industry must be prepared to see that workers have the necessary services, the central committee of the national House Builders Association was told Thursday.

Sam Jackson of Oshawa, Ontario vice-president, said some municipalities refused builders permits because they were afraid they would have to build schools to accommodate the children in the house.

"If you want industry you've got to have workers and if you have workers you can't deny them the right to raise families," he said.

Lyle Hallman of Kitchener said the federal government's new mortgage policy is helpful but "houses require not only land, but roads, water mains and sewers."

The solution, he suggested, might be found in "increasing our commercial and industrial assessment, or in obtaining larger grants from the provincial department of education."

Mother 27 Vanishes Police Join Search

TORONTO, Oct. 19 — (CP) — Margery Fern Castle, 27-year-old devoted mother of a two-year-old boy, told her husband that she would be home in a few minutes. That was three weeks ago.

Art Castle, a barber by trade, has visited relatives in London, Hamilton, Ingersoll, Windsor and Woodstock since then, and is still searching for his wife.

Police have scoured Toronto's east side and questioned her friends and relatives in the city.

Mrs. Castle was employed as a part-time waitress in a Toronto restaurant.

Hollywood Scans Deaths Of Women Stars

NEW YORK — (AP).—Death often strikes dramatically against beauty, youth and fame.

Strung like ebony beads through the years have come a series of premature, tragic deaths of talented beautiful women who seemed to be fortune's favorites—Carole Lombard, Jean Harlow, Thelma Todd, Lupe Velez, Carole Landis.

Another name was added to the list recently when Maria Montez, international movie beauty, died in her bath.

Here was a young woman in her early 30s who took joy in life and had everything to live for. Her husband, French film star Jean-Pierre Aumont, adored her. She had a young daughter.

There was nothing mysterious about her death in her handsome home in the Paris suburbs. She had complained of a heart condition. It was her habit to take daily baths in extremely hot water. The verdict was accidental drowning induced by a heart attack or a fainting spell.

At Peak of Life

The circumstances surrounding the death of Carole Lombard in 1942 were different, but she, too, died at a time when the future must have looked sweet to her. The commercial plane in which she and 21 others travelled crashed into a mountain and burned.

One of the nation's most popular actresses, she had achieved success after long struggle. Her second marriage, to Clark Gable, was happy. Her gaiety and zest for life were the source of endless anecdotes.

Platinum-blonde Jean Harlow was still seeking happiness when uremic poisoning and a brain infection snuffed out her life at the age of 26. That was in 1937, shortly after Jean had been discovered to be a first-rate comedienne after years of playing the role of super-sexy blonde.

Complicated Life

Her professional star rose with each successive picture, and her personal life became more and more complicated. A marriage at 16 had soon ended in divorce. She suddenly announced her marriage to a gentle-mannered film executive, Paul Bern. Soon after the marriage Bern committed suicide. This was followed by a short marriage to movie cameraman Hal Rosson. At the time of her death she was involved romantically with William Powell.

Two years before, in 1935, another blonde film bombshell died in mysterious circumstances. Thelma oTdd, comedy partner of Patsy Kelly in a series of popular comedies, was found dead behind the wheel of her car in the garage of her Los Angeles home.

For a while there was official talk of "murder by monoxide"—she had received extortion notes—but ultimately the evidence indicated the actress met death by accident.

Took Own Life

Fiery Lupe Velez, however, took her life in 1944—by an overdose of sleeping pills. The tempestuous little Mexican girl was film star while still in her 'teens. She had violent romances with Gary Cooper and the late John Gilbert before she married Johnny Weismuller, swimming champion turned film "Tarzan." After two divorce actions had been followed by reconciliations, Lupe and her "Jo-nee" finally were divorced in 1938.

With Carole Landis, who also sought an end to her problems with sleeping pills, it was personal unhappiness—a background of four unsuccessful marriages—and financial troubles which finally caused her death. She was 29 years old.

CORDUROY, that warm and wonderful fabric, appears for winter in maternity dresses that combine a great deal of style with much practicality. Narrow-wale corduroy is paired (left) with jersey in a two-tone dress. A cummerbund provides for concealment. A beige jersey top has a dark green corduroy bib inset and overlaid by a jersey collar. Sleeves are widely cuffed in the corduroy. Skirt is straight with the necessary fullness centred at the waistline. A navy corduroy jumper dress (right) in the narrow-wale has a pale green chiffon ascot tucked in at the neckline. Lapels are deep and rounded; sleeves are the merest caps. Standaway scalloped pockets have self-button trim. An adjustable belt that's self-covered and an elastic expansion underneath keep the secret. Skirt has a gentle fullness.

MUST IMPORT OIL

OTTAWA, Oct. 19 — (CP) — Canada is moving slowly along the road towards self-sufficiency in oil, but she still must look to foreign sources to supply most of her needs. Her production in June totalled 4,826,000 barrels, double the 2,237,000 in June last year, increasing the half-year total for 1951 to 18,399,000 from 12,241,000.

Provincial Head of Nurses Speaks To District Assembly

An attractive and vital young woman filled fellow members of her profession, nursing, with inspiration and new resolve when she talked to them here Thursday evening. Miss Helen G. McArthur, president of the Canadian Nurses' Association of Ontario, was the guest speaker at the annual dinner meeting of the Registered Nurses' Association, District Six, held in the Empress Hotel with 121 members attending, and 15 student nurses.

Miss McArthur's observance of nurses at work and at play in seven countries, while in Europe this summer had brought about a change in her views. Before going she said she would speak on "New Challenge for nurses". Now she declares: "There is no new challenge for nurses; it has always been there and is still there; it is just that the emphasis changes, and we have new nurses who must grow to meet the challenges."

Civil Defence Preparation

The speaker has recently been in United States taking a course on care of casualties in the event of ABC warfare (Atomic, Biological and Chemical). While a handbook is being printed and a Civil Defence training program for Canadian nurses is expected to be launched from Ottawa about the middle of November, Miss McArthur told her audience the basis for it all is: "Be a good nurse."

"The best preparation for ABC warfare or any kind of disaster is to be a good nurse" she emphasized. "The answer to this problem of radiation sickness is good nursing care and that means simple nursing care." She explained: "Use your own individual system of the least number of movements and the fewest contraptions to provide the most comfort." Pringle.

Further to Canada's civil defence program, Miss McArthur said all nurses will be ready to do their part, as they have been in past emergencies, but they are not going to again set up registration files which are never used. "We want to be told what the plan is, how they intend to relate medical and nursing care, and the CNA will set up a system to comply."

International Aspect

"I am very proud of Canadian nurses—of their contributions to the international policies" she said. Miss McArthur was in Europe to attend the Board of Directors' meeting of the International Council of Nurses. She also explained with pride that nurses were the first group of professional women to be organized internationally and she read one of the resolutions set forth at a meeting in 1899.

As National Director of Nursing Services for the Canadian Red Cross Society the speaker had also toured Belgium, Denmark Switzerland, Norway, France and Great Britain. She told of tragic little experiences which nurses, she met had encountered during the war and after, of outmoded uniforms worn in some hospitals where they are considered modern, etc. Miss McArthur was somewhat hampered by the language barrier at times but she found this did not hinder friendships. "The language of nurses is universal because it is felt; it is understanding; the knowledge of personal integrity" she said.

Courtesies

The distinguished guest was introduced by Mrs. Eva Brackenridge convener of the private nursing committee, CNA, and she was thanked by Miss Dorothy Potts of Belleville. A gift from the district nurses was presented on their behalf by Mrs. M. B. Pringle.

Miss Cornelia Wilson was acting chairman for the hostess Chapter C and welcomed the guests, 40 being from Chapter A with headquarters at Belleville, and a number from Chapter B, Cobourg. Nurses were also present from Lindsay and Bancroft, being members of Chapter C. A special welcome was given the students nurses from St. Joseph's Civic, Belleville General and Lindsay Hospitals as this was the first time they had attended an RNAO district meeting.

An invitation to Belleville for the semi-annual meeting next spring was extended by Miss Potts.

To Seek Members For RNAO Executive Elected

Annual meeting of District Six of the Registered Nurses' Association of Ontario was held on Thursday afternoon in Peterborough, preceding the dinner meeting, Miss Harriet McGeary, Peterborough, appointed chairman, reported on the business taken up at the dinner.

It is advocated that a membership drive be held at the first of the year, since the 340 active members and 22 associates in the district is a decrease of 28 from the 1950 total. Also that all nurses subscribe to their trade magazine "Canadian Nurse" and that nurses in local areas be responsible for getting more advertising in order to increase the financial resources so that the publication may be improved.

Chapters of the district were asked to combine on their orders for linen which they are sending to the Queen's Institute Nurses of Britain (similar to VON). Letters indicate the linen is urgently needed.

Miss McGeary outlined briefly the re-organization which is taking place in the Association, since passing of the Nurses' Act this year. Where formerly there were in each chapter interest groups on public, private, institutional and industrial nursing, there will henceforth be representatives to the RNAO and all nurses will meet together in the Chapter.

The slate of officers elected for the district is:

Chairman, Miss Harriet McGeary, Peterborough; past chairman, Miss Louise Steele, Cobourg; first vice chairman, Miss Helen Derry, Belleville; second vice chairman, Miss Rosella Cunningham, Cobourg; third vice chairman, Mrs. Margaret Pringle, Peterborough; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Janet Patterson, Peterborough.

Representatives: institutional, Miss Margaret Mills, Peterborough; private, Mrs. Shirley Prentice, Belleville; industrial, Miss Mary Greer, Peterborough; public health, Mrs. Nattress, Millbrook.

Conveners: membership, Miss Gene Clark, Peterborough; finance, Mrs. Hilda Roy, Cobourg; nominations, Miss Cora Droppo, Trenton; Canadian Nurse, Miss Sheppard, Trenton.

Highlights from a meeting of the board of directors of RNAO were presented by Miss Dorothy Potts of Belleville.

FIRM BELIEVERS IN YOUNG MARRIAGES Mr. and Mrs. George Benton, 782 Water St., today are celebrating their 58th wedding anniversary. They were married on a bright sunny October 19 in 1893 at the bride's home on Bolivar St. when they were only 19 years old. They believe that if lovers marry young, they become accustomed to each other's habits more easily.—(Examiner Staff Photos)

Marry Young Say Couple Wed 58 Years Ago Advise

Young marriages receive a hearty stamp of approval from Mr. and Mrs. George Benton, 782 water St. North, who today are celebrating their 58th wedding anniversary.

When only 19 years old, they were married on October 19, 1893 at the bride's home on Bolivar St. Since then they have grown up together becoming accustomed to each other's habits early, and that's what Mrs. Benton believes all young lovers should do.

Both have lived in Peterborough all their lives, except for a short period when they moved to the United States.

Mrs. Benton's father was the late William Pilling, an engineer for the old Grand Trunk Railway. Mr. Benton's parents were market gardeners in Peterborough's southend.

For 12 years beginning in 1891, Mr. Benton was a machinist with the Peter Hamilton Company, later working 10 years with the CGE. He then left Canada and for four years worked in Los Angeles and Rochester. They returned to Peterborough and settled down.

Auction Clerk

Since then he has worked clerking at auctions with Wilbert Hancock and J. H. Miles. But his main interests are with his hobby, perennial plants and rock garden plants.

Ever since he first went to the farmers' market with his mother and father when just a boy, he has been selling his flowers.

When the market site was changed early this year to George St., Mr. Benton was the first to make a sa'

Through [illegible] years in Peterborough, Mr. Benton has taken an active part in civic, provincial and federal elections. For years he was chairman of the city's south ward and has assisted Douglas Lawrie, returning officer, for Peterborough through three elections since 1945.

Besides keeping house, Mrs. Benton's time is taken with her three main hobbies, her sunken rock garden at the back of the house, her goldfish, and her antiques.

Since she was a girl, Mrs. Benton, the former Mary Pilling, has always been fond of antiques and collected them. Among her prizes which she has only lately started to sell, is a beautiful oak cradle which swings on sturdy oak standards, glassware, china and old pictures.

Fish Pond

Children of the neighborhood share her interest in the goldfish which during the summer loll in a small pool in the rock garden. Besides 15 large fish in the pool, she now has about 25 small fish, which were hatched this summer.

Mrs. Benton has also taken an active part in public affairs, working for the Children's Aid Society and the Red Cross. For five years, she was chairman of the old age pensions board in Peterborough before the office was transferred to Toronto.

They have one son, George, 534 Harvey St., who is also an enthusiastic hobbyist.

Bride-To-Be Feted

NORWOOD, Oct. 19—(ENS)—Misses Jean Hyslop and Sylvia Ferguson were joint hostesses Tuesday evening at a miscellaneous shower at the home of Mrs. William Chamberlain for Miss Barbara Cuthbertson whose marriage to Ross Althouse takes place October 27.

The bride received her gifts in the dining room which was decorated in mauve, yellow and white.

Those present were Misses Barbara Cuthbertson, Barbara Davey, Shirley Godin, Betty Baker, Doris Moore, Vera and Susie Mathews, Jean and Ruth Baskin, Jean Hyslop, Viona and Helen Scott, Sylvia Ferguson, Mrs. Joseph Rae Jr. Miss Hazel Kelly was unable to be present but sent a gift.

Landmark for visitors to the Festival of Britain is the great Dome of Discovery, with its 2½-acre top sheathed in gleaming aluminum. Largest dome ever built, it has more than three times the diameter of the Dome of St. Paul's Cathedral.

Canadian visitors to the Festival may be excused for pointing with pride to the fact that roof, ribs, rafters and other parts of the all-aluminum Dome were made from Canadian aluminum . . . and that Canada is the world's most efficient producer of this essential modern metal. Hastings Women Plan Supper

HASTINGS, Oct. 19 (ENS)—The WA of St. George's Anglican Church held their regular monthly meeting on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. John Johnston. There was a large attendance of members.

The President Mrs. Clifford Baker took charge of the meeting, and after devotions, various reports were read. Mrs. H. E. Horwill said that a parcel of good used clothing would be sent to England shortly, and donations of food would be acceptable in November for the food parcels that will be sent at that time.

It was decided to have a fowl dinner on Thursday, October 25.

Convenors for this event will be Mrs. Wm. Gillespie and Mrs. Jack Johnstone.

Rev. A. J. Patstone closed the meeting with prayer.

Refreshments were served and a pleasant social hour followed. The President thanked Mrs. Johnstone for her hospitality and Mrs. Ellery Smullin invited the members to her home for the November meeting.

Liquor Traffic Said Hindering Mission Work

The WMS sectional rally Thursday afternoon in the parlours of George St. United Church with 60 present was conducted by Mrs. W. R. Young. Worship period was taken by Mrs. J. M. Beatty on the theme "The challange of our religion," comparing modern experiences with those of Moses. Mrs. Arnold Mathews closed the period with prayer.

Mrs. E. H. Brown, president of George St. WMS, gave words of welcome on behalf of the Auxiliary and the minister. An educational review of WMS literature was given by Mrs. D. Bruce Gordon.

The liquor traffic was mentioned as the greatest hinderance to mission work. This question was discussed at length and in conclusion the thought was expressed that the church and the WMS must produce people who want to do the right thing at whatever cost. "Get away with defeatism and work one with God."

Greetings from the Presbyterial were brought by president Mrs. A. E. Metcalfe who appealed for more and better missionary work to be accomplished. She also introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. E. Lang, secretary of Christian citizenship for the Dominion Board.

Mrs. Lang spoke on 'Christianity in action." She said the interests of Jesus in this world are centred on people and asked the questions: "Are our interests centred on justice? Do we see the evils and accept the responsibility of trying to right them?" She urged that members make use of their own franchise to make the world a fit home for God's family.

Discussion followed along various phases of Christian citizenship work. Mrs. F. W. K. Harris conducted a 20-question qizz with Mrs. A. Mathews, Miss Ann Jamieson and Mrs. Angus Munro taking part.

A report of the School for Leaders at Whitby was given by Miss Dorothy Leslie.

The missionary service being held at the evening service of Mark St., November 18th, at which Dr. Robert Clark, missionary from India, will be guest speaker, was announced.

Mrs. H. Clegg moved a vote of thanks to the speaker and all who assisted with the rally.

The meeting closed with prayer offered by Mrs. Hanbidge of Stewart Hall and refreshments were then served by George St. Auxiliary.

Wife Helps Tired Mate Forget Troubles Of Day

DEAR MISS DIX: When a husband comes home from business irritable and finding fault with everything the wife does, what should she do? Should she answer back or keep quiet?

MFG

Dorothy Dix

ANSWER: Try feeding him an attractive, well-cooked dinner as soon as possible after his return home, restrict your own remarks to pleasant, terse comments on the day's happenings and above all ignore his irritability and fault-finding. When the good food has had a chance to soften his disposition, you'll have a changed man.

The attitude with which a wife greets her husband after he has put in a day at the office, shop, mill or farm can largely determine the success or failure of a marriage. A wife naturally thinks, and rightly, too, that her day of housekeeping and baby care has been very difficult. In fact, she often feels that no one in the world ever worked so hard. Well, hubby doesn't have it too easy, either. Today's highly competitive business world is no sinecure, and a man with the responsibility of a family to raise has tough sledding.

Pamper Him a Little

So, if the head of the house comes home cranky, don't meet him at the door with a list of the children's misdoings, or the neighbor's failings. Humor him. Even though you'd like a little pampering yourself. Whatever you do, don't begin a cross-examination on his activities of the day. Let the good dinner do its persuasive job, then settle down to a mutual exchange of the day's happenings—good and bad.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: For eight months I went with Larry, then we broke up and I began to go with his best friend, Bud, chiefly to make Larry jealous. However, I still like Larry. I am sure he likes me, but Bud likes me also. I hate to hurt Bud's feelings, but I am not happy in his company.

SALLY.

ANSWER: To go with a boy simply to make another boy jealous is always bad policy. Someone's feelings are bound to be hurt in the deal, and it is rather unfair to the third party who had nothing to do with the original argument. However, since you have got yourself into this triangle, you must get out of it as gracefully as possible. Bud must be told that your interest in him was purely superficial and that Larry is your real heart interest. When you get straightened out, stay that way. Avoid arguments that will lead to such complications.

DEAR MISS DIX: We are a group of girls between the ages of 13 and 15. We go with a group of boys our own age, who use bad and unclean language. We have tried to reform them, but our efforts have been in vain.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: If your boy friends do not think enough of you to reform their language, they are most certainly not worthy of your company. I am sure a group of nice girls can find better associates.

Joan Crawford Picks List Of Sexy Actors

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 19 (AP)—Autumn is the time for football, bobbing apples and 10-best lists. So we're celebrating the season with Joan Crawford's estimate of the 10 sexiest men in Hollywood.

"On the screen," she emphasized. And then she reeled off her list:

1, Clark Gable; 2, William Holden; 3, Cary Grant; 4, Kirk Douglas; 5, Jeff Chandler; 6, Dean Martin; 7, Jerry Lewis; 8, Tony Curtis; 9, Glenn Ford; 10, William Holden. (What Again?)

After making her choices, Miss Crawford went back and explained. "Gable is still king in Hollywood," she remarked. "His magic touch hasn't dimmed with the years.

Holden Doubles

"As for William Holden," she sighed, "he's a dream. There's a guy who isn't flashy at all and doesn't seem to be the type to have sex appeal. But brother, he's got it. He doesn't show it on the surface, but still water runs deep.

"Cary Grant is tops for suave sex. He's polished, but not slick. Kirk Douglas and Jeff Chandler have a rugged charm that inspires confidence.

"And I'm not kidding about putting Martin and Lewis on the list. I think they are both sexy in their own way. Dean is a handsome guy who sings in a sexy way. As for Jerry Lewis, I think he's sweet. He has an appealing, little-boy quality.

"Glenn Ford is like Bill Holden; he's got a lot of sweetness and charm, but he's a strong character, too. In fact, I like Holden so much that I'm putting him on the list twice."

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Add Cocoa To Their Cereal Then Watch Children Eat It

QUESTION: I do wish I had an exciting recipe to pass along to you. I am sorry I haven't. But I do have a little tip you can pass on to mothers who have a hard time getting their children to eat hot cereal. Add one teaspoon of cocoa to ½ cup cream of wheat and make the cereal as you always do. It is delicious. I have no children, but my husband sure does love it.

And to the ladies who are reducing: When they get an uncontrollable desire for a sweet, nibble on a dried apricot. I speak from experience, for I lost over 50 lbs., but it wasn't easy, for I sure love my sweets.—Lucy Z.

ANSWER: Thanks, Lucy. I have answered the first part of your letter by private letter.

QUESTION: I read your column in the paper regularly and find it very helpful and interesting.

I have a problem and I wonder if you could help me. For the first time I put some sweet pickles in a crock. Our basement is quite warm, and so I would like to put them into jars. The recipe calls for pickles, onions, and cauliflower. I soak them overnight, drain them, and then put them in the crock. I pour boiling vinegar and sugar over them and when cold add spices.

How do I pack them in jars? Is it possible to pack them cold or must everything be heated?—Mrs. John T.

ANSWER: I think your pickles would be safe from spoilage if you put them into sterile jars, handling them with sterile spoons or forks or very clean fingers. Then bring the vinegar syrup to boiling point and pour it over them to overflowing, and immediately seal with sterile lids. I hope this turns out well and that I will hear from you again.

QUESTION: Do you have a recipe for spaghetti sauce that I could make now and can for use during the rest of the year? I would appreciate it if you could publish or send me one before the end of the tomato season. —John P. H.

ANSWER: I will give you two recipes—each delicious. To the first one you add cheese when you open the jar to serve it on spaghetti.

Tomato Sauce Canned (For Spaghetti)

Mix together and simmer for 1 hour 1 cup olive oil, 4 finely chopped cloves of garlic, ½ cup well-packed chopped parsley, 4 teaspoons salt, 1 teaspoon pepper, 16 cups firmly packed, peeled and chopped tomatoes, 4 minced green peppers, ¼ to ½ teaspoon cayenne pepper. Do not strain. Pack into sterile jars and seal. Serve over meat balls on bed of spaghtti.

Italian Tomato Sauce

Seven pounds tomatoes weighed after peeling, 2 cans Italian style tomato paste, ½ cup olive oil or other cooking oil, 1 cup finely chopped onion, 4 finely chopped cloves garlic, 1 cup of finely chopped celery, 2 tablespoons salt, 1 tablespoon sugar, 1 teaspoon each nutmeg and baking soda, ½ teaspoon pepper, 1 cup each finely chopped parsley and finely grated dry old cheese. Fry onions, garlic and celery in oil slowly for 5 minutes. Add all remaining ingredients and simmer 1 hour. (If desired seeds may be cut out of tomatoes, and while this improves appearance of finished sauce it is very tedious. However, many Italian chefs do it.) Pour into sterile jars and seal. To use, reheat when jars are opened and serve over hot spaghetti. Mushrooms may be added at time onions, etc., are being sauteed if desired.

THE EXPERTS SAY:

Quantity Chart Big Help In Solving Party Problems

By KAY REX
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Parties can be fun, if there's no headaches over the "quantity" problem. In other words, just how much cocoa should be prepared for the church weiner roast? Or how much cocoa should be prepared for little Susie's birthday party?

The answer is a "quantity" chart.

Cocoa to serve 100: one pound cocoa; five cups sugar; two teaspoons salt; two cups cold water; six quarts boiling water; 13 quarts hot milk. Mix cocoa, sugar, salt. Add cold water and one quart boiling water. Cook 30 minutes, stirring frequently. Add remainder hot milk and water.

Coffee to serve 100: One and three quarter pounds coffee; two eggs; one teaspoon salt; five gallons boiling water. Beat egg and add crushed shell and salt with ½ cup of cold water. Boil gently for 15 or 20 minutes and then remove bag of coffee and shells.

Tea to serve 100: one pound tea: five gallons boiling water; tie tea loosely in a double thickness of cheese-cloth. Cover tightly and set aside, for five to eight minutes in a place where it won't boil. Remove the bag before serving.

Sandwich Hint

One large sandwich loaf (three pounds) cuts 60 to 70 slices. One small sandwich loaf cuts 20 slices. One large loaf requires half a pound of butter and three quarters to one pound of spread filling.

One quart of either bulk or brick ice cream will serve 10 to 12 persons.

Pies Always Help

Pies make tasty desserts at any time. Here's a recipe for pumpkin-pie filling calculated to bring all kinds of compliments from the head of the house.

Ingredients: one pint pumpkin; pint milk; two eggs beaten. Mix one teaspoon cinnamon; one-half teaspoon cloves; one teaspoon ginger; pinch salt; one cup sugar. Add dry ingredients to liquids and pour into uncooked pie shell. Bake.

Butterscotch-pie also is attractive, particularly to anyone with a sweet tooth for desserts.

Ingredients: one tablespoon melted butter; two tablespoons flour; two egg yolks; one cup milk one cup brown sugar. Melt butter and mix in flour. Add well beaten egg yolks, milk and sugar and boil in a double-boiler until it thickens. Bake shell and pour in cooked mixture. Make meringue of white of eggs.

Health Hints

Did you know "variety meats" such as heart, liver, kidney, tongue, brains and sweetbread are just as healthful as the better known cuts of meat? Health department officials also say they provide all the proteins, minerals and vitamins of the more expensive meats. They also can be made into tasty dishes.

P. Robinson Chapter Tea

At the Peter Robinson Chapter's tea this Saturday afternoon at the YWCA, Mrs. Roy Lewis and Mrs. George Coleman Jr. will be pouring tea, following Miss Mary Greer and Mrs. Frank Jobbitt. The regent, Mrs. H. Baker, and vice regent, Mrs. H. Sanders will receive. Convener of the home cooking table which is to feature unusual dishes is Mrs. S. Braund.

Painful Cramps of "Monthly Periods" halted or strikingly relieved in 3 out of 4 cases in doctors' own tests!

• Women and girls who suffer from those functionally-caused cramps, backaches and headaches of menstruation — who feel upset and irritable on certain "particular days" — may often be suffering quite unnecessarily!

Such is the conclusion from tests by doctors in which Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound gave complete or striking relief from such distress in 3 out of 4 of the cases tested!

Modern in action!

Yes! Medical evidence shows Lydia Pinkham's Compound is thoroughly modern in action. It strikes directly at the cause of menstrual pain!

The effectiveness of Lydia Pinkham's needs no proof to the millions of women and girls whom it has benefited. But how about you? Do you know what it may do for you?

Take Lydia Pinkham's through the month. See if you don't get the same relief from the pains and weakness of "those days"! See if you don't feel better before and during your period!

Lydia Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is grand, too, for those "hot flashes" and nervous feelings so common in "change of life"!

Don't suffer needlessly . . when relief may be so near! Get Lydia Pinkham's!

Lydia Pinkham's has a quieting effect on the uterine contractions (see chart) which often cause menstrual pain!

BY-LAW NO. 18

THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF THE ROMAN CATHOLIC SEPARATE SCHOOL BOARD OF THE CITY OF PETERBOROUGH.

A BY-LAW AUTHORIZING THE BORROWING OF FOUR HUNDRED AND THIRTY THOUSAND DOLLARS UPON DEBENTURES FOR BUILDING PURPOSES.

WHEREAS it is expedient to borrow for the purchase of a School Site and the erection of a School, a sum not exceeding FOUR HUNDRED AND THIRTY THOUSAND DOLLARS ($430,000.00) upon the credit of the Board to issue Debentures therefor bearing interest at the rate of Four and One-half per cent (4½%) per annum payable (semi-) annually and to provide for discount and expenses incidental to negotiation and sale of such Debentures:

AND WHEREAS it is expedient to make the principal period of twenty years next after the date of issue of such Debentures, of such amounts respectively that, with the interest in respect of the Debt, the aggregate amount payable for principal and interest in each year shall be, as nearly as possible, the same; Subject to the statutory proviso that each instalment of principal may be for an even $100.00, $500.00, or $1,000.00, or multiple thereof, and, that notwithstanding anything herein contained, the annual instalments of principal and interest may differ in amount sufficiently to admit thereof:

AND WHEREAS the amount of the whole rateable property of the Board, according to the last revised assessment roll thereof is $4,133,455.00.

AND WHEREAS the amount of the existing Debenture debt of the Corporation, exclusive of local improvement debts secured by special rates or assessments, is $118,300.00.

THEREFOR the Board of Trustees of the Roman Catholic Separate School Board for the City of Peterborough, enacts as follows:

1. For the purpose aforesaid the Board shall borrow upon the credit of the Board a sum not exceeding FOUR HUNDRED AND THIRTY THOUSAND DOLLARS ($430,000.00) and shall issue Debentures therefor in sums of not less than $50.00 each. Each Debenture shall bear interest at the rate of 4½% per annum payable (semi-) annually and shall have coupons attached thereto for the payment of such interest.

2. All the Debentures shall bear the same date, shall be issued at one time and within two years after the day on which this By-law is passed, may bear any date within such two years and shall be made payable in annual instalments during the period of twenty years next after the date of issue thereof, and the respective amounts of principal and interest payable in each of such years shall be the amounts so designated in Schedule "A" hereto annexed.

3. The Debentures shall be payable as to both principal and interest in lawful money of Canada and may be made payable at such place or places in Canada as shall be designated thereon.

4. The said Debentures shall be sealed with the Seal of the Board and signed by the Chairman of the Board, or by some other person authorized by By-law to sign the same, and by the Secretary-Treasurer, and his signature thereon may be written, stamped, lithographed or engraved.

5. Commencing in the year 1952 and thereafter in each year in which an instalment of principal of the said debt and interest become due, the Board shall levy and raise the specific sum shown for the respective year in the fourth column of the said Schedule. Such sum shall be levied and raised by a special rate sufficient therefor, over and above all other rates, upon all the rateable property in the municipality.

6. The said Debentures may contain a clause providing for the registration thereof pursuant to Section 336 of the Municipal Act.

7. Pending the sale of the said Debentures, the Chairman of the Board and the Secretary-Treasurer may raise for the purposes aforesaid by way of loan on each Debentures any sum or sums of money not exceeding in all the sum hereby authorized to be borrowed and may hypothecate such Debentures for such loan.

8. The Board shall have the right, at its option, to redeem the said Debentures either in whole or in part on any date prior to maturity at the places where and in the moneys in which the said Debentures are expressed to be payable, upon payment of the principal amount thereof together with interest accrued to the date of redemption and upon giving previous notice of said intention to redeem by advertising once in the Ontario Gazette and once in a daily newspaper of general provincial circulation, published in the City of Toronto and once in a local newspaper, such notice to be advertised as aforesaid at least thirty days before the date fixed for redemption to each person, in whose name a Debenture so to be redeemed is registered at the address shown in the Debenture Registry Book. Where only a portion of the Debentures of this issue is so to be redeemed, such portion shall comprise only the Debentures that have the latest maturity dates, and no Debenture of this issue shall be called for such redemption in priority to any such Debenture that has a later maturity date.

READ a First and Second Time this 11th Day of October, 1951.

J. G. McCARNEY,
Chairman.
REV. J. F. HOULIHAN,
Secretary-Treasurer.

Plane Business Established In Canada Now

By FORBES RHUDE,
Canadian Press Business Editor.

The story of Canadair, Ltd., at Cartierville, near Montreal, is one of the many which illustrate why Canada is such a busy place and is likely to remain that way.

At the end of the Second World War, the aircraft plant which had employed as many as 20,000 people, seemed headed for the scrap heap. However, it was kept going.

Now, a few years later, it employs 8,000 people with a payroll of about $21,000,000 a year and it expects to employ 20,000 with a payroll of around $50,000,000.

In a year or so it effects to be making sales of from $125,000,000 to $150,000,000 a year; and to get this production it is looking over plants from western Ontario to the Maritimes in which to place sub-contracts. These will mean additional payrolls.

These facts were brought out Thursday in a press conference in Toronto with John Jay Hopkins, president of both Canadair and the company which bought it after the war, Electric Boat Company of New York.

Established Industry

Mr. Hopkins thinks that Canada now has an established aircraft industry, through both his own company and other companies. "It is no longer speculative—no longer fly-by-night."

For one thing, he thinks both the United States and Canada will be building aircraft for defence for years to come; and, for another, that there is a tremendous market for commereial aircraft, once they are available.

He foresees coast-to-coast air service at rail prices. But he doesn't think this is a threat to railways except, perhaps, for some changes in the nature of their passenger traffic. He says: "Industries which think they will lose with each new development, rarely do. New business is created."

He foresees helicopters, with 2 or more passenger capacity, flying people from airports to downtown areas—hopping over the congested highway traffic. This now is being tested in California.

Mr. Hopkins was asked where he would get an additional 12,000 workers for the Cartierville plant.

He acknowledged that skilled workers are hard to get anywhere. Some would be brought from Britain; unskilled workers would be trained to do single skilled jobs; women would be employed, if necessary, up to half the total staff.

He was asked if unemployed automobile workers would be brought from Windsor. He replied: "They won't have to leave Windsor. They will be making wings there." (Ford Motor Company now is tooling up for a $6,000,000 to $8,000,000 wing order.)

Reds Demonstrate Against Mossadegh

TEHRAN, Oct. 19 (AP)—Communists estimated to number 6,000 demonstrated in Tehran today, shouting "down with the Truman-Mossadegh government."

A thousand police guarded the square in which the demonstration took place but made no effort to prevent it, despite an earlier police ban.

After two hours of shouting and harangues by Tudeh (Communist) party speakers, the demonstration broke up without violent incident.

Meanwhile, Iran has offered to cut prices for its nationalized oil to customers with their own tankers, on a first-come first-served basis.

The National Iranian Oil Company—successor to the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company—approved advertisements in the world's press to this effect. Storage tanks at Abadan are bulging with crude and refined oil estimated at 2,500,000 tons.

Firemen Save 60

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 19 (AP) — About 60 persons were rescued early today when fire swept the top storey of a crowded negro tenement. About 25 of those taken out by firemen were children. Only one person was reported injured.

Longer Life

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19 (AP)—The average length of life in the United States has jumped more than 20 years since 1900 to a record high of 68 years, security administrator Oscar R. Ewing announced Thursday. He said the main cause was control of infectious diseases.

Didn't Work

LONDON, Oct. 19 (AP)—John Henry Roberts, 70, took 46 poison tablets, turned on the gas jets and stuck his head in the oven—but died of a heart attack. The coroner decided Thursday that Roberts died before either the poison or the gas could affect him.

Actor Fined $150

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 19 (AP)—Actor Rod Cameron was fined $150 Thursday on a drunk-driving charge, a few hours after he was involved in a three-car collision.

Out Of Jail 4 Days Drunk Back In Court

Just four days after he was released from jail after serving a sentence on a drunk charge, Jack King, 51, no fixed address, appeared in police court today charged with being intoxicated in a public place.

It was King's third appearance before Magistrate W. R. Philp in recent months on the same charge.

In remanding King until Oct. 25, Magistrate Philp said: "This man has never injured anyone and has no criminal record."

King admitted "wine" was his downfall and requested a reformatory sentence. Magistrate Philp suggested committing him to a hospital for alcoholic treatment.

Monty Blames Post-War Policy

LONDON, Oct. 19 (Reuters) — Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery, hitting out at post-war policy in Europe, said tonight the judgement of history is likely to be that the western powers were wrong in thinking they could achieve their aim of economic recovery alone while neglecting military strength.

The British victor of the battle of El Alamein said: "Our present troubles are due basically to the fact that free nations threw away the military strength they possessed in 1945 while the Communist nations added to theirs."

Addressing 7,000 British desert war veterans at the El Alamein reunion here, Lord Montgomery said: "Then came Korea, showing that the Communist nations are prepared to use armed strength to enforce their will—when and where it suits them."

"The pendulum immediately took a violent swing the other way and intense military preparations began. That is not a very professional way in which to conduct our affairs. We were weighed in the balance and found wanting."

He added that morale in Europe is steadily rising under the leadership of Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, Atlantic Pact supreme commander.

Mrs. Mamie Morgan Funeral Service

The funeral for Mrs. Mamie Morgan, 67, Munto, Rawdon township, who died Oct. 13, was held Monday at St. Thomas' Anglican Church, Rawdon township.

Mrs. Morgan, the former Mamie Heath, was born in Rawdon township, daughter of the late Charles Heath and Annie Donnan, and has lived here all her life.

She was a member of St. Thomas' Anglican Church, Rawdon township, and was an active worker in the WA of that church.

She leaves one daughter, Mrs. Lindsay Tanner (Annie), and one son, Harold, Stirling; one sister, Mrs. Mac Anderson (Alma), of Bonarlaw, and two brothers, Everitt and Berney, both of Rawdon township. Her husband, Charles Morgan, predeceased her.

Pallbearers were John Courtney, William Wright, Thomas Clemens, Philip Vance, John D. Hagerman, Harry Heath.

The Rev. J. M. Brownlie conducted the service, assisted by the Rev. Downie, Tweed. Burial was in St. Thomas' cemtery, Rawdon township.

Egypt's Twisting

ings were checked somewhat by the question that Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison flung at the Conservatives:

"Would you have gone to war?"

There was considerable fear that Churchill might pursue a policy that would lead to war.

Without events in Egypt that feeling probably would have counter-balanced dismay over Britain's diminishing prestige.

But this latest attempt to twist the lion's tail has radically changed popular sentiment.

The government immediately reacted in Egypt with a "strong line," moving in troops and announcing they would meet force with force. People are asking why force did not meet force in Iran.

The government, observers said, now is doing what Churchill said should have been done earlier.

The net result appears to have been to give the Conservative campaign a strong forward push.

Dollar Down

MONTREAL, Oct. 19—(CP)—The American dollar today opened at 5 per cent premium to the Canadian dollar, down 3-32 from Thursday's close. That is, it took $1.05 Canadian to buy $1 American.

The pound sterling was $2.94, down ¼ from Thursday.

Winnipeg Man Hung With Horseshoes Wins $16,300 At Dice Game And Tax Appeal

OTTAWA, Oct. 19 — (CP) — Lucky Jack DiCosimo of Winnipeg, who claimed to have won a total of $16,300 playing dice on two successive nights, has won out against the government's tax assessors, too.

The income tax appeal board, in a judgment made public today, held in favor in his appeal against an assessment of $3,340 added to his 1946 taxable income by the revenue department.

When DiCosimo a Winnipeg restaurant owner, claimed big winnings in gambling which are not taxable, the department assumed that he had not reported all his income from his restaurant business.

"This submission," said the court, "which is based entirely on a presumption, cannot be accepted in the place of the positive evidence given by the appellant and four other witnesses as to the source of the appellant's capital increase."

Four witneses came forward to testify that DiCosimo won $9,700 and $6,600 on two successive nights playing dice.

The court ordered the revenue department to deduct the $3,340 added by the department to DiCosimo's 1946 declared taxable income.

Thousands See Marquess Wed

LONDON, Oct. 19 (AP).—The Marquess of Blandford, 25, a former escort of Princess Margaret, was married today to Sudan Hornby, 22, daughter of a wealthy businessman.

Thousands of curious spectators were on hand for the ceremony at St. Margaret's Church on the lawn of Westminster Abbey. There were 1,000 on the guest list, a roster of Britain's aristocracy, topped by the Queen and Princess Margaret.

Winston Churchill, a second cousin of the groom, was a guest. He was cheered by the onlookers when he arrived at the front door. The Queen and the Princess, however, slipped in unnoticed by a side entrance.

Some onlookers had been waiting since early morning, and three hours before the ceremony, which many called "the wedding of the year," more than 1,000 spectators blocked the sidewalks.

The bride wore a billowing gown with a four-foot train. It was of heavy ivory-colored satin, hand-brocaded with a rose design.

The groom's fellow officers in the Lifeguards drew up in a file of honor. The groom wore formal civilian dress.

Blandford is the son of the Duke of Marlborough and heir to family estates worth millions. His father gave him a wedding gift in cash, estimated by some newspapers as high as £250,000.

W. C. Grant

ed—they just never thought of these things."

Liberals Failed

Mr. Brewin reserved a few jibes for the Liberals as well.

He accused them of having failed to halt the rising cost of living while in power in Ottawa. The Liberals boast of their accomplishments in keeping prices down during the war, he said, but now despite the soaring cost of living they will not impose controls.

"If we send back a CCF Government, then Finance Minister Abbott would sit up and take notice. And he wouldn't content himself with lecturing to housewives on economy.

"At present the Government is not doing enough to control inflation . . . not doing enough to see that the burden is evenly distributed."

Mr. Brewin said that every urban community is plagued by the housing shortage, yet in the suburbs of Toronto there were plenty of $30-$40,000 house being built.

He was scornful of the provincial Liberal leader, Walter Thomson. And he described Thomson's policies as "inconsistent and impractical."

"We hear a lot about Mr. Thomson's hospital plan, but what about the CCF? The CCF had one drawn up in detail at least eight years ago.

"Thomson is just tearing a page out of the CCF book and throwing it in . . . If Mr. Thomson really wants a hospital plan he should advise everyone to vote CCF."

William Beggs urged workers to get interested in politics.

"Some workers have learned—some have yet to learn—that resolutions passed at labor conventions and submitted to either of the old-line parties, is just a waste of time and effort."

Working people who have studied the economic conditions in Great Britain and Europe, before and during the industrial revolution, will understand why "labor" in this country wants to enter the political arena, said Mr. Beggs.

"Today many Canadian workers are fortunate in having strong active unions to fight their economic battles . . . but there are people working inhuman hours for insufficient wages . . . and also forced to work in overcrowded, filthy establishments.

"The hardest condition of all is that if any of these people decide to make a change or are laid off, they must wait nine days and sometimes six weeks before receiving any unemployment insurance."

Concluding Mr. Beggs called on all laborers, small businessmen, farmers and professional people to support the CCF candidate.

Ed Humphrey, chairman of the labor council's political action committee, also asked Peterborough workers to line up behind Mr. Grant. He described the policies of the two "old line parties" as "the same old medicine with a different label on it."

Government To Raise Annuity Maximum

OTTAWA, Oct. 19 (CP).—The government disclosed today that it wants to double the maximum annuity Canadians may purchase through the government.

Labor Minister Gregg placed on the Commons order paper notice of a bill to increase the maximum annuity to $2,400 from $1,200.

This would be the first time the ceiling has been lifted in 20 years.

The bill also would provide "greater flexibility in the provisions of the Act relating to issue, conversion and amendment of annuity contracts and payments thereunder."

A Labor Department official said the change is proposed because wage earners now have more money to pay aside for their future than in pre-war years and because of the fact that there is a demand for increased annuities.

"An annuity of $1,200 a year today," he observed, "doesn't buy what it purchased 15 or 20 years ago."

Rotation Plan Starts Nov. 1

OTTAWA, Oct. 19 — (CP) — Movement of Korean veterans back to Canada under the rotation plan is expected to start from Japan about Nov. 1, the army said.

More than 100 members of the 2nd battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, have left Korea for Japan on the first leg of the journey home. Their places in Korea have been taken by men from the Patricias' 1st Battalion.

They may come home by ship or plane. Authority has been granted Canadian officials in Japan to fly home up to 200 men a month.

The scheme for flying home 2nd battalion volunteers to take paratroop training has reached the three-quarter mark for the Patricias—the other battalions won't be affected until spring—and there therefore should be some space available for rotation men on the planes. About 50 more paratroops volunteers are expected to come and they are believed to be in Japan now.

McFarlane Wins Athletic Medal

OTTAWA, Oct. 19 (CP). — Dr. Robert Malcolm (Bob) McFarlane, London, Ont., football and track star, has been awarded the National Amateur Athletic Achievement medal by the National Council on Physical Fitness, the Council announced today.

McFarlane, a 1951 medical graduate from the University of Western Ontario, who now is interning at the Montreal General Hospital, receives the award for "outstanding achievement in the field of athletics, sports or games, reflecting credit to the nation, and in recognition of a career of good sportsmanship."

Instituted in 1947, the award has been made only once before, to Barbara Ann Scott. It consists of a gold medallion, bearing the Canadian coat of arms, the name of the award and an old French motto, "Let the way be open to talent."

In announcing the award, Joe H. Ross, acting chairman of the Council, said McFarlane holds six individual Canadian records for track and has competed with distinction in the United States, the United Kingdom, Ireland and The Netherlands.

McFarlane was a star in Western's pennant-winning Mustangs football team last year, and an easy winner in the Intercollegiate League's individual scoring championship. He was named to the Canadian Press all-star intercollegiate team and to the second squad of its Eastern Canadian all-stars.

Musical Show Forced To Run Extra Night

LAKEFIELD, Oct. 19—Sold out in its second night at Lakefield Memorial Hall, the Lions-sponsored musical show "Going Places" will be staged again Saturday night. The show was staged Wednesday and Thursday, and was scheduled to close Thursday night.

Features of the show are the two chorus lines—a six-man group in the guise of harem beauties, and a dozen Lakefield high school girls. Thursday night, the men's chorus line was brought back twice for encores.

Hometown

In 10 scenes, the musical is the story of Hometown, Canada, as told by the elderly stationmaster played by Paul Richer. He tells of his experiences in 50 years of railway work, and introduces the stage, radio and screen stars he has met—Bob Hope (Jack Ryan), Professor Quiz (Harold Hamblin) and Al Jolson (Percy Archer).

A fashion show, capable handled by Mrs. Jackson, is another highlight of "Going Places", and the finale comes with the entire cast gathers to pay tribute to "The Old Hometown".

The children nearly stole the show with their scene. Directors of the show said ticket holders had better get their seats early to avoid missing out again.

OBITUARIES

THOMAS SABIN

Thomas Sabin, 78, 131 Stewart St., died at his residence Thursday following an extended illness.

Mr. Sabin was born in Peterborough, son of the late Thomas J. Sabin and Martha Jane Fairman and has lived here all his life. He was a retired decorator and a member of All Saints' Anglican Church.

He leaves his wife, the former Carrie Livingston; one daughter, Mrs. Alex Milne (Vera), Peterborough; two sons, Thomas Henry, Toronto, and Gordon, Peterborough; three sisters, Mrs. L. Davis, Peterborough; Mrs. Ada Wicklund, St. Catharines; Miss Agnes Sabin, Peterborough.

The funeral will be held Saturday at 2.30 p.m. from the Nisbett funeral home. The Rev. M. P. Poole, of All Saints' Anglican Church will conduct the service. Burial will be in Little Lake cemetery.

D. FERGUS BYERS

Bailieboro-born, but a resident of Toronto since 1920, D. Fergus Byers, 53, died suddenly today at his home in Toronto. He was a Toronto druggist and an elder of Runnymede United Church.

A son of the late Lewis Byers and Sarah Hunter, he was born in Bailieboro and educated there, in Port Hope and at University of Toronto. Overseas in the First World War, he settled in Toronto in the post-war years and studied pharmacy.

He is survived by his widow, a son, Donald of Alberta, and two daughters, June and Joan, both at home.

Funeral arrangements have not been announced.

Life Pension

KARACHI, Oct. 19 (AP)—Pakistan is granting a life pension of 2,000 rupees (about $660) monthly to the Begum Liaquat Ali Khan, widow of Pakistan's assassinated prime minister, it was announced Thursday. Her two sons, Akbar, 16, and Ashgaf, 12, will receive 500 rupees (about $160) monthly each for their education.

Sawmill Worker Killed Crossing Road

BANCROFT, Oct. 20. (ENS)—Bayliff Evans, 45, RR 1, Detlor, died Friday, 20 minutes after he was struck down by a truck on a county road in Dungannon township. The accident occurred 12 miles southeast of Bancroft.

A sawmill worker, Evans had just been given a ride home by George Kerr, a trucker from Detlor. Evans started to cross the road to his home when he was hit in the centre of the road by an oncoming truck, driven by Roy White, 22, Ft. Stewart.

A drizzle of rain was falling at the time and it is believed this partly obscured Evans' view of the truck. He was thrown 30 feet through the air and landed, fatally hurt, by the roadside.

He died there 20 minutes later.

Cause of death, according to Coroner Dr. O. W. Anderson, Bancroft, was internal injuries and multiple fractures. An inquest was started Friday night and was adjourned to Oct. 24.

Evans is married and has a five-year-old son.

Investigating the fatality are OPP Cpl. A. F. Grayling and Constable George Lloyd, both of Bancroft.

Jumbo's Death Finally Settled

TORONTO, Oct. 20—(CP) — For the benefit of historians, Jumbo was killed Sept. 15, 1885.

In effect, he committed suicide, for the locomotive he charged that day in the Grand Trunk railway yards in St. Thomas was too big even for the largest (seven-ton) elephant in captivity at that time.

The incident is recalled by Ernest M. Potticary of Tecumseh, who takes The Canadian Press to task for erroneously reporting in a dispatch Oct. 10 that Jumbo was killed in 1888. The story concerned an Indian whose proof of age, necessary to receive an old age pension, was his recollection that he had been on a train which struck and killed an elephant. That was Jumbo, 11 feet in height.

Mr. Potticary, who spent his boyhood in St. Thomas, agrees that the slowly moving train struck the first blow, but he adds:

"Jumbo hastened his own death by immediately turning on the rather diminutive locomotive which hit him, but in that manner Jumbo lost his life."

Gen. Meyer Reaches Prison In Germany

BONN, Germany, Oct. 20 — (Reuters).—Former Nazi General Kurt Meyer has arrived from Canada at Wel prison in Germany to complete his life sentence for war crimes, a British spokesman announced today.

"There is no question of a review of Meyer's sentence," the spokesman said.

His transfer from a Canadian prison was made for administrative reasons and had nothing to do with a mercy appeal addressed to the Canadian government last January, he added. (In Ottawa, official sources said Friday night Meyer still is a prisoner of Canada despite the shift in prisons.)

Meyer was the only Nazi war criminal detained in Canada. He arrived at Wel prison this week one day later than planned because the plane carrying him was held up by fog.

Canada Planning To Spend Seven Billion For Defence

OTTAWA, Oct. 20. (CP)—Canada, through government and private industry, is planning to spend $7,500,000,000 for defence and for development of strategic resources within the next four years. Production Minister Howe disclosed this in the Commons Friday. it is about one-third of the total value of the record $21,000,000,000 worth of goods and services Canada is expected to produce this year.

So keen has become the world demand for strategic materials that Canadian industry, with the help of the Federal government, is planning to place about $2,500,000,000 in the expansion of metal, mineral and oil resources before 1955.

The plan is to make Canada self-sufficient in steel and to give her increased expansion of other metals to help North Atlantic neighbors meet scarcities.

Oil Production Tripled

Canada's oil production is to be tripled, as well as iron ore output through developments at Steep Rock and the Quebec-Labrador region.

For the first time she is to go into major production of elemental sulphur, a basic chemical required almost throughout the chemical industry and particularly in the production of vital newsprint.

Increases are expected for copper, lead, zinc, nickel and aluminum and hydro-electric power. This wealth of materials expansion is expected to cost the metals, minerals and oil industries $1,337,000,000 on expansion programs now under way and expectd to be completed on or before 1953.

This is almost five times the investment of $286,800,000 made by these industries this year and more than eight times the $160,700,000 last year.

Hydro Expansion

Hydro expansion is expected to cost $1,200,000,000, triple the $403,800,000 this year and almost four times greater than $344,500,000 in 1950.

Of the government's three-year, $5,000,000,000 defence program, $1,200,000,000 will go into the production of aircraft. Accompanying this will be multi-million-dollar projects for electronics, shipbuilding, defence housing, textiles and clothing and a score of other programs.

So far this year, said Mr. Howe, the government has maintained its program, placing $1,122,000,000 worth of defence orders in the first six months of the current fiscal year.

Scientists Have Trying Day

LAS VEGAS, Nev., Oct. 20 — (AP). — Push-button warfare around the corner?

Perhaps, but . . . .

The start of the new atomic weapons test was set back two days when scientists pushed a button Friday to explode a nuclear mass from the top of a 100-foot steel tower—and nothing happened.

It took Dr. Alvin C. Graves and his fellow Atomic Energy Commission scientists all day to find and fix the trouble—a faulty electrical circuit, one of thousands in the intricate mechanism required to set off an A-weapon.

By that time the scientists were so tired that the nuclear series opener was postponed until Sunday morning weather favoring.

Carrol L. Tyler, AEC test manager, told a press conference ending the frustrating day that the initial test is utilizing a 100-foot tower. He explained that "a fixed-point detonation gives us the opportunity to compile more accurate data and to correlate it better" than other methods of exploding the weapon, such as dropping it from a plane.

The AEC official said the circuit break was not due to any error by a worker, but was a case of one link failing in a complex mechanism.

Special Broadcast Planned For King

LONDON, Oct. 20 (AP)—The BBC is planning a special broadcast for one man—the ailing King.

The King, who is recovering from a lung operation, will not be able to attend a star-spangled variety show in a London theatre next week.

So the BBC has promised to bring the show to the monarch's sickroom, piping a broadcast of the performance by private line into Buckingham Palace.

The show, one of the major theatrical events of the year in Britain, will not be broadcast to the public.

The King today was reported able to leave his bed, but was still confined to his room.

Find Police Elbows, Batons Hazard For Tour Reporters

ABOARD PRESS TRAIN ON ROYAL TOUR, Oct. 20 —(CP)— Covering the royal tour has its occupational hazards for correspondents, but so far there have been no major casualties among the 150 or so reporters, photographers and radio men on this train.

Biggest hazards to those covering the story, as they push in close to the royal pair, are police elbows and batons. A few of them are sporting bruised ribs, but they're taking it good-naturedly.

The photographers, thrusting in for close-ups, are most vulnerable, since there's a rule that none may get nearer than 15 feet to the royal pair for pictures.

Jack Marshall of Federal News Photos had an RCMP corporal whack him over the shoulder with a riding crop at Cornwall, Ont. The same corporal administered a poke in the ribs with his crop to Jim Lynch, also of Federal, at Kapuskasing, Ont., when he ran ahead of the pair to get set for a shot of them approaching the camera.

At Calgary Thursday, Leonard McCombe of Life Magazine was picked up bodily by a couple of police and heaved out of the way when he and some other camera men turned up in the royal path as the couple walked away from an Indian village.

At a meeting aboard the train yesterday, the 200-odd photographers followed the tour decided to ask for a meeting with police aboard the royal train to get a working arrangement that will give them more freedom.

Pat Frowd, feminine reporter with the Vancouver Province, took more direct action. She got a jab in the ribs from a policeman's elbow in one of the eastern cities, and ever since she's been waiting for one more cop to shove her around. She got a push Thursday while she was in a crowd in Calgary's corral as Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip mingled informally with the group.

"I let him have an elbow right in the ribs," she said. "I look around to see what he thought of it, and it turned out to be Philip."

Drive Out British Egypt Vows

Government Renews Threats On Suez, Rioting Flares Up

CAIRO, Oct. 20. (CP)—Egypt today renewed its pledge to oust British influence—and talk about it later—as British trops began pouring into the Suez trouble spot from bases on the island of Cyprus.

Foreign Minister Mohammed Salah El Din Pasha called upon all Arab states to back his country's stand, declaring "Egypt is determined to have nothing more to do with the British until they leave this country."

He stated the decision to scrap the Anglo-Egyptian Treaty and the agreement with Britain over the Sudan was taken "after full deliberation and conscious appreciation of all the consequences that may result therefrom."

Anti - British demonstrations flared up in Cairo again today as FAYID, Egypt, Oct. 20 (AP) —A British army truck patrol reported it was attacked with small arms and automatic weapons fire this afternoon in Port Said, north terminus of the Suez canal. The attack broke the relative quiet that has prevailed in the disputed British-held canal zone in the last two days.

steel-helmeted Egyptian police went into action in two districts to break up minor riots. No serious incidents were reported.

Ready To Fire

In Alexandria and the canal zone all was reported quiet but police were out in strength in Alexandria with orders to fire if necessary.

The British army relinquished control of Ismailia and Port Said today to the Egyptian civil police. An army spokesman said the two towns were handed over after the British were satisfied that normal conditions had been restored.

Meanwhile, Egyptian forces kept carefully out of range of strong British forces dug in along the Suez Canal.

From Cyprus came word that the British garrison on the island was completely stripped to reinforce the 40,000 Tommies in Egypt with a brigade of parachute troops. The last 2,000 troops on Cyprus left for Egypt today.

A British military spokesman said in Cairo there were no incidents in the canal area overnight.

In Cairo, Egyptian officials delivered a formal protest note accusing Britain of "endangering peace in the Middle East" and blaming her for Wednesday's predawn battle at the El Ferdan bridge over the canal. Two Egyptian soldiers were killed in the battle.

An Egyptian official, ordered to stay out of the Sudan by the colony's British governor-general, Sir Robert Howe, caught a plane for Khartoum, the Sudanese capital, today.

Troops Leave For Germany

MONTREAL, Oct. 20 —(CP)— The first major advance party of 350 officers and men of Canada's 27th Infantry Brigade group leaves Montreal and Quebec today for a base in Germany.

Most of the contingent — to serve with the land forces of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization—will embark from Quebec and the rest of the party and the bulk of supplies will board the SS Columbia here.

Some 6,000 trained men with coast-to-coast regimental affiliation make up the group.

Their commnader, Brig. Geofrey Walsh, returned today from a two-week tour of the proposed base area in Germany. He will watch the departure of the advance party and will follow later with the remainder of his brigade.

The mobilization order for the 27th was announced last May and in four months, training 16 hours a day for six days weekly, Brig. Walsh says his men are in "excellent physical and moral shape."

Oldest Woman Dies

NORTH BAY, Oct. 20. — (CP)—Believed to be Canada's oldest woman, Mrs. Isabella Sharrow died early today. She celebrated her 112th birthday on Tuesday. Mrs. Sharrow had been a patient at St. Joseph's hospital since 1947 when she suffered a broken hip in an accident. Since then she had been in good health, although unable to walk. Two days ago she slipped into a coma.

Mayor Of Ottawa To Attend Formal Opening

Mayor Charlotte E. Whitton of Ottawa has accepted city council's invitation to attend the opening of Peterborough's city hall next Friday.

Those who know something of the civic problems of the capital will suspect that Mayor Whitton's visit is prompted by more than amenity among municipalities. It may be that her Worship wishes to see Peterborough's new civic building, its design and departmental components, and to learn of its approximate total cost, as information that might be turned to some citable use in Ottawa's needs.

A comparable civic building in present straits of materials is probably out of the reckoning of Ottawa, but Mayor Whitton's observations here should be something concrete to mention to her council and board of control as the accomplishment of a much smaller city than Ottawa

Of The Way

As already reported, Mayor G. R. Chamberlain and Councillor E. V. Martin, accompanied by their wives, of Peterborough, England, are to land in Canada early next week.

The delegation from Peterborough, New Hampshire, will be composed of Select Man Forest Mercer; municipal clerk Algie Holt, and Mr. Carleton Wheeler, and their wives.

Carleton Wheeler is a retired university professor who in the last few years has been accumulating and publishing information about the Peterboroughs of the English speaking world. He has also been broadcasting it by radio, and from several accounts is looking forward with keen interest and sentiment to this visit and introduction to the city and people of Peterborough, Ontario.

It has been suggested at the city hall that shortly after the formalities of the formal opening and also the housewarming for the local citizens beginning Monday, Oct. 29, representatives of the urban municipalities of this district be invited to see Peterborough's new civic headquarters.

This idea has been favorably mentioned, but nothing definite has yet been considered. It is a proposal in next-door neighborliness toward all the communities within the area sketched in the geographical outlines and distinguishing colors of the terrazza floor of the main vestibule.

Special Invitation

Another suggestion which may be directed to the city council is some special invitation to the reeve and members of the council of Cavan. That township across the west border of Peterborough county was the home of the parents of W. G. Morrow. He often drove out to the locality of the Morrow farmstead, indicating a warmth of filial attachment that remained with him through his long residence in this city.

Navy Streamlining Recruiting For Seamen

OTTAWA, Oct. 20 (CP) — The Navy announced today it has streamlined its procedure for recruiting ordinary seamen.

The 21 naval divisions which serve as recruiting centres across Canada have been told to enroll on the spot all ordinary seaman applicants who are medically fit and otherwise fill requirements.

Previously, applications for enlistment were forwarded to naval headquarters for approval.

Applications still requiring headquarters review include those for a rank higher than ordinary seaman and those from persons with previous service.

"The new system is expected to accelerate recruiting," the Navy said in a statement.

Vital Bastion Hammered In Attack

Allies Hurl Back Red Assault On Eastern Front

SEOUL, Korea, Oct. 20. (AP) — American tanks smashed into Communist-held Kumsong today and blasted Communist targets there for one hour.

They returned to the main United Nations line two miles south without a casualty despite heavy Red anti-tank and artillery fire.

A pooled dispatch said two companies of M-46 Patton tanks rumbled into the outskirts of the Reds' central front bastion.

Earlier Saturday allied tanks probed to within a mile of the city and pounded it with high explosives.

Allied officers said there were probably few—if any—Red troops in Kumsong.

"They have known we were on the way, so they have probably taken out their troops and as many supply stores as they could," one briefing officer said.

No Full Report

At a late hour Saturday, there was still no full report from the tank force that crashed into the city.

United Nations infantrymen captured two more hills south of the city. Stubbornly resisting Reds kept them off three others.

The hills taken were south and southwest of Kumsong, which is 30 miles north of parallel 38.

Saturday's central front battles were fought in rain and bitterly cold winds.

On the eastern front American tanks rumbled through the canyons east of Heartbreak Ridge testing enemy strength.

Far north of Heartbreak, a UN battalion hurled back an enemy counter-attack 50 miles above the 38th parallel. This was at the advance point of a corridor stret-

Deny Elizabeth Worn By Tour

EN ROUTE WITH ROYAL TOUR, Oct. 20 (CP).—Col. Martin Charteris, private secretary to Princess Elizabeth, Friday night took cognizance of press reports that the rugged schedule of the Royal tour is taxing the strength of Princess Elizabeth, and said: "She's as fit as a fiddle."

"There is no question about their tiring and it can be categorically denied that there is any question of curtailing the tour," he said. "She's as fit as a fiddle."

The statement followed an Ottawa report Thursday night by Reuters News Agency which said the belief is widespread that some curtailment of routine ceremonial will be necessary to spare the Princess' health, and one Friday by Cynthia Lowery, Associated Press reporter covering the tour, that "both the Princess and her husband are showing definite signs of shattering deep fatigue."

Yearned For Bright Lights 3 Baby-Sitters Land In Jail

NEW YORK, Oct. 20 (AP) — Roberta, Marilyn and Arlena are three little bobby-soxers who were baby-sitting just a few nights ago back in Nahant, Mass.

But they wanted to dance to see the big city—and they happened to stumble on a fortune that was not theirs.

So they took the money and came to the city: To shop on Fifth Avenue, to see the night spots, and to be grown up.

Everything was fine until they met three city slickers and later the local police. Now they are in jail, and the money is gone.

The three girls—Roberta McCauley, 15, of Nahant, and Arlene Jeffries 17, and Marilyn Curry 16, of Lynn, Mass.—did the town up brown.

Their purchases included a Christian Dior suit worth $235, cocktail dresses at $150, expensive cigarette cases, and drinks at the swankiest night clubs.

The girls were arrested Friday along with Leo Cusson 21, of Worcester, Mass., and Wayne Eckhardt 24, of Grand Rapids, Mich.

The two men were picked up by the girls after they had been escorted to a few night clubs by three other men. But the trio disappeared, the girls said, along with $15,000 that was in a locker at Grand Central Station.

Police quoted Roberta as saying they took $18,000 in all from the house of Dr. Albert Covner. They had $40 between them when they were arrested.

But Dr. Covner said he missed $24,000.

In addition to a juvenile delinquency charge against Roberta, Marilyn and Arlene were booked as fugitives. Roberta and Marilyn face delinquency charges based on alleged larceny in Massachusetts; and Arlene is charged with larceny in Nahant.

Eckhardt was charged with impairing the morals of a minor. Cusson was booked on a rape charge.

Vancouver Keeps Welcome Simple For Royal Couple

VANCOUVER, Oct. 20. (CP)—It won't be royalty under wraps today in Vancouver—as in Calgary where furs and blankets were used to protect Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip from wintry blasts. The weatherman promised a high temperature of 58 with a "few" showers and occasional sunny intervals, enough to enable the Royal couple to discard winter finery. Arrival time here was 10 a.m. PST (1 p.m. EST), and all was ready. Every vantage point was taken early today, hours before the arrival of the Royal train.

Many had comfortable spots, sitting on camp stools to await the arrival of the Royal pair. Days ago, all camp-stool supplies had been bought up in dow town stores.

At the flag-bedecked station the first to greet the Royal visitors was Lieutenant-governor Clarence Wallace and Mrs. Wallace, along with civic officials.

From there, the Royal party was slated to move to city hall to be met by Mayor Fred Hume, his greeting arm in a sling.

The mayor fell and broke a bone in his arm while rehearsing players for tonight's exhibition lacrosse game, which will wind up a day-long schedule for the Royal pair.

Welcome Kept Short

The formal civic ceremony of welcome at city hall was kept short under Vancouver's plans for a "democratic welcome."

Then the Royal couple drove to their plush 15-room suite—little changed from 1939 when the King and Queen were here—at the Hotel Vancouver. It commands a beautiful view of the Vancouver skyline, the mountains and the sea. Next came a civic luncheon, followed by a tour of the city.

British Columbia's mountain towns and cities extended a royal welcome Friday. Thousands turned out at Revelstoke, Salmon Arm, and Kamloops to see Canada's future Queen.

It was an international welcome in Vancouver. Thousands journeyed here in cars and special trains from Seattle and other Pacific northwest centres to see the Royal procession.

After the civic reception visits to military hospitals, the blind institute and Queen Elizabeth Park were scheduled. At the park, the Princess was to plant a tree and receive a miniature silver shovel as a memento.

Big Army Day

It was a big day for the military. Four thousand service men, reserve, active and veterans, formed a human barrier along the parade route. Their job was to see that

Newspapers Predict Conservative Victory

LONDON, Oct. 20. (AP)—Britain's newspaper editors have forecast a Conservative victory in the general election.

In a country-wide survey conducted by the Bournemouth Times editors were asked which party they thought would win in their constituency. A similar survey last election was fairly close but failed to give Labor as many votes as they polled.

Drew Outlines 5-Point Inflation Plan

OTTAWA, Oct. 20 (CP).—For the second time this week, George Drew Friday hammered the government on the cost-of-living issue and offered a five-point program to combat inflation.

As the throne speech debate dragged into its fifth day in the Commons, the Progressive Conservative leader said his party could not support a CCF non-confidence motion calling for the reimposition of full-scale price controls and subsidies.

The Progressive Conservative party, he said, wanted only flexible, selective controls.

This is his anti-inflationary program:

1. Reduce the cost of government.
2. Increase production by removing restrictions on production.
3. Initiate a real building program that will give the people the homes they need.
4. Promote the development of Canada's resources.
5. Adopt such selective controls as are needed to hold down the price of materials or supplies affected by government defence buying.

Take Adequate Steps

While giving the CCF motion a cold shoulder, he asked the chamber to endorse his motion, which asks the government simply to take "adequate steps" to combat inflation and deal effectively with the high cost of living.

Liberal members held the floor most of the day. Of the eight

Reds Accept UN Compromise

MUNSAN, Korea, Oct. 20 (AP) —Communist liaison officers today accepted a United Nations' compromise of a quarter-mile-wide security path to the proposed new site for Korean armistice talks. Agreement seemed near for quick resumption of the long-stalled discussions.

Col. Andrew J. Kinney, senior allied liaison officer, said after today's session: "I rather expect the thing will get settled Sunday one way or the other."

The Reds agreed to a UN proposal for a 400-metre corridor straddling the road from Panmunjom six miles west to Red headquarters at Kaesong and 16 miles southeast to the UK command advance camp at Munsan.

Only one point remained in dispute, and the liaison officers appeared near agreement on that point: Shall the UN agree in writing to keep its planes from flying over the security zone around Kaesong?

The UN offered the 400-metre corridor compromise during a two corridor compromise during a two-hour session Saturday morning. The Reds acepted it at an afternoon meeting.

Cut Rigid Formalities For Remainder Of Tour

SALMON ARM, BC, Oct. 20 — (CP).—Some of the rigid formalities of the Royal tour will be dropped, it was reported here on Friday.

From the entourage of the Royal party it was learned that an official statement may be made in Vancouver today.

The Vancouver program will be unchanged, but more informal meetings will be planned for the "common people."

There is no likelihood of the tour being cut down, the report said. One change will be that there will be no formal inspections of guards of honor at night

Leave Veterans To Guess Pension Boost

OTTAWA, Oct. 20 (CP).—The government told Canada's 160,000 war disability pensioners Friday they are going to get increased pensions but left them guessing over the size of the hoist.

Veterans Minister Lapointe informed the Commons legislation will be introduced at this session of parliament to increase the pension rates, now totalling $100,000,000 a year.

George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, tried to pry from him the amount or character of the increase. Mr. Lapointe said that information will be forthcoming when the legislation is introduced, possibly in a couple of weeks.

The increases are expected to be at least 20 per cent with possibly more than that for the 20,000 war widows drawing pensions.

The Canadian Legion has been spearheading the drive for pension boosts of at least one-third and a spokesman said Friday the veterans' organization is not going to be satisfied with anything less.

Possible Controversy

Thus if the government does bring down a bill to effect a 20 or 25 per cent boost the stage might well be set for a revival of the unusual 1948 controversies which saw the government change its mind three times and finally agree to a 25 per cent hoist, which was what the Legion wanted.

Mr. Lapointe's statement at House opening also disclosed that the government has agreed to ask a special Commons committee to consider at the next session starting early in 1952, changes in the War Veterans' Allowance Act.

In particular, said the Minister, there is the problem of the relationship between the WVAA and the new old age pensions system because they will affect many of the same people.

He said changes in the Allowances Act arising from the committee's deliberations could be made retroactive to January 1952, when the new general old age pensions law comes into effect.

Parked Truck Rolls In Front Of Car

An emergency brake that didn't hold is thought to be the cause of an accident Friday afternoon that resulted in heavy damage to the front of a car owned by G. A. Martin, 736 Brown St.

Albert Cummings of Bewdley parked a truck on the west side of Queen St., pulled on the emergency brake and left the truck. When he was a few steps away, the truck began to roll.

It crossed the street and hit the Martin car parked on the east side. Cummings told police that the emergency brake sometimes didn't hold. Constable Dan Mackay investigated.

the crowd—some places four to eight deep—did not rush the Royal car.

The Royal train Friday skirted mountain peaks, thundered down the western slopes of the Rockies, moved slowly through the Thompson and Fraser canyons and finally rolled into the green Fraser Valley and to the sea.

Philip was at the throttle for 32 twisting miles from Notch Hill to Monte Creek.

He was still in the cab when the train stopped to take on water at Monte Creek. The Princess appeared alone on the rear platform and chatted for five minutes with 150 residents of the tiny settlement.

Kamloops, at the confluence of the North and South Thompson rivers, was the last stop before Vancouver. The cattle town's population trebled to nearly 30,000 for the one-hour stop.

Main Street Topics

FLOWERS DROOPING

The red glow of the salvias appeared to be dimming this morning after last night's sharper frost. Probably the dahlias and tougher marigolds have been stricken too.

NEW MEMBERS

Appointment of three new members of the recreation commission has been made for the following terms: Mrs. Charles Pilon, Dec. 31, 1952; Mrs. Charles Hurst, 435 Hillcrest, Dec. 31, 1953; Mr. D. G. Fitzgerald, 522 Homewood Ave., Dec. 31, 1953.

REAL HOUSES, TOO

The houses of fallen foliage on the lawns have new tenants. They also have new builders, but the designs appear to be much the same as the art of last year, unchanging all the way back to the autumn of a century ago.

CAR HITS TRAILER

A car driven by Ray O'Brien, 391 Dobbin Ave., was slightly damaged Friday afternoon at Charlotte and George Sts. when it hit a trailer drawn by another car. The second car was driven by Robert Jackson, RR 6, Peterborough.

WOMEN AS GUIDES

The women of the Civic Studies Group are being asked to act as guides to the public visiting the city hall Monday and Tuesday, October 29 and 30. They have already been through the building, know the way around, and apparently have lively interest in city affairs.

ORGAN RECITAL

Dr. J. W. Bearder, former head of the Canadian College of Organists, is to give an organ recital in St. John's Anglican Church. Dr. Bearder will be assisted by the choir under the direction of Fred G. Mann in a choral recital.

ATTEND CONFERENCE

The Peterborough Children's Aid Society was represented at the regional conference of the Association of Children's Aid Societies held at Port Hope Friday by: Mrs. Paul Irwin, Mrs. C. Pilon and Mrs. James Wharry, board members and Miss Rachael Young, superintendent; Miss C. Gordon, Miss C. Morris, Miss D. Metcalfe of the staff.

CAR DOOR DENTED

Minor damage was done to the left rear door of a car driven by Mrs. E. Baptie, 148 Douro St., when it was struck Friday afternoon by an auto driven by Percy Ivey of Warsaw. Mrs. Baptie was driving east on Charlotte St. east of George St., and Ivey was driving out of the city parking lot.

CAR WINNER

Winner of the car given by Orfuns football club on a ticket drawn by Mayor Max Swanston was Bruce Fowler, 647 Armour Rd. Mrs. Stella Ferguson, 120 Hunter St. E., won the silver tray attendance prize and George Logan, 165 Edinburgh St., was the ticket holder of the number drawn by the mayor at the carnival Friday night which won him a rug. Mrs. B. Reid, 373 Rogers St., won the attendance prize on Thursday night.

Official forecasts issued by the Dominion public weather office at 9:30 a.m. today.

Synopsis:

Temperatures over Ontario were near or below freezing during the night. Skies were generally clear in southern sections but cloudy in northern regions and light snowfalls occurred north of Lake Superior.

A disturbance over North Dakota is moving slowly eastward causing the snow in Northern Ontario. Another disturbance moving rapidly eastward from the Rockies will bring snow and some rain to northern regions on Sunday but generally sunny and slightly warmer weather is expected over Southern Ontario.

Regional forecasts valid until midnight Sunday.

Eastern Lake Ontario, Haliburton, Georgian Bay regions.

Sunny with a few cloudy intervals today. Cloudy tonight and Sunday. A little warmer Sunday. Winds light. Low tonight and high Sunday at Trenton 32 and 55, Killaloe and Muskoka 30 and 50.

Summary for Sunday—Cloudy and a little warmer.

Marmora News

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Heath and Mr. and Mrs. James Heath attended the funeral of the late Mrs. Mamie Morgan at St. Thomas' Church, Rawdon, on Monday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. James Thomson have moved into apartments at the Memorial Building, formerly occupied by Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Maynes.

Two Cars Collide

Two cars were damaged Friday at 5:15 p.m. when they collided on Monaghan Rd. just south of Sherbrooke St. Drivers were W. C. Ashbury, 652 Charlotte St., and Joseph Hayes, 853 St. Mary's St.

Ashbury had been driving north on Monaghan and stopped at Sherbrooke to let out a passenger. Hayes passed him, and turned right on Sherbrooke just as Ashbury started again. The cars collided. Constable Sherman Keliele investigated.

Drop Loyalty Oath

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 20 (AP) —The University of California board of regents voted Friday to drop their controversial faculty loyalty oath. Regent Donald McLaughlin moved the special faculty oath be discontinued since all university employees are required to sign the regular state loyalty oath.

Held Up At Party

NEW YORK, Oct. 20 (AP) — Fifteen persons at a party in a well-to-do home in Brooklyn were held up Friday night, police said, and robbed of $25,000 in jewels and furs and $2,500 in cash. The holdup took place in the home of Frank Wolk, a wholesale meat dealer.

The Yukon Territory has nearly 50 varieties of wild flowers, ferns and shrubs, including several varieties of orchids.

Say Reds Unable Start Offensive

SEOUL, Oct. 20 (AP)—There is strong feeling among US Eighth Army officers that the Communists are incapable of mounting another major offensive in Korea.

The officers believe that is why the Reds are willing to offer and accept compromises on terms for resuming armistice talks.

Eighth Army officers have come to these conclusions about the Communists:

1. A sudden change in Red battle tactics indicates they are badly hurt and unable to fight again on a broad front.

2. Artillery fire by big guns of the United Nations army has taken such a heavy toll of veterans that green recruits are being rushed in.

3. The air force is gradually "isolating" Communist troops from the battlefield, leaving them high and dry without supplies.

Drive Out

To Stay Out

The official is Mohammed Abdel Hadi, controller-general of Egyptian education in the Sudan. He said he had not received Howe's order to stay out of the Sudan, which Egypt is trying to annex after repudiating a 52-year-old agreement to share jointly with Britain in ruling the country.

Howe's order told Mohammed and the top Egyptian army officer for the Sudan, Lewa Abdel Fattah Bishari, to stay out of Sudan for reasons of "public order."

Bishari remained behind when Abdel Hadi left today. His army superiors told him to cancel his reservations.

Abdel Hadi insisted he "never heard" of Sir Robert's order. The office of the Sudan agent in Cairo said, however, the order had been delivered to Abdel Hadi's office.

British sources said they feared the two officials might stir up trouble in the Sudan, where some political factions want to join immediately with Egypt and others favor the British program of a slow path to independence.

Abdel Hadi said British-controlled forces in the Sudan include 1,500 British regulars, 5,000 police and 5,000 native Sudanese against only 1,500 men under Abdel Hadi's orders.

Egyptians Turn Back

Egyptian tanks, artillery and a detachment of infantry in armored cars drew up on the highway about halfway between Cairo and Suez Friday, then pulled away from the bristling British fox holes and artillery emplacements.

The British forces are backed by the naval guns of the heavy cruiser Gambia and a small flotilla of destroyers.

British troops have sealed off the canal and split Egyptian forces on the Sinai peninsula in Asia and in the main African part of Egypt.

So far the Egyptians have offered no determined challenge.

But the fiery interior minister, Fouad Serrag El Din Pasha, kept up a running fire on accusations, blaming the Britons for all the rioting and other incidents along the canal.

IRON SOURCES

Britain obtains much of its native iron ore from the counties of Cumberland, Lancashire and Staffordshire.

RIOTERS AT WORK—Two British-owned cars, seized and wrecked by rioting mobs of Egyptians, burn in the streets of Ismailia.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG, Oct. 20 (CP)—Unfavorable harvest weather continued to generate aggressive buying in coarse grains on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange Friday and prices moved somewhat irregularly. Early extreme advances were erased or reduced during the active trading as offerings increased near the close.

Export loadings of wheat included 50,000 bushels for the United Kingdom. It also was reported that 15 cargoes of wheat had been sold to Italy, and the Canadian Wheat Board was offering 19 cargoes to Japan. Prices for Class 2 wheat were up ½ cent, while IWA prices dropped ½ cent.

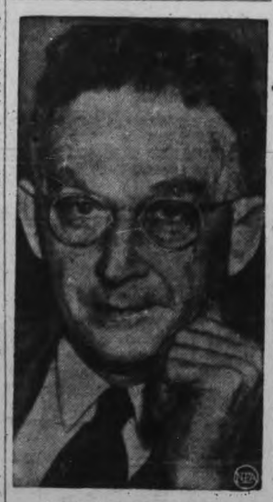
CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Oct. 20 (AP) — Grain and soybean futures slumped rather sharply at the start today. Wheat, corn and oats all were down about a cent a bushel or more. Soybeans were off nearly 2 cents.



Wheat opened ½ to 1⅜ cent lower than the previous finish, December $2.53¾-$2.54, corn was down ¼ to ½, December $1.78-$1.77¾, oats were unchanged to 1 cent lower, December 90¼-90, and soybeans were down ¾ to 1¾, November $2.98.

Blame Combustion

WEEHAWKEN, NJ, Oct. 20 (AP)—Spontaneous combustion of grain dust in a huge elevator blew two men through a window Friday, killing one and injuring the other. It also set off a fire that ruined the top floor of the eight storey silo of the New York Central Railroad. Two employees on the fifth floor were flung through a window, one landing dead on a nearby freight train and the other checking his fall by grabbing a rope.

Appointed To Queen

THE HAGUE, The Netherlands, Oct. 20 (AP).—For the first time Queen Juliana's household will include an American-born lady. The court announced Friday that Baroness Van Boetzelaer Van Oosterhout has been appointed Dame du Palais (Lady of the Palace). The Baroness, according to the official register of the Dutch Foreign Ministry, was born in Baltimore as Ethel Caster Litchfield.

ANSWERS CHARGES—Ambassador-at-Large Philip Jessup, testifying before the Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee considering his nomination to the UN General Assembly in Paris, accused Harold Stassen of leaping like a "grasshopper" from one "misstatement" to another. Stassen had criticized Jessup's role in formulating U. S. Far Eastern policy.

Test Instruments On Latest Polar Flight

OTTAWA, Oct. 20 — (CP) — Latest naxigational instruments will be tested next week when an RCAF aircraft carries them—and an unusually large number of observers—over the most difficult navigational area in the world.

The plane, scheduled to leave nearby Rockcliffe airport October 25 or shortly after, will fly to Churchill, Man., and conduct most of its experimental flights from that base on the fringe of the Arctic Circle to the North Magnetic Pole, almost 1,000 miles due north.

Just what navigational instruments will be aboard is being kept secret. However, officials from the RCAF, the Mines and Technical Services Department, and the Dominion Observatory as well as representatives from instrument firms will be along on the show, which lasts 10 days or a fortnight.

A rarity on scientific flights, two women will be among the observers. One is 33-year-old Moira Dunbar, of the Defence Research Board, a native of Edinburgh, Scotland, and a graduate of Oxford, who has worked here since May, 1947. A geographer, she had as a recent job the editing of a textbook, "Arctic Air Navigation," by Sqdn. Ldr. Keith Greenaway, who will be one of the air force observers on the trip.

The other woman is Virginia Withington, 34-year-old Vassar graduate from Hamden, Conn., an employee of the Kollsman Instrument Company at Elmhurst, NY, and an air navigation specialist.

Climax To Careers

Both women regard the trip as the climax of their careers.

Others aboard will be Wing Cmdr. D. A. MacLulich and Sqdn. Ldr. J. G. Wright of the RCAF, Dr. Paul Serson, Dr. S. Z. Mack and Dr. P. M. Millman of the Dominion Observatory; S. Kellogg and C. Fragola of the Sperry Gyroscope Company; Col. E. D. Baldock of the mines and technical services department, and a representative of the Potter Instrument Company of New York.

Dr. Serson has led several expeditions to locate the magnetic pole, which jumps dizzily from place to place in a relatively small ellipical area on Prince of Wales Island, and makes compasses in the landmark-barren area useless.

Asks Monopoly Inquiry

J. J. Smith (L—Moose Mountain) suggested there might be a monopoly in farm machinery and asked the government to make an inquiry into sharp increases in this field which, he felt, did not appear to be justified.

George Murray (L—Cariboo) belittled suggestions that American prices are lower than those in Canada and said he buys in Canada when he wants a good suit or a pair of shoes.

Dan Riley (L—St. John-Albert) urged the government to show more interest in the Passamaquoddy power project, which would harness the tidal waters where New Brunswick borders on Maine. If it did, it might win American support for the St. Lawrence seaway.

WYANDOTTE, Okla., Oct. 20 (AP).—A few days ago a physician diagnosed Ben Angel's abdominal pain as appendicitis — the blood count so indicated. Stock Markets Develops Jitters Cast

By DICK BAIDEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Toronto's high-flying stock market developed a case of the jitters this week and closed Friday with a heavy final-hour sell-off.

It started in New York about 30 minutes before the market closed. Leading industrials dropped sharply for losses ranging from $2 to $3. Within minutes the Toronto market reacted. Western oils took most of the downward pressure. Base metals dipped and industrials, which had maintained a generally steady advance during the hectic dealings of their junior partners, followed New York's lead.

Brokers and market observers credited the resurgent pessimism to accumulating adverse international developments.

First signs of nervousness appeared Wednesday when the volume dropped sharply from more than 5,400,000 shares to about 3,700,000. Profit-taking constituted a large part of Monday's and Tuesday's turnovers.

Poor Opening

The week opened inauspiciously in Toronto and support weakened and prices slipped steadily. Speculation in oils and penny golds was heavy. Papers weakened in Montreal while industrials turned sharply lower.

Weakening support Tuesday dropped prices for their second loss.

Moderately firmer support Wednesday pushed Toronto industrials from their two-day reaction. Prices opened strongly, turned mixed during the mid-session, then edged higher toward the close. Papers and industrials strengthened in Montreal.

The market hesitated Thursday as industrials traded irregularly. Friday's mild rally faded and prices turned mixed and trendless. Papers strengthened in Montreal but industrials made little headway.

Montreal reflected little of the New York and Toronto movements Friday as papers weakened steadily and industrials eased.

Fractional Changes

New York edged higher Monday with fractional changes. A general retreat in the face of foreign developments dominated the market Tuesday. Cautious trading toward the close, however, regained part losses.

New York recorded the heaviest decline Wednesday in more than two months despite strength in individual issues. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dipped 60 cents to $100.40. Mixed trading Thursday was relieved by wide swings in individual issues. Yesterday's late burst of selling dropped the average $1.30 to $99.10. The industrial component lost $2; rails slipped $1.10 and utilities eased 40 cents.

From Friday to Friday, the Toronto Stock Exchange indices showed industrials down 5.08 to 353.84, golds down 4.22 at 83.78, base metals down 2.56 at 195.47 and western oils down 1.52 at 121.43.

Seeks Re-Election

LONDON, Ont., Oct. 20—(CP) Mayor Allan J. Rush said Friday he will seek re-election in the civic election Dec. 3. Several months ago ex-mayor George Wenige, who had filled the office through nine terms, said he would seek election.

Anxious For Job

TORONTO, Oct. 20 — (CP) — Gilbert Brooker was so anxious to be a taxi driver that he used a milk licence plate on his car instead of a taxi licence. Police commission Friday refused to grant him a licence. Brooker said he had been trying for about five years to get a Toronto taxi licence. The commission explained that there were many applicants ahead of him who had overseas war service.

KENNETH C. PARTRIDGE will pay his first official visit to Peterborough as governor of district 247 of Rotary International Monday.

He will be guest speaker at the regular Rotary luncheon meeting and will confer with directors on club administration and service activities before the meeting.

The governor, a Brampton lawyer, is one of 203 Rotary district governors supervising the activities of 7,300 Rotary clubs throughout the world.

Boss Prepared To Join Rebel Dockers

NEW YORK, Oct. 20—(AP)—Dock Boss Joseph P. Ryan—unable to control his rebel stevedores—was ready to join them Friday in a wildcat tieup of the whole vast port of New York affecting more than 50 ships.

Sparked by some of the men who fought the strike earlier, the tieup spread Friday through a great part of the world's largest port.

Brooklyn was reported tied up, its piers swept bare of stevedores by a roving band led by Anthony Anastasia of the notorius rackets family.

Only two days ago, Anastasia's crews were anti-strike and trying to open the army base at Brooklyn where vital troops and supplies are channeled to Korea and other military outposts. Anastasia has not explained why he changed his mind.

Ships were being diverted to Staten Island, where makesthift crews were moving cargo, and to New Jersey. Strike leaders threatened to picket Staten Island and Jersey piers "if any more ships are diverted from Manhattan and Brooklyn."

Delay Tieup

Rebel leaders had set 1 p.m. EST as a deadline for a tieup of the whole port of New York. Later they amended this to say "by Monday the entire port will be tied up."

They said it was about shut down now.

The dockers went on strike to jettison a new contract which became effective Oct. 1. They want to negotiate another one with better wage, vacation and working clauses.

Acting Mayor Joseph Sharkey wired Washington, asking Federal Mediation Director Cyrus S. Ching to try to win a settlement.

Of 149 ships in port, customs records showed, 55 were idled by the strike. Tens of thousands of tons of cargo were stranded.

Since the strike began Monday on three Manhattan piers, Ryan, as president of the International Longshoremen's Association (AFL), has fought to break it.

Thomson Pledges Cut Gas Tax

GRAVENHURST, Oct. 20 (CP) —Walter Thomson, Ontario Liberal leader, told a nomination meeting here Friday that his party, if elected in the Nov. 22 election, will reduce the gasoline tax three cents a gallon—from 11 to eight cents.

He said that at the same time, a Liberal government would wipe out inconveniences suffered by farmers in receiving rebates on gasoline taxes.

Mr. Thomson said the Frost government had raised the gasoline tax to 11 cents in 1947 on the promise it would use the money to increase its highway grants to municipalities. This has not been done, the Liberal leader said.

He said provincial revenues were buoyant and that could easily make a gasoline taxe reduction possible.

The Liberal leader said the provincial government "could build a hospital in every town in the province" with the surpluses it had accumulated.

Hollywood Tour Dismal Flop Reports Show

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 20 (AP). —Most of Hollywood's ambassadors-at-large returned home this week and added fuel to the great debate about the worth of movietime USA.

The week-long tour of moviemakers has been called both "the greatest public-relations stunt in the history of the industry" and "a dismal flop."

Some areas were bitterly disappointed by small-fry personalities who appeared for the events. There was other evidence of mismanagement, such as that which angered a Boston crowd and provoked the tossing of a lime at Dorothy Lamour.

Many theatre men complained that the big stars who promised to appear never showed up. Now there is talk of a tour next year and the necessity to cajole or whip major stars into hitting the road....

Back to Normal

Meanwhile the town returns to its normal functions of making pictures. One wonders if the errors of the past are ever studied for profit in the future. This week I heard of a color musical filmed in 28 days. To meet this schedule, the director seldom permitted more than one take. When the finished product was assembled, the producer was horrified and returned the film for expensive retakes.

There is another picture at a big studio which was shot in 40 days. The results were so poor that the film went back for 50 days of retakes.

I visited one movie queen recently on the set of her new picture. As she came out of a scene, she confided: "This is the worst picture I have ever made. If audiences can take this, they can take anything."

It would seem that Hollywood should worry less about tours and more about scripts and shooting schedules....

Penny Postcard Gone

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20—(AP) —Congress voted Friday to raise United States postal rates—it'll be two cents for a "penny postcard" —and to increase the pay of 1,600,000 government employees. Assuming that President Truman signs the legislation, pay raises ranging from $300 to $800 a year will take effect, retroactive to last July 1. Higher rates on postcards and special mail services will begin next Feb. 1, on second-class mail April 1 and third-class mail July 1, 1952.

Parties Scramble To Get Sick Bed Votes

By JULIAN BATES

LONDON, Oct. 20—(Reuters)—Labor and Conservative campaign managers are struggling for an almost untapped reservoir of general election "ghost votes"—the sick and infirm and the thousands of old persons known never to leave their homes from one year to another.

In the drive to squeeze out every possible vote, canvassers are calling house by house, upon the people who cannot themselves go to the polls Oct. 25 but who have the right to vote by mail. A doctor's certificate is all that's needed.

The Conservatives first grasped the possibilities of this large pool of votes in the 1950 elections and were reported to have rounded up considerable extra support. This time, both parties started early in the race for the tens of thousands of sick-bed votes.

Vote By Proxy

The fighting men in Korea have been told to vote by proxy. A general order to all ranks said that there would be no voting in the field because all soldiers on the 1951 voting register were expected to have nominated someone else to vote for them.

Other British troops abroad also vote by proxy. There is no electioneering. Merchant seamen, travelling salesmen and actors away from home may vote by mail or proxy, too.

Special arrangements are made to get the votes of the rugged Scots living on barren gale-swept islands in the Orkney and Shetland groups of the north. Ballot boxes are sent to the islands well in advance of the elections to make sure that there is no delay by storm or snow.

There will be 67 polling stations on the bigger islands. Persons living on the remoter islands —some have only two inhabitants—will vote by mail.

Supper Club Holds Meeting

The regular weekly meeting of the Friday Nite Club in the YMCA was well attended by members and their guests.

Don Whittaker, club president, was in charge of the meeting.

During supper Charlie "Chuck" Rowe acted as master of ceremonies.

Several business announcements were made by the chairman. The first gym nite of the season will be held in the YMCA Tuesday at 9 p.m.

The program, conducted by Charlie Bain and Ron Manley, began with a lively sing-song including action and novelty songs.

Highlight of the evening was a quiz contest, "21 Queries" patterned after a well-known radio program. Guest Bill MacFarlane acted as the hearty master of ceremonies of this hilarious show.

Walter Henry Pugh

NORWOOD, Oct. 20—(ENS)—The funeral of Walter Henry Pugh, of RR 7, Peterborough, was held Thursday afternoon at 2 p.m. from the McConnell Warner funeral home, Norwood, with the Rev. B. S. Morwood, of Mark St. United Church, officiating. Burial was in Norwood cemetery.

Mr. Pugh died suddenly Tuesday from a heart attack. He was born near Fenelon Falls, the son of the late John Pugh and Sarah Griles.

Smoke Damage Totals $4,000 Apartment Fire

A dense pall of smoke from burning lacquer Thursday afternoon caused $4,000 damage in the new Sands and Bateman apartment building at the corner of Parkhill Rd. and Juliet St. When firemen arrived they found no fire, just thick smoke.

The freak outbreak was started when a workman, Fred Wilkinson, dropped either a cigarette or cigarette ash on the floor. He was cleaning the floor with lacquer "thinners" which is highly inflammable.

Before the building could be aired the black smoke sifted through the main halls of the four-storey apartment; blackened the newly-decorated walls, and seeped under doors into apartments where tenants were living.

Clothing and furniture was spoiled by the filmy deposit.

10 Families

The top storey was least damaged. But 10 families had some damage to their property. Among them were Charles Glennie, Fred Correll, James Miller, John Morgan, J. F. Jupp, Andra Wadant, Mr. Silver, Mrs. Cotter, and Raymond Lemery.

Many of the tenants has just moved in and some were in the process of moving.

Heaviest damage was in the apartment of H. J. Johnson where the fire started. As yet he has not been contacted and the full extent of his loss has not been assessed.

A Republican Canada?

The great welcome which has been given to Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh has come from all parts of Canada's population. It began in Quebec, and during her first days in this country the Princess heard French and English in about equal proportions. The French people and the French press were warm and generous in their welcome. But in one newspaper, Le Devoir, there were some dissenting comments which we find interesting.

* * *

The visit of the King and Queen in 1939, warns Le Devoir, was part of a crafty scheme to get Canada into the war which Britain saw coming; it sees the present visit as another trap of this kind. Speaking of the Princess herself, Le Devoir says:

"We are welcoming to Canada the daughter of a foreign sovereign."

"We give her a hearty welcome, because political relations, not always happy, have long united us to Great Britain, and cultural ties always live between the land of Shakespeare and half the Canadian population.

"We give her a hearty welcome: she has youth on her side, the misfortunes of her family; and we know on what frail shoulders will some day rest the burden of a decomposing empire."

"But these receptions should not make us forget the essential thing: that is that in reality once the last constitutional fictions are swept away, we are receiving the daughter and son-in-law of a foreign king."

* * *

This is an interesting point of view, and in expressing it Le Devoir undoubtedly speaks for a minority—possibly a numerous minority—of French-speaking Canadians. They look eagerly toward a day when the last shred of British influence in Canada has been abandoned, and it may be that they do not look in vain. It has been the weakness of many an Ottawa government to throw sops to this element in the country; the last, we believe, was the abandonment of the term "His Majesty's Mail" in speaking officially of the work of the Post Office department. The people for whom Le Devoir speaks foresee a Canada which does not recognize the King as its sovereign. What sort of Canada will that be?

* * *

We cannot believe that it will be a united Canada. If Canada were to embrace republicanism it would be in two sections, or even more. British Columbia, behind its mountain barrier, might well choose to stand alone; the Maritimes would certainly do so. Ontario would be one republic, and the three prairie provinces another. Quebec would probably emerge as a Laurentian republic with a strong church-and-state administration. Newfoundland might choose to return to colonial status. It would be a queer sort of Canada. Indeed, it would not be Canada at all.

* * *

We do not suggest for a moment that our common recognition of a sovereign is all that keeps the Confederation intact. But we do say that Canada has evolved from a colonial possession to complete self-government along British lines, and that its safest and quickest future progress will be on the path which lies before us, and not that which is so often advocated in the columns of Le Devoir. Our people have learned to live together and work together under a British system, which continues to evolve. It is an evolution which leads toward internationalism, as expressed in the British Commonwealth ideal, and in the plan of UN. There is no internationalism in the sort of thing which Le Devoir preaches—nothing but a cantankerous introversion, which is against the tide of the best instincts of civilized nations as present. Let a minority of our French-speaking fellow citizens regard the Princess as the daughter of a foreign monarch if they will. But let those of us who have the interest of our country at heart continue in path which will, we hope, make the barriers between countries and peoples as unimportant as possible.

Canada Year Book, 1951

The most important annual reference book published in Canada is The Canada Year Book. The 1951 edition has now been published (King's Printer, Ottawa, $3.00). It is a guide and index to Canada, her policies, development, internal and external affairs, her economic and financial status. It is full of facts and figures compiled by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, and is printed under the name of Mr. Herbert Marshall, Dominion Statistician. Although it is not a usual book to find in private homes, it is an invaluable reference work for business establishments with their own libraries, public officials, newspapers, schools and colleges.

The format of the book is uniform from year to year, and stoutly bound, A shelf of Year Books gives a continuous account of the progress of this country and its people over the decades. In the 1,219 pages of this year's edition are the usual statistics and graphs about the population, the agricultural and industrial productivity, public finance, mines and minerals, labour, foreign trade and the like. But each year the book contains special comprehensive articles of timely interest. The articles this year deal with physiography, resources and wildlife (brought up to date following the entrance of Newfoundland into the confederation); geology, migratory bird protection, soil zones, agricultural irrigation and land conservation, and forest economy. The terms of union under which Newfoundland became a province are given, and there is a special article on the frequency standardization program now being undertaken by the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission. Appropriately, too, following upon the revised legislation dealing with Indian affairs, is a long article on the Indians of Canada, compiled by authorities on this subject under the direction of Mr. Laval Fortier, deputy minister in the Department of Citizenship and Immigration.

We always look forward to the publication of the Canada Year Book. It is a reliable indication of the state of affairs in the country, a fascinating peep into her multitudinous and large concerns, and a vista along exhilarating new highways of thought, experimentation and development reaching from one end of the land to the other. The Year Book is available on the reference shelves of the Public Library.

The House Debates Inflation

Inflation and how to deal with it became the chief subject of debate immediately the Canadian Parliament assembled last week. The Montreal Star, sifting the debate and proposals, makes this sane observation: "Only the Government is hewing to a steady line on the anti-inflation problem. You may disagree with it and you may dislike it: it is at least comprehensible. You know precisely what you are going to get. Parenthetically, its policy, so it seems to us, is the most prudent and wisest course for the moment, regardless of the fact that high prices remain high."

Mr. Drew, Conservative leader, complains that the Government's policies have reduced employment at a time when it is asking everybody to produce more. He also wants the increased taxes of last year repealed. As the Montreal Star says, this is not an anti-inflationary policy—the Government is trying to reduce demand, with enough success in some quarters to make it felt; the Conservatives would increase the demand if Mr. Drew's proposals were followed. The Social Credit people also want taxes reduced; they have suggested that the Bank of Canada print enough new bills to put them into circulation by the tens of thousands. Both these measures are inflationary. The C.C.F. want subsidies and price controls. Neither is a cure for a condition; neither gets at the roots of inflation.

The Government anti-inflationary policies are too slow and cautious for many people. On the other hand, these same people object violently if the policies affect them. In Windsor, for instance, there was a hullabaloo because the credit restrictions (a sound, logical anti-inflationary device) reduced car sales and thereafter some workers in Windsor's automobile factories were temporarily laid off. The difficulty with anti-inflationary policies is that everybody wants them for everybody else but not for himself. He does not want his own borrowing limited; his taxes increased or his profits reduced; nor any restrictions on the amounts and kinds of goods he can buy.

Perhaps the Government is moving too slowly and its measures to check inflation are not stern enough. But judging from the sectional reactions to them across the country whenever one or another of the anti-inflationary policies pinch, the Government is doing as much as possible as fast as possible. Government is the art of the possible.

NOTE AND COMMENT

We hear that the English people have taken up eating snails. But this presents a difficult problem for the sportsman, for how is he to know that he is not shooting at a sitting snail, but at a snail in full flight?

We hear that the woolly caterpillar is woolier than ever this year, and that this is a sign of a hard winter. Local Indians also foresee sharp weather, for their eagle eyes have noticed that white men are putting in plenty of coal.

Princess Elizabeth, we learn, is buying a lot of postcards which she sends home to her children. This will give the royal children a splendid notion of what Canada looked like a quarter of a century ago, for up-to-date postcards are as scarce as hen's teeth.

Bibliomania

TODAY WE REVIVE our book review column under another name and in a different style. For to be frank with you, we have grown tired of writing conventional reviews; we see no reason why the only books to be mentioned here should be new books, although we recognize that new books are news, and that our readers want to hear about them. Therefore we have resolved to afford ourselves a little more elbow room in this weekly space; we shall review new books, but we shall take some notice of old ones, as well; we shall talk about books in general when the spirit moves us, and we shall put in a quotation or two when we find a good one in the course of our reading. These will not be "familiar quotations", we warn you; there are books filled with those, for ready reference. And we have decided to call this column BIBLIOMANIA

✧ ✧ ✧

BIBLIOMANIA, AS EVERYONE knows, means "a great, and perhaps excessive, enthusiasm for books". The victims of the disease are to be found everywhere, though they are perhaps less common in Canada than in most civilized countries. The people who contribute to this column are all bibliomaniacs and not, as Max Beerbohm once testily said: "innumerable fools hired to review an imponderable amount of trash". And now, let us do some reviewing.

✧ ✧ ✧

FIRST, LET US TURN to what is probably the most remarkable novel ever to be written in Canada. It is "The Second Scroll", by A. M. Klein (McClelland & Stewart). Remarkable, I say, because of the richness of the intellectual background which is implicit in it, and the richness of the prose which clothes it. Do not misunderstand; this book is not decked out like a Christmas tree with fancy words and abstruse references. Mr. Klein is a poet, and a poet's task is to say what he has to say in the best word, not in the most words. "The Second Scroll" is a short book (198 pages) but it is closely-packed, and cannot be read hastily; it is a book to be read, and re-read, and pondered.

The story is that of a Montreal Jew who has heard, since childhood, of his Uncle Melech, a gifted rabbinical scholar. But Melech Davidson is a quester; because of a pogrom which he has seen he tries to abandon his Jewish scholarship, and become a Communist, but he finds that faith insufficient. After the bitterness of the Jewish suffering in the Second World War he arrives in Rome, and seems almost about to become a convert to Catholicism, but cannot do so. At last he goes to Africa, struggles to help the Jews who are living under French and Arab rule, and at last goes to Palestine, and is killed in a border skirmish. His nephew arrives too late to see him alive, but is a mourner at his funeral.

One must beware of interpreting this novel too glibly, but in part at least it seems to be an exposition of the inveterate and ingrained nature of Judaism, and of the role of the Jew as the Suffering Servant and scapegoat of mankind. The theme is handled nobly and eloquently. There are references to Jewish learning which will not be immediately understood by the Gentile reader, but which are by no means beyond the comprehension of any reader who is attentive. The plan of the book corresponds to the five Books of Moses, followed by five glosses which throw light upon what has gone before. This is no book to give your old Aunt Bessie to read on the train, but it is a book which takes Canadian novel-writing several paces forward. It is a serious (as opposed to a merely pompous) book, on a great theme, and no one seriously interested in books or in Canadian writing should neglect it.

✧ ✧ ✧

LET US TURN NOW to a book far lighter in style and intention than Mr. Klein's, but admirable of its kind—"The Blessing", by Nancy Mitford (Hamish Hamilton). Miss Mitford's books are always about people in high society, who have lively adventures and express themselves wittily. Such books are hard to write, but easy and delightful to read. The disgruntled may complain that they are without "social significance", and the dull that they are not like life. Both are wrong. It is just as socially significant to be a wealthy French marquis, like the hero of "The Blessing", as it is to be an out-of-work bootblack in Chicago; and they are certainly like the lives of people who have the wit and wisdom to take life lightly. Under the froth of this book there is more worldly wisdom and true understanding than in all the "Studs Lonigan" series.

✧ ✧ ✧

The story is about a nice girl who marries a French nobleman, and finds him unfaithful; they are brought together by their little boy—but not because the boy is such a darling, but because he is a scheming little devil who wants to keep them apart. This boy is one of the wickedest boys in fiction—traitorous, dishonest, unscrupulous, but charming as well. Another reviewer has called this book "a meringue", and so it is; do not approach it as though about to chew a length of pemmican. And bear in mind that only the very best cooks can make good meringues. Nancy Mitford's is a talent to be cherished, for writers of her special genius are very rare.

✧ ✧ ✧

LET US CONCLUDE this first issue of BIBLIOMANIA with a note on that much-wronged creature, the pun, by Max Beerbohm: "A good pun, properly used, is one of the best bells in the jester's cap. Why its tinkle should be received, in all places and on all occasions, with groans of mock despair, I have never been able to understand".

C.C.F. Policy Vs. Inflation

(Montreal Star)

Mr. Coldwell (C.C.F. leader) is, of course, on his best-known stamping ground. He wants lots and lots of price controls. He wants rationing. He wants price subsidies. Result, to quote Mr. Micawber—happiness. And if you want to know where Mr. Coldwell is going to get the money for all this, he has the answer pat. Take it out of profits. Take it out of the big fat profits and out of the big fat corporations.

There is not much use arguing with Mr. Coldwell about profits. You can cite the facts ad nauseam. Mr. Coldwell ignores them. You can point out that profits are mostly used to expand production, create new plants, new industries and more jobs. Mr. Coldwell isn't interested. If pressed hard enough he will talk about dividends, not profits. If you pin him down there and explain that dividends are simply not big enough to do what he wants them to do, he changes the subject.

ECONOMY

Donald and Mary decided to adopt a child. A little girl was produced and Mary was about to close the bargain when Donald tapped her shoulder.

"Mary," he whispered, "let's have a boy. Hae ye forgotten the lad's cap we found in the train?"

Everybody Wants to Get Into the Act

The Stenographers' Falcons

(OTTAWA JOURNAL)

THE pigeons and sparrows of London have an uncanny appeal for writers, Canadians included, but a far more unusual example of the citified bird is to be found in Montreal and has received far less attention.

Peregrine falcons since 1936 have made themselves at home among the man-made cliffs of the Sun Life building, from which they make raids on the Montreal pigeons which in consequence are reported to be far livelier and more quick-witted than their London counterparts. The falcons are supposed to have some interest for Ottawa. Periodically the starlings, pigeons and sparrows of Parliament Hill are disturbed from their usual security by the appearance of falcons and the claim has been made that these marauders are the Montreal hawks out on a long foray.

The peregrine falcon, a proud, brave bird if ever there was one, has been no friend of man and draws the profound dislike of game guardians because it will kill for fun even when it has eaten well. In most countries it is either rare or shrewd enough to remain in areas where it is seldom seen. But, in the largest Canadian metropolis, a peregrine may be seen to swoop at 200 miles an hour and come to rest on the window sill of desk-bound stenographers.

We hope that the Sun Life people, and all the others who have business in their building, appreciate the honour which has been done them by a noble bird. And there will be no weeping at our bar if the Montreal hawks increase their visits to Ottawa and reduce the numbers of the feathered pests who make themselves so much at home in this capital.

Letters To The Editor

SNIFFS COMPULSION

Sir: Some years ago The Examiner defined certain popular picture periodicals as "magazines for morons." What implication is contained in the addition to its Saturday issue of a syndicated picture supplement of no particular merit?

One wonders why a newspaper of admitted excellence finds it necessary to add an unworthy and unwanted supplement.

True there is no compulsion to buy but the matter smells of it nevertheless. He who objects on principle to paying for something he does not want and which he feels has been foisted on him willy-nilly can go without his Saturday newspaper.

Yours very truly,
"IN PROTEST."

SAYS BOARD IN FULL ACCORD

Sir: In the issue of your paper Oct. 17/51, under the headlines, "Hospital Officials Stalling Union Charges."

Let's leave the City Council out of this altogether as they were not forewarned of possibilities that might arise, although the Board of Governors could have easily approached the City Council when making yearly expenditures left a clause with them regarding the outcome of the union.

The selected few of the Board who met the negotiating committee on behalf of Branch No. 19, Friday, Oct. 12/51, were in full accord that we, the employees, should get Cost of Living Bonus.

Regards Rates of Pay.—Let me state that those mentioned are of the higher brackets, in the class which may belong to the union, but there are a percentage not listed, whose rates are below the lowest listed.

Thanking you once again.

GEO. W. LINSDELL.

Plowing Matches

(Windsor Star)

Plowing matches have become one of the most interesting, as well as important, of annual Ontario events. That they can attract as many as 35,000 people a day, as that near Woodstock has done, proves the point.

To all good farmers, of course, plowing is a basis of agriculture. It still will be even if new implements are used, the old abolished, and straight furrows become a thing of the past. It may even be that plowing as we have known it will itself become something of the past, with other methods of primary cultivation used. But the proper tillage of the soil will continue to be fundamental to good farming.

Plowing matches, as of today, have many interests. Farmers can see the latest of farm equipment on display; can witness new developments in agriculture such as the artificial farm pond constructed at Woodstock; can see experts at work.

Beyond that, they are social as well as educative and competitive occasions. Farmers can meet and exchange views; can learn from each other different types of agriculture; about different crops. They can discuss mutual problems. The value of plowing matches extends far beyond the length of the furrows made.

The Harm Good Men Do

(Sarnia Observer)

Some years ago Bertrand Russell wrote an entertaining article on the "Harm That Good Men Do," in which he showed the handicap to progress which can plainly be attributed to men who are "good" but not enlightened.

A leading banker used to say to his family: "Don't worry about the bad people. There are not many of them, anyway, and the police will take care of them as a rule. It is the stupid people who can make most of the trouble."

Nature punishes stupid people with as much ferocity as people punish what they consider wickedness. We, at least, should not condone as leaders people without imagination, intelligence and courage—merely because they are good.

"He was a keen little lad—a bit Leftish perhaps—said he wasn't always going to work for me. Been reading the papers a lot lately and this morning he disappeared. So did my oil and pumps."

How Time Flies

OCTOBER 20

1921 The Peterborough Cadet Corps take second place in the King's Challenge Cup competition of the Ontario Rifle Association.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Now Peter and John went up together into the temple at the hour of prayer, being the ninth hour. And a certain man lame from his mother's womb was carried, whom they laid daily at the gate of the temple which is called Beautiful, to ask alms of them that entered into the temple; who seeing Peter and John about to go into the temple asked an alms....

Then Peter said, Silver and gold have I none; but such as I have give I thee: In the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth rise up and walk. And he took him by the right hand, and lifted him up: and immediately his feet and ankle bones received strength. And he leaping up stood, and walked, and entered with them into the temple, walking, and leaping, and praising God....

And as the lame man which was healed held Peter and John, all the people ran together unto them in the porch that is called Solomon's, greatly wondering. And when Peter saw it, he answered unto the people, Ye men of Israel, why marvel ye at this? or why look ye so earnestly on us, as though by our own power or holiness we had made this man to walk? The God of Abraham, and of Isaac, and of Jacob, the God of our fathers, hath glorified his Son Jesus; whom ye delivered up, and denied him in the presence of Pilate, when he was determined to let him go.

But ye denied the Holy One and the Just, and desired a murdered to be granted unto you; and killed the Prince of life, whom God hath raised from the dead; whereof we are witnesses.

And his name through faith in his name hath made this man strong, whom ye see and know: yea, the faith which is by him hath given him this perfect soundness in the presence of you all. (Acts. 3: 1-3, 6-8, 11-16.)

Toasts To The King

(Brandon Sun)

According to the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire there is a recognized procedure for proposing a toast to H.M. the King. A definite formality should be observed by civilians, on occasions when a toast to the King is proposed.

The chairman rises, brings the audience to attention, and asks them to rise and drink a toast to His Majesty. At this, the audience rises, and the chairman says, "Ladies and Gentlemen, the King." Then, and only then, is the glass lifted from the table, held at eye level for a moment, then one sip of liquid is taken and the two words, "The King," repeated, before the glass is replaced on the table. No other procedure is correct for a civilian pledging the health of His Majesty. Glasses are never clinked. Guests must not smoke before the toast has been proposed. It is not correct to play or sing the National Anthem.

No Wet Feet

(Montreal Star)

When they began putting soda fountains on battleships we were quite sure the navy was going to the dogs. Not to the tough old sea dogs. A new generation of sailors is being developed and at the risk of having the crew of the next warship that visits the harbour descend on us in an angry body, we're going to suggest that it will be a generation of softies that wouldn't even know how to "splice the main brace" if somebody ordered them to.

Now comes something else to complete the softening process. A machine is being tested by the British Admiralty, reads a dispatch, "with which one man could swab the decks that seven sailors now do by hand." Using the floor-scrubbing machine, the men would not have to get down on their knees and would not even get their feet wet. Shades of Nelson!

Veteran builder Andy Meeks is making dog sleds these days at canoe building plant down Water St. As he shifts his quid of eatin' bacco from one cheek to the other and squints down the tough oak nner frames and taps his assembly jigs into place, he is oblivious screaming power saws and sanding machines all around him. Nor oes he hear the steady staccato pounding of hundreds of hammer rokes each minute. Dog sled building for Andy is a piece work oposition.

To shipper Billy Miller neat bundles of sleds being stowed into ox cars for the Canadian West is a traffic problem.

Would I be awfully un-Canadian to write that the sight of these rossic dog sleds conjures up romantic things in my mind?

Hard winter travel in far-off places—Athabaska, Chippewyan, himo, Osnaburgh, Tuk-tuk, the valley of the Upper Skeena....The sp of their steel-shod runners on corrigated wind-packed snow... he gushy wet sound of sleds ploughing through freezing slush... he creaking of traces as huskies dig belly-deep....The crack-crack long plaited whips in the frosty air and the drivers' cries of "Gee, aw and mush."

Dog sleds tell me of tough, sweating labor of the fur trade that one of our important economies in which swift aircraft and roar- g tractors have no part.

The piece work of Peterborough's factories stirs the imagination.

ittle Lobbyists Will Report

The will to do something about our neglected Cedar Lake Mem- ial Park, north of Burleigh, has budded forth in an unexpected, nd very worthy direction, in the minds of our Public School chil- ren.

Conservation-minded teacher Norman Gainer of Queen Alexan- ra School will lead a group of youngsters and their parents, about 0 in all, to the area on Sunday. Norman tossed his small pupils a ental gambit a short while ago during a nature study period. They ll wanted to have a look, this Fall. The teacher and a friend looked ver the lay of the land last Sunday and are boiling over with en- husiasm about the place.

A report of the children's impressions will be duly recorded in is column in the very new future.

Deer hunters who want to prove what crack choosy shots they may win themselves a trophy, too. It is being offered by the akefield Merchants Hockey Club for the heaviest dressed deer rought in to the village's Frosted Food locker or Beavis Meat Mar- et BEFORE Nov. 27. Entry blanks cost one dollar and may be pur- hased by 12 p.m. on Nov. 3 from any number of Lakefield stores. roceeds, of course, are for the hockey club and the trophy will be resented at the first game at the Lakefield arena, sometime in anuary. Concerning Our Deer Herds

Recent wildlife statistics compiled in the State of Michigan on eer herds give us some idea of what population we can expect in ur Eel's Creek Game Sanctuary.

In Michigan, within a two square-mile enclosure, four does and wo bucks increased to a herd of 160 animals in six years. And re- ardless of the usual Fall hunting pressure on the rims of our pre- erve, we might be safe in saying that deer population there has eached a staggering figure. We feel better, then, about the large umber that are taken each year in that area.

To keep their numbers thinned down to normal levels instead f allowing hundreds of wintering deer to die of starvation or be ragged down by wolves, is surely a simple lesson in CONSERVA- TION.

This season a new game regulation allows each hunter to shoot ONE deer of each sex OR an elk of each sex. This, we hope, will end he wanton slaughter of animals by unscrupulous hunters, who in the ast, in order to conform with the buck-for-doe-for-fawn law in arty shoots, left many rotting carcasses as stinking reminders of oor marksmanship and sportsmanship.

Deer, and indeed all fish and game and the forests in which hey live, belong to We, the Peepul, and we should be deeply con- erned about them.

The absolute finale of commercial steamboating in the Kawar- has was rung down this week as the American Nepheline tug WAUKETA floated quietly down the Trent Canal under its own team, Trenton bound. It was brought into the district in 1941 from the Bay of Quinte, then a government inspection boat—and some say before that it was a pleasure craft of Sir Wilfred Laurier's.

The mining company owners used it as a tug until freeze-up of 1948 and during that time it towed thousands and thousands of tons of Blue Mountain ore from the head of Stony Lake to the Lakefield ore docks. A fleet of four barges went with this water transport venture and they too, except one, have been sold from time to time.

The new owner, J. Summerville of Windsor, will park it in Trenton until next spring and then run it to the Border City for fu- ture towing work—rumor has it that the Wauketa will tow city gar- bage to Lake Erie.

The last Kawartha voyage of the staunch old ship was not with- out difficulty. The Lift Lock floating basin will only accommodate craft with a draft of six feet. The Wauketa drew seven. Four air- filled gas drums bound to its sides raised the hull the necessary foot of clearance.

The era of Kawartha steamboating is now but a memory.

District hunters are getting warmed up. Duck shooters did well on Thanksgiving weekend but the sport fell off during our ten-day summer spell. This weekend, though, ought to be tops and the cold winds will no doubt bring small numbers of northern ducks down. The ruffed grouse boys have been having spasmodic luck, and weather, and, on the whole, luck has been pretty fair.

By today city merchants who issue gun licenses will have gotten rid of about 700 and the demand for them is fairly constant. Am- munition is in good supply and selling well, though the price is high. So is the figure on new guns.

Consequently gunsmiths Walter Young and Dave Clement are busy 'round the clock repairing guns. In their shops you will see makes of all varieties. Walter has an old buffalo gun in his repair racks that is a perfect beauty. In these shops, too, old English fowl- ing pieces in fine leather boxes that tell of a pride of craftsmanship unknown on this continent.

Many hunters are still foggy on deer dates. Here they are: North of Highway 7 and in the townships of Bexley, Carden, Dalton, Laxton, Longford and Somerville in Victoria County, Nov. 5 to Nov. 17. South of 7 in the Peterborough portion and in the counties of Durham and Northumberland, Nov. 12 to 17.

A NICE DISH FROM COLD BEEF, WITH MASHED POTATOES

Mash potatoes, either in a plain way, or with hot milk, and the yolk of an egg, and add some butter and salt. Slice the cold beef, and lay it at the bottom of a pie dish, adding to it some sliced eschalots, pepper, salt, and a little beef gravy; cover the whole with a thick paste of the potatoes, and make the crust to rise like a pie crust. Score the potato crust with the point of a knife in squares of equal size. Put the dish before a fire in a Dutch oven, and brown it on all sides. When nicely browned, serve immediately. This, with an apple tart or dumpling to follow, is a capital make-shift dinner for a small family; or a nice supper for a winter's evening.

An Irish housemaid, who was sent to call a gentle- man to dinner, found him engaged in using a tooth-brush. "Well, is he coming?" said the lady. "Yes, ma'am, directly, he's just sharpen- ing his teeth."

TORONTO DIGS CANADA'S 1st SUBWAY: HERE'S HOW

No other city in the world, with the possible exception of Hamil- ton, sends as many of its citizens to visit or work in Toronto as Peterborough does. Since, there- fore, Toronto is a suburb of Pet- erborough, Peterborough people are intensely interested in the building of Canada's first subway. Like Torontonians, Peterborough folk have been inconvenienced by the street blocks, amazed by the bowel-gouging of Yonge St., and have ogled machines and workers, as ardent and wide-eyed side- walk superintendents as Toron- tonians themselves.

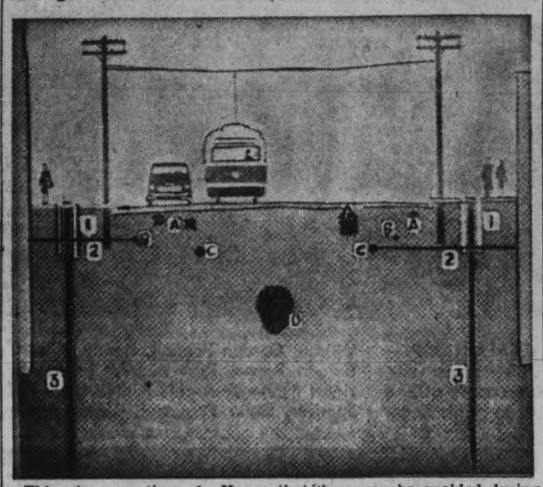
Knowing of this keen Peter- borough interest in the Toronto subway, the Examiner has bor- rowed some original sketches from the Toronto Transportation Commission which the Commis- sion had made to illustrate the methods of construction. These are reproduced on this page, by courtesy of the T.T.C.

There are two sets of sketches; the first five show the kind of work done from the Union Station to College (the "cut and cover" method); the second set of sketch- es describes the construction from just north of College St. to a point opposite Mount Pleasant cemetery.

At the bottom of the page is a street diagram showing clear- ly where the route deviates from the street line, and also eleven of the twelve subway stations which will be erected. (Wellesley St. station is not indicated.)

Three general types of con- struction will be employed on this off-street right of way, the "cut-and-cover" methods used farther south on Yonge Street; the "open cut" indicated by the checked sections on the route sketch at the bottom of the page; and "tunnelling" under the C.P.R. tracks and from St. Clair Avenue northwesterly to the west side of Yonge Street.

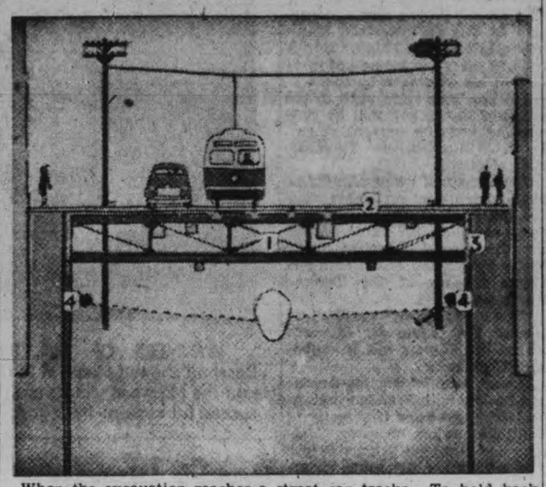
The work on the first section (in the first set of diagrams) is expected to be completed by the end of this year.



The subway will have a capa- city to handle 40,000 passengers an hour. The present maximum capacity of the Yonge Street sur- face transit is 14,000 passengers an hour.

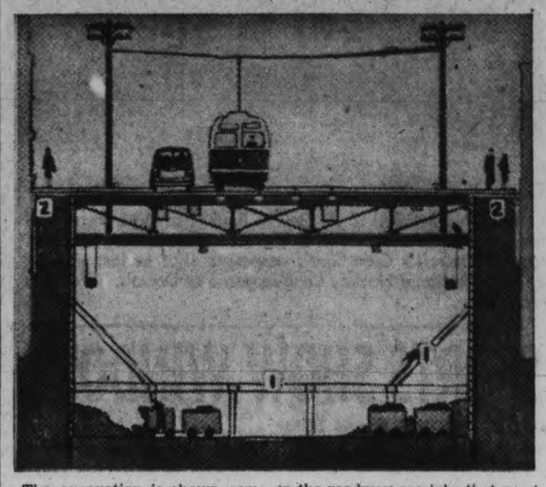
The station platforms will be as near as possible to the street entrances, but in down-town sta- tions where there may be a con- siderable difference in level be- tween platforms and streets, esca- lators and stairs are to be built.

The cars on the new subway system will be 10 feet wide. The present Toronto trolleys are 8ft. 4 in. wide. Each car will have three doors with seats grouped around each door to provide easy access.

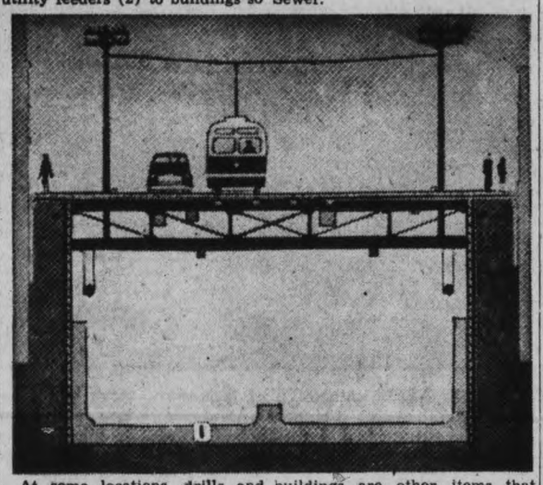


The average speed of the un- derground trains will be 20 m.p.h.

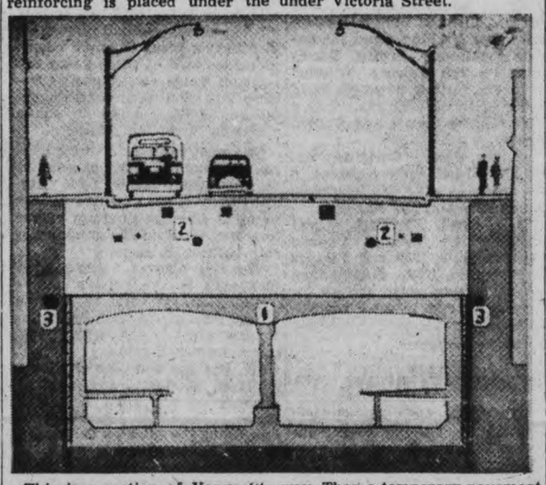
The rest of the story of the building of the underground is told under each sketch.



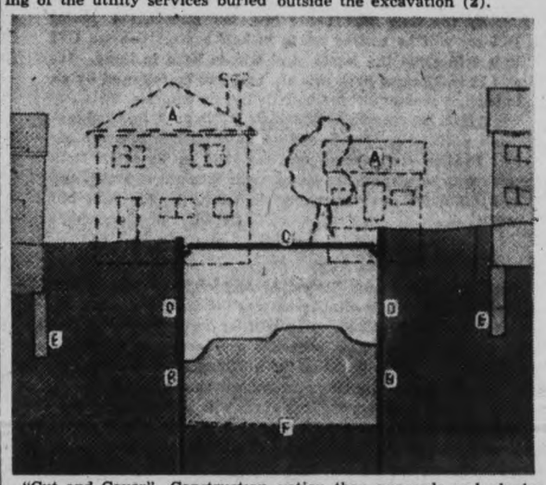
This is a section of Yonge Street before excavation has be- gun. The first operation is to dig a trench or series of trenches (1) on each side of the street along the outside lines of the subway excavation. These trenches lo- cate the water pipes and other utility feeders (2) to buildings so that they may be avoided during pile driving. Along the trenches, steel piles (3) are driven every 5 feet. They provide support for the sides of the excavation and for the temporary street decking.



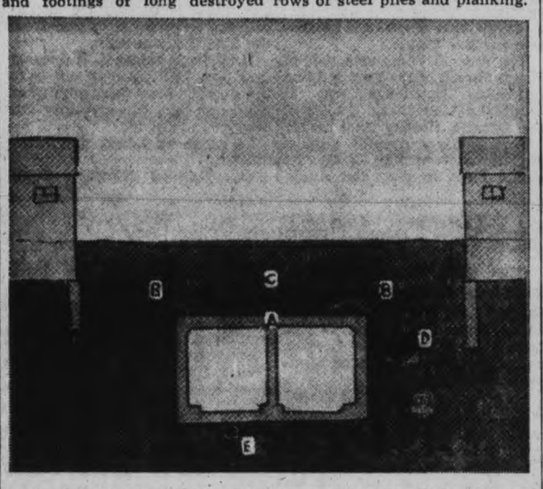
(A)—Hydro conduits and Tele- phone Conduits. (B)—Gas Mains. (C)—Water Mains. (D)—Main Sewer.



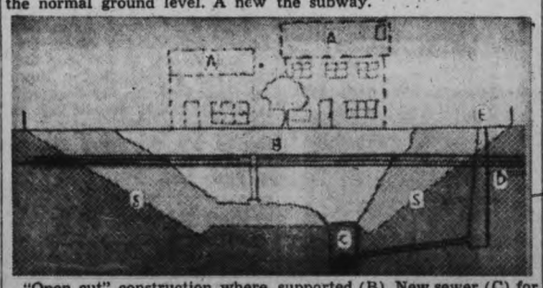
When the excavation reaches a sufficient depth, steel trusses or girder beams (1) spanning the excavation are placed every 12 feet, resting on alternate pairs of piles. (The trusses are used at stations where the span is too wide for the girder beams.) These trusses or beams carry the tem- porary street decking of 12" x 12" timbers (2). Additional steel reinforcing is placed under the street car tracks. To hold back the earth at the sides, 3" planks are inserted horizontally behind the flanges of the piles (3). The pipes and conduits of the utili- ties are suspended from the trusses or beams. Two small temporary sewers (4) are install- ed at the side of the excavation. Flow in the main sewer has been diverted to the new trunk sewer under Victoria Street.



The excavation is shown com- pleted to the required depth, the earth having been carried up ramps to the surface for disposal. The planking between the piles has been carried to the bottom of the excavation. Additional wood bracing (1) is installed as requir- ed. During the progress of exca- vation the exposing and support- ing of the utility services buried in the roadway are jobs that must be done with great care. A slip of a drill might interrupt hydro, telephone of water service to buildings over a large area. Ex- pert technicians from the Hydro System and Telephone Company are in attendance to supervise this part of the job. To avoid the dan- ger of explosion, gas mains are moved to a temporary location outside the excavation (2).

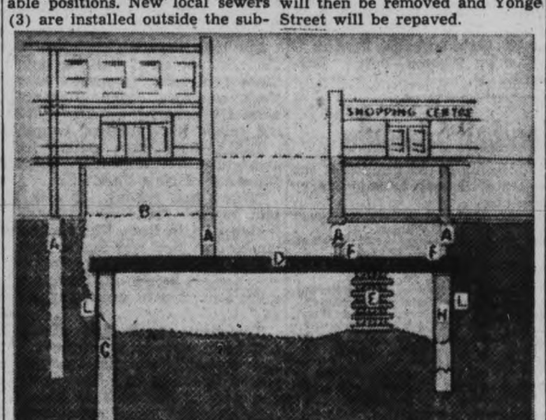


At some locations, drills and shovels unearth pipes or conduits that cannot be identified, even after a search of all available plans. These must be tested care- fully, before they are removed, as they might be uncharted but still used sections of some of the utilities. The buried foundations and footings of long destroyed buildings are other items that present unexpected and formid- able obstacles during excavation. In this illustration, the timber bracing has been removed after the 3-foot slab of concrete has been poured for the subway floor (1). Then the concrete for the outside walls is poured inside the rows of steel piles and planking.

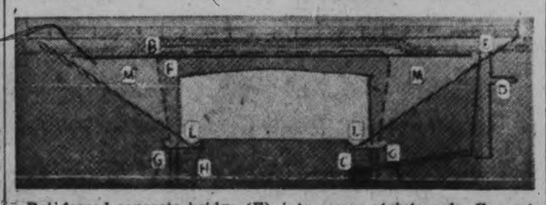


This is a section of Yonge St. way. Then a temporary pavement and the completed subway, show- is laid, street car tracks are re- ing station platforms. After the laid and normal traffic is re- central wall and the reinforced sumed. The street cars will re- concrete roof of the subway (1) main in service on Yonge Street are constructed, the open area until the rapid transit line is com- above is filled with sand and the pleted to Eglinton Avenue, and utilities (2) are returned to suit- until all stations and equipment able positions. New local sewers are installed. The street car tracks (3) are installed outside the sub- will then be removed and Yonge Street will be repaved.

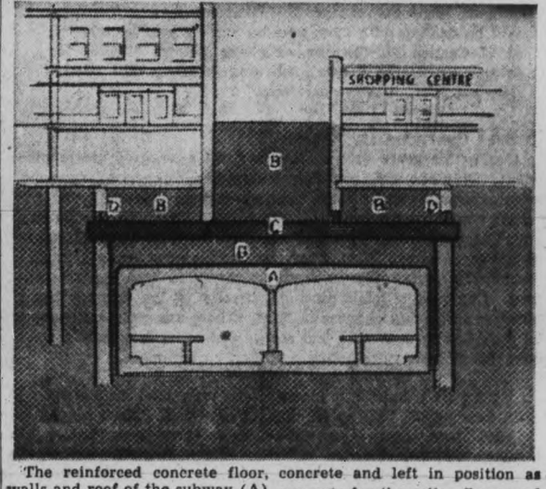
"Cut and Cover" Construction on Off-Street Right-of-Way. The section shown is between streets. And houses (A) on the right-of- way have been demolished, piles (B) have been driven at six foot intervals and cross braces (C) have been put into place. Exca- vation then proceeds and planks are inserted horizontally between the piles (D) to support the earth at the sides. Adjacent buildings are underpinned (E). The exca- vation is carried to (F), the re- quired depth for construction of the subway structure.



The reinforced concrete floor walls and roof of the subway (A) are poured. The piles are cut off (B) and the space (C) over the roof of the subway is backfilled to the normal ground level. A new sewer (D) is installed on the east side of the subway to handle the flow formerly running across the right-of-way to the Yonge Street sewer. A separate drain (E) serves the subway.



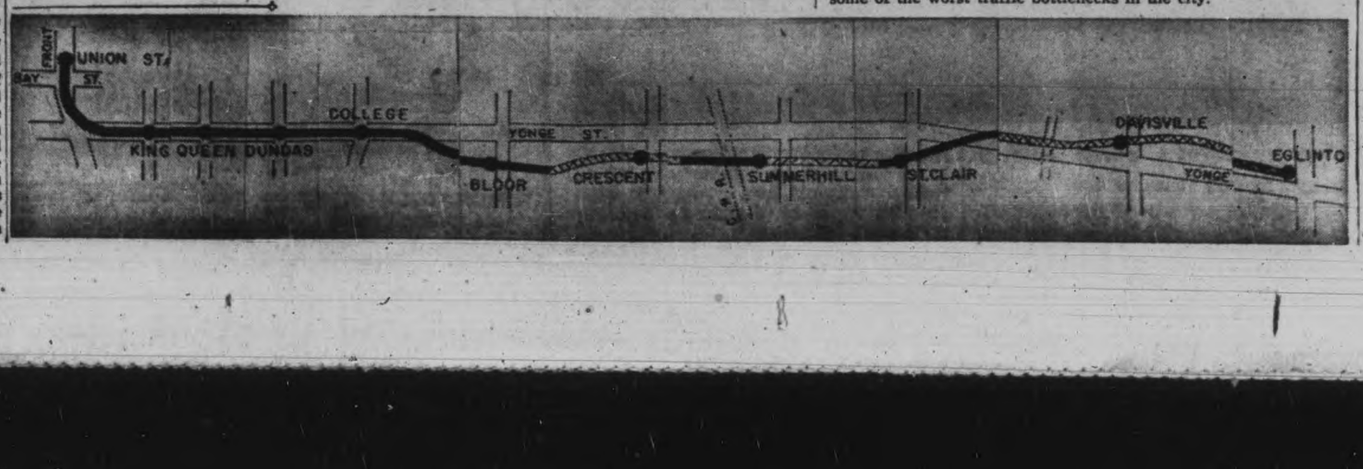
"Open cut" construction where cut passes under a cross street. buildings demolished (A). Exca- vation commenced and utilities supported (B). New sewer (C) for flow from cross sewer (D). Sewer manhole (E). Final slope of cut (S).



Where the subway passes under buildings, elaborate care must be taken to support the buildings. Concrete underpinning is first placed under the foundations (A) and other walls are temporarily supported where necessary. The cellar floor (B) is removed and the excavation is then carried down for several feet. A concrete caisson (C) is then poured to support one end of the steel gir- der (D) which is shoved through a shallow trench and supported by temporary cribwork (E). When the excavation permits, a second caisson (H) is poured to support the girder. If necessary, the gir- der (D) is put in place in two sections and spliced at the centre.

After similar supports have been constructed at the required intervals, steel girders (F) run- ning across them provide the final support for the various walls and footings of the buildings which are directly above the excavation.

Reinforced concrete bridge (F) resting on piles (G). Power and signal lines encased in concrete (H). Surface drains (L) empty into sewer at intervals. Concrete retaining walls (M) at ends of bridge hold backfill under the roadway at approaches.



The reinforced concrete floor, walls and roof of the subway (A) are then poured—the section shown above being at the St. Clair Station and indicates the station platforms.

After the subway structure is in place the excavation is back- filled (B) to ground level. The steel girders (C) are encased in concrete and left in position as supports for the cellar floors and foundations. Where the subway crosses main street such as St. Clair Ave. and Yonge St., the "cut and cover" method of con- struction, similar to that employ- ed in the lower section of Yonge St. and described in Grade 1 of the Manual, will be followed

TRAFFIC BOTTLENECKS ELIMINATED

Not only will this Yonge route of the Rapid Transit System carry all passenger traffic now carried by the Yonge route sur- face cars ,but it will also carry the main flow of passenger traffic from the present BAY route (which will be routed across St. Clair Avenue to Yonge Street). Thus street car tracks will be re- moved from Yonge Street and from Avenue Road, eliminating some of the worst traffic bottlenecks in the city.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Only his mother could love the French Angel's face. It's a terrible sight and, in fact, his figure causes no colleens to gasp in admiration. They just gasp. Yet this gnome-like pro matman weighs 276 pounds and is very strong. He will need to be in next Tuesday's main bout at the Brock when he tackles 290-pound Hi Lee, the terrible-tempered Texan. A ring villain if there ever was one. And there certainly have been. Chief Suni War Cloud meets forcibly with Myron Cox in the semi-final, while the prelim on this grapple card has colorful Pat Flanagan in against Steve Stanlee. The show should attract plenty of wrestling fans.

By the time this paper hits the streets, the junior PCI-ers will be getting set to kickoff against Oshawa CVI in a grid game the locals must win to keep in there. It's at 1.30 in Morrow Park this aft. and will be followed by an important senior "A" football Collegiate contest. This one has Orillia playing Bev Goulding's PCVS pack in a sudden-death playoff number to see which team hits into the big Red Feather tournament next weekend in Toronto. Both sides will be playing for keeps, with so much at stake, and grid followers can't go wrong in taking in the twin bill today.

Lots To Argue Upon

Both the Petes' and Eagles' hockey clubs definitely will be represented at the Belleville Arena meeting Sunday aft at 2.30. On account of their 1951-52 grouping will be decided upon in all likelihood at this time Also schedule arrangements discussed and various entries. Including that of a Kingston club which claims the OHA will let it have as many imports as desired, since most of the Nylons were suspended. This angle will be fought by the other clubs since some limit must be put on imports. Nor should other innocent clubs be penalized for a scandalous mistake by one. It will be an interesting huddle.

'Twould pay puck refs and coaches, as well as players, to read up on the 1951-52 rules. Some changes and amendments appear. Annual referees' meeting, with coaches and guests invited, will be Nov. 4 at 2.30 p.m. in the Royal York Hotel, when the NHL referee-in-chief, Carl Voss, will answer questions. Incidentally, the OHA will distribute 4,000 hockey sticks to various centres in the province this autumn. Business manager Bill Hanley is the guy the clubs will be dealing with from now on and he may be reached at 67 Carlton St., Toronto, or phone EMpire 3-8413. He takes over George Panter's job; and Secretary Bill Hewitt does not take an active part now.

Some Changes In Rules

Goalie this years gets another foot all around of crease protection. Only one end faceoff circle now in each zone, a larger one. No captain may come off the bench to discuss rules with the ref. Visiting team in future must place a playing lineup on the ice first to start each period and at all times. Refs can rule on penalties for fights after a game. Also, a guy on the ice must serve a goalie's misconduct penalty. Timers must announce the time penalties imposed. Removed officials must go directly to the dressing room. These are just a few changes in brief. There are quite a few more and we'll try to deal with 'em soon. But officials should get the book. Know your rules before you start an argument.

Ex-Hockey Star Jimmy Creighton Runs For Mayor

By AL VICKERY

BRANDON, Man., Oct. 20 (CP) —A former western and National Hockey League player, James Albert (Jimmy) Creighton, has tossed his hat into the mayoralty ring at Brandon.

Politics is not new to Jimmy, who served three years as alderman in this southwestern Manitoba city of about 18,000. He retired 10 years ago because of pressure of his insurance business.

But now he's right back in the swing of things and will be running against the present mayor, F. T. Williamson, in Tuesday's civic elections.

Jimmy smiled when asked if he has his sights set on higher politics, such as provincial or federal posts occupied by other hockey stars like Lionel Conacher, Bucko McDonald or the latest addition, Howie Meeker of the Toronto Maple Leafs.

"You never know," was the best answer that could be squeezed out of the 45-year-old Brandon-born Creighton.

Jimmy, first broke into organized hcokey with Brandon juniors. He later played for University of Manitoba juniors, Yorkton, Melville and Brandon seniors before crashing into a dominion championship team—the Port Arthur Allan Cup winners of 1936.

Turned Professional

The following year, the speedy forward turned professional with Detroit Falcons (now the Red Wings) of the NHL. This was when Toronto had its famed "kid line" of Joe Primeau, Charlie Conacher and Busher Jackson; New York Rangers were headed by Frank Boucher and the Cook brothers, Bill and Bun; and Eddie Shore was bashing them on defence for Boston Bruins. Teammates on the Falcons included Ebbie Goodfellow, now coach of Chicago Black Hawks, Larry Aurie, Herbie Lewis and Carson Cooper.

Injuries slowed Creighton up, and he finished his pro career in the minors with Philadelphia, Kansas City and Los Angeles.

He coached Brandon Wheat Kings to the Western Canada junior final in 1938 and Portage La Prairie in 1939. Jimmy then took up refereeing on and off for 15 years, mostly in the Manitoba junior league.

Two Ex-Players Questioned In Game Fixing

CHICAGO, Oct. 20 (AP). — State's Attorney John S. Boyle said early today that two former all-America basketball players on Kentucky's great Olympic championship team of three years ago —Ralph Beard and Alex Groza— have admitted taking bribes totalling $5,000 apiece to shave points in important games.

The men were quizzed by Vincent O'Connor, assistant district attorney from New York City They were picked up late Friday night at Chicago Stadium where they had watched the annual all-star basketball game.

The two players, who guided Kentucky to the college championship in 1948 and 1949, were picked up at Chicago Stadium Friday night along with two other former Kentucky cagers, Cliff Barker and Joe Holland. Holland, Barker and another member of the great Kentucky teams — Wah Wah Jones — were cleared of any taint by Groza and Beard, Boyle said.

All now are members and stockholders of the professional Indianapolis Olympians of the National Basketball Association, a club Groza and Beard helped to organize after graduation.

The players were attending the annual all-star basketball game in which their old coach, Adolph Rupp, directed the college squad against the Rochester Royals.

Didn't Give Names

The four players were taken to the criminal court building and there confronted by two New York gamblers who allegedly were the payoff men. Boyle did not reveal the gamblers' names.

The players were grilled by assistant district attorney Vincent O'Connor of New York.

"Beard was willing to talk," said Boyle. "And he admitted taking part in fixes. The highest money involved was $1,500 payoff. In another game three players received $300 each. There are quite a number of games involved."

Two days ago in New York, O'Connor announced that the college basketball scandal was expected to spread to more schools and players. He made his assertion after the arrest of Joseph Benintende, alleged king pin of a basketball "fix" ring.

The fix scandal so far has involved 31 players from six teams, Bradley, Toledo, City College of New York, Manhattan, Long Island University and New York University.

Gerry suffered a severe seven-inch gash in his face during a recent practice and it isn't definite whether he'll be ready to play. If he doesn't, Jacques Plante of the QSHL Royals will get the call.

CAHA Struggles With Contract Problem

TORONTO, Oct. 20 (CP). — A sub-committee of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association Friday night was faced with the problem of whether a contract entitles a club to say which team a player must move to if he goes into another league.

The case in point was that of James Farelli of the Fort William Columbus Canadians who is sought by Galt Black Hawks of the Ontario Hockey Association.

Fort William decided that if Farelli went to the OHA, he would have to play for Kitchener. Both Fort William and Kitchener are farm teams for Montreal Canadiens.

The CAHA sub-committee decided to request the registration committee to take a vote on Farelli's request for a release from the Fort William team.

Until he is released, it appears that Fort William may not have the power to say where he must play, but they can certainly tell him he can't play.

In other decisions, the committee:

(1). Granted Kingston Community Social and Athletic Club the use of 10 imports in view of the suspensions to 12 players of the club who "threw" a hockey game last season.

(2). Found an unintentional loophole in the wording of a residence rule clause, that allowed them to OK five Port Credit players for the Oakville junior team.

(3). Confirmed grant of six imports to Max Silverman's Sudbury Wolves despite a change in the Sudbury situation.

(4). Refused to lessen the one-year suspension inflicted on Edward Downer, who had a run-in with a referee last year.

(5). Registered goaler John Albani with Weston Dukes. The played been drafted from Dennis House by Galt, then released.

(6). Referred Woodstock Senior B request for replacements to Nov. 3 executive meeting of the OHA.

Scott Will Coach Cobourg Pavs Team

COBOURG, Oct. 20.—Gerry Scott former Oshawa General and Quebec Aces star will coach Cobourg Pavs this season in the Lakeshore Intermediate League, according to Stan Williams, sponsor of the team.

Scott, not long out of junior ranks, will be a non-playing coach due to a kidney injury. Signing of Scott means that veteran Cliff Maundrell, who led the club as playing coach last year, will revert to player, if he turns out this season. Maundrell led the league last year in goal scoring with 87, counting playoff games. At present working in Port Hope, the veteran defenceman-winger is Cobourg property because of his residence here and if he decides to play will line up with the locals.

First practice for the team will take place Monday night in the new Cobourg Community Centre. Officials of the team would not comment on the roster other than to say that Scott had been signed.

A. Jackson Rolls High

All wins this week in the YM senior lasses' bowling league were by two-point margins. Commandos, Glengarry's, Lucky Strikes and Corvettes were victorious over Aces, Bombers, Hurricanes and Tigers in that order. Addie Jackson was high in singles with 322 and trios with 732.

Other good scores were: Min Arnold 668, Gladys Pinch 651, M. Knight 640, M. Flaherty 614, T. Hewitt 602 and Helen Howden 600. Neat singles included: M. Arnold 266, T. Hewitt 260, M. Knight 259, N. Hepburn 250, L. Bonney 250, B. Pogue 247, M. Flaherty 245, M. Mahood 244, and G. Pinch 242.

Whip Mercurys 10-8

SUDBURY, Oct. 20 (CP). — Sudbury Caruso Miners Friday night defeated Owen Sound Mercurys 10-8 in an exhibition hockey game. Sudbury trailed the Mercurys by five goals early in the final period but came back fast to score seven goals before the game ended.

Britain Abolishes Hockey's Red Centre Line

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON, Oct. 20—(CP)—In a move to bring back the dipsy-doodle of yesteryear, Britain has boldly abolished hockey's red centre line.

The two defending zones have been increased from 60 to 65 feet, shrinking the neutral zone by 10 feet. Bodychecking is barred in the centre area and a player must cross his own blue line before passing to a team-mate in mid-ice.

The idea is to restore to hockey some of the stickhandling thrills served up in years gone by through such players as Albert and Tony LeMay of Ottawa, Jo-Jo Graboski from the Maritimes and the late Frankie Le Blanc, one of the greatest exponents of an old and nearly-forgotten art.

The red line, still a feature of Canadian hockey, was introduced here in the 1945-46 season. By reverting to the original rules, the anti-red line brigade hopes to cut down on long passes and put the emphasis back on play-making.

Loudest rooter among the abolitionists is probably J. F. (Bunny) Ahearne, a genial gentleman who is the No. 1 man in British hockey. Ahearne is secretary of the British Ice Hockey Association and second vice-president of the International Ice Hockey Federation.

The international body meets at Oslo in February and you can count on Ahearne being there in person to campaign against the red line.

Galt Trims Barrie Flyers As Kitchener Edges Oshawa

By The Canadian Press

Any resemblance to Barrie Flyers, last spring's Memorial Cup champions, and the club coach Happy Emms has iced this season, is purely imagination. To date, they are crowding Toronto St. Michael's, Windsor and St. Catharines for the cellar of the 10-team Ontario Hockey Association Junior A circuit.

With only four holdovers from last year's all-conquering outfit, Flyers dropped their third game in four Friday night—a 5-3 licking from Galt Black Hawks in a close-checking encounter at Barrie.

Two other games were played and the results consolidated the pos. 1 and 2 positions.

The league-leading Kitchener Greenshirts extended their winning streak to four straight games with a 3-1 victory over Oshawa Generals at Kitchener and second-place Guelph Biltmores walloped Windsor Spitfires 13-3 at Guelph. It was the worst trimming in years for the Spits who have tied one game in four this season.

The full circuit gets in weekend action with five games scheduled for today and two on Sunday.

Period Scoring

Kitchener stowed away the victory with three first-period goals by Greig Hicks, Orv Tessier and Duke Edmundson. The second session was scoreless and Erv Dejordy netted for Oshawa early in the third.

Galt advanced to third place with its victory over the Flyers, but it was close all the way. Each scored once in the first period and the Hawks held a 2-to-1 edge in each of the second and third periods. Wharram scored two for Galt and McIntosh, Poeta and Donacher got one each. Flyers' marksmen were Mohns, Martan and White.

Guelph led 4-1 at the end of the first period, 6-2 at the end of the second and then ran wild with a seven-goal splurge in the third against only one for the Spits.

Andy Bathgate and Ron Murphy paced the Biltmore attack with three goals each. Dean Prence and Chuck Henderson each chipped a pair while Billy McCreary, Danny Blair and Ken Kaufman scored singles.

Bob Brown scored two for Windsor and Ed Gioia netted the other.

Baksi Planning New Comeback

NEW YORK, Oct. 20 (AP)—"If Jersey Joe Walcott can do it, so can I," said come-backing Joe Baksi today as he aimed for the heavyweight bigtime once more.

Manager Natey Wolfson wants Joe to meet Jimmy Rousse in Troy next week, and then to take him to England for a December fight under Jack Solomons' promotion.

"After that, if Joe shows he still has it, we'll be ready for Walcott, Ezzard Charles or anybody," said the happy manager.

Comebacks and rosy plans are old stuff for the former coal miner from Kulpmont, Pa., who started off his latest campaign by flattening pudgy Gina Buonvino of Italy in 54 seconds of the first round of a 10-rounder in St. Nicholas arena Friday night.

Story Of Joseph Claimed One Greatest Ever Written

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.

Apart from its religious significance, and its place in the history of the Jewish people, I have long felt that the story of Joseph as told in the Book of Genesis is among the greatest and most remarkable ever written.

I have often related how some years ago, when I was conducting a men's meeting of the "Pleasant Sunday Afternoon" type, in Hamilton, Ont., a Baptist minister, whose name I have forgotten, came as guest speaker. He was an able elocutionist, and his part in the program was to recite without comment from the Authorized Version of the Bible, the 11 chapters of Genesis that tell the story of Joseph.

It was for me not only an impressive, but a positively thrilling experience. I supose I had read the story dozens of times, probably in fragments; but now for the first time I saw it as a whole with its full literary effect, its sharp contrasts, its suspense, its depths of depression, its suspenseful climax.

It is a great story, and how it could have been better, or more effectively told, I cannot imagine. But its greatness as a story is not only its literary perfection, but in the greatness of character of the figure, whose life, so marked by depths of suffering and heights of power, it portrays.

I think that in many respects Joseph is the greatest of all Old Testament characters. He displayed some of the callowness of youth in the naive way in which he told of a dream, well calculated to arouse the jealousy of his brothers, whose evil dispositions were easily aroused.

But Joseph's true character and strength emerged when, sold into slavery, thrown into prison, with continued disappointment and seeming defeat, he never weakened, or gave way to recrimination or despair. His character in adversity shone bright and strong.

What, then, of his emergence to splendor and power? That has been the test of many a man who has conquered adversity, and many in that test have failed, corrupted by power and success. But Joseph in his high elevation preserves the same simple realities of honesty, honor, and devotion to high purpose.

The dreamer becomes the man of action, practical to the last degree, a far-seeing statesman, planning well, and through his planning saving his own people and the nation that had called him to power.

It is obvious that we need Josephs today.

We need far-seeing statesmen and planners, but men who have something more than a love of bureaucratic power.

We need men, who with sagacity and ability to plan and perform have the fine integrity and the purity of purpose that underlay all Joseph's character and acts. More modern statesmen and planners might well take Joseph as their model.

Deaf Mute Hit By Car, Thrown 60 Feet Through Air

Alfred Shackleton, 61, of RR 2, Burketon, was instantly killed Friday night when he collided with a car while riding his bicycle along Highway 7A, a mile east of Yelverton.

The impact threw Shackleton 60 feet through the air and he suffered a fractured skull when he landed on the highway.

Coroner Dr. Charles J. Austin, Bowmanville, said today he is not sure whether or not there will be an inquest.

Hit From Behind

Shackleton was a deaf mute and partly crippled. According to police he was bicycling home along the highway when he was struck from behind by a car driven by Gordon Brown, 38, RR 1 Burketon.

Death was instantaneous from a fractured skull and other injuries.

Provincial police, under Cpl. Keith Collins, are still investigating the accident. Assisting him are OPP Constables Ray Kowal, Bowmanville, and Frank Linklater, Lindsay.

Dr. G. Longfield, Bethany, pronounced Shackleton dead on arrival.

Swing Bridge To Be Repaired

The swing bridge over the Trent canal at Burleigh Falls will be closed to traffic from Tuesday to Friday next week. A new wooden floor is being laid.

Trent Valley officials point out that the floor is in a bad state of repair and they are taking advantage of a season of comparatively light motor traffic to fix it.

Cost of repairing the 80-foot bridge that spans Highway 28 is estimated at $500. Fir and spruce will probably be the timbers used.

While the bridge is closed traffic will have to detour via Buckhorn.

The Department of Transport is this year repairing several other bridges over the Trent system. One of them is a Lindsay bridge.

EXCHANGE PLANNED

Rev. H. Douglas Stewart of Victoria Presbyterian Church, Toronto, his organist and choir will be in charge of the morning service at St. Paul's Presbyterian on Sunday. The Rev. C. S. Boyd, Christopher Gledhill, organist, and choir of St. Paul's, are going to the Toronto church for the same service.

Are You Ready?

Are you ready? Did you see ice in sidewalk puddles this morning? Well it was there. The temperature dipped to 26 during the night, Jim Harrison, official weather recorder reported at the filtration plant. But winter apparently isn't setting in just yet. The forecast for tomorrow is cloudy and a little warmer. However, don't be too cheerful, northern Ontario has snow coming.

Norwood School Bylaw Still Snarled

County council are once again snarled up in their attempts to finance the building of the high school in Norwood. The latest legal tangle is confusing the Ontario Municipal Act with the Parents' Maintenance Act. And while they try to find a way out of the difficulty work is stopped on the school.

Eastwood Construction Co. quit two weeks ago today when no money was forthcoming. Mr. J. H. Eastwood is reported to have asked for cancellation of his bond.

The catch is that the bank will not give an interim loan until the county's bylaw, issuing $390,000 in debentures, is approved by the Municipal Board. And the county is going nowhere fast in getting this approval.

Told Invalid

Last Tuesday the county council learned that their debenture bylaw was invalid. Not all the municipalities in the Norwood High School Area submitted a resolution from their council requesting the county to issue debentures. Instead they filed copies of their bylaws approving the erection of the high school.

This was not sufficient and the subsequent county bylaw was invalid, T. J. Carley, KC, found in a special submission. Mr. Carley was called in for a legal opinion on the advice of County Solicitor F. D. Kerr, KC, and the finance committee.

A special meeting of council was held Tuesday to see what could be done.

A legal loophole was found by Mr. Carley. Under a section of the Municipal Act, the Muncipal Board can approve a debenture bylaw even if it was drawn up illegally. As all of the assenting municipalities later forwarded resolutions (as they should have done in the first place) the council felt the Municipal Board would overlook the technicalities.

Some apprehension remained, however, that some municipality or private person would challenge the validity of the bylaw in the courts before it was considered by the Municipal Board.

Take Risk

The upshot of the day's discussion was that council decided to take the risk and asked the Municipal Board to validate the bylaw under the special section of the Municipal Act (Chapter 262, Revised Statutes of Ontario, 1950).

Then the comedy of errors began again. The letter to the Board, prepared by the county solicitor, made the application under the R.S.O. for 1951, not 1950 as it should have. And the Chapter cited was not 262, the Municipal Act, but 267, which outlines the liability of a son or daughter under the Parents' Maintenance Act.

Next day a second letter was sent along to the Municipal Board informing that body that a "typographical" error had been made.

What happens now? Will the Board accept the explanation or will they send the bylaw back for another meeting of county council?

"I don't know," said Reeve Rork Ferguson of Norwood, "we'll just have to wait until we get word back from Toronto."

Veterans Turn First Sod Masonic Temple

Ceremony of turning the first sod on the site of the new Masonic Temple on Reid St. was performed on Friday afternoon before an assembly of masons, many of whom have for a quarter of a century interested themselves in the temple project. The sod was turned by five veteran members of the craft, all masons of 50 years and more standing: Edward Wand, William Henry, Dr. J. M. McCulloch, A. J. McClellan and James Hamilton. Mr. Henry was a member of the first group of masons who set about raising money for a temple fund after the First World War.

The Rev. D. Bruce Gordon, chaplain of Corinthian lodge, offered the dedicatory prayer and in a short address said that the event marked the culmination of an effort which has been made by the masons through the past 25 years to secure a new temple.

R. L. Dobbin, president of the Masonic Hall Ltd., presided at the brief ceremony. Following the turning of the sod an inspection was made of the house on the property.

The contractor Walter Mortlock and the architect James Craig were introduced.

The property known as the Hamilton home consists of the block of land surrounded by Reid, Kirk, Rubidge and Hall Sts. It was once the residence of Robert Nicholls and his wife Charlotte. The original section of the house was built in 1847 and is of stone construction. About ten years later the two wings were added and 35 years ago the west wing, which is now being removed. In its place will be built a lodge hall with dining room underneath. The remaining section of the house will be turned into rooms essential in every masonic temple.

Shortly after the house was built it was purchased by the Otonabee Lodge IOOF. When Corinthian Lodge AF & A.M. was formed in 1848 it met for a year in the court house and then as tenants met in the IOOF hall until the property was sold to Mr. Nicholls.

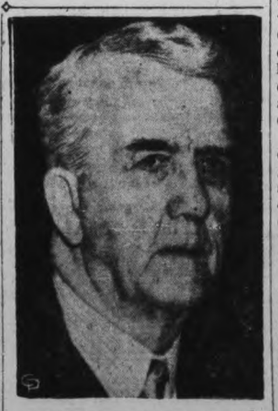
SOD-TURNING CEREMONY at the site of Peterborough's new Masonic Temple was witnessed by a large gathering of Masons TOP Friday afternoon. New lodge hall, dining room and renovations to the former W. H. Hamilton home on Rubidge St., will cost more than $75,000. To five Masons with more than 50 years of membership in the craft went the honor of wielding the shovels at the sod-turning ceremony. They are, LOWER, Left to Right, Dr. J. M. McCulloch, William Henry, James Hamilton, Arthur McClellan and Edward Wand.—Examiner Staff Photos.

Hon. Roland F. McWilliams Peterborough Ex-Mayor To Help Open City Hall

Hon. Roland F. McWilliams of Winnipeg, Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba, has accepted the city's invitation to attend the formal opening of the city hall Friday, Oct. 26. His Honor and Mrs. McWilliams were the chief representatives of both the Crown and the people of Manitoba in the reception at Winnipeg this week to Princess Elizabeth and her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, in their progress through the West. Mr. McWilliams is a former mayor of Peterborough, member of the local Bar, an ardent citizen and sportsman.

He was born in Peterborough, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. B. McWilliams, was educated here and practised law after graduating from Osgoode Hall. He was a member of the old rugby football team that used to play its games at Nicholls Oval. Last of that squad remaining in Peterborough is Arthur J. McClellan. In those days they paid all their expenses of uniforms and travelling.

Game Player



Rollie McWilliams was as "game" a rugby player as any of them in those days when the ball was put into play from the "scrum," an adaptation of the old English rugby. The change to the centre snap-back was an early innovation followed in later years by slight concessions of interference on the line, now extended to ten yards. The forward pass wasn't even imagined.

As an alderman and mayor, Mr. McWilliams contributed to the upbuilding of Peterborough. He attained the senior position of chariman of the council in one of the most spirited elections in the civic annals. His opponent was Robert Hicks, fuel dealer at Charlotte and Bethune Streets, and a capable, shrewd administrator.

Moved West

So, it was the hard way by which Mr. McWilliams achieved the dignity and responsibility of mayor of Peterborough. Subsequently he decided to move to Winnipeg, and his success is reflected by the honor which came to him years ago when he was appointed the King's representative in that province as Lieutenant-Governor.

That is a mere sketch of his career in which Mr. McWilliams was aided socially and otherwise by his cultured and gracious wife who became an outstanding Canadian woman in her own right.

Arthur McClellan recalled to The Examiner today that the Lieutenant-Governor was captain of the rugby team in 1899 when they won the intermediate championship of Canada, defeating Westmount of Quebec 4-1 in the final game here at the Oval. Previous engagements that season included victories over Hamilton Tigers by 4-2 and Ottawa by 7-4. Mr. McWilliams played a wing position.

The touchdown counted four points, and goal convert one. The game was in two half-hour periods with no substitutions, and the team had to be in superb physical condition to go that route and take the bumps.

The Governor's brother, Victor, later a doctor at Keene for some years, played on that championship team. They were two of a kind on the rugby field, both dashing players, when the going was heavy along the wing line.

Comparatively few of today's citizens recognized in The Examiner's picture several days ago from Winnipeg, showing the Lieutenant-Governor on the reception stand with Princess Elizabeth, as the young Peterborough lawyer, alderman, mayor and football star of half a century ago.

He was a contemporary and associate of the late W. G. Morrow, and the information at the city hall today that he would be here for the opening ceremony was received with delightful expectation of the home-coming of one of Peterborough's most distinguished sons.

300 Boy Scouts To Collect Paper

Boy Scouts will turn out Tuesday night for the annual paper drive throughout Peterborough. They finished three days working on their Apple Day today.

The Peterborough association has arranged a fleet of 30 trucks to carry the expected 100 tons of waste paper and cardboard to the CNR station where they will load eight freight cars. All the trucks have been offered by Peterborough industries and merchants and will be manned by the leaders and the fathers.

The drive is expected to be over in three-and-half hours, beginning at 6.30 when 300 cubs and scouts with 200 leaders and fathers go from house-to-house. Other drives have kept the workers at the station packing paper until nearly midnight.

The association hopes that the citizens will leave the paper on the verandahs where the cubs and scouts will pick up the paper and load it on the trucks. But where people are unable to carry the paper out, the scouts will help.

The boy scouts will receive about $15 a ton for the paper and they hope to net about $900, the average for the 10 paper drives held so far.

This money, derived from the paper drives, is divided equally between the boy scout groups and the Peterborough Association. The scout groups use the money for summer camps, training equipment and in some cases for uniforms. The other half is used by the association to develop scouting throughout the Peterborough district.

City School Staffs Ask For Salary Increases To Total $86,000 For Year

Primary, Secondary School Teachers Want Salary Schedule Based On Qualifications, Experience

Teachers and caretakers and maintenance men are pressing the Board of Education for substantial salary increases. Their requests, if granted, will raise the estimates $86,000 more than was anticipated for salaries in 1952. Like workers in industry they point to the soaring cost of living as their main talking point. Altogether more than 200 Board of Education employees would be affected. This would include some 125 primary school teachers, 50 secondary school teachers, and 28 caretakers and maintenance men. In addition there would be increases for the administrative officers and clerical staff.

In 1951 $649,000 was set aside in the estimates for salaries. The anticipated yearly increment is $200 per employee, or $40,600. Requests from the two public school teachers federations, the caretakers and maintenance men, and the Secondary School Teachers Federation would boost the estimates an additional $86,000.

By the time the employees and the Board finish negotiating the increases will likely be scaled down considerably.

The appointments committee of the Board this week heard all three groups of employees present their briefs.

Salary Schedule

Both the public school men teachers and the public school women teachers asked for a single salary schedule covering primary and secondary schools. In general this ignores the division between the two levels of schooling and calculates pay on the basis of qualification, experience and responsibility.

For example, a Grade III teacher would get the same pay as a Grade XI teacher if he had the same qualifications and experience. This single salary schedule is already being used in Belleville, and other cities are considering adopting it.

The public school teachers have proposed that teachers be divided into six categories—one year of training separating one category from the next.

Following is the list of categories with the minimum and maximum salaries listed:

1. Second class certificate or interim first class certificate, $2,000-$3,000.
2. Permanent first class certificate or permanent K.P. certifcate, $2,200-$4,000.
3. Intermediate certificate household economics or intermediate manual training or industrial arts and crafts or three approved summer courses or one university year, $2,400-$4,400.
4. B.A., B.Sc., or B.S.A., with appropriate teaching certificate; ordinary vocational, $2,600-$5,000.
5. Honor degree with appropriate teaching certificate; vocational specialist; pass degree with post graduate degree, $2,800-$5,200.
6. Honor degree with post graduate degree, $3,000-$5,400.

Additional allowances would be paid to teachers holding posts of special responsibility.

Caretakers

Caretakers are asking for a minimum salary of $2,400 and a maximum of $3,300 with an immediate increase of $500. They also want $1 an hour overtime. At present they are working the full 48-hour week.

Maintenance men also want a straight $500 increase.

The Secondary School Teachers Federation, representing some 50 teachers in the local branch, are making three requests:

1. A graded scale of increases, based on years of service in Peterborough. The scale would range between $100 and $600 with an estimated average of $422.
2. A maximum salary of $5,600, compared with $4,500 for graduate non-specialists at present.
3. New teachers be put on a two-year probationary period.

HOUSE NO. 489—If you like stone—and we bet you do—you're sure to fall hard for this architect-designed dream house in Hampstead, Quebec. Every line seems to please the eye, and this is just as true of the back and side views. Once inside your enthusiasm will increase for here is a house as it should be—made for family living. On the first floor is the spacious living room, with French doors to the rear garden, a good sized dining room and a "U"-shaped kitchen that defies comparison for cheerfulness and efficiency. The centre hall carries all inter-room traffic. Upstairs are four bedrooms and two bathrooms. None of these rooms could be considered large, but each is quite adequate for necessary furniture. House contains about 21,500 cubic feet. For working drawings, write Home Building in Canada, 372 Bay St., Toronto.

Your Garden:

Time For Planting Now

By HENRY PREE
Written for NEA Service

Autumn planting is under way with evergreens and spring blooming perennials leading the way. The roadside stands are filled with excellent looking balled and burlapped specimen evergreen which soon will find a permanent home, and a long life, if the plantsman follows a few common sense rules.

Balled and burlapped plants should be lifted by the ball and not by the trunk and branches. The nurseryman has taken great pains to dig the plant with as little as possible injury to the roots.

When planted balled and burlapped plants should be placed in a well-prepared hole with the burlap intact. It is not necssary to remove the burlap, just slit it at the top after the ball is set in place. Be sure to dig the hole twice or three times as wide as the ball, thus allowing for plenty of good soil under and around the plant.

Fill the bottom first with a mixture of good soil and a complete plant food.

Set the plant only as deep as it originally grew; a little higher would be better to allow for settlement. You cannot go wrong by following this advice with all trees and shrubs.

Just as soon as the first frost has hit the nurseries the digging of bare-root deciduous shrubs and small trees will get under way.

In transplanting, do not allow these plants to go uncovered and if there is a delay in planting, heel them in the ground somewhere and water them well until you are ready to put them in their proper places.

Plan your shrub and live planting to add a combination of pleasing foliage, flowers, such as roses and berries and fruits from spring through autumn, with thoughtful use of evergreens for contrast the year around.

Best Results are obtained by consulting a local nurseryman who can and will advise you what plants to use and where.

Quizzing The Gardener

Q—The Pfitzer junipers in our foundation planting are rapidly losing their color and examination discloses neither insects nor disease. What could be wrong as they are in good soil and a sunny location?

A—Most likely Spider Mites are the cause of the foliage turning a rusty-brown or lifeless color. These so-called spiders are really so tiny in size as to be almost invisible to the naked eye. They feed on the underside of the leaves. Spray with Dimite, Vapotone or similar chemical recommended for mites. Considerable success may be had by knocking the mites off the plants with a forceful spray of water directed from below.

Q—Please tell me what to do with tuberous-rooted begonias after the summer is over.—S. P.

A—Dig tuberous-rooted begothem in dry sand or soil and store them i ndry sand or soil in a cool cellar over winter. In March or April they may be potted up and started into growth indoors for blooming outdoors.

Evergreens require careful handling when planted. Follow these tips from the old pro.

Basement vs. No Basement An Important Problem

DRAINAGE—Home-owners out of reach of public sewage systems often have the problem of adequate drainage, especially if the land is flat. This brings up the matter of a basement which, under such conditions, might be a damp dreary place, indeed. Unless there is a special reason for building a basement, the many disadvantages connected with one seem to outweight any apparent advantage.

CONVENIENCE—With proper planning, any functions connected with a basement may be taken care of more efficiently on the first floor. Basement stairs make work, and a damp basement can be downright unhealthful. A ground floor laundry, with modern, efficient equipment, can become a cheerful place for accomplishing an otherwise dreary chore. Work becomes easier . . . there is less back-breaking labor and drudgery. And today, with cleaner and smaller heating units the rule, it is no longer necessary to house them in the basement. Deep freeze units and cold storage rooms makes the old-fashioned "fruit cellar" seem ridiculous. Activity rooms are more bright and cheerful and consequently more used, when they are on the ground floor.

MORE FOR YOUR MONEY — When facilities otherwise banished to the basement appear on the ground floor, the apparent size of the house increases and all of the investment becomes visible. If the garage is attached, the result is a low, rambling type of structure particularly suited to suburban sites.

HUMIDITY—In climates where high humidity prevails, dampness in basements is very evident and just as annoying. Such a basement cannot be used as storage space because materials such as leather, wood, metal and fabric are badly affected by moisture. To dig a basement under these conditions is to invite trouble, so eliminate one from your plans if at all possible.

Work Centre

The work center is the most important area in the entire plan since it is the active center of all living except relaxation and if properly designed it can even provide that. It is, or should be, more than merely a clinical working area for the preparation of food. First, it is warm and livable because of the intelligent use of natural woods, fabrics and bright colors. It has a space for eating, for serving company snacks; it has picture windows overlooking an attractive view, designed lighting for specific tasks and is well-ventilated and cheerful. It has a planning desk, sewing facilities, modern laundering equipment and well-organized storage space. There are plants growing here, perhaps a play-space for small children, and above all it has enough room for the housewife to do her work efficiently and without undue fatigue.

The modern work center has cabinets placed at convenient heights, away from the windows so that light is not obstructed. It has counters at different heights, so that some work may be done sitting down and other tasks standing. It has adequate surfaces for placing materials, and the stove, sink and refrigerator are placed within easy reach of each other. The work center is convenient to the dining space, and is good looking.

The laundry has come out of the basement, and rightly so. As anyone who has spent much time in one knows, a basement is a dreary place in which to work, perhaps, made all the more so by the nature of the work itself. With automatic laundering equipment, which is small and compact, the modern housewife can have her laundry right in her work center. This eliminates, too, the back-breaking task of carrying heavy baskets and other heavy loads up and down the basement steps. Today, the laundry can be done, and efficiently so, in a bright and cheerful area.

Planning for such a work center requires a lot of sensible forethought. In the event you can not immediately afford as many modern conveniences as you might wish, provide for them in your original plan so that there will be adequate space for them when you do buy. The work center conveniences would become disadvantages if they crowded the area.

This, briefly, is the work center you can plan for your home. Many modern kitchens today are fine, but some designers have given the housewife a badly cramped area in which to work, under the imposing term "modernity."

Finds Children Burned

RICHMOND, Calif., Oct. 20—(AP)—Charles Fortune returned from the hospital bedside of his wife Thursday night and found that two of his four children had been burned to death. Officials had tried for 2½ hours to locate him and tell him that his son, Eddie, 19 months and his daughter, Daisy, four months, had perished in a blaze while a baby sitter was on an errand.

Calgary Artists Put On Striking Show

Anybody who has been in the upstair gallery of the Public Library this week, even if his purpose was to hear a speech, could not help but look at the pictures. There are 21 of them, the work of four Calgary artists. It is a striking show, from the startling stark red cafe scene by R. Kiyooka, just inside the door, to the large, strenuous canvas of R. Spickett with its crowd shoving into a bus at five o'clock.

The five Spickett paintings most interested this viewer. They are all rather sombre in social outlook and dramatic in theme. One is immediately aware of the artist's chroma (black and green dominate) and the forceful use of angle and line. The "People of the Citadel" is one of the most remarkable paintings I have seen in Peterborough exhibits; this artist has something to say and the capacity to say it.

The Salvation Army trio are at a street corner, three black uprights on a background of angular buildings; the two women, alike yet subtly differentiated, bonneted heads bowed, are flanked and are dominated by the gaunt, bareheaded, severe and tense leader. His big, gnarled hands are folded across his body where the thin red vertical line of the tunic cuts them. He is praying, eyes closed, brow heavily flattened.

The painting evokes an essay of analysis and mood. I would unhesitatingly place this as a great Canadian painting, if it were not for an unsatisfactory middle-ground, the blurred bases of buildings at street level. Why this indefinition, when the tops of the buildings are so realistic? To say that the blurring is necessary to the colour and line composition is to indicate that the painter has side-stepped a problem. . . This painting is intensely interesting as a composition and as a theme. Mr. Spickett's four other paintings in the show (perhaps is it Miss or Mrs., but I think Mr.) reinforce my impression that here is both a good talent and an excelling artist.

G. Mihalcheon is a relief from the intensity of Spickett. There is happiness and pleasantness in this painting—for instance, the two shoppers. In contrast with Spickett, Mihalcheon is deft, light, more cheerful in social message. Both palette and brush are more subtle.

Versatile Show

R. Kiyooka, with six paintings, shows the most versatility among the four Calgary painters. There is the blue and blatant distortion of the big Fisherman; there is the Red Cafe; there is the city motif (busy crowded lines as in some recent Mayfair magazine illustrations of Toronto and Montreal); there is the jaded, quiet old colour, suggesting fresco, of "They Also Live Here" and "House By Night." The "Boy With Fish and Apple" is a very funny parody, in style and subject.

G. Arnold may have much to say, but did not say it to this viewer in any of his five canvases. His abstracts and 'Seals' show an ability to set down intricate patterns which achieve a cohesion, even simplicity. Abstracts require a great deal of study; this viewer preferred to admire his 'Green Door' and the achievement of pattern, tone and light in it.

Calgary has always been considered an oasis of culture and artistic effort at the edge of prairie wastes. This exhibit of four Calgary painters shows that in painting Calgary is sustaining its reputation.

The exhibit comes down very soon. See it now.—T. J. A.

Engineers Hold Discussion On Hydro

The Peterborough branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada held their first meeting of the fall season Thursday evening at the Kawartha Club.

The meeting, which took the form of a smoker, was featured by a discussion of the various aspects of a recent hydro-electric development.

Ninety-eight members attended.

H. R. Sills opened the discussion with a talk on generators and special problems in connection with designing generators. J. G. Lucas gave an outline of speed control problems in the operation of generators and D. A. Drynan discussed the switching control of generator output. D. F. Rankin explained how generator output is switched to a transmission line.

Joy Rider Gets 2-Month Term

Dennis Logan, 16, RR 1 Lakefield, was sentenced to two months in county jail on a charge of joy riding by Magistrate W. R. Philp in police court Friday.

On Monday, Logan had pleaded guilty to a charge of stealing a car from a Peterborough parking lot Saturday night, was remanded, and the charge was reduced to joy riding today at the request of Crown Attorney J. A. Bradshaw.

Logan and a 15-year-old Otonabee township boy were picked up by Huntsville police Sunday morning. His companion appeared before Magistrate Philp in juvenile court Monday and was remanded for sentence.

In asking that the charge be reduced, Crown Attorney Bradshaw said he had learned from the boy's parents that he had been unable to hold a steady job since leaving school last year. "A two or three months' sentence might serve to shock him into realizing what he is up against," said Mr. Bradshaw.

"You must realize that the minimum on a charge of car theft is one year," said Magistrate Philp in sentencing Logan and instructed him to get a job when he is released and to keep in touch with Major Everett of the Salvation Army.

Copp Speaks On UN To WI At Bailieboro

BAILIEBORO, Oct. 20—(ENS)—October meeting of the Bailieboro Women's Institute was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Fisher Tuesday evening. Guest speaker was principal Leo Copp of the Peterborough Normal School who spoke about the "United Nations Organizatoin." The men in the neighborhood were also present.

Mrs. Russell Kidd presided for the business. A letter had been received from the Salvation Army at Port Hope thanking the ladies for $60 which had been sent.

On October 24 the Bailieboro ladies will be guests of the Cavan Women's Institute when the local Institute will have charge of the program.

An invitation was received from the Peterborough branch of the Local Council of Women to attend their fall tea at the YWCA on October 26.

It was decided to accept the government grant.

Plans were made to send a bale of clothing to Mrs. Thomlinson of Kingston, Jamaica for needy families.

Several ladies are planning to attend one day at the convention in Toronto on November 6.

In order to pay the electric light bill for the lights in the village of Bailieboro it was decided to hold euchre parties in the hall at Centreville to raise the money. The first euchre will be November 9.

Mrs. H. C. Howson, citizenship convener, called on Mrs. Hugh Fallis to introduce the guest speaker.

Mr. and Mrs. Fisher were thanked for the use of their home by Mrs. Merton Thompson.

Travellers Give $10,000 For Poliomyelitis

A cheque for $10,293.06 was presented Friday to the Ontario Chapter of the Canadian Foundation for Poliomyelitis by the Associated Canadian Travellers.

The money was the proceeds of a campaign in Ontario on behalf of the March of Dimes drive.

In a statement the ACT said the association was "completely convinced that the Ontario chapter of the foundation as presently constituted, is worthy of complete public confidence and financial support. This cheque represents money donated by the public and held in trust by the Associated Canadian Travellers until they were convinced that the money would be spent for the purpose for which it was intended."

This was reference to doubt that was cast on the usefulness of the poliomyelitis foundation by public criticism of some doctors last year.

The ACT said they have decided to again lend their support to future campaigns conducted by the Ontario chapter of the polio foundation.

The ACT is holding a two-day conference in the Club Aragon which started Friday and ending today.

Elected President

TORONTO, Oct. 20 — (CP) — Edwin J. Hendrie, of Toronto, has been elected president and director of the Canadian Consumer Loan Association. Other officers elected at the eighth annual convention included C. M. Cawker, Belleville, treasurer.

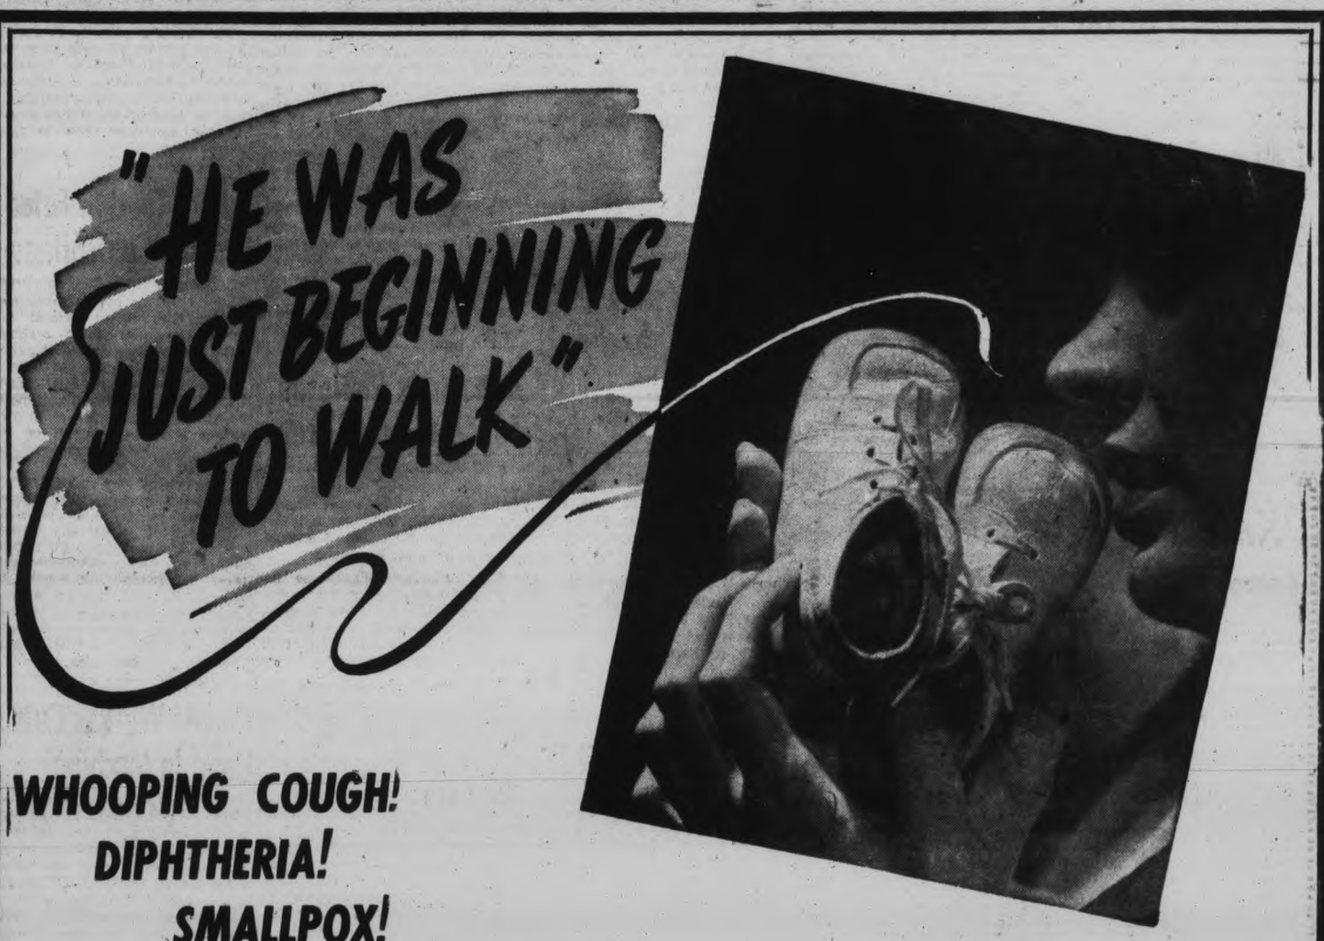
Pallbearers were Harry Garbutt, Harold Foster, James Cumming, Harry Butler, Jack Dean, James Lang. Burial was in Little Lake cemetery.

A Legion service conducted by Hurrell Dodds was held at the graveside and Bugler E. Johns played the Last Post.

Ample Water Lindsay Told

LINDSAY, Oct. 20—There is ample water in the Scugog system to supply Lindsay with water for some years to come. This assurance was contained in a letter to the Lindsay board of water commissioners from Mr. Redfern, consulting engineer.

He explained that in the 16,000 acres of Scugog waterway, one foot of water represented some five billion gallons. Using this as a basis, if Lindsay increased its consumption of water to three million gallons per day and flow of water stopped in one year, the water level would be reduced by only two and one half inches.



Mr. Redfern also said that Dr. Barrie of the Ontario Department of Health was coming to Lindsay to inspect the sewage disposal plant and the water board could make arrangements to meet him at that time to discuss the water situation.

WHOOPING COUGH!
DIPHTHERIA!
SMALLPOX!

THESE diseases attack all ages—but often people acquire immunity to them by the time they are adults. Babies and little children lack immunity—are easy victims of infection. Whooping cough is especially dangerous to very young children and causes more deaths among babies under one year of age than any other contagious disease. Diphtheria causes the highest death rate among children under five years of age.

MEDICAL science has the means to prevent these diseases. Every child should be given this protection by the age of one year . . . or earlier. Lindsay To Pay Higher Taxes

LINDSAY, Oct. 20—Many landowners in Lindsay will find their total assessment slightly higher this year.

This announcement was made by Mr. Kilner, assessment commissioner for Lindsay.

Mr. Kilner explained that the assessment of the town last year took into consideration mainly the buildings. Land, this year, has been carefully reassessed on a foot frontage basis and some assessments have been raised.

Set Scale

The land assessment of the town was established on a set scale of values which varies with regard to the location of the property. The lowest assessment has been at the rate of $1 per foot frontage and the peak was reached at $17 per foot.

In his reassessment of the town this year, Mr. Kilner explained that some building assessments have been changed when inequalities were found. He said that there is nothing in the Assessment Act that says the assessor has to abide by the decision of the court of revision. If an assessment is appealed before the court and either party is unsatisfied, the matter may be laid before a county judge.

The assessment may even be taken to the municipal board or a supreme court of Ontario. In any case, their decision is valid for only that one year unless other arrangements are made.

UAW President Urges Support Of CCF Party

TORONTO, Oct. 20 — (CP).—George Burt, president of the Ontario Federation of Labor, said Friday night the workers of Ontario "look to the CCF as the only party which really represents their interests in the political life of the province."

Mr. Burt, Canadian director of the United Auto Workers (CIO), spoke in a free-time political broadcast over a CBC Ontario network.

He said the CCF has consistently advocated low-cost housing and a "genuine" health and hospital program. It was the first party to urge better old-age pensions. Its Ontario leader, E. B. Jolliffe, was Ontario's outstanding Opposition leader in the last generation.

The coming election was Ontario's fourth in eight years—two more than necessary. Each cost the taxpayers about $2,000,000.

Mr. Burt said promises of Walter Thomson, Liberal Leader, in his speeches were "deceitful and dishonest." The Liberal Leader had taken no action on a hospital plan he now advocates for the province when a member of the Federal House.

Federal Government Plans Aid To All Canadian Universities

KINGSTON, Oct. 20. (CP) — Prime Minister St. Laurent said Friday night that the Federal government was preparing to implement recommendations of the Massey Report which called for Federal aid to Canadian universities.

He made the statement at a banquet in honor of Dr. W. A. Mackintosh, installed Friday afternoon as 12th principal of Queen's university.

The prime minister promised that the Federal aid plan would be non-discriminatory and would apply to "every institution of university level in Canada."

He said the Massey Commission had "found a way" whereby the Federal government could assist the universities without "seeking in any way to influence the individual and distinctive character of these institutions." Private benefactions, he felt, were sometimes activated by self interest.

Mr. St. Laurent was one of a group of scholars and statesmen who paid tribute to the 12th principal of Queen's University.

Remember Heritage

Premier Frost, principal speaker during the afternoon convocation, warned Canadians not to forget their cultural and spiritual heritage. He said that a growing nation such as Canada tended to over-emphasize the importance of scientific education.

Dr. Mackintosh told the convocation that a university "is or should be a society of scholars, devoted to the education . . . of the young and to the preservation and extension of human knowledge."

It was a "human institution continuing over the generations in its struggle to remove part of the penalty of man's mortality."

Brief Ceremony

The installation ceremony was a brief one. The stocky, ruddy-faced Scot was presented to the university Chancellor, Charles A. Dunning, who administered the oath of office. A heavy black robe, trimmed with silver and bearing the red, blue and gold Queen's crest, was placed over Dr. Mackintosh's shoulders.

When the 56-year-old principal began his address, he was greeted with a spontaneous ovation from the student galleries. Two pigeons were let loose to flitter around the big gold and red hall. Students cheered and tossed paper streamers into the assembly below. The principal, the scholars and the statesmen looked up in alarm.

The demonstration ceased as suddenly as it began. Said Dr. Mackintosh later: "It was great."

When the ceremonies were finished—during which 12 men received honorary degrees, the delegates, resplendent in black robes, trimmed in reds, yellows and blues, filed in procession out of the great hall.

Given Degrees

Degrees of Doctor of Laws were conferred on: Sir Alexander Clutterbuck, British High Commissioner to Canada; president George P. Anniversary Held In Warsaw Church

WARSAW, Oct 20—Warsaw United Church held Anniversary Services on Sunday morning and evening. Near capacity congregations were present which were conducted by the pastor. The guest speaker, was the Rev. J. Cantrell, of Belleville. In the morning the choir contributed two musical items which were well received, and at the evening service, they also sang two beautiful numbers, while Mr and Mrs. Dyson sang a duet.

On Wednesday the anniversary was continued, when the ladies served a turkey supper to more than 600 people. After the supper, the auditorium was crowded, when the members of the Teen-Up club presented their three-act play entitled, "False Colours". This was the young folk's first effort, and their presentation was deserving of the highest praise.

The members of the W.A. offer to them most sincere congratulations, and thanks for a job well done, and also extend their appreciation to all who in any way, helped to make the occasion such a magnificent success.

Obituary

IDA JANE POTTS

CAMPPBELLFORD, Oct. 20 — (ENS) — A lifelong resident of Seymour, Ida Jane Forrest, wife of John W. Potts, passed away at her home on Thursday, at the age of 74.

Born in Seymour township, Mrs. Potts was married 56 years ago. She attended Seymour United church and was active in church work in former years.

She is survived by her husband, two daughters (Emma), Mrs. Alex McLaughlin of Havelock; Mrs. James McMullen (Laura) of Campbellford. There is one son, Frank, of Seymour, and four grandchildren.

The Rev. Gordon Whitehorne of the Seymour United church circuit conducted services from the family residence on Saturday afternoon at 2:30. Pallbearers were George, Alex and Ralph Stephens, nephews of the deceased, and Albert, Alfred and Archie Parker, cousins of the late Mrs. Potts. Burial was in the English Line cemetery.

Thomson Gives Details Of Hospital Plan

GRAVENHURST, Oct. 20 (CP) — Walter Thomson, Ontario Liberal leader, said Friday night he proposed to help finance a province-wide contributory hospital plan by increasing stumpage dues lumber and pulp companies pay for cutting timber on Crown land.

In an adress prepared for delivery over a CBC Ontario network, Mr. Thomson said aim of the scheme was to make hospital care available to all persons in the province at rates they could afford to pay.

He spoke from this Muskoka district resort town in the first of 21 CBC free-time broadcasts in the Nov. 22 Ontario election campaign. The Progressive Conservative, CCF and Liberal parties each has been allotted seven 15-minute periods in the series.

Mr. Thomson accused the Progressive Conservative government of "mismanaging, yes, even squandering, our forests." Dues charged timber companies for cutting rights did not pay more than the cost of administering the province's land and forest resources.

Lack Adequate Care

In his speaking tours since election to the leadership a year ago, Mr. Thomson said he found Ontario lacked adequate care for the provision of the sick. It had fine, well-equipped hospitals "but at the entrance there was a barrier—an invisible dollar sign—that kept those services out of the reach of many people who need them."

British Columbia, Alberta and Saskatchewan had hospital plans. They probably had imperfections. But if those three provinces could inaugurate such plans, Ontario could do the same.

The Liberal plan is to spread the cost among all persons in the province. It would be financed jointly by the public, through annual hospital insurance premiums, and the government which would increase stumpage dues to raise the revenue.

School Teacher Feted Leaving Coldsprings

COLDSPRINGS, Oct. 20 (ENS) School children and parents met at the Glourourim School recently to honor their teacher, Allan Moore, at a farewell party. Mr. Moore is leaving the school.

An address was read by Sheila Ritchie, and Murray Cole made the presentation of a brown leather wallet on behalf of the pupils. Mr. Moore expressed his regrets in leaving.

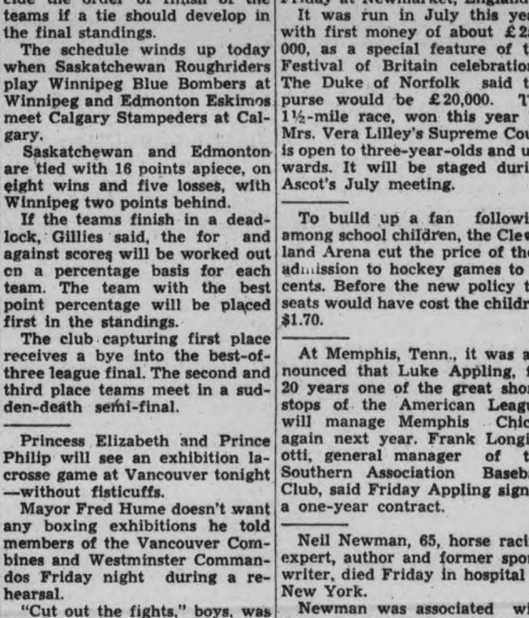
The evening was spent playing progressive euchre, after which a pumpkin pie social was enjoyed.

The school pupils are Sheila Ritchie, Murray Cole, Paul Linton, Jean Cole, Arthur Lang, Derek Cusworth, Betty Hargreaves, Beverley Linton, Muriel Lacey, Joan Hargreaves, Arnold Cornelius and Shirley Hargreaves.

Th new teacher is Mrs. Arthur Robertson, of Havelock.

Carpet Worker Cuts Hand In Machine

CAMPBELLFORD, Oct. 20 — (ENS)—Vernon Haig, 29-year-old carpet factory employee, suffered painful cuts and abrasions to his right hand on Friday afternoon, when his fingers became caught in the carding machine.



X-rays at Campbellford hospital revealed no bones were broken, and the man was released after treatment by Dr. W. W. Baker.

Joseph Metcalfe

NORWOOD, Oct. 20 (ENS). — The funeral of Joseph Metcalfe, 74, of Dummer township was held Friday afternoon from the family residence with the Rev. H. K. Wright of Norwood United church officiating. Burial was in Norwood cemetery.

Mr. Metcalfe died Wednesday at his residence after a long illness. He was born in Asphodel township, the son of the late James Metcalfe and Ann Shearer.

Pallbearers were: Percy Williamson, Roy Parker, Frank Andrews, Dean McNaughton, Leonard Edwards Maitland Kirk.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Bob Gillies, secretary of the Western Interprovincial Football Union, Friday night at Regina explained the point percentage system which will be used to decide the order of finish of the teams if a tie should develop in the final standings.

The schedule winds up today when Saskatchewan Roughriders play Winnipeg Blue Bombers at Winnipeg and Edmonton Eskimos meet Calgary Stampeders at Calgary.

Saskatchewan and Edmonton are tied with 16 points apiece, on eight wins and five losses, with Winnipeg two points behind.

If the teams finish in a deadlock, Gillies said, the for and against scores will be worked out on a percentage basis for each team. The team with the best point percentage will be placed first in the standings.

The club capturing first place receives a bye into the best-of-three league final. The second and third place teams meet in a sudden-death semi-final.

Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip will see an exhibition lacrosse game at Vancouver tonight—without fisticuffs.

Mayor Fred Hume doesn't want any boxing exhibitions he told members of the Vancouver Combines and Westminster Commandos Friday night during a rehearsal.

"Cut out the fights," boys, was his warning.

At Yonkers, NY, Good Time added another record to his illustrious list in the $10,000 New Jersey pace before 19,975 Yonkers raceway fans Friday night by pacing the mile in 2.02 2-5, shaving two-fifths of a second off the track mark held by White Mountain Boy.

The William Cane-owned pacer driven by Frank Ervin, paid $2.50, $2.60 and $2.30 for his five-length victory over Doctor Stanton, owned and driven by W. L. (Lindey) Fraser of Forest, Ont., and Ankaway.

Good Time, all-time record money earning pacer added $4,500 to his bankroll for a lifetime total of $194,005. It was Good Time's ninth straight win and the 13th in 18 starts this year. The horse recently paced a mile in 1:57 4-5 for the fastest ever recorded in a race.

Britain's richest horse race — the King George VI and Queen Elizabeth stakes—will be run again next year and may become an annual event it was announced Friday at Newmarket, England.

It was run in July this year, with first money of about £25,000, as a special feature of the Festival of Britain celebrations The Duke of Norfolk said the purse would be £20,000. The 1½-mile race, won this year by Mrs. Vera Lilley's Supreme Court is open to three-year-olds and upwards. It will be staged during Ascot's July meeting.

To build up a fan following among school children, the Cleveland Arena cut the price of their admission to hockey games to 50 cents. Before the new policy the seats would have cost the children $1.70.

At Memphis, Tenn., it was announced that Luke Appling, for 20 years one of the great shortstops of the American League, will manage Memphis Chicks again next year. Frank Longinotti, general manager of the Southern Association Baseball Club, said Friday Appling signed a one-year contract.

Nell Newman, 65, horse racing expert, author and former sports writer, died Friday in hospital in New York.

Newman was associated with John B. Campbell, handicapper for the New York Racing Association. He was the author of the book, "Famous Horses of the American Turf."

John Mitchell Author Dies

TORONTO, Oct. 20 — (CP).—John Mitchell, 68, author of "The Yellow Briar," and former lawyer, died Thursday of a heart attack. He wrote under the name of Patrick Slater.

"The Yelow Briar" was a tender, humorous novel publishedin 1934. Its action wass et against the historical background of Toronto and the Forks-of-the-Credit, 40 miles northwest of here, during the middle of the last century.

While practising as a lawyer, Mitchell became obsessed with the idea that he had misused the funds entrusted to him by clients. He asked that he be arrested for theft.

Although Mitchell claimed to have gone through $20,000 belonging to clients, only two persons could be found to testify against him and the money they said was involved amounted to $1,500. Mitchell's friends said that if there was misuse of money it was due to incompetent bookkeeping rather than to dishonesty.

Mitchell was given a minimum term at a jail farm. After his release, he paid back most of the money he said he had misused.

He died virtually penniless and a recluse.

Senate Supports NATO Commitments

OTTAWA, Oct. 20 — (CP). — The Senate Friday unanimously backed Canada's efforts to maintain through peace continued participation in the United Nations and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

In introducing a motion to that effect, Senator Wishart Robertson, government Leader in the Upper Chamber, said its adoption will remove all doubt as to the acquiescence of Parliament in the matter of sending Canadian forces out of the country from time to time.

The motion is similar to one already introduced in the Commons.

CCF Would Clean Up Ontario Stockateers

OSHAWA, Oct. 20—(CP)—E. B. Jolliffe, Ontario CCF leader Friday night accused the Ontario government of tolerating "stockateering" and of letting "a gang of crooks" use Toronto as a base for swindling thousands of persons elsewhere in Canada and in the United States.

"Although only a small minority of the financial community, the stockateers operating on a huge scale have swindled thousands of people and have given Ontario more bad publicity than anything else since Confederation," he told an Ontario riding nomination convention. "They have made Toronto known throughout the world as the last stronghold of fraudulent stock promotions."

Mr. Jolliffe promised that if the CCF is elected Nov. 22, "we will put the stockateers out of business and clean up this cesspool of fraud in Toronto."

Find Cabbie's Body

THREE RIVERS, Que., Oct. 20 (CP).—The body of a missing taxi driver was found Friday with a deep gash in the forehead and police said it was a case of murder. Maxine Gelinas' body was found in a field at St. Paulin, 35 miles northwest of here.

Princess May Get Wish To See Big Gold Mine

TIMMINS, Oct. 20. (CP) — Princess Elizabeth yet may get her wish to see a gold mine. And Timmins' 30,000 residents may enjoy an unscheduled visit from the heiress presumptive and the Duke of Edinburgh.

While this gold-mining town wasn't given a spot in the Royal tour, the Princess told Mayor Philip Fay at Kapuskasing last week that she would like to see a gold mine. She also said she wished she could see Timmins.

Since then letters have flown between here and Ottawa.

The town has aked Prime Minister St. Laurent to do what he can. The Chamber of Commerce and the local branch of the Canadian Legion have added their voice.

Officials of the Hollinger Gold Mine have offered to take the Royal couple on a tour of the mine—the world's largest.

The Royal pair would see everything—even the pouring of gold bars.

How the Prince and Princess would get to Timmins has yet to be worked out. They are scheduled to return east from the Lakehead Oct. 29, arriving at North Bay at 2:30 p.m. The airport nearest to Timmins is at Kapuskasing, 75 miles north of here in a direct line, but about 150 by road.

Plan More Visits With Veterans

ABOARD PRES . TRAIN OF ROYAL TOUR, Oct. 20. (CP) — More visits with disabled war veterans are being added to the schedule for the tour of Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip.

The additions to their program apparently have been prompted by some criticism that officialdom has been whisking them past veterans' hospitals in favor of brass-laden functions. This cropped up particularly at Winnipeg, where veterans waiting in cots and wheel chairs in freezing weather just caught a glimpse of the couple as they were driven through the Deer Lodge Hospital grounds.

The official program was changed Thursday to fit in a visit to Belcher Veterans Hospital in Calgary, cutting off 15 minutes from a Stampede show to make it possible.

An announcement Friday night from the Royal train said there will be added visits to the Veterans' Hospital at Victoria next Monday and to the Veterans' Hospital on Queen Mary Road in Montreal Wednesday, Oct. 31. The changes are being made at the request of the Princess, the announcement said.

In Victoria, the original program called for just a drive through the hospital grounds. As now arranged, the Royal pair will make a short stop to meet some of the former service men.

The Montreal hospital stop will be made while Elizabeth and Philip are driving to Dorval Airport to leave by plane for Washington.

New Injection

DUNEDIN, NZ, Oct. 20 — (Reuters)—High blood pressure sufferers may in time benefit from a new injection treatment reported here Friday by Dr. F. H. Smirk, Otago medical school professor. In the last two years more than 80 patients have been helped by carefully - supervised injections of a substance called hexamethonium bromide of C6. Far fewer deaths were recorded among those receiving the treatment, Dr. Smirk said.

All Saints' Invites Officials To Service

An invitation from the rector and wardens of All Saints' Anglican Church to attend divine service on Sunday, October 28 has been received by the various city bodies and officials. Mayor G. R. MAN RISKS DEATH FROM 26,000 VOLTS TO SAVE BURNED YOUNGSTER

Alexander "Andy" Cartner, daring T.T.C. worker of Toronto, rescues 7-year-old boy from transformer

1. Two young cousins, Raymond Frances and Jim Briden, had crawled under a fence at a Hydro transformer station off Jane Street, just north of Wilson Avenue in Toronto. Being typical boys, they were fascinated by the mysterious looking equipment. Raymond decided he was going to climb the tower. Jim, sensing the danger, warned him against it. But the boy continued his climb.

2. Raymond soon realized his mistake. At the first crossbar, 15 feet from the ground, he touched a live wire and was hurled backwards — his shirt bursting into flames. The boy's foot became jammed between two sections of steel . . . and he hung, screaming, head down! His chum's yelling attracted the attention of Cartner, who immediately raced 200 yards across a swamp to the scene.

3. Cartner climbed up the transformer until he could reach the lad. Disregarding the shock he received, he risked the full voltage and twisted Raymond's foot free. Then, holding him with one arm, he slid to the ground. The boy's life was saved. We are proud to honour Andy Cartner, Toronto Transportation Commission worker, through the presentation of The Dow Award.

ST. JOHN'S SCHOOL

St. John's Parent Teacher Association meeting Thursday evening was conducted by the president, Mrs. H. J. McLarnon.

It was decided to hold a dance November 16. Mr. Clayton Buckley is to be in charge of arrangements.

Several members kindly consented to drive crippled children to the Y.W.C.A. for swimming lessons.

Guest speaker was Mr. Norman Crook, barrister, who gave an interesting and informative talk on United Nations.

During the meeting, Mr. Crook, one of the judges of an essay contest on "What I Learned at the Peterborough Exhibition," announced the first prize ($25.) winner as Evelyn Hajnik of St. John's School. This contest was open to all public and separate schools of the city and county and much honour comes to the teacher and the school. She is a Grade Eight pupil in Sister Mary Garnier's room.

Mr. Crook was introduced by Mr. Vincent Anglesey and thanked by Mr. John Hodson.

The entertainment committee provided films for the evening. The film "Family Circle" was shown.

Attendance prize was won by Miss Brick's class, Grade II.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. E. Woodhouse and her committee.

PARTY DRESS FOR JUNIOR—This informal party-dress has a black wool jersey top and yards of pink-quilted corduroy in the skirt. The snug-fitting top has ribbed waistband and the skirt is stitched in a scroll pattern.

Towns Quick To Query Census Figures

By HAROLD MORRISON.

OTTAWA, (CP).—Stick around, folks, and we'll tell you about the battle of the census-takers and the municipalities.

It's been going on for years. This year the battle shapes up as one hotter than any in a decade, because it's the year the census was taken.

On the other hand, there are some municipalities virtually telling the Bureau of Statistics that as far as figures go, their census-takers are all wet.

On the other hand, you've got the Bureau taking a pot-shot at civic pride and intimating that assessment figures of some municipalities may have been embellished with the use of imagination.

The Bureau has already corrected its figures for Sault Ste. Marie, Ont. In its preliminary estimate of the census the Bureau reported that city's population was 29,851 compared with 25,794 in 1941. Now it has informed the mayor of Sault Ste. Marie that the total should be 32,247.

Sault Ste. Marie had informed the Bureau that its local assessment check in 1950 gave a total of 31,534. On investigating, the Bureau found that a clerk had failed to include two lists of persons in the preliminary census count.

Don't All Agree

Then there's the case of St. Thomas, whose assessment commissioner William Vidler indicated he was none too happy with the city's population figure as disclosed in the initial report of the 1951 decennial Canadian census.

The preliminary census report, which is by no means complete, gave St. Thomas a population of 17,942, up slightly from 17,132 in 1941. Mr. Vidler said figures compiled by his own department showed the city's population as 19,907, which is 1,965 higher than the census figure.

Pondering the situation, the Bureau said in a polite statement that St. Thomas' figures will be investigated. The preliminary census figures are always subject to revision; one of the reasons for issuing them is to try to locate persons who may have been omitted in the June census count.

Defends Census

But the Bureau defends its 18,000 census-takers to the hilt. In its St. Thomas statement the Bureau recalled that in previous counts municipal authorities have brought forward totals different to those obtained by the census enumerators.

"Some municipalities produced lists of people who believe they were missed," it said. "All such cases were investigated. In almost all instances, the persons on a list of having been missed, were found included in the census records."

Check Many Lists

What's the reason for such differences? Well, said one census official, some municipalities, taking pride in their growth, are inclined to embellish the figures slightly.

Mind you, the Bureau is not saying that about St. Thomas. But it emphasized that before any totals are issued "even on a preliminary basis," they are compared with "many existing records."

In each enumerated area, for example, the totals are checked against the list of voters compiled in 1949, "which represents an actual listing of names."

The total number of voters is increased by 50 per cent to cover others in the area of a non-voting age. This total is compared with the census total.

"On this basis," said the Bureau "the estimated total for St. Thomas was 18,303 and the census total was $17,942."

The census figure likely will move even closer to the 18,303 figure when the final figures are released next November or December, the Bureau said. The final estimate likely will jump "by possibly a few hundred" to include those away from their homes at the time the original census was made.

Santa Entertains Vancouver Twins At October Party

VANCOUVER— (CP)— Eight-year-old Arthur and his twin sister Esther live with their mother in a tumbledown shack on the eastern boundary of Vancouver.

Until this month their mother had been having a hard time fighting the cost of living to find enough food and clothing for them. Then Santa Claus came to town—in fact a whole shipload of Santa Clauses.

Jolly, 300-pound Capt. Ben Phillips, master of the American ship Holystar, arrived in Vancouver for a cargo of grain to learn that his ship would be somewhere in the Indian Ocean at Christmas.

So captain and crew decided to have Christmas in Vancouver, and as guests they would have two Vancouver children who needed a treat.

Somebody passed the hat and Capt. Phillips and Wireless Officer "Sparky" Wheeler enlisted the aid of a taxi driver who took them to the home of Arthur and Esther.

Great Expedition

For two hours mother and children and the two mariners trudged through Vancouver stores. When they were finished the youngsters had warm coats and a dozen other things.

That wasn't all. The little family was taken down to the ship for "Christmas dinner" with all the trimings. Then the greatest sport of all—the twins were taken all over the vessel, heard romantic stories of far-away ports, and then, up on the bridge, they became captain and navigator until the excitement put them to sleep.

The last bit of generosity was only discovered when the happy family got home. In an envelope the crew of the Holystar had tucked in enough money to buy food to keep them until the end of the year.

CGIT Doings

MARK STREET

CGIT meeting of Mark Street United church was opened with a sing-song led by Mrs. B. S. Morwood. Business was opened with the CGIT purpose followed by the reading and approval of the minutes. Members were told about an executive meeting on October 23rd at Mrs. L. Pepper's house, also about the CGIT rally on November 28th.

Groups were formed for worship service and crafts.

Mrs. Archie Daniels has gone to Picton to live where Gunner A. Daniels is stationed.

Bread, Butter Issues In UK Election

By MURIEL NARRAWAY

DARTFORD, Kent, England, Oct. 20 (CP)—Bread-and-butter issues appear to dominate the general election campaign in this largest constituency in Britain.

Housewives who live in this manufacturing town concentrate their complaints on the high cost of food, light and fuel. At the same time, canvassers report with some bewilderment that when interest is displayed in foreign affairs, women rather than men seem the more keenly concerned.

Both major parties also say they believe more women will vote this year that at either of the two general elections held since the Second World War. If that happens in Dartford, the Conservatives claim they will make a big dent in Labor's 14,000-vote majority in 1950.

Norman Dodds, Labor member who forecast the exact date of the two last elections, polled 38,128 votes in February, 1950. His challenger again is slim, attractive Margaret Roberts, at 26 the youngest woman candidate of any party.

Takes Her Chance

Miss Roberts received 24,490 votes in 1950. It would take something of a political convulsion to produce a Tory victory in industrial Dartford, but with the optimism common to candidates everywhere, Miss Roberts won't admit it. She already has moved into a cosy little Mews flat near the Houses of Parliament in Westminster.

The Conservatives say their main hope is that women will generate a swing to the right.

"If we can get women to vote while their husbands are at work, we might have a good chance," said a party official at Miss Roberts' headquarters in a busy shopping centre. "And we think we'll get more votes if hubby isn't there when they mark their ballots."

The Dartford constituency, with its electorate of 79,620 spread over a wide, flat area about 15 miles southeast of London, has industrial ties with Canada. It is the home of paper mills supplied largely from the dominion and has a regfrigerator company which does a big business in Canada.

Marmora News

Recent guests included Miss Julia DeVries of Toronto with her aunt Mrs. A. Gifford; Norman Sopha of Weston with his wife and mother here; Misses Anna and Rita LaForce of Almonte and Mrs. George South of Roblin, with Mr. and Mrs. N. Sopha and Mrs. G. W. Henderson.

Nicholas Dostanko has returned home from Belleville General where he was a patient for about a week.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Green of Toronto visited relatives here this week.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Shannon spent a few days in Toronto this week.

Mrs. Loretta Reynolds and Mr. and Mrs. Eurgene Reynolds of Peterborough attended the Sacred Heart Church bazaar on Wednesday.

Mrs. Catherine Crawford of Perth is visiting her son Charles and Mrs. Crawford for a few days.

Coldsprings News

Mrs. Everett Jamieson and Mrs. Reginald Willis were delegates to the Belleville Institute convention on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Davidson have returned after visiting their sons and daughters at Montreal and Kingston.

Several ladies from Coldsprings WMS attended the WMS thankoffering meeting at Bethesda South on Tuesday.

Miss Ruth Julian, Toronto, was a recent guest with Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Lander.

Trent, Stanwood Groups Visit W.I. At Belmont

HAVELOCK, Oct. 20—(ENS)—The Belmont Women's Institute entertained Trent River branch and the Sewing Circle of Stanwood United Church at afternoon tea Thursday in the township hall. There was an attendance of more than 60 persons which included about 35 members of the visiting organizations and also a number from the Havelock Institute.

Tea was served at a long lace covered table decorated with petunias. Artificial flowers were also attractively arranged around the hall. Serving were Mesdames Alex Keene, F. Elmhurst, Clarence King, Arnold Dafoe and Horace King.

A skit, "Somewhat Divorcified" (a mock trial), was presented by members of the Belmont Institute. The cast was as follows: Judge Partem, Mrs. William Smith; John Short, Mrs. Alfred Althouse; Mary Short, Mrs. Harry Scott; William Short, Mrs. Frank Elmhurst; Cassandra Long, Mrs. George Hartin; Lawyer Wynn, Mrs. G. Vilneff; Lawyer Looze, Mrs. Charles Ellis.

A quartette and duet were sung by members of the Trent River Institute. Readings were given by Mrs. Garnet Redden, of Stanwood, and Mrs. T. Brown, of Trent River. A contest conducted by Mrs. Eric Little was won by Mrs. J. Longmuir. Community singing was enjoyed with Mrs. G. Wright as accompanist. Program conveners were Mrs. W. Harris and Mrs. C. Ellis. The president, Mrs. W. Ketchen, welcomed the guests and presided for the business session, when it was decided to make application for the government grant which will go toward prizes for the oratory contest for Grades 7 and 8 in the public schools of the district.

A grant of $5 was made to the district funds and a $1 donation was also authorized to be sent to Mrs. Digweed to aid in building an expense fund to send the girls from the various clubs of the district who receive the highest marks in their work to the convention.

A film in conection with farm life will be shown by the Rev. R. D. Duncanson in the township hall on October 29, under the auspices of the Belmont WI. It was announced that the proceeds from serving lunch at F. Steenburgh's sale at Victoria amounted to $62.

The event marked the birthday anniversary of Mrs. George Smith of Havelock, a charter member of the Belmont Institute, and the gathering sang for her "Happy Birthday To You."

Art Association Reception, Tea

A very lovely affair on Friday afternoon was the reception and tea for members of the Women's Art Association of Peterborough, held in the YWCA Green Room, where all of the studio meetings are held. Planned by the executive, under direction of president Mrs. N. D. Seaton, as a change from the programs of former years and to promote sociability among the members, it was entirely successful.

The table was set by Mrs. James Matthews who used her prized pair of Dresden candelabra to flank a matching china bowl with an arrangement of beautiful pink roses and white scabiosa. Assisting her to serve were Miss Margaret Lees, Mrs. O. J. Frisken, Mrs. H. L. Bamforth, Mrs. L. B. Martin, Miss Jean Buck, Mrs. W. Derry, Mrs. G. Moncrief, and others. Tea pourers the first hour were Mrs. A. C. Mackie and Mrs. Ian McRae, followed by Mrs. J. E. R. Munro and Mrs. L. M. Brooks.

The first studio address will be on the Vienna Art Treasures, an illustrated lecture by Mrs. Harold Whitley of Toronto, and will be given on Friday afternoon, November 2nd.

Announcer Plugs Masculine Cooks

LONDON—(CP)—British food would taste better if men did the cooking and women did the washing up, says BBC Announcer Gilbert Hardin.

Harding, a confirmed bachelor well known for his forthright pronouncements in the battle of the sexes, made the suggestion at a literary luncheon in the Dorchester Hotel. At home, Harding said, he does the cooking and his sister does the dishes.

"But," acknowledged Harding, who formerly represented the BBC in Canada, "she makes the cakes, pudding and pastry."

Other coments at the luncheon: Novelist Gilbert Frankau—you used to get good food in Yorkshire. Now people on station platforms all looked half-starved.

Anona Winn, star of the BBC's "Twenty Questions" feature—the English have a guilt complex and feel their is something slightly immoral about enjoying their food ...a woman can't cope with a man who lingers in a pub and arrives home an hour late for dinner.

AT CRAFTS' EXHIBITION — Lady Alexander, wife of Canada's Governor-General, has garciously lent the Spinners and Weavers of Ontario some samples of her weaving which is on exhibit in the Canadian Crafts Exhibition at the Art Gallery, Toronto. This is the first time any of Lady Alexander's weaving has been on public display. Mrs. R. Burns, President of the Women's committee admired the green and yellow napkins and multi-colored pieces of cloth. The Exhibition was arranged by the Canadian Guild of Potters, Canadian Handicrafts Guild, Metal Arts Guild and Spinners and Weavers of Ontario with the Toronto Art Gallery.

British Display Shows Successes Of Radio and TV

LONDON—(CP)—The healthy state of radio in Britain after 50 years of steady development was demonstrated at the National Radio and Television Exhibition held at Earl's Court. Most obvious impression was the trend toward bigger television pictures.

The 12-inch television tube remains standard but there were more sets than ever using 15 or 16-inch tubes, and one commercial television receiver had a 21-inch tube permitting a clear picture of about 18 by 14 inches.

Kenneth Williamson, a British expert, explained the larger dimensions are reached with "projective television," for which the Schmidt optical system is nearly always used. The picture is created at high light intensity on the face of a small-image tube and then may be thrown on a frosted-glass screen which is part of the television receiver itself.

One television gimmick being demonstrated publicly in London is the technique known as "spot wobble," which gives television a soft, half-tone etffect pleasing to most viewers.

Military Radio

The value of radio in the several forms needed by the armed services was well demonstrated. The government's department of scientific and industrial research has long been known throughout the world for its work on the ionosphere.

This department showed how varying ionospheric conditions affect world-wide shortwave communications. By co-ordinating information received from recording stations all over the world the best frequencies for radio transmission are forecast six months in advance.

Three receivers at this exhibition were tuned to different frequencies and graphs demonstrated successfully how correct the information is. A full explanation was also given of the way the sun's infra-red rays disturb the ionosphere or reflecting layers, which are responsible for all shortwave communication services over long distances.

Among novelties on display was a tiny television set with a screen about as big as a postage stamp. There was also a small crystal set that can amplify volume without the use of tubes.

Three-day Bazaar Ends At Marmora

MARMORA, Oct. 20 (ENS)—The three-day Sacred Heart bazaar concluded Wednesday evening with a general supper which again attracted a large number.

Games were continued until 10 p.m. when a dance was held with Marmora Merrymakers furnishing music.

At midnight the drawing took place for the various prizes and resulted as follows: First prize, $50, Michael Reynolds, sponsor, Evelyn Reynolds; second prize, $15, Aileen McCoy; third prize, $10, T. Forestell, Oshawa.

Out-of-town visitors at the bazaar included Mr. and Mrs. James Hughes, Galt; Mrs. C. Thompson and daughter, Eldorado; Mrs. S. Bibby, Campbellford; Mr. and Mrs. J. Calman, ford; Mr. and Mrs. J. Calinnan, Milchael Forestell and Ronald Logan, Peterborough; Misses Dorothy Forestell and Joan O'Connor, Kingston.

At the euchre party which followed Wednesday's chicken supper, prizes went to Arthur Neal and Mrs. George Kerr, both of Marmora.

New Approach To Music Study

TORONTO — (CP). — The Royal Conservatory of Music is going to tear a piano apart on the stage to start off a new series of concerts. Later, other instruments will be ripped to pieces.

It is all part of a new approach to making music interesting to children. It may be hard on the instruments, but music teachers say it works.

This type of concert attracted so many children to the Conservatory that the new series had to move to larger quarters, the big Eaton Auditorium. Top United States schools are sending representatives to find out how it works.

The first big concert here is the result of two years of experiment by David Ouchterlony, supervisor of Conservatory branches.

Have Variety

At the first meeting a grand piano will be torn down on the stage and the inner working explained to the children. There will be contests with music to pick out wrong notes, repetitions in the theme and so on. Another big attraction is musical movies.

"Too many people—adults—go to concerts because it is the socially proper thing to do," says Mr. Ouchterlony. "Why shouldn't they enjoy them?"

The objective of the concerts is to let kids learn what fun music can be.

The concerts are open to any child in the city who wants to attend. From experience at the Conservatory where 450 kids want to attend at one time, officials believe plenty of children will jump at the chance to come.

DOROTHY DIX

Ever-Cheerful Attitude Always Found In Optimist

DEAR MISS DIX: Which do you think is happier—the optimist or the pessimist? Folks tell me I take things too lightly. I try to laugh and shrug trouble off. Is that bad? I have had plenty of worries in my life (I am middle - aged), but I try to have a cheerful attitude in general, especially before others. Everyone has a cross to bear, so why worry others with our burdens? Is there something wrong with this attitude, or do you agree with me?

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Have you ever seen a happy pessimist? Or one whose company was sought by others? They are usually shunned like the plague by all except their relatives who feel a bounden duty to try to cheer the old cranks, always without success, of course. The pessimist's chief characteristic is a complete lack of faith in anything—God, himself, his family and friends. He is a chronic complainer, finding fault with everything from the weather—though the day may be a beautiful one—to the state of the union.

These Qualities Attract Others

The cheery disposition of the optimist, his friendly helpfulness, his ability to make the most of other peoples' good points and minimize their faults—these are the qualities that attract others. Optimism, of course, cannot be carried to such lengths that it blinds us to reality, or wraps us in an insulation of rosy dreams that completely shut away the out side world. It can be the most endearing trait in a friend. We like people who cheer us up in time of trouble; not those who cast us into a deeper abyss of misery.

Keep your smiling mein and try to make your sour-visaged friends follow your example instead of criticizing it.

As you say, everyone has a cross to bear, and those who follow the admonition, "Bear ye one another's burdens," are displaying the greatest charity there is.

DEAR MISS DIX: I wish you would give your opinion of employers who do not pay their workers on time. At my place of employment we are supposed to be paid once a week. When pay day comes around, we're told we'll have to wait a day or two longer. Sometimes we have had to wait two or three weeks. We're all willing to work, but hate to keep asking for our wages. We need money and would like to be able to depend on a specific day to receive it.

ANSWER: Why not form a committee and approach your employer on this important subject, asking why payment of wages should be delayed and why a definite pay day cannot be set. You are legally entitled to your salary and if it is not forthcoming, especially if your employer does not have a sufficiently good reason for the delay, legal action can be taken against him. A wage earner must be able to depend on his salary if he is to manage his own finances on a sound basis. Unjust deferment of payment can bring in its wake many evils, including borrowing from loan sharks. A frank talk should bring an agreement on this subject with the workers and employers of your company.

DEAR MISS DIX: I have a problem I can't seem to solve myself. I have a pair of deceiving eyes that get me into a lot of trouble. My mother and friends say I flirt with my eyes, but I don't realize I am doing it. My girl friends get mad at me because they say I am trying to attract their boy friends. I'm not. I am only 17, and don't want to acquire the reputation of being a flirt.

ROSEMARY

ASNWER: Aren't you just a little proud, Rosemary, of these dancing eyes? Sparkling orbs are one of the nicest attractions a girl can have, but they must not be misused. Above all, they must never be turned in the direction of one's girl friends' beaux. Otherwise, you will lose all popularity with your own sex. Try to overcome your consciousness of those misbehavin' eyes and they'll take care of themselves very nicely.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Readers' Saturday Column

QUESTION: (from L. R. requesting recipe for cocoanut macaroons without condensed milk.)

ANSWER:

Cocoanut Macaroons

One-half cup egg whites (about 4 medium-sized egg whites), 1¼ cups granulated sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon vanilla, 2½ cups moist shredded cocoanut. Beat the egg whites only long enough to make them fluffy—not at all stiff. Stir in the sugar, salt and vanilla. Sprinkle cocoanut over and barely mix. Have ungreased wrapping paper on baking sheet. Drop macaroon mixture from teaspoon, two inches apart, for these spread during baking. Bake at 325 deg. Fahr. for about 15 or 18 minutes. When they are baked lift the whole paper off baking sheet. Lay wet towel on baking sheet. Lift paperful of macaroons on to it and let stand 1 minute. Steam loosens macaroons and they are easily removed with spatula.

QUESTION: Have been reading your column for some time and wonder if you could help me out in ways to use green tomatoes. I would like a recipe for green tomato mincemeat and also for dilled small green tomatoes . . . Mrs. J. V. C.

ANSWER:

Green Tomato Mincemeat

Three pounds green tomatoes, 3½ pounds apples, 2 pounds each brown sugar and seedless raisins, 1 cup finely chopped suet, 1 tablespoon each salt, nutmeg, grated lemon rind, 2½ tablespoons cinnamon, 2 teaspoons ground cloves, 3 tablespoons lemon juice, 1¼ cups vinegar (the vinegar may be replaced with cider).

Chop or grind tomatoes, add salt and let stand 1 hour. Drain well, then add barely enough water to see it under surface of tomatoes. Bring to boil for 5 minutes, and drain again. Add pared, cored and finely chopped apples, and all other ingredients, mixing well. Bring to boiling then simmer for 1 hour, stirring often. Pour into sterile jars and seal. This amounts make 7 pints.

Dilled Green Tomatoes

Two quarts small green tomatoes, 2 small onions or cloves of garlic, 2 stems celery, ½ of a sweet green pepper, 2 cups each vinegar, and water, ¼ cup salt, 2 or 3 branches of dill. Wash the small tomatoes well and pack in sterile jars. Add the small onion cut into slices (or garlic) and diced pepper and chopped celery to each jar. Place some dill on top. Mix together the water, vinegar and salt and boil 5 minutes. Pour this hot liquid over tomatoes and seal. Ready to serve in 6 weeks.

QUESTION: I do enjoy your column so much; it is usually the first thing I turn to when our paper arrives.

I was quite amused when I read in one of your recent columns that you used to have the job of filling the pickle dish with mustard pickles. It brought back memories of myself having the same job when I was young. My mother made the same kind of pickle, and I can remember that I used to eat just about as many as I put in the dish. They were so good.

I noticed one of your readers asked for a green tomato sauce. I use a recipe that makes a very tasty sauce. My family, my friends and relatives think so anyway. I will send it along, also my recipe for canned fruit salad; it is so handy to have in the winter months. I have never seen the recipe in print.

Green Tomato Chili Sauce

Five large green peppers, 10 large onions, 40 medium-size green tomatoes, 1¾ cups granulated sugar, 5 cups vinegar, 1-3 cup salt, ⅛ teaspoon cayenne, 1 teaspoon each ground cinnamon, allspice, cloves. Wash and trim vegetables, force through food chopper using medium blade. Add remaining ingredients and cook slowly until thick (about 40 minutes stirring often. Fill hot sterilized jars and seal at once. Makes about 6 pints.

Canned Green Salad

One-half 6-quart basket peaches, half 6-quart basket pears, 5 oranges, 1 grapefruit, 5 cups each water and sugar, 1 bottle maraschino cherries. Make a syrup of water and sugar. Peel and cut up peaches and pears as for salad. Cook in syrup. About 5 minutes before the peaches are done add oranges and grapefruit which have been peeled and cut up. The last minute add well-drained cherries, cut in half. Seal in sterilized jars while hot. Makes about 5 quarts.

This year I added a pint of canned cubed pineapple when I added the oranges and grapefruit. I am planning on doing several more quarts as we are very fond of it. When I open it I add bananas, California grapes and any other suitable fruit. I hope you will try this recipe if you do not already have it.—A Constant Reader.

ANSWER: Thank you so much. No, I did not have it. I am very glad to add it to my file. One of our readers asked for this very thing, and while I gave her the only canned fruit salad recipe I have I hope she sees this one—for I think it is better. Let me help you some time.

Arnold Gaebel Named Returning Officer

MARMORA, Oct. 20—(ENS)—Arnold Gaebel of Madoc has been appointed returning officer for East Hastings in the coming Ontario election and has opened an office in Madoc Canadian Legion hall.

The returning officer for West Hastings is "Sandy" Lummiss of Belleville.

MUTINY AT MOUNDSVILLE—Some of the 1,300 prisoners who mutinied at the West Virginia State Penitentiary, Moundsville, W. Va., fill the open yard where they were kept overnight by guards armed with machine guns. The men made three attempts to storm prison buildings before they went back to their cells, but all were repulsed by gunfire over their heads.

North Hastings WA's Hold Meet

BANCROFT, Oct. 20 (ENS) — North Hastings United Church Women's Associations held their fifth annual rally at Maynooth on Wednesday. Sessions were held both morning and afternoon with Mrs. William McCaw of the Maynooth association presiding. Mrs. H. Moore of The Ridge was secretary.

Registered at the morning session were 87 members representing Coe Hill, St. Olga, Glen Alda, Ormsby, The Ridge, Pine View Ridge, Bancroft, Lake St. Peter and Maynooth associations.

A welcome to the rally was extended by Mrs. William Davis of Maynooth, who drew attention to the new basement of the church, which the people of Maynooth and the surrounding communities had built and paid for during the past two years.

The St. Ola group led the devotional period during the morning session, with Mrs. Oscar Phillips, assisted by Mrs. Ross Sprackett and Mrs. Alex McKenzie, in charge. Mrs. Hiram Reid of The Ridge WA, aided by Mrs. Carson Henderson and Mrs. Andrew Campbell, led the devotional service during the afternoon session.

Devotional addresses were given by Mrs. W. Kingerley of Consecon and Mrs. H. Spratt of Lake St. Peter.

Mrs. Newell Broad of Madoc, speaking on behalf of the WMS work in the church, gave the detailed information on groups that might be formed to interest young people in missionary work.

An invitation was extended from the ladies of Bancroft to meet there next year. The executive for 1952 will be headed by Mrs. Emerson Laundry, president, and delegates from each of the associations.

A vote of thanks to the women of Maynooth charge, who catered for the noon banquet, was given by Mrs. Hazel Gunter. Miss M. M. Willows and Miss A. Coultes were especially commended.

Benedictions were pronounced by the Rev. W. Kingerley of Consecon, the Rev. J. R. Wheeler of Coe Hill and the Rev. Allan Brandon of Maynooth.

Honor Canadian Role In Atlantic Battle

LONDON — (CP). — The part played by the Royal Canadian Navy in the wartime battle of the Atlantic will be honored November 23 at a dinner marking the fourth annual re-union of the Western Approaches Command.

Organizers of the dinner say any eligible Canadian naval officer visiting Britain is welcome to attend.

Among the guests will be L. Dana Wilgress, Canadian High Commissioner in London, and Capt. O. C. S. Robertson, senior naval member of the Canadian Joint Staff, London.

In the Battle of the Atlantic the Canadian Navy used 14 destroyers, 69 frigates, 112 corvettes and thousands of minesweepers and smaller craft.

40 Attend Meeting Of Coldsprings YPU

COLDSPRINGS, Oct. 20. — (ENS)—A social evening was spent Thursday at the home of Ross Timlin, when Coldsprings YPU met for their regular meeting. Robert Turner, president, conducted a short worship service. Assisting him were Lois Snelgrove, Dorothea Bowman and Milton McIntosh. There were about 40 in attendance. After the worship service nine tables of progressive croquinole were played. High prizes were won by Lorene Timlin and Harold Taylor. Low prizes went to Ruth Fields, and Bill Little.

South Africans Facing Scarcity of Good Workers

JOHANNESBURGH. — (CP)— The Union of South Africa now is experiencing the most acute shortage of skilled workers in its history. With industry booming, immigration is barely keeping pace with a steady loss of trained men and women from the public services.

The shortage is reported in almost every phase of life but many employers have stopped notifying the Labor Department of vacancies because they know the department can offer little help. An official estimate placed the shortage of skilled workers at 10,000 men. In addition there are shortages of teachers, policemen, nurses, clerks, public servants, builders, typists, miners, and technicians.

National Registration?

The minister of posts and telegraphs, J. F. Naude, has canvassed the possibility of a national registration of manpower since the drain of men and women from South Africa's extensive public services to better-paying jobs outside has become serious.

"The commercial banks, insurance companies, commerce and industry should discourage the recruiting of employees from the public service," he said. "Unless something is done, they will find that the public services will not be able to fulfil their duties.

Various expedients have been adopted to overcome the more critical shortages. To stop the serious loss of soil conservation officers the government is revising the salaries paid professional men and women. This was not expected to be a decisive help however as private commerce and industry in the past have not hesitated to outbid the government scale in search for employees.

Acute Teacher Shortage

Provincial education authorities in the Transvaal introduced part-time and extra-mural study courses for would-be teachers, but young men and women all over South Africa show increasing reluctance to enter the teaching profession. The Transvaal is also relaxing its restrictions on employment of married women teachers.

The teacher problem is even worse in the Orange Free State, where there is demand for teachers for many new schools springing up in the booming new gold fields around Wikom and Odendaalsrus. As a relief measure this province is considering offering free training courses at the provincial university.

The South African government itself is considering a stream-lined public service, which would be smaller but better-paid and more efficient. So far however, this project hasn't produced anything concrete.

Straight From School

Commercial firms unable to get staffs in the cities are sending "recruiting officers" into the rural areas, often getting young people straight from school. But the process accelerates the big drift to the cities which is seriously reducing the population of the farm areas.

Employers declare that lowered efficiency is one result of the premium on labor, despite advances in starting salary scales. They say that younger workers knowing they could start in a new job tomorrow, are inclined to take things easy or else switch from job to job.

In view of various complaints that efficiency is declining in many trades the Labor Minister, Ben Schoesman, has led a campaign among employers to introduce an extensive system of incentive bonus payments for workers.

Utilities Office Keeps Warm Till Moving

Although the fires are out in the vacated section of the old city building at Simcoe and Water Streets, the Utilities Commission's staff are keeping warm from their own furnace. Their heating plant extended to the city treasurer's office for which the Commission collected a charge of $25 a month. That sum included the light bill.

Ross L. Dobbin, Utilities manager, told the Commission this week that the Commission's own office building at Aylmer and Dalhousie Streets should be completed early in January.

The brick walls are rising, frames of windows and rear door are in position. The front door frame has been received for placement when required.

Contracts Let

Contracts have been let for electric wiring, plumbing, heating and plastering. Tenders have been let for roofing and flushing. These contracts will be let shortly. Most of the electric fixtures have been delivered. The electric boiler and the propane-fired boiler are expected about Dec. 1. Provision is being made for temporary heating in the meantime.

The floor finish is to be asphalt tile throughout, excepting a public area in terrazzo.

Commission proposes to meter the water used in the city hall. If that goes through, it will be the first charge the council ever paid for water in its premises.

Lose Revenue

The Commission is not overlooking the loss of revenue from the block of houses the council demolished to clear the block for the city hall.

Recent work in the electric department of the Utilities included removal of 14 poles from streets being paved; erection of a new lighting circuit along the rear of the lots on the east side of Steele St., between Cameron and Riverside Streets.

A primary feeder was run to Cobourg Housing, west of High St. hill, to serve the houses completed this year. The lighting circuits on McDonnel St. from Monaghan Road to Cross St.; and on Monaghan Road from Cameron to Riverside Drive have been rebuilt.

Horsemeat Popular

HAMILTON, Oct. 20. (CP)—Horsemeat went on sale in Hamilton Friday. The manager of B. and G. Meats, Limited, said two large quarters sold quickly and clerks couldn't keep up with the demand. Prices vary from 65 cents a pound for tenderloin to 37 cents for stewing meat. A T-bone steak sells at 50 cents a pound.

Drop Flying Plan

OTTAWA, Oct. 20 (CP). — An immigration department official said Friday night the department's overseas offices have stopped booking air passages for Canadian immigrants because Trans-Canada Air Lines has a backlog which will keep it busy until the end of the year. "We're planning to maintain regular traffic however," the official said, using other means of transportation.

To Unveil Plaque

OTTAWA, Oct. 20 — (CP) — A bronze plaque will be unveiled on Sunday by Hon. Gaspard Fauteaux, lieutenant-governor of Quebec, to mark the residence where former Prime Minister Mackenzie King is said to have lived when he first came to Ottawa.

OBLIVIOUS TO the passage of United Nations and Communist delegates returning from an investigation of a hilltop strafing near Kaesong, two Korean women employ ancient flails to thresh much-needed grain. Responsibility for the strafing was acknowledged by the U.N. Commander, Gen. Matthew Ridgway. Identifiable among the U.S. representatives is Col. Don O. Darrow, who is wearing a light shirt and carrying a jacket on his arm.

For Parents Only

Get Behind United Nations

By NANCY CLEAVER

October twenty-fourth, United Nations Day, focuses the attention of the world on the UN, its purpose, its history, its achievements and its problems. But teaching boys and girls about the United Nations cannot be crowded into one day. It must be a continuous process in which both teachers and parents try to make the UN real to the younger generation.

Is there a United Nations flag owned by the officials in your village or town or city which will be flown on "UN Day"? There should be — and there are two Canadian firms which now have the right to manufacture this flag. Why not make a few inquiries and encourage the "town fathers" in their plans to make this special date significant?

Children love flags and every Canadian boy and girl should know the UN flag. On a blue background it carries the official emblem of the United Nations in white, which appears on both sides of the flag. A paper replica of this flag in blue and white, may be obtained from the headquarters in Ottawa of the United Nations Association of Canada.

The UN design of a polar world surrounded by a laurel wreath, represents "One world in peace and honor." There is no lettering on this flag because at least six different alphabets are used by the member nations of the UN. There is no religious symbol such as the cross on this flag because men of many faiths adhere to the ideal of the UN.

The UN flag was adopted in 1947 and was first flown on October 21st of that year simultaneously at the General Assembly Building at Flushing Meadows and over the Secretarial Building at Lake Success. The United Nations troops in Korea have been fighting under this flag.

It is flown from its own staff. The code followed in displaying a flag, in treating it with dignity, must be followed in flying the UN flag. It cannot be used for commercial purposes or to promote the sale of any article.

The United Nations acting together to preserve freedom is the one hope of liberty-loving countries. Fathers and mothers of teen agers who soon will be citizens, should all be familiar with the Charter of the United Nations and with the general organizational plan of the UN.

They should know something about the formation of the General Assembly, the Security Council, the Economic and Social Council, the Trusteeship Council and the International Court of Justice. These are the six principal bodies in the UN setup. They should also be acquainted with the various commissions such as the economic, the social and the commission on human rights. The work of the health, educational and cultural and other agencies should not be just names to them.

There are excellent pamphlets and booklets on the U.N. in the Public Library. One of the best publications is a book by Eleanor Roosevelt and Helen Ferris Tibbets called "Partners, United Nations and Youth To-Day" published by Doubleday and Co., Garden City, N.Y. The price in Canada is around three dollars and both the writing and the illustrations in this book are exceptionally fine. This is a splendid addition to any family library.

In the preamble of the Constitution of UNESCO (United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization) are these pointed words of Attlee, "Since wars begin in men's minds, it is in the minds of men that the defence of peace must be constructed." It is of vital importance that the ideals of the United Nations should become real to us and to our children.

Canada is the seventh largest contributor to the U.N. and is assessed 3.2 per cent. of UN expenses. We have a big stake in this world organization and we need to be more alert as to how UN money is being spent and what is being accomplished. Public interest as well as financial backing is necessary.

What are you doing as a Canadian and as a world citizen to support the United Nations Association of Canada? Are you talking about UN activities you read of in the papers or hear about on the radio in your home circle?

Are you a member of the UN Association of Canada. The UN is not "their" organization—it is your organization! Are you "pulling your weight" with the UN group in your area—or if there is no UN Association in your district, how about getting one started?

The dream of world brotherhood in practical terms must succeed in this century if we are to escape disaster. The UN deserves your support—be sure you give it whole heartedly!

Senators Approve Raising Pensions

OTTAWA, Oct. 20 — (CP) — Senator G. W. Gershaw (L, Alberta) said Friday in the Senate that he welcomed the announcement that the government intends to bring legislation at the current session to increase the basic rate of war veterans' pensions.

Continuing the throne-speech debate in the Upper Chamber, Senator Gershaw said pensions which may have been sufficient some years ago now were not adequate.

All persons on fixed incomes currently were having a tough time, but the ex-serviceman should be the last one to be asked to make additional sacrifices.

The throne-speech debate was adjourned by Senator Thomas Reid (L, British Columbia). The Senate recessed until Tuesday, Nov. 6.

First Ocean Service

TORONTO, Oct. 20. (CP)—The first British ocean service between Manchester, England, and Canadian Great Lake ports will start next spring, F. C. Thompson Co. Ltd., Ontario agents for Manchester Liners Ltd., announced Friday. Two 258-foot vessels now being built for the service at Manchester are expected to be delivered in April and May, 1952.

Four Children Given Prizes For Top Essays

Mayor Swanston presented four beaming school children cheques on Friday for their winning essays in a contest sponsored by the Directors of the Peterborough Exhibition. ➤➤

The set subject was "What I Learned At The Exhibition", and first prize of $25 went to Evelyn Hajnik, 13, a pupil of Grade 8, of St. John's school. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. John Hajnik, 159 Montgomery St.

Second prize, a cheque for $15 was awarded Nancy Armstrong, daughter of Mrs. J. Gordon Armstrong, 375 Albertus Ave. She is aged 12, and a Grade 8 pupil at St. Mary's school. Third prize of $10 went to Barbara Sucee, also of Grade 8, in the Prince of Wales school. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl R. Sucee, 159 Chamberalin St.

President Norman McConkey of the Fair Board congratulated the young essayists, as did Claire Collins, a director of the Exhibition. On behalf of his fellow director, Mr. Collins thanked the judges for their work and time they had generously given to reading the 50 essays submitted. The judges were Lilian M. Wesley, Mrs. Ross Matthews, Miss Alexandra Howson, Norman Crook, W. M. Roache and T. J. Allen.

The judges praised the essay written by Henry Todd, a grade 8 pupil of S.S. No. 14 Otonabee. They felt that although it featured the subject too restrictively, it had special merit. The directors decided to recognize this by awarding Henry Todd a cheque for $15 as a special distinction.

Belmont Native, Aged 74, Buried At Maple Grove

HAVELOCK, Oct. 20 (ENS).—The funeral of William Charles Gerow, 74, was held Friday afternoon. Service in the Curtis Funeral Home here was conducted by the Rev. W. J. Bingham of the Norwood Baptist Church. Burial was in Maple Grove Cemetery.

A native of Belmont Township, Mr. Gerow lived all his life in this district and was a son of Franklin Gerow and Hannah Kelsh. In religion he was a Baptist, and was a member of the Norwood LOL, under whose auspices the funeral was held. His death occurred suddenly on Wednesday night about 10 o'clock from a heart attack. He was twice married.

Surviving are his widow, formerly Mrs. Sarah Simpson of Norwood, whom he married in September, a son Howard, and a granddaughter Dianne Gerow of Toronto, a sister Mrs. Fay Quackenbush of Lakefield, and a brother Sherwood of South Lake. Henry Gerow of Norwood is a nephew.

52 New Homes Completed Early In Year

The Don Ephgrave houses are filling up the last of the vacant fields between Park St. and Monaghan Road south of Lansdowne Ave.

Fifty-two are expected to be completed by early in January. Purchasers have already moved into 12 houses on the new street Lloyd Ave. Thirty are being built on Ephgrave Boulevard. Of them 15 to 20 will be ready for occupants by Nov. 15.

These are brick houses built at a price for average home-seekers, and according to plans that provide for saving of space, labor and cost.

City council gave first readings Monday night to bylaws authorizing gravel-mulch top paving of the two new streets in this subdivision extending from Park St. to the border of Nashua Paper Company plant. It is the former property owned successively by Scott Lumber Co., and Canadian Ventilating Shades.

Reference to Nashua Paper raises a reminder that the only reserved green spot in that big area is the grand lawn of the factory. There are a few small open spaces still surviving, but the building development has been steadily advancing, filling street after street with new houses,—all of them tagged for tax paying.

City Engineer Chalmers has completed the making of those roads. It happens now and then that the works department proceeds into new construction obviously required and assured of approval. In this instance Lloyd St. houses were being occupied and the finished roadway was needed. So, the bylaw will have to overtake those two roads. Third reading is suspended until the documents comes back from the Department of Highways.

Fire Protection Demanded Of Seymour Twp.

CAMPBELLFORD, Oct. 20 — (ENS)—The Seymour council met in a special session on Tuesday evening, to consider the question of fire protection for township residents.

A number of ratepayers, mostly residents of the Veterans Land Act and wartime housing developments on the outskirts of the town were in attendance and demanded action. Council took no immediate action, however, but it did elect to send a delegation to meet with the Campbellford town council to see what arrangements can be made regarding some sort of protection.

The town has recently refused to allow its pumper to answer calls to the township because the township refuses to pay the cost of the trip. The township has also refused to provide any fire protection for residents. A few fires on the outskirts of the town in recent months have destroyed much property. Residents have become alarmed and are demanding action.

WELCOME IS BOISTEROUS — Police were helpless to hold back the enthusiastic crowds as the Royal couple visited Calgary Thursday on their tour of western Canada. Spectators burst through the cordon to the street before the procession with Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh and stood in the centre of the road.—(CP from Calgary Herald).

James Denike, president of the Colborne Liberal association also addressed the meeting.

Canada's Air Training Plan Not At Full Stride Yet

OTTAWA, Oct. 20 — (CP) — Canada's air training program is on its way but is not anywhere near full stride yet, a government spokesman indicated Friday.

Ralph Champney, parliamentary assistant to Defence Minister Claxton, entered the Commons' throne-speech debate to champion the government's defence policies in a period "which grows more perilous every day."

Replying in particular to charges by George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, the First World War veteran said Canada's forces have more than doubled in 2½ years, now have more than 84,000 men and are expanding their facilities rapidly.

If the full story could be told, he said, Canada's record in the field of weapons and equipment development would be shown to be a splendid one and one which was much better than many other countries.

The objective of the RCAF's air training scheme was to train 1,400 air crew a year for other Atlantic Pact powers plus 1,900 Canadians. So far between 600 and 700 Canadians had been trained and another 250 NATO aircrew had been trained or were being trained.

In addition, 4,000 ground crew have been trained.

Tremendous Expansion

A tremendous expansion in training facilities and aircraft procurement had been necessary. The program was started last year.

Mr. Campney said there are various types of military information which cannot be made known publicly, such as facts about air squadrons, because it could only help Russia check on "the effectiveness of their espionage system." But the Commons got all the information the Defence Department could give.

The forces now had 84,000 men and were making steady progress although there were no grounds for complacency. The air force had increased to 66, a boost of 20, the number of airfields and air crew schools in operation.

The army's expansion had reopened 12 camps, raising the total to 22. The navy now had 39 shore establishments going, an increase of seven over 1949.

Norwood WI Plans District Conference

NORWOOD, Oct. 20—(ENS)—October meeting of the Norwood Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Wm. Goodswan, with 16 members present and one visitor. Mrs. Fred Gardner read a poem, "Give Thanks". Arrangements were made for the district conference to be held in Havelock on October 23. It was decided to hold a tag day for the blind. On October 25 at 8 o'clock the ladies will entertain their husbands at a social evening. Mrs. Goodswan then displayed felt slippers, bags and toys and demonstrated how slippers were made.

Lunch was served by Mesdames Goodswan, Edmunds, Gill and Innes.

Horticultural Society To Present Awards

Horticultural Society meeting Monday, Oct. 22 in the YWCA ends a long and profitable season in beautification.

It will be the occasion of honoring the winners of various competitions: lawns and gardens, scenic drive, industrial premises, city school, and the added rural school winner, S.S. No. 6, Dummer, who have carried off a provincial trophy.

This school is the first winner in East Peterborough in competition with the other rural schools of the province.

Horticutural secretary W. C. Wilks recalls that Bridgenorth and Lakehurst in Peterborough West were provincial winners during R. F. Downey's inspectorate.

Minstrel Show Staged By Bridgenorth H & S

BRIDGENORTH, Oct. 20 (ENS) —Opening night of the Polka Dot minstrel show sponsored by Bridgenorth Home and School Association was welcomed by a full house Thursday night.

Under the direction of Mrs. Ray Harding, the cast, drawn from grades 6, 7 and 8 of the Public School, performed their parts with ease and skill. Interlocutor was their principal, Rae Brownsell.

The costumes, not elaborately made, were colorful. Red bandannas, scarves and red bow ties with huge white polka dots made a colorful display against the black faces and white shirts and blouses. End men were dressed in plaid shirts,

Piano accompaniment was played by Mrs. Clayton Telford. The show is to be staged tonight for the second and last time.

Three Killed On Curve

COBDEN, Ont., Oct. 20. (CP)—Three persons were killed Friday night when an automobile carrying six people went out of control while rounding a curve and struck a hydro pole. Two of the victims were young girls hitchhiking home from a football game at Pembroke, 20 miles northwest of here. Dead are Clair Zraitski and Fay Sullivan, both 15 and of Renfrew, Ont., and Wlodzimierz Stafinkiewicz, 21, of La Cave, Que.

To Open Plant

Ottawa Now To Have Control Of Highway Traffic As 9 Judges Upset Decision

OTTAWA, Oct. 22—(CP)—The Supreme Court of Canada today unanimously ruled that provinces cannot constitutionally control interprovincial and international highway traffic. The judgment, upsetting a New Brunswick Supreme Court decision, virtually assured the Federal government that it now may obtain exclusive control over the growing traffic between provinces and between Canada and the United States. In particular the court found that New Brunswick had no right or power to prevent MacKenzie Coach Lines of Lewiston, Me., from picking up or dropping off bus passengers at New Brunswick points on its route from Boston to Halifax and Glace Bay, N.S.

Go To Privy Council

Since court action in the case was launched before the end of 1949, the decision of the Supreme Court of Canada may be appealed by the province to the judicial committee of the Imperial Privy Council.

The issue has been a long time in dispute, with the provinces claiming that motor truck, busline and other forms of highway traffic are a matter for provincial jurisdiction and that the federal government cannot interfere. The federal government claimed that such jurisdiction rightly belongs to Ottawa.

All nine justices sat in on the case when argument was heard before the Supreme Court of Canada last February. Argument centred mainly on the interpretation of Section 92, 10 (a) of the British North America Act, on which Canada's constitution is based.

No Authorization

Chief Justice Thibeaudeau Rinfret said:

New Brunswick Motor Carrier Act on which the province based its restraint against the Mackenzie Company did not specifically authorize the province to make such a restraint, and therefore "the attempt to restrict them in the order made by the Motor Carrier Board is illegal and ultra vires."

"Legislation adopted by the the legislature of New Brunswick must necessarily be understood to be limited to the territory of New Brunswick as that legislature could not possibly be considered as having attempted to legislate upon operations outside the province."

4 Men Feared Lost In Trek From Wawa Turn Up Safe And Well 70 Miles From Goal

SAULT STE. MARIE, Oct. 22 — (CP). — Four men feared lost on an overland trek from Wawa, 185 miles north of here, to Montreal River, 70 miles to the south, have radioed they are safe and well and within striking distance of their goal which they expect to reach Thursday.

The quartette, led by guide Paul Villeneuve, began their 70-mile march through the wilds to publicize demands by the Wawa area for a highway outlet. They began their hike two weeks ago.

Last week wet and freezing weather and failuse of their portable radio slowed them down. For a while it was feared that they were lost and an aerial search was begun. However, they radioed Sunday that they were only 27 miles from their destination.

A banquet in Sault Ste. Marie will mark the completion of their trek following a Montreal River reception.

Besides guide Paul Villeneuve, the party includes Ed Nyman, George Kimbal, and Derek Baker. All are from Wawa.

Port Hope Soldier Awarded Military Medal For Bravery

OTTAWA, Oct. 22. (CP)—Two Canadians have been awarded Military Medals for gallantry in action during heavy fighting in Korea two months ago. A third Canadian won a Mention in Dispatches. The medals went to Pte. Gordon G. Rowden, 24, of Port Hope, and Pte. Curtis O. Bell, 25, of Sussex, NB. Mentioned in dispatches was Cpl. Paul F. Gingras, 28, of Eastview.

The men, all members of the 2nd Battalion of the Royal Canadian Regiment, are still in Korea, and probably will receive the ribbons for their awards shortly from Brig. J. M. Rockingham, commander of the 25th Canadian Infantry Brigade.

Rowden and Bell, both Bren gunners, won their awards during an attack north of the Imjim River August 15.

Although rendered unconscious by an enemy bullet which creased his forehead early in the action, Rowden, on recovering, dressed his wound, refused to be evacuated and joined his comrades in the forefront of the assault.

Inspiration To Company

His citation added: "In the last stages of the attack he moved with the leading troops, firing from the hip and engaging enemy dugouts with great coolness and accuracy. He showed no thought either for his wound or the enemy small arms fire and grenades as he moved calmly into and through the enemy positions.

"His actions were an inspiration to his platoon and company. He accounted for a number of the 10 enemy dead found on the position on its capture. Throughout this brief operation Pte. Rowden's conduct exemplified the very best expected of an infantry soldier. He showed exceptional bravery, determination and effi-

Staid Victoria Lets Loose On Royal Visit

VICTORIA, BC, Oct. 22 (CP)—Prim old Victoria showed them she can still kick up her heels.

The decorous British Columbia capital put aside the lavender and old lace yesterday to steam things up in a noisy welcome for Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip. It was the city's liveliest day in many a year.

Whistles tooted as the Royal pair came ashore from Vancouver. Indians paddling war canoes kept pace with HMCS Crusader carrying them. The legislative building was aglow with thousands of bulbs outlining its shape. The city generally was lit up.

And some 15,000 people were on hand, lining the streets near the waterfront and on the way to government house, as the pair disembarked and drove out to be overnight guests of Lieutenant-Governor Clarence Wallace. They let fly with more noise than Victario heard even on the 1939 Royal visit.

Boudreau New Red Sox Pilot

BOSTON, Oct. 22 — (AP). — The Red Sox appointed a new manager today— Lou Boudreau, who joined the Sox last spring after his release as Cleveland manager. He succeeds Steve O'Neill.

Boudreau, 34, wass igned to a two-year contract.

O'Neill, who was a coach at Cleveland when Boudreau led the Indians to the world baseball championship in 1948, will continue in the Sox organization's farm system, it was announced.

Boudreau enjoyed his greatest season in 1948 when he batted .355 and became the American League's most valuable player while directing the Indians to the pennant. Cleveland won the flag after the American League's only playoff and went on to whip the Boston Braves in the World Series.

Financial terms of his new contract as manager were not made known.

Prospectors Flood New Brunswick Area

SAINT JOHN, NB, Oct. 22 — (CP). — "There's a prospector behind every tree in Northern New Brunswick — and by next spring there will probably be one behind every tree branch."

That's the way W. A. Moore, Deputy Minister of New Brunswick's Department of Industry and Development, describes the unprecedented race to uncover mineral wealth in this province.

The prespectors hope to find worthwhile deposits of lead, zinc, copper and silver, all of which have been discovered on the southern shore of the Bay of Chaleur, but are also checking traces of gold and iron ore.

Iron Curtain Lures Canadian

OTTAWA, Oct. 22 (CP)—Eric Adams, one of those acquitted in Canada's 1946 spy trials, has been behind the Iron Curtain for some months with his family, it was learned today.

Adams established a private firm as a consulting engineer in Montreal after his acquittal but left Canada a few months ago for Prague, Czechoslovakia, with his wife and children.

It is not known here whether he intends to return to Canada.

Adams was charged with conspiring to communicate confidential information for Russia while he was an employees of the Bank of Canada.

Earthquakes Continue On Formosa Island

TAIPEH, Formosa, Oct. 23 — (Tuesday) — (AP)—Earthquakes, which have killed at least 32 persons and injured 100 or more, shook this Chinese Nationalist island for the second successive day today.

Thousands of persons ran excitedly into the streets as the latest shock came shortly after midnight.

Other thousands, sleeping on the ground because their homes were damaged in the first series of quakes Monday, were awakened by the tremor at 12:05 am.

The first occurred at 5:40 am Monday, and others came throughout Monday and Monday night.

RCAF Run Ragged Keeping Princess' Standard Flying

VANCOUVER, Oct. 21—(CP)—Protocal demands them, the R.C.A.F. carries them and the army sees that they are flown in the proper places, at the proper levels, on the proper sized poles.

Princess Elizabeth's own standard must be flown in front of any building she enters.

Fifteen of these standards, eight large, seven small, were flown into Vancouver days ahead of the royal visit.

Two R.C.A.F. planes are detailed to carry the flags to the centres the Princess is scheduled to visit.

They leap-frog across the continent to make sure there is no delay or mishap. A duplicate set of flags is carried in each plane.

The only flag which can be flown at the same level as the Princess' standard is the Canadian ensign.

Army officials check the royal timetable, ascertain what buildings the royal couple will enter and then check flagpoles.

A pole less than 40 feet high takes the smaller standard, over 40 feet, the larger.

The standards, 12 by six feet for the larger and nine by four feet for the smaller, are equal as far as protocol is concerned.

Three poles had to be built here. Two buildings had no pole. One pole was rotten.

At each building, a soldier is posted to make sure the standard is raised and lowered when the Princess enters and leaves.

This meant a soldier on duty all night Saturday at the Canadian Pacific Railway depot while the Royal couple slept in their priyate coach.

Oppose Red Seizure Of German Village

BERLIN, Oct. 22 — (AP). — The Western Allies reached a united decision today to oppose the East German seizure of the village of Steinstuecken on the United States sector border of Berlin.

Maj.-Gen. Lemuel Mathewson, US Commandant, said the British and French in a three-power parley had supported his protest to the Russians.

The Americans have demanded that the Soviet Control Commission nullify the action of their East German police and restore Steinstuecken to its original status. The village, in somewhat of a no-man's land directly on the Soviet-American frontier, has been functioning as part of West Berlin since 1945.

Eastern authorities seized control of it last week.

Tanks Enter Kumsong For 2nd Time

Chinese Soldiers Disappear On Central Front

US EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Oct. 22—(AP) — United States tanks rumbled into flaming Kumsong today for the second time in three days as Chinese retreated before advancing Allied infantrymen.

For four hours the tanks shot up the former Communist stronghold on the central front. Then they lumbered back through mud and heavy mortar fire to their own lines.

Allied infantrymen, striking out of the fog, overran two hill masses including the highest yet taken on the 15-mile Kumsong front.

The Reds put up a hot fight on one ridgeline for a little while. Then they withdrew, and the United Nations infantrymen advanced unopposed through the mud.

Despite the soggy going, the advance was so rapid engineers had a hard time keeping up with the infantrymen.

Forty-two Chinese didn't bother to retreat. They surrendered.

A front-line officer estimated Red casualties in the 10-day offensive would exceed 15,000.

Fighting quieted all along the damp front lines in Korea as liaison officers completed arrangements for resuming truce talks.

There was no break in the air and sea action. The air over northwest Korea flamed with six Jet battles.

Returning American pilots reported they probably destroyed two Russian-type Mig-15 Jets and damaged another. The U.S. fifth air force said all American planes returned safely.

The two probables were reported after a 20-minute battle Monday afternoon between 35 American F-86 Sabre Jets and more than 50 Migs. The damaged Mig was hit in a fight between 20 Migs and nine F-84 Thunderjets.

Dockers' Strike Cripples Piers

NEW YORK, Oct. 22 (AP) — The crippling eight-day strike of rebel longshoremen spread today to Staten Island piers. A local union president ordered his dockers not to report for work.

Leaders of the wildcat walkout vowed to tie up every pier in the world's greatest port by nightfall.

The Staten Island stoppage immediately threatened delay in the movement of military cargoes and personnel abroad.

The spreading walkout threatened to halt all defence shipments for Korea and other military outposts passing through this two-state harbor.

While a federal mediation panel prepared to take up the contract dispute today, New York City's police force made special arrangements to cope with any violence that might break out.

It was estimated that almost 100 piers and 60 ships were hit by the strike up to Sunday night. The idle docks include army installations in Brooklyn and Jersey City, NJ.

Gales, High Seas Lash British Coasts

LONDON, Oct. 22 (Reuters) — Wild gales and high seas lashed Britain's east and west coasts today, bringing distress to at least three vessels and, it was feared, taking at least six lives. It marked the opening of wintry weather after a warm and sunny Indian summer.

Six lives were feared lost when the little 203-ton Pandora foundered in a 60-mile-an-hour northeasterly gale off the Yorkshire coast.

Another British vessel, the 2,866-ton collier Gripfast, which went to the aid of the Pandora, got into difficulties herself. Her holds were flooded and a tug stood by.

ENVOY TO VATICAN — Truman sparked a wave of protest after naming Gen. Mark Clark as US Ambassador to the Vatican.

Many Protest Naming Clark Vatican Envoy

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22 (AP)— A wave of protest against President Truman's decision to enter regular diplomatic relations with the Vatican promised today to touch off a heated battle when Congress reconvenes.

There was little if any criticism of the President's selection of Gen. Mark Clark as ambassador to the Roman Catholic church state. The protests, some of them from the pulpit, were from Protestants who argued the establishment of diplomatic relations violates the constitutional injunction that church and state shall be separate.

The United States has never had a full ambassador at the Vatican, although Myron C. Taylor served there as personal representative of presidents Roosevelt and Truman from 1950 until last Jan. 18, when he resigned.

Selects Clark

Late Saturday Truman announced that he had selected Clark, an Episcopalian who now is commander of army field forces, to be ambassador. A White House statement said the President felt "the purpose of diplomacy and humanitarianism will be served" and added that direct relations with the Vatican will help co-ordinate a common fight against Communism.

The White House statement noted that 37 other countries maintain diplomatic representatives at the Vatican.

Unofficial comment from the Vatican indicated delight at Truman's move. That was the reaction of Roman Catholic churchmen in the United States.

Francis Cardinal Spellman of New York said the Vatican and the US hold "identical objectives of peace."

Wyse Case Ready To Be Sent To Jury

PEMBROKE, Oct. 22 (CP) — The case of Lloyd Robert Wyse, 35-year-old Golden Lake plumber charged with the bludgeon-murder of 51-year-old Lloyd Barber, Killaloe councillor and taxi operator, is expected to go to a Supreme Court jury Tuesday.

Evidence of 48 witnesses was completed today and special Crown Prosecutor E. D. Wilkins of Sudbury, and defence council James Maloney of Renfrew, began their summary arguments.

Inspector T. R. Wright of the Ontario Provincial Police, told the court that no fingerprints of the accused had been found in the Barber home at Killaloe where the councillor's body, stabbed 13 times, was found in a bathroom last April.

In addition, national research council textile experts had not been able to say definitely that the blue serge vest Inspector Wright had found in the Barber home had come from the same piece of cloth as the blue serge coat and truosers found in Wyse's possession when he was arrested later at Hamilton.

Fail to Report

MANILA, Oct. 22 — (AP). — Nearly half the 8,000 Philippines army reservicts called to active duty Thursday have failed to report, a National Defence Department spokesman said today. The reserves are to be given a one-month refresher course then attached to regular army units for duty at the November 13 election.

Truce Talks Ready Start Again

Allied Command Ratifies Terms, Waiting Red Action

MUNSAN, Korea, Oct. 23 — (TUESDAY)—(AP) — Everything was set today to resume Korean truce talks as soon as Communist negotiators ratify a security agreement.

Allied and Communist liaison officers completed the pact Monday, detailing ground rules for renewing armistice negotiations after a two-month break. The United Nations command promptly ratified it and called on the Reds to reopen talks "without further delay."

The Reds didn't answer Monday.

Brig.-Gen. William P. Nuckols, UN command spokesman, said if the Red answer is received Tuesday morning a full-scale negotiation session may be called for the afternoon.

The general view in this allied peace camp was that truce talks will be under way again by Wednesday, at the latest.

Start Over Again

The two five-man negotiating committees will meet in a faded yellow tent at Panmunjom, midway between opposing front lines. They will take up right where they left off at Kaesong—on the question of where to create a demilitarized zone for the armistice. The Reds suspended the Kaesong talks August 23. They charged the Allies bombed the Kaesong neutral zone the day before, but the Allies denied the charge.

Complete Arrangements

UN and Communist liaison officers completed their arrangements for renewal of negotiations by signing an eight-point security pact at 10:45 am Monday.

Three hours and 20 minutes later the UN ratification was delivered to the Reds at Panmunjom.

It called on the Communists to renew truce talks without further delay.

Vatican Plans To Have Fleet

VATICAN CITY, Oct. 22—(AP) —The Vatican—with no seaport or air field—plans to have a fleet and maybe an air flotilla.

The Holy See in a decree Sunday announced its participation in an international convention covering ocean fleets for states which have no seaports.

The decree did not specify how many ships the Vatican intends to build or buy or what size or type they will be.

The vessels, the decree said, will fly the Vatican flag and will have civilian commanders. The ships' chaplains will be second in command.

A Vatican source said the Holy See also is considering establishing an airport. To date the Vatican has owned no planes, he said, because of lack of landing space on the Papal state's 108 acres.

Do Best For Duke

VICTORIA, BC, Oct. 22 — (CP)—If the Duke of Edinburgh doesn't catch any fish on Vancouver Island, it won't be the fault of the British Columbia government. The sport-loving Prince has been given a fine fishing rod and every conceivable piece of gear necessary to snag the big ones. The rod and all the latest equipment—described as a fisherman's dream—is at Government House.

Plane Burns Trio Has Narrow Escape

TORONTO, Oct. 22 (CP). — Three Americans escaped death Sunday night when their plane crashed and burned near suburban Richmond Hill. None was injured.

On a flight from Toledo, O., to Toronto, the aircraft ran out of fuel and crash-landed in the dark 15 miles north of here. After forcing their way from the burning wreckage, the three men spent the night huddled about a small fire near the wreck.

Pilot of the plane was Luther Moore of Lexington, Ky. His two passengers were A. W. Lytle, 45, Harrison, O., vice-president of the Midland Coal Corporation, and Douglas Powell, 47, of Fort Thomas, Ky., assistant sales manager of the company.

Powell said the auxiliary tank was ignored when the plane was refuelled at Toledo. First knowledge that they were out of gas came when Moore attempted to switch over to the spare tank.

Then he headed out over open country.

As the plane crash-landed it caught fire. The three tried to get out, but the escape hatches and doors were jammed. Powell tore some steel bars from a window and Lytle smashed the glass with his foot. They crawled through the small opening.

The three then decided to stay by the wreckage and lighting a small fire, huddled about it until morning.

Early today they reached a road and were picked up by a passing car and given a ride to Malton, 18 miles northwest of here.

The five-passenger Beechcraft Bonanza left Lexington Sunday, stopped for an hour at Toledo, Ohio, then took off on what normally is a two-hour flight to Malton. Distress signals were flashed as it crossed Lake Erie, then radio contact was lost.

The plane first was thought to have crashed in Southwestern Ontario's farming area over which it passed early Sunday evening. Police found the wrecked aircraft this morning on the outskirts of Richmond Hill, 15 miles north of Toronto.

Masses Of Rock Fall, Swallow Village

ROME, Oct. 22—(Reuters)—Masses of rock and earth tumbling down a mountain pass in Sardinia have swallowed part of the village of Osini and today threatened to bury the rest.

Its 1,500 inhabitants fled from their homes Sunday and spent the night on the open mountainside. Torrential rain loosed the landslide.

Downpours over much of Italy have caused about 100 deaths and great damage.

Cruiser Liverpool Ordered To Trieste, On Call For Canal

CAIRO, Oct. 22 — (AP) — Britain moved fresh troops into the hotly-disputed Suez Canal zone today as Cairo newspapers reported a guerrilla underground was forming to drive Britain out of Egypt.

A British military spokesman announced that the 1st Battalion of the Cheshire Regiment arrived Sunday night from Cyprus to swell British forces holding the vital 104-mile east-west water link.

Egypt's government, meanwhile, was reported to be moving toward general mobilization on a war footing. The government also made public a note charging Britain's actions in the Suez area looked as if Britain was "moving in to conquer the country."

British warships were guarding both ends of the canal and more troops were on the way to strengthen British control of the gateway to the Orient.

About 3,000 men of the 19th infantry brigade will be flown from Britain to the Suez canal zone in the near future, an air ministry spokesman said today.

At the same time it was announced the cruiser Liverpool has been ordered to sail to Tripoli, where she will be on instant notice to proceed to Egypt, a Royal Navy spokesman said today.

The minelayer Maxman and the tank landing ship Striker are already at Tripoli, and also are believed standing by to transport army stores and troop contingents to Egypt.

Formation of the anti-British underground, similar to Jewish forces which fought Britain in Palestine, was reported in the pro-Government newspaper Al Misri and in the leftist weekly Al Gomhour Al Misri.

Plant Explosion Injures Seven

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Oct. 22 (CP)—An explosion at the Canadian Carborundum Co. plant Sunday sent seven men to hospital. Four of the workers were treated for minor injuries and later allowed to go home.

Pat Gallagher, 54, William Kostuk, 22, and Ed Lonergran, 32, were burned about the hands, face and upper part of their bodies when flying dust, dirt and molten metal hit them.

Officials say the explosion was caused by molten aluminum oxide in a mould hooked to a crane. The hook slipped and the mould spilled over a wet floor which resulted in an explosion.

The blast blew out several sections of corrugated iron from the factory, causing several thousand dollars damage.

No Excitement Over This Explosion

Believe US Has Developed Baby A-Bomb

LAS VEGAS, Nev., Oct. 22 — (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission announced that it set off a nuclear explosion at its Yucca Flat test site shortly after 6 a.m. PST (9 a.m. EST) today. It was not visible nor was it felt in Las Vegas, 75 miles away.

It was the sixth atomic blast in Nevada. Five others were set off at the AEC proving ground near here last winter.

The AEC made only this statement:

"One of the nuclear detonations announced by the Atomic Energy Commission on Aug. 28 was held this morning at the Nevada test site."

An AEC spokesman confirmed that the shot was made from the top of a 100-foot steel tower, similar to the structures used in the original A-bomb blast at Almagordo, NM. in 1945, and also later at Eniwtok in the Pacific.

Smaller Weapon

The absence of any flash would seem to confirm speculation that the AEC has developed a smaller nuclear weapon. Speculation on such weapons has included artillery-type shells and guided missiles with atomic warheads.

This, however, was a stationary or fixed-point detonation and would inficate that the atomic scientists have developed what might be termed a baby A-bomb.

A press observer at Cactus Springs, about 35 air miles from the test site, said that a brief flash was barely noticeable in the bright early morning sunlight.

But to the small clumps of observers on Las Vegas street corners there was not even a flicker on the sunlit trees.

As far as is known, no troops were involved in the detonation today. Approximately 5,000 troops including a 1,000-man combat team, are at Camp Desert Rock, awaiting participation in atomic warfare manoeuvres.

Further Research

Presumably the AEC used today's explosion for further, research into radioactivity and perhaps its effect on animals and structures. It was disclosed last week that a number of goats, rats and dogs were placed within range of the blast, some of them inside army vehicles.

Unofficially, today's was the world's 20th atomic explosion. In war and peace the United States has acknowledged setting off 13 of them before mid-Pacific tests at Eniwetok last summer. The AEC never announced the number at that time but unofficial sources put it at four.

Russia has exploded the other two, the second announced only two weeks ago.

Betty Isaac Wins Speaking Award In Hamilton Twp.

COLDSPRINGS, Oct. 22 (ENS) —The Hamilton Township public speaking contest was held Friday night in the Township Hall at Coldsprings. There was a large crowd in attendance. Betty Isaac of Harwood won first prize on her oration of "A Young Citizen and His Flag."

Patricia Zufelt

Second prize went to Patricia Zufelt, also of Harwood, who spoke on "Keeping House in Korea."

Christine Mulhall of Baltimore won third prize speaking on "Gardening." There were nine contestants. Clarence Willis, chairman of the Northumberland Trustees' and Ratepayers' Association, presided.

Earl Drope of Harwood addressed the judges of the contest at the opening of the meeting.

The Program

John Barrett of Plainville sang "Oh, What a Beautiful Morning." Mr. William Little, Coldsprings school teacher, was the pianist for the evening.

Donald Harris, Coldsprings, gave two piano solos, and a quartette from Coldsprings School, composed of Jean Bowman, Nadene Morrison, Jean Turner, and Kathryn Harper, sang "We Merrily Go to the Fair."

R. D. P. Davidson of Camborne and Mrs. Ruby Meggs, of Gore's Landing, spoke briefly to the pupils, their parents, and teachers. Clarence Willis presented the Fraser Trophy to the first prize winer, Betty Isaac, on behalf of the trustees and ratepayers of Hamilton Township..

The Hamilton Township Cup was presented to the second prize winner, Patricia Zufelt, by Councillar Melville Sandercock.

The third prize to Christine Mulhall was the Township Officials Cup presented by Earl Drope. All the contestants were presented with books. The winner will compete at the county speaking contest.

Judges were Mrs. Graydon McIntosh, Mrs. Orville McClelland, Mrs. Arthur Robertson, Mrs. Ernest Holdsworth, and M. F. Ames.

SET TOBACCO PRICE—The market appraisal committee of the Flue-Cured Tobacco Marketing Association this week reached an agreement with tobacco buyers on a minimum average price of 44.5 cents a pound for this year's crop. This price, highest in history, is up a half-cent from last year's price. Seen at the conclusion of the price session are, left to right: Lloyd Grant, Aylmer, Ont., grower-director; Michael DeMaitre, Tillsonburg, Ont., grower-director; N. P. Lockwood, Kingsville, Ont., buyer-director; Fred Cunningham, Windham Centre, grower-director; F. R. Gregory, Leamington, Ont., chairman of the board; E. D. Bell's citation said his actions enable C Company of the Royal Canadian Regiment to withdraw in comparative safety.

Despite the fact that his post was exposed, he continued to fire magazine after magazine at the enemy, and it is considered that his fire played a most important role in enabling C Company to withdraw without a casualty.

Stock Market Prices Decline Steadily

TORONTO Oct. 22 (CP). — Stock market prices declined steadily today in early afternoon dealings. A brief opening industrial rally faded rapidly.

Trading was at the lowest pace in about two months. Volume for the first three hours was 1,708,000 shares.

Steels, banks and retail stores weakened. Papers, utilities, liquors, refining oils and miscellaneous industrials dipped sharply.

Base metal leaders posted losses ranging from fractions to the $6 drop of Consolidated Smelters. Falconbridge, Hudson Bay, International Nickel, Pend Oreille and Waite Amulet slipped. Anacon Lead, East Sullivan, Mackeno, New Calumet, Sherritt-Gordon and United Asbestos showed losses to about 25 cents.

Western oils showed 44 declines to three advances. Calvan Consolidated, Canadian Collieries, Jupiter, Federated Petroleum, Selburn and Western Homestead recorded losses to 25 cents.

Senior golds weakened. Giant Yellowknife, Hollinger, Malartic, McIntyre and Wright-Hargreaves slipped fractions. Juniors weakened while Prospects dipped sharply and holding companies turned mixed.

MAIN ST. TOPICS

SCRAP METAL STOLEN

Scrap batteries and a heater were stolen Wednesday night from H. Albert and Co., Scrap Metals, 347 Bethune St., not from Peterborough Metal Company, 256 Simcoe St., as reported earlier.

STEAL TRAILER WHEELS

Provincial Police are looking for the thief or thieves that took the two rear wheels off a car trailer owned by Gordon Powell, 324 Charlotte St. The trailer, used to haul odds and ends to the Powell summer cottage, was left up at the Clear Lake cottage several weeks ago. When Mr. and Mrs. Powell motored up there Sunday they noticed the theft.

TWO MINOR ACCIDENTS

A car driven by Joe Sullivan, RR 8 Peterborough, Sunday night was in collision with another eastbound car on Highway 7, five and a half miles east of Peterborough. Mrs. M. Sproating, Ottawa, told OPP Constable Russ Pollard that she didn't see Sullivan signal for a left turn. When she attempted to pass, the cars collided causing $200 to the Sproating vehicle and $10 to Sullivan's. The second sideswipe collision was on Highway 28 south when R. D. Fuller, Aylmer St., swung left to pass the car of R. Robbins, Wolfe St., just ahead of him. At the same time Robbins also swung out to pass a third vehicle and the two cars came together causing minor damage.

Dollar Down

MONTREAL, Oct. 22 (CP) — The market rate for United States funds as reported by the Bank of Canada at noon today, EST, was $1.04 17/32. Saturday's closing rate was $1.04 23/32.

The pound sterling was $2.92-11/16, against $2.93 3/16 Saturday.

Church Roof Falls, 9 Die

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Oct. 22 (AP)—The heavy arched roof of San Juan Evangelista church gave way suddenly Sunday and collapsed on a class of children taking instruction for communion. At least nine children and adults were killed and more than 25 seriously injured.

About 400 persons jammed the Roman Catholic church, one of the oldest in the city's port area.

Witnesses said there was no warning as the roof suddenly sagged and then crashed, crushing the children with falling stone and timbers. Rescue squads hurried the task of removing debris from around the altar where the main section of the roof fell.

Church officials said the structure had been undergoing repairs but expressed the belief that vibrations from heavy pneumatic drills used in recent street repairs may have contributed to the accident by weakening the foundations.

Make New Attempt For Atomic Control

UNITED NATIONS, NY, Oct. 22 (CP)—Another attempt to set up international control of atomic energy is scheduled for the coming United Nations Assembly—this time with a couple of new angles on the tough old problem.

The sixth assembly opening Nov. 6 will have a report from the "committee of 12," which includes Canada, to merge the Security Council's Atomic Energy Commission and its conventional arms commission. Canada sits in on all UN atomic groups because of the Dominion's contributions to development of the uses of atomic energy.

This merger proposal along with Prime Minister Stalin's recent announcement of the explosion of an atomic bomb in Russia, will provide some new incentive to solve the question which is regarded in some quarters as decisive to the fate of present-day civilization.

Experts Pick Conservatives To Win Election

LONDON, Oct. 22 — (CP). — Four top men from Fleet Street sized up the general election campaign today, and all forecasts favored a Conservative victory in Thursday's polling.

Only David Low, famed cartoonist of the Labor Daily Herald, declined to be drawn into the guessing game. Lou said he is not so sure about the reliability of the various polls, which now give the Tories an edge over Labor.

The other opinions, expressed at a Comomnwealth correspondenpts' luncheon, were:

John Gordon, editor of the right-wing Sunday Express: "A Conservative landslide is possible . . . I think there will be a great change, definite and complete."

R. J. Cruikshank, editor of the Liberal News Chronicle: "The Conservatives may well have a majority up to 10 seats . . . . . but the campaign has a queer sense of the incalculable."

Arthur Christiansen, editor of the right-wing Daily Express: "I attended an (Express) staff conference this morning . . . . . After averaging the predictions of the staff, it may be a Conservative majority of 44."

The oposing view was expressed by Protestants. Dr. Edward H. Pruden, Truman's own pastor at the First Baptist Church here said in a sermon Sunday: "I did my utmost to point out the great dangers which seemed to me to lie" in the President's move.

"Between now and the reconvening of Congress in January," Dr. Pruden said, "every citizen who shares my views must use all honorable means to persuade the members of the Senate to refuse confirmation of this nomination."

armed forces in Egypt."

The daily Al Misri reported that Gen. Aziz El Masry Pasha had been asked to command the Egyptian "liberation legions." Masry Pasha was commander in chief of the Egyptian army before the Second World War and during the war was imprisoned by British authorities, who charged him with pro-Axis sympathies.

A War Office announcement in London Saturday said Britain had pulled out the entire Cyprus garrison—possibly 5,000 men—for transit to Egypt.

The announcement added that 4,000 men of the 19th Infantry Brigade in Britain was being put on the alert for airlifting to the tense canal zone and the Middle East, presumably Cyprus.

Mobilization Order

Cairo newspapers reported a general mobilization order has been approved by the Egyptian Supreme Court. The next step would be parliamentary approval, providing also for establishment of a high council of war.

The bill calls for a general rallying of manpower for military and industrial production and for organization of communications.

The Egyptian note, originally delivered last Thursday, demanded that British troops "evacuate all places they have occupied unrightfully and without reason in cities and other areas of the Suez Canal zone."

British forces have sealed off the canal zone. They guard the two entrances to it and control key spots along the waterway.

The note also cited cases in which British soldiers were accused of "murder, cruelty and robbery," and declared Egypt will hold Britain responsible for any "grave results."

British officials acknowledged Sunday night that the 8,000-ton cruiser Gambia is at Port Said, on the Mediterranean end of the canal. They declined, however, to talk about two warships that arrived from the Persian Gulf last week at the canal's south end.

An Associated Press reporter in the canal zone saw two British destroyers there Saturday.

Fears Reprisal From Prisoners

SUDBURY, Oct. 22— (CP) — William Nesith said Saturday he feared reprisal by "some of the tough characters" at Burwash prison farm after he shot and killed an escaped Burwash prisoner. He refused to let photographers take his picture.

The 35-year-old farmer killed G. Prise, 23, New Westminster, B.C., with one blast of a shotgun Friday night after he dsiiscovered Prise and another escaped prisoner in the basement of his home.

The other man, Edward Gagnon, 23, of Ottawa, was the object of a police hunt today in the area surrounding Nesith's farm three miles north of Burwash.

Prise and Gagnon escaped from a work party at the prison, 30 miles south of here, Thursday morning.

Round of Functions

Elizabeth and Philip spent a quiet night with the Lieutenant-Governor and today they start off a round of functions in the capital, to be followed by a holiday at Eagle's Crest, a resort 130 miles north of here. It will be their first holiday since arriving in Canada Oct. 8.

Philip was planning to shoot ducks in the Eagle's Crest district of Vancouver Island. He and Elizabeth, too were both down to fish and get in some tennis.

Expectations today were that they would spend more time than they originally intended in Victoria, perhaps warmed by the cordial reception here. Set to leave here on Tuesday morning, they now are expected to stay in Victoria until late that day.

On Destroyer

They spent most of their Sunday daytime aboard the destroyer Crusader after attending church service in the morning at Vancouver. They had five hours on the ship in its crossing from Vancouver to Victoria across the Strait of Georgia, with Prince Philip taking a sharp interest in how the ship is run.

The Prince, a Royal Navy officer who once served on a sister ship of the Crusader, made the "rounds" of the vessel. Later, officers said he pronounced everything shipshape.

He and the Princess took Victoria's first welcome from the forward gun turret of the vessel, standing on the gun platform and smiling and waving as the ship slowly nosed into Victoria's little harbor with its docks and shores crowded with shouting onlookers.

Earlier, they had been given a noisy farewell from Vancouver, where several thousands lined the dockside and harbor craft followed the Crusader out beyond the harbor as it carried the Royal pair away from the mainland.

FINED $10 AND COSTS

Charged with being intoxicated in a public place, Joseph Murphy, 37, who gave his home address as Prince Edward Island, pleaded guilty and was fined $10 and $2.50 in costs or 10 days in jail by Magistrate W. R. Philp in police court today.

Board Refuses To Decertify Paper Union

OTTAWA, Oct. 22 (CP).—The Canada Labor Relations Board Saturday rejected an application from a group of employees of the Canadian Press, national newsgathering agency, to revoke the certification of the American Newspaper Guild (CIO-CCL) as bargaining agency for a unit of CP editorial employees in Canada.

The board indicated it was rejecting the application because the applicants had not followed the precise procedure set out in the Industrial Relations and Disputes Investigation Act.

The application included signatures from 47 of the 71 CP employees in the bargaining unit testifying that they were eligible for membership in the Guild but did not wish to be represented by it as bargaining agent.

The Guild was certified by the board as collective bargaining agent for the CP editorial unit, April 5, 1950.

Outline Flow

The board noted that the law requires that evidence submitted in support of such applications should relate "unmistakably" to a period of three months immediately preceding the making of the application. In this case, the bulk of the signatures had been taken in January and the application itself was not submitted until May 4—a period of four months.

The application for decertification was submitted by T. Forbes Rhude, W. R. Wheatley and D'Arcy O'Donnell, all CP employees.

The Guild, opposing the application, contended that the signatures had been obtained under some duress on the part of the company. The latter denied this.

The applicants argued that a majority of CP editorial men had been "saddled with a bargaining agent they do not want."

The Pearl and the Price

Most people know the parable of the "pearl of great price," and the man who sold all that he had to buy it (Matt. 1346).

Have you ever asked yourself what it meant?

The "price" is our surrender of the afflictive human thinking causing our troubles. How to give up these human fears, how to grasp and find freedom would indeed be "the pearl."

The way of this liberating understanding is explained fully in the Christian Science text-book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy. Whoever will put its statements to the test will find this great Science of Christianity to be demonstrable.

Science and Health may be read or obtained at all Christian Science Reading Rooms. The coupon is also for your use.

Speeder Fined $25 In Lindsay

LINDSAY, Oct. 22 — (ENS) — Glen Sandy, 20, RR 2, Omemee, was convicted of careless driving and fined $25 and costs of $19 in Lindsay police court. His driver's licence was cancelled for 30 days.

Constable Stan Judson of the Lindsay detachment, provincial police, reported that the accused had driven his truck at speeds up to 85 miles per hour on Highway 7.

Crown Attorney L. W. Jordon asked that Sandy be found guilty of dangerous driving and be given a substantial fine. However, Magistrate E. A. Gee did not think that the case constituted dangerous driving and found the accused guilty of careless driving.

Following the hearing the crown attorney said that it was entirely probable that the case would be appealed by the crown.

PEPPY WAY TO START THE DAY when you wake up
L-O-G-Y

If you often feel "logy" on getting up—if tired, sluggish feelings drag you down all through the day—an inactive liver with resulting habitual constipation may be the cause. Millions of people who suffer this way find that Kruschen Salts help bring relief from these symptoms. The reason Kruschen is so widely recommended is because it contains active principles similar to those of world-famous Mineral Springs. Kruschen acts two ways—laxative and diuretic. It promotes healthy action of the bowels and the kidneys. You just take a little Kruschen in hot water or your morning beverage, when needed. Try it and you'll rely on it—as so many do—to help you to new pep and zest, by aiding healthy, natural elimination of the body wastes through bowels and kidneys.

CANADA'S GOVERNOR-GENERAL, VISCOUNT ALEXANDER, is shown (TOP) as he and his wife alight from the train that brought them to Port Hope Saturday afternoon, the day before His Excellency officially dedicated the $400,000 memorial chapel at Trinity College School. Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey is shown greeting them. BELOW, the Governor-General inspects the TCS cadets before the dedication ceremony—(A. H. Strange Photos).

Governor-General Dedicates Trinity Memorial Chapel

PORT HOPE, Oct. 22—Trinity College School's new memorial chapel, built in the memory of the 185 TCS old boys who died in the Boer War and two World Wars, was dedicated Sunday morning by Viscount Alexander, Governor-General of Canada.

The actual service of consecration was conducted by Bishop Beverley of Toronto.

Viscount Alexander read the offical dedication from the Book of Remembrance, a book bound in maroon leather with gold letters and trim. The names of the 185 who died in war are hand-lettered in blue, with the years of attendance in red.

Forever Young

Bishop Renison of Moosonee delivered the sermon, and told the congregation that "we may grow old, but they are forever young." He spoke of the Unknown Soldier and likened him to Christ," another warrior who came to this earth, 2,000 years ago."

Those who gave their lives, said the bishop, knew Christ only distantly in their school days and during their time in the armed forces. Now, he said, they know him much more intimately.

After the service, the governor-general and Lady Alexander inspected the building, which is modern Gothic in style, a miniature of the old cathedrals of England. White oak pews face the centre aisle, and the organ is in the centre on the north side, with the choir sitting around the organ and immediately opposite.

Met By Massey

When the viceregal party arrived at Port Hope CNR station, they were met by the Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey and his son, Lionel Massey. The party drove to the TCS grounds, where Viscount Alexander inspected the TCS cadets, and presented wings.

At luncheon, Their Excellencies were guests of the board of governors, and the governor-general gave a brief address to the schoolboys.

After the ceremonies, the viceregal party drove to Batterwood Farm, the Massey home, where the governor-general and Lady Alexander had stayed Saturday night. They returned to Ottawa Sunday by train.

Driver Injured As Freight Smashes Truck

CAMPBELLFORD, Oct. 22 (ENS).—Thirty-two-year-old Allan Lott of RR 1, Belleville, was seriously injured early Saturday when the dump truck he was driving was struck by an eastbound CNR freight train at a level crossing about two miles west of Campbellford.

Lott was employed by the McFarland Construction Company of Picton, and was travelling to a gravel pit at the time the accident occurred. The construction company is engaged in building a new road between Campbellford and Havelock, and truck traffic in the area is heavy.

Austin Muldoon, superintendent for McFarlands, was working on the roadway a few hundred yards from the crossing when he heard the crash. He and two other employees, Herman Kumm and Gerald Armstrong, rushed to the scene and succeeded, after some difficulty, in freeing Lott from the wreckage. The truck was a complete wreck.

Rushed to Hospital

Lott was rushed to Campbellford hospital, where he was attended by Dr. W. W. Baker. He received a fractured collar bone, lacerations, concussion and shock, and after receiving treatment at Campbellford, he was removed to the Belleville hospital for further treatment.

The truck was tossed about 35 feet by the impact, tearing the dump box from the chassis and completely demolishing the cab. Observers could not understand how the man escaped with his life. A flagman has been posted at the crossing and will remain on duty during the day while trucks are passing over the crossing, in order to avoid any other mishap. Provincial Constable Donald W. Erskine investigated.

Glad Society Plans Dinner

The Peterborough and district Gladiolus Society, at a recent meeting, made arrangements to hold the annual banquet Friday, Nov. 2, at Stewart Hall.

H. Taylor, of Toronto, well-known flower judge, will be the main speaker.

Several gladiolus societies will meet with the Peterborough and district group. Growers from Oshawa, Bowmanville, Port Hope, Omemee and Lindsay are expected at this banquet with their local friends. James Weyer will be master of ceremonies. The entertainment committee has arrranged an attractive program.

Major Herb Cardwell will entertain all the members and guest at his home at Wallace Point following the dinner.

The Rev. V. E. Zufelt, of Omemee, will give a brief outline of the splendid work done by the Horticultural Society in Omemee in the past few years.

Dr. E. W. Sisson, of Bowmanville, will discuss seedlings, new varieties and the crossing of gladioli.

John Buckley and Bud Lloyd, of the junior committee, will give a report on the progress of the junior department during the past two years.

George H. Clark, director of the Canadian Gladiolus Society, will give a brief chat on new and recent introductions from the Peterborough test garden. The test gardens have been under the supervision of Mr. Clarke and Fred Storey the past year.

Car, Truck Damaged In Campbellford Crash

CAMPBELLFORD, Oct. 22 (ENS).—Considerable damage resulted on Sunday morning when a car and a light pickup truck collided at the corner of Bridge and Rear Streets in Campbellford.

Roland D. Belanger was driving his car east on Bridge Street, when a truck driven by Sidney Bidgood struck him. Bidgood had been driving south on Rear Street, had come to a complete stop and then proceeded to make a left turn at the intersection.

The Belanger car was spun completely around by the crash. No one was injured. Bidgood said a number of cars parked on Bridge Street near the corner of Rear had obstructed his vision and he had not seen the Belanger car coming. Chief Constable Geo. H. Hardy investigated.

Hastings WA To Hold Fall Cooking School

HASTINGS, Oct. 22 —(ENS)— The W. A. group two of Hastings United Church held its October meeting at the home of Mrs. M. Rymerson with 19 persons present.

Worship service was in charge of Mrs. Robert Collins and Mrs. H. Oliver assisted. Mrs. Rymerson was in charge of the business session, mostly with plans for the four groups sponsoring a cooking school. Date is to be announced later.

Mrs. V. Oliver was in charge of the program with two amusing contests, readings by Miss Kate German and Mrs. C. Oliver were well received. Lunch was served by Mrs. A. Poole, Mrs. R. Collins and Mrs. V. Oliver.

DRIVER OF THIS TRUCK was badly injured early Saturday when the truck was thrown 35 feet by a CNR freight train at a level crossing two miles west of Campbellford. The driver, Allan Lott, 32, of RR 1, Belleville, was rushed to Campbellford hospital after the accident and found to be suffering a broken collarbone, cuts, concussion and shock. Several construction workers pried open the truck cab to release Lott. —(W. W. Reid Photo)

Kiwanis Little Olympics Draws 500 School Entries

Nearly 500 public and separate school girls and boys competed in the annual Kiwanis Club Little Olympics track and field meet in Morrow Park on Saturday. Put on by the sports committee of Kiwanis, it was the most successful meet of its type yet. With the emphasis put on individual prowess, rather than school efforts, winners and outstanding athletes were presented by club president Gordon Hancock with medals and ribbons afterward.

Fire Guts Car Of Duck Hunter

CAMPBELLFORD, Oct. 22 (ENS).—A 12-year-old boy was credited with saving an automobile from complete destruction by fire early Saturday morning when he summoned aid and formed a bucket brigade to put out a fire in the interior of an auto owned by a group of duck hunters.

Ross Hendricks of Hendricks' summer resort was just entering a cottage to have his breakfast when he noticed a strange glow inside an auto parked nearby. He investigated and found the interior a roaring mass of flames.

Ross ran to get pails of water from the river. His cries attracted the attention of Mr. and Mrs. D. Rowley, who were in a nearby cottage. With their help, the youth managed to subdue the flames, but not before the entire inside of the car was gutted.

The car was owned by Borden Copperthwaite of Campbellford, who had parked the vehicle and gone duck hunting with two companions, Bill Hollings and Thomas Stewart, both of Campbellford. The car was not insured. The hunters praised the lad for his action in saving the rest of the car from the flames.

Ross is the son of Fred Hendricks of Campbellford. Cause of the fire is not known.

Communist Strikes In U.S.?

Making full allowance for the tendency, not uncommon throughout North America, to blame the Communists for the majority of serious labour disturbances, there is at least reason to suspect them of being behind a current wave of strikes in the United States. It is doubtful if a more strategic industry could have been struck at a worse time, for it is the entire program of jet engine production that has been slowed down by this wave of strikes, with still others reported as being in preparation. The situation has become so serious that the U.S. Air Force actually has had to accept planes without engines.

* * *

The manner in which these strikes are sweeping the jet engine industry is remarkable. There was a strike against the General Electric plant at Lockland, Ohio, and one against Browne & Sharpe at Providence, R.I. These were suddenly followed by strikes at other key plants in California, Connecticut, and New Jersey, and strikes have been predicted at a plant in Oklahoma, two in Maryland, and one in Chicago. The various engines produced at these plants cannot be described publicly, but the closing of the plants is reported to have cost the Air Force more than a thousand jet engines to date, with the probability of further loss in future.

* * *

The U.S. Defence Department has stated frankly that it suspects Communists are behind this wave of strikes, but that apparently is as far as it can go. As far as we have seen, there have been no charges that the unions involved were Communist-dominated, or that their executives were predominately Communists. If neither of these conditions exist, we should think that the possibility of a Communist plot is slight. Yet the timing is exceedingly favourable to the Communist cause, for reports from Korea continue to describe the need of jet planes as desperate.

* * *

The incident points again to the care which must be taken to avoid using the Communist label indiscriminately. There are times when evidence should make its use imperative, but unless such evidence exists the label should not be used. The instance under discussion would not be the first occasion on which non-Communist workers unwittingly or heedlessly served Communist ends by forcing work stoppages.

Show Of Art In Peterborough

A minor gallery has been developed at the Public Library through the energy and insistence of the chief librarian, Mr. William Graff. In most former years the nearest Peterborough came to seeing professional painting was in reprints of dead pheasants on a Victorian platter. Now, in the improvised gallery of the Public Library, we can see a new travelling show almost every month; the real stuff of oil on canvas.

The paintings in the shows which Mr. Graff has beguiled to Peterborough through devious channels are mostly Canadian, and good, bad and indifferent. We are at worst seeing pictures and recognizing that painting is not without every-day meaning; at best we are being shown paintings which give a fresh dimension to our life. We can realize through these exhibits that painting has poise and meaning; that our painters are real people tussling with the experience and thought of this generation and this nation. The present Calgary show (reviewed in Saturday's Examiner) illustrates this.

Who's Having A Nervous Breakdown?

Democracy is a great thing: it can also be a ludicrous thing. Sometimes it has the perdurable nobility of granite; at other times it is as sloppy as a poorly-made custard pie. When democracy gets hold of a Princess and a Prince it can display the warmest and most courteous affection, and the most impudent and vulgar patronage in the course of a few minutes. In their visit to this country our royal guests have undoubtedly had many moments of keen pleasure; but they have also had to endure a great deal of impertinent nonsense, and we regret that some of this has come from the press.

Not, we are happy to say, from Canadian Press, the national news-gathering co-operative. But from certain 'special writers' and from some other news services the flow of foolishness has been unceasing. On Friday last, for instance, Reuters informed the world that the schedule of appointments arranged for the royal couple was "inhuman and cruel", and that they would suffer from nervous breakdowns, at least, if it were not amended.

As a result a statement has been issued that the Princess and the Prince are in excellent health, and will continue as planned.

Of course they are in good health. They are quite accustomed to the violence of affection with which they are faced among people who do not see them often. They know how to go through heavy days of official hospitality without becoming overwrought. That is their profession. If they had the mental equipment and the personal habits of some of the correspondents who are accompanying them, they might be in danger of nervous collapse, but they are of better stuff than that.

Some of the reporters who are covering the royal tour have worked up a news "angle" for themselves; it might be called Pitying the Princess. They like to think of her as a frail little girl, amazed by this great big country, with all its huge, manly men and huge, motherly women; they like to imagine that she is frightened when crowds cheer, and that speaking to the people of a friendly nation worries her as much as the girl president of a high school debating society is worried when she has to address her club at their annual bean and fowl supper.

The young woman whom they are pitying is the mother of two children; she has lived in a ceremonial atmosphere for several years; she has been to South Africa with her parents; she can ride a horse at the Trooping of the Colour; she is throughly familiar with the stresses of the life which she is called upon to lead and she has never faltered in it. If she finds the strain of the Canadian visit too great, we may rely upon her to say so. She does not need any assistance in that respect from reporters who presume to read her mind and calculate her fatigue.

Let us embrace the noble aspect of democracy: let us get rid of that aspect of democracy which likes to slaver and sob over people in great public positions.

A Priceless Possession

Speaking to 800 young lawyers and law students in Toronto, Mr. Joseph Sedgwick said last week: "I may say to you with assurance that the informed, the civilized, the literate mind, will be a priceless possession, an unfailing comfort and a great help to you". He was urging his hearers to add to their legal training an acquaintance with literature; the well-rounded lawyer, said Mr. Sedgwick, should have something more than a knowledge of the law itself.

What Mr. Sedgwick said to lawyers might with equal truth be said to all young men who are setting out in life, whether as professional men, business men or craftsmen. To know only one thing—the work by which one earns a living—is to be poor indeed. In fact, it may be said that a man who knows nothing but his job does not even know that job, for he has no background of knowledge or intellectual experience against which to measure his job, its importance to the world, and its importance to himself. As Sir William Fyfe, formerly a principal of Queen's University, has said, not to know English (that is to say, not to have some acquaintance with the literature and the language itself) is to be fundamentally uneducated.

English literature, as another Queen's man (Dr. W. E. McNeill) has pointed out, is the best single subject to provide a common element in the bewildering diversity of modern education; a common element in education is a requisite for a common citizenship; English literature best provides it since it enshrines our way of life.

A century ago, education was general in its nature. Whatever a man intended to do with his life, he received a training in classical literature. Nowadays education is directed to specific ends, and quite early in his career a man begins to learn things which will eventually apply to his life's work. There is great danger in such narrowness. We would not suggest a return to the classical grind, which was often narrow, but we would strongly support Mr. Sedgwick, Sir William Fyfe and Dr. McNeill in their insistence upon a close acquaintanceship with our native tongue and its great literature. It is good for us all to know more than the minimum which life demands of us. Indeed, unless we know more than that, we do not deserve to be called educated people.

NOTE AND COMMENT

A "Miss Sewer Cleaner of 1951" has been chosen in Detroit. And we hope that when Peterborough has completed the regeneration of its sewer system that a pretty girl will be a fitting symbol for it, too.

The French army has produced wine for its soldiers in the form of dehydrated crystals; add five parts of water, and the powder turns into good wine. For a quick bun, of course, just empty a package on the tongue and swallow.

Musical Notes

by PETER PIPER

WHEN we listen to a performance of music of one hundred years or more ago we are apt to take for granted that we are listening to the real thing. This is only partially true, even in the historically "exact" performances using the original instruments. Unlike a painting, which has been fixed for all time by the artist, a piece of music has to be constantly renewed in actual performance. In fact the actual score is no more the music than a recipe is a slice of cake. Everything depends on the performer to bring it to life in its reincarnations. The further back one goes in time the greater is the possibility of distortion of the composer's original intentions. Just as it demands a great effort of the imagination for somebody living here and now to picture to himself the mentality of, say, a villein in the feudal era so does it require considerable musical insight to shed our modern ideas of musical propriety and enter into the spirit of the older music. It is pertinent to find out as much as we can the kind of instruments they used, and the generally accepted traditions of the style.

✧ ✧ ✧

IT may shock some devotees of madrigals to find out that it was a common practice for instruments to play together with the voices. In fact they were sometimes played by instruments alone, and composers wrote madrigals "apt for voices or viols". The viol family was the forerunner of our modern strings. They were made in various sizes, but with sloping shoulders. The number of strings in each instrument varied, and the bow was somewhat curved, resembling a true bow in shape. The tone was much softer than our modern violins and cellos, even when the latter are equipped with gut instead of metal strings. They blended better with the voices on this account. In the later period of music which found its consummation in Bach and Handel a curious misconception arose. It was assumed that all the earlier choral music was written to be sung unaccompanied. It is true that it often was sung a capella, and in the case of the music of the Sistine Chapel it was the invariable rule, but by and large this was not the case. They were deceived by the absence of separate instrumental parts into thinking that instruments were not used. The practice was of course for the instruments to play from the vocal parts. The difficulty in reviving this custom would be the fact that nearly all modern instruments are so much louder and more brilliant than their earlier prototypes; they would swamp the voices unless the number of voices was increased, and that would in the case of madrigals destroy the intimate effect implied by the composers. Thus only where it is possible to employ some of the old instruments such as the viols is it advisable to revive the old practice.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE eighteenth century, which so misunderstood the sixteenth century, has fared even worse at the hands of later ages, particularly the nineteenth century. Bach escaped more easily than Handel, though his "Air on the G String", arranged by Wilhelmji is one of the most popular compositions of the nineteenth century! It would be instructive to compare this arrangement with what Bach actually wrote in his Suite No. 3 for orchestra. In Bach's original version not one single note of the famous melody is taken on the G string! Poor Handel has undergone more "sea-changes" at the hands of zealous arrangers and popularizers. A typical example of this is Hamilton Harty's indecently bombastic arrangement of some of the Water Music. I once heard the whole of the Water Music in Handel's original orchestration. As far as I can remember it took over three quarters of an hour, and every minute was a joy to the ear and mind.

✧ ✧ ✧

BUT the desecration of the Water Music pales into insignificance when compared with what has happened to "Messiah". In passing I would like to note that the correct title of this work is "Messiah", not "The Messiah". Now it must be realized, as I stated at the beginning of this article, that there are serious obstacles to overcome in the "authentic" rendering of music of past ages. This is especially true of Handelian oratorio, assuming that the composer was reasonably satisfied with the forces at his disposal. In those days there was no such thing as a conductor; instead the man in charge would be seated at a harpsichord or organ, filling in the harmonies in accordance with a sort of musical shorthand called figured bass, which indicates the types of chords required but which leaves a good deal to the musical taste and skill of the performer. Naturally the composer would be expected to fulfil this task best, and Handel was a renowned player of the keyboard instruments. This part is known as the "continuo". The tradition of the continuo died in the latter half of the eighteenth century, and when Handel's Messiah was performed in Vienna in 1789 Mozart wrote additional orchestral parts to fill the place of the organ or harpsichord. These accompaniments are very beautifully written, but they are so Mozartian in style as to alter the character of the music.

✧ ✧ ✧

SEVERAL other men, such as Robert Franz, Hiller, Ebenezer Prout and a certain J. Smithies added orchestral accompaniments. A further reason had arisen for these, namely the vogue for mammoth performances, with hundreds of singers and players. The original performances had always been for quite a small choir. Even to this day we still see Messiah through nineteenth century spectacles, though a reaction against these over-inflated performances has fortunately begun. Not so long ago this work was performed with the alto solos sung by a male alto in accordance with the practice in Handel's day.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE old wooden frame pianos used by Mozart and Beethoven were vastly different from our modern instruments, having a much shallower action and a softer tone. Beethoven writes octave glissandi which were quite easy on his piano but are quite impossible on modern instruments. The iron-frame piano came in with the insistent demand for greater brilliance, but the wooden frame piano persisted for a while, and according to Bernard Shaw Clara Schumann always used it.

✧ ✧ ✧

ONE of my readers has been good enough to point out a glaring error which I committed in my last article. I stated that Healey Willan came to Canada in 1924; this should of course read 1913 . I apologize for this slip of the pen.

Old Age Problems

(Washington Post)

Already there are more than 11 million Americans who have passed the age of 65 years and before the end of the century there will be at least 20 millions, and if, as is generally anticipated, the rate of life expectancy continues to advance, the number may be many times greater. To support such a population under any system of old-age pensions would impose intolerable tax burdens on the young.

Our Gobbledygookers

by IVOR BROWN

SIR ERNEST GOWERS has added to his "Plain Words" an "A.B.C. of Plain Words." This castigation of officialese or what the Americans call Gobbledygook is published (at 3s. or 4s. 6d. according to cover) by the Stationery Office, many of whose publications must contain, in rich abundance, the kind of jargon that Sir Ernest corrects with wit, taste, and liveliness. It is as though a brilliant Detectives' Manual were to carry the imprint of the Burglars' Union.

Taking the linguistic horrors one by one, Sir Ernest dexterously probes yet again the verbal pomps of Authority. There is, for example, the delight in misty abstractions:—

The actualization of the motivation of the forces must to a great extent be a matter of personal angularity.

He tries to construe such monstrosities, but this one defeats his nice capacity for translating a sort of English into English.

Then there are the cult and the misuse of vogue-words, such as overall, which now has acquired eight separate meanings, all of them wrong, targets, ceilings, brackets, and the preposterous backlog, whose only dictionary meaning is a large piece of wood forming the back of a fire in the grate.

Will any better behaviour result? Sir Alan Herbert and Professor Ifor Evans as well as Eric Partridge and Sir Ernest Gowers have long been giving salutary lessons in the use of plain words; but the school is obstinate. The cause of this incurable joy in jargon needs investigation.

MY interpretation is that jargon is a kind of uniform. The English love to wear ritual clothing in civil as in service life and so cherish a ritual verbiage too. The barrister will not put away his wig: the parson keeps his dog-collar: the official has his pin-stripe trousers. There is a Gobbledygook of the law, of theology, of bureaucracy, of finance, of sport, of everything. The users will no more drop the lingo than they will abandon the insignia and haberdashery of their professions.

The vocabulary is a respected, even a treasured, part of the job. For a bureaucrat to write "Wages cannot be altered yet" would be like lounging in one's shirt sleeves, an offence against propriety. To state that "A revision of the wage-structure is not within early expectancy" is pin-stripe English. It makes a pin-stripe man feel that he is earning his place, his trousers and his salary. He is being worthy of the Department, and loyal to his own bowler-hat.

It is unfair, I think, to scold only the pin-stripers. My own profession lives on words, and is journalism to go unwhipped? Sir Ernest could write a fine punishing book about his breakfast or tea-time reading, whose various sections all have their brands of ludicrous lingo. The cliche will never die, in or out of newspapers, because it is a trouble-saver. But there are the decorative touches, the Gobbledygook of New Grub Street.

The journalist has, like the pin-striper, his sense of importance. He must live up to his calling. If Ministers are so ready with ceilings and targets and brackets and backlogs, why not he? Not only do the heavier writers swallow and regurgitate officialese, but those with lighter tasks do the like. At the same time space is short; brightness is all.

So there must also be punch, abbreviation, the vogue-adjectives (fabulous, glamorous, epic, hand-picked, pin-pointed, etc.), the familiarity (those ubiquitous Christian names and irrelevant personal details), the dropping of the definite article, and the tiresome question-trick. ("A solid, bustling figure was seen among Christmas shoppers. His name? Winston Churchill.") Sports writers zestfully blend the two, the pin-stripe and the punch.

SUPPOSE that England won a Test Match against Australia after being far in arrears. Might not the following be read the next day?

Faced with the stupendous overall backlog of 700 runs at cricket Mecca Oval, England's batsmen got weaving like tigers and liquidated that ceiling in no uncertain manner. Lord's glamour-ace, slim, balding Bill Bailey, husband of £50,000 film-star Gloria Gloy, and Leeds' top-priority buddy, stocky, red-head, bachelor Roly Boumphrey, knocked up two epic double centuries and scorched the target pin-pointed by the clock. They literally ground the seam-bowlers to dust, sabotaged the spinners, and Bikinied the fielders. Victory eventuated at 6.29.

Aussies' hand-picked trundlers' alibi was the doped wicket. Six-foot, rangy Wal McWhustle, Aussies' popular skipper, asked for breakdown of reasons why bowling was all snarled up, snapped back his quick reaction. "After five fabulous days, pitch was still shirt-front," he glummed pronto. "Though I kept repositioning the field, none of our hopes materialized," he said. A quiet, dark-spectacled figure watched till the end in the Distinguished Strangers' Box. Her name? Miss Garbo.

That contains a nice covey of Sir Ernest's abominations, such as reaction for opinion, breakdown for explanation, and eventuate or materialize for happen. It also has some of my own, including the labelling of ladies with sums of money. Why always these round figures? I await news of a "£78,534 6s. 9. wife."

While thanking Sir Ernest for his "A.B.C. of Plain Words" I invite him to "have a go," as Mr. Pickles would say, at the Organs of Opinion and give us his "A.B.C. of Plain News."

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And he entered into a ship, and passed over, and came into his own city. And, behold, they brought to him a man sick of the palsy, lying on a bed: and Jesus seeing their faith said unto the sick of the palsy; Son, be of good cheer; thy sins be forgiven thee. And, behold, certain of the scribes said within themselves, This man blasphemeth.

And Jesus knowing their thoughts said, Wherefore think ye evil in your hearts? For whether is easier, to say, Thy sins be forgiven thee; or to say, Arise, and walk? But that ye may know that the Son of man hath power on earth to forgive sins, (then saith he to the sick of the palsy,) Arise, take up thy bed, and go unto thine house.

And he arose, and departed to his house. But when the multitudes saw it they marvelled, and glorified God, which had given such power unto men. (Matt. 9: 1-8.)

Letter To The Editor

VERSE FROM KOREA

Sir: Here is a little poem written by one of our boys in Korea. I do not know his name, but I would like to have it published in your paper. I am a regular customer of the Examiner and do appreciate its coming. I hope you will print this poem.

There is blood on the hills of Korea;
'Tis blood of the brave and the true,
Where the 25th Brigade battled together
Under the banner of the Red, White and Blue.
As they marched over the fields of Korea,
To the hills where the enemy lay,
They remember the Brigade's order—
These hills must be taken today.
Forward they marched into battle,
With faces unsmiling and stern;
They knew as they charged the hillside
There were some who would never return.
Some thought of their wives and mothers;
Some thought of their sweethearts so fair;
And some, as they plodded and stumbled,
Were reverently whispering a prayer.
There is blood on the hills of Korea:
It's the gift of the freedom they love;
May their names live in glory forever
And their souls rest in Heaven, above.

Faithfully yours,

Soliloquy

Scene: 10 Downing Street.
Mr. Attlee (puffing his pipe):

To be or not to be that is the question:
Whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer
The slings and arrows of outrageous Bevan
Or take arms against a sea of Tories
And by an election end it. To quit: to sleep;
For who would bear the whips and slings of Beaverbrook,
The scorn of Camrose and proud Churchill's contumely,
The insolence of Opposition and the spurns
When he himself might his quietus take by a mere vote?
To grunt and sweat under a weary life,
But that the dread of something after defeat
The drear oblivion from whose bourne no politician returns, puzzles the will,
And makes us rather bear those ills we have.
Than fly to others that we know not of.
Yet shall I meet the Fates and put them to the test.
What ho! my sword! and God defend the Left.

Conservatives Won't Try Change Nationalized Firms

LONDON, Oct. 22 (AP)—Most of Britain's nationalized industries will remain nationalized—even if Winston Churchill's Conservatives win the general election next Thursday.

The Labor government has taken over many of the country's key resources; coal mines, iron and steel mills, railroads, docks, airlines, canals, power and gas plants and long-distance trucking; plus a few extra frills such as the Bank of England and Britain's biggest cable company.

That's an estimated 20 per cent of British industry. The Conservatives say if they oust Labor they will return to private owners only the iron and steel plants and some of the 40,000 trucks.

That doesn't mean the champions of private enterprise have fallen under the influence of Karl Marx. But the Socialists have been thorough and, as Churchill's deputy Athony Eden puts it, the Conservatives have more important things to do than to try to "unscramble the eggs."

There has been so much reorganization in the nationalized industries that it would be impossible to bring the old shareholders and their assets together again.

Only iron and steel has not undergone any radical changes since nationalization. It was the last industry taken over by Labor eight months ago.

The 92 companies—who own every steel mill in the country except those operated by automobile manufacturers—still are churning out metal under the immediate leadership of their old private enterprise directors in most cases.

But ultimate authority has been transferred from the shareholders to the British Iron and Steel Corporation and its Socialist boss Steve Hardie.

Hardie hasn't interfered much, although he has replaced some 40 directors, out of a total of several hundred, with his own nominees. Hardie's corporation compensated private investors by swapping their steel shares for more than $784,000,000 worth of government stock.

Reverse Procedure

All the Conservatives plan to do under denationalization is reverse the Socialist procedure. First they would repeal the iron and Steel Nationalization Act. That would entitle them to fire Hardie and dissolve his corporation. Then they would swap those shares back again.

Long-distance trucking was taken under the wing of the Labor government in January, 1948. Since then more than 3,000 trucking firms with 40,000 vehicles have been taken over by British road services, the state monopoly on the roads.

To avoid its monopoly being threatened by 54,500 private-enterprise trucks still left on the road, the Labor government limited them to runs of not more than 25 miles.

The Conservatives plan a gradual return to full competition on the roads.

House Invaded

STAYNER, Ont., Oct. 22 (CP)—Four men surprised Hans Adolfsen, 57, of Toronto, and his grandson, Walter Taskinen, 17, as they slept early Sunday. The four dragged them out of bed and beat the older man. Charged with breaking and entering and assault as a result of the incident are: Melvin Bowers, 58, and Jack Bowers, 18, of Stayner; John Rice, 21, and Colin Patrick, 17, of Collingwood.

Ontario May Pay For Total Pension

CHATHAM, Oct. 22 (CP)—Possibility of the Ontario government assuming the whole cost of pensions for totally disabled persons between 18 and 65 years of age was seen here Saturday night by Municipal Affairs Minister Dunbar.

Adressing the West Kent Progressive Conservative nomination convention, Mr. Dunbar said it was the intention of the government to introduce the bill at the next session of the legislature.

"We are prepared to pay 50 per cent if the federal government pays an equal amount," said Mr. Dunbar, outlining details of the plan announced recently by Welfare Minister W. A. Goodfellow. "I suppose if it's the same as the the St. Lawrence seaway, the province will end up paying the whole shot."

Car Hits Woman Running For Bus

TORONTO, Oct. 22 (CP) — Louise Gardiner, 72, was killed Saturday night when she ran into the path of an automobile while hurrying to catch a bus after visiting friends. Police identified her by tracing a gift store sales slip.

Investigators said the car driver was Harvey M. Armitage of Oshawa. An inquest will be held.

Dauphin Mystery Still Unsolved

PARIS, Oct. 22— (AP). — The mystery of what happened to the young Dauphin, Louis XVII Charles, in French revolutionary intrigue looked today as if it never will be solved.

A legend that a clue to his fate would be supplied last week in a will left 100 years ago by his sister, the Duchess of Angouleme, seems to be just that—a legend.

The Dauphin was the imprisoned heir to the throne of France when his parents, King Louis XVI and Marie Antoinette, died on the guillotine in 1793. The execution of his father made him titular king when he was seven.

Old records say the Dauphin—a term used for the eldest sons of the Kings of France for 400 years—died at the age of 10 in a Paris prison. But many Frenchmen believe the death records concern another boy, a substitute. They contend the Royal prisoner was smuggled abroad and lived to leave descendants.

Cheap Formula Found In Japan

By WILLIAM C. BARNARD.

KURE, Japan, Oct. 22 (AP) — A Japanese surgeon is certain he has found the formula for a cheap, inexhaustible supply of life-saving blood plasma.

Dr. Kunio Kawaishi makes plasma from the blood of animals, processes it and transfuses it successfully into human veins. He has been doing this since 1949 — testing and retesting.

More than 150 of his patients have had a total of 70 quarts of plasma—made from the blood of cows, pigs, horses and even water buffaloes.

"I have never had a fatality from using it," said the doctor.

Dr. Kawaishi is professor of surgery at Hiroshima Medical School and surgeon at its hospital here. It was Kawaishi, with another doctor, who inaugurated blood typing in Japan in 1924. And it was Kawaishi, during the 1930s who made the first X-ray motion pictures in Japan of a human heart beating and blood circulating.

Sees No Difference

Dr. Kawaishi has named his processed plasma "plasmonal."

"I could make it from the blood of any animal," he said.

The doctor sees no difference between plasmonal and human blood plasma in beneficial effects obtained. But plasmonal cannot be used more than a week after the initial dose before the patient becomes sensitized to it and further large transfusions cause vomiting and rash.

To overcome the sensitivity, Kawaishi cuts the daily transfusion to as little as two cubic centimeters and gradually increases the amount. The average transfusion of plasmonal, to start with, is about 400 cubic centimeters, approximately four-fifths of a pint.

Declares Churchill Made Many Blunders

LEEDS, England, Oct. 22 — (Reuters). — Defence Minister Emanuel Shinwell suggested here Sunday night that Conservative Leader Winston Churchill may have made "many blunders" during the war.

He said he did not seek to disparage Churchill as a "great war leader," but perhaps when the full history of the war came to be placed on record "it will be discovered that he made many blunders."

Shinwell said that wartime secret sessions of Parliament frequently discussed weakness of the government (then a coalition of main parties) in shipping and in tanks.

Electric Firms Defend Resale Prices

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Makers of electrical appliances are among those most affected by the proposed federal legislation which would forbid manufacturers to set the prices at which their products are to be sold.

The government's planned action follows an interim report from the MacQuarrie Committee, headed by Mr. Justice J. H. MacQuarrie, of the Supreme Court of Nova Scotia. This report termed the prescription and enforcement of minimum resale prices "as manifestation of a restrictive or minimum resale practice which does not promote general welfare."

Some time ago the Canadian Electrical Manufacturers' Association submitted a brief to the committee which is now made public.

Here are some of the arguments in favor of setting minimum prices, as seen by CEMA in the brief and in comment from its general manager, B. Napier Simpson, and set out in a press release:

Price maintenance applies as a rule only to 10 or 15 per cent of all retail volume. Generally speaking, these are the products that require demonstration and free service while consumer-acceptance is being achieved.

"Technical goods like those manufactured by the electrical industry are often bought at infrequent intervals. Instruction in operation and skilled maintenance are important in order to ensure long and efficient service. The manufacturer is entitled to suggest a price that will provide this service and should have the right to grant his sales franchise to dealers who discharge this responsibility.

"Benefits from mass production can be realized only if goods are distributed in orderly fashion. Such benefits can be lost through erratic marketing conditions which prevent a manufacturer from maintaining quality and continuity of production.

"Control of resale prices on national brands enables small dealers to compete successfully with large department and chain stores which have complete control over the resale price of their private brands. This alone indicates that resale prices of national brands have not been too high."

Brothers Held Sister Prisoner

NAUGATUCK, Conn., Oct. 22—(AP).— Police have charged four brothers with keeping their sister a naked prisoner in their home for two years. A report from neighbors who said they heard a woman screaming led to discovery of tahe bizarre case Saturday night.

Police said they found Miss Beatrice Roman naked in a littered, dishevelled room.

The police reported they had learned she had been kept in the room without clothing for the last two years. They said Miss Roman, a 200-pound woman in her late 30s, gave them considerable resistance before they could remove her from the house. She was sent to a mental hospital.

Her brothers were arrested on charges of cruelty and held in $5,000 bail each. They are Adolph 45, Chester 40, Stanley 33, and Leo Roman 31.

Five clubs will go in our OHA senior "B" group race this season. Petes and Eagles from here, Belleville, Kingston Nylons and Queen's. The Gananoque application was turned down and the Gans then decided they'd revert to intermediate "A" and seek a different setup. Thank goodness. Queen's said they'd ice a stronger squad than last year, while Nylons have been granted OHA permission to import up to 10 players. Local clubs didn't like that concession a bit—and it doesn't seem fair to us—but the OHA executive ruled on it recently and that's that, apparently. All you have to do, we suppose, is get in a scandal and be kicked out, and you get a break like that.

* * * * * *

Queen's will play half a schedule in four-point games. In other words, they'll play the Eagles twice here and twice at home, while the other clubs will play Eagles four times here and four times away. First and fourth clubs meet in one semi-final later, and second and third go in the other, same as a year ago. Schedule will be drawn up by Frank Buckland and will open about Nov. 5. Buck and Lorne Cook conducted the meeting Sunday in Belleville. Incidentally, Frank has received 250 hockey sticks from the OHA to be given to local kids this puck season. Petes and Eagles will be picking their players this week and it'll be hockey here again shortly.

PCVS Team Comes Through

Bev Goulding's good senior PCVS gridders came through here Saturday aft in downing Orillia handily. A strong line gave the fast-stepping backfielders good protection in rolling up the count. Murray Grafstein and Bus Jensen clicked on payoff attacks, with Warren Young also turning in a solid effort. Brian Young accounted for a lot of points in a swell effort, and Dave Langhorne was another handy gent. Frise and Telford on the line, including Saunders and Hope at ends, and several more, caught the eye as the Garnet and Grey rolled through to earn a spot in the coveted Red Feather football tourney next weekend in Toronto. A good show.

Another sports' championship came to Peterborough o'er the weekend, the UEW soccer team blanking Kingston Uniteds 3-0 here to win the Ontario intermediate cup, after previously taking the Eastern Ontario League crown. They beat Kingston 4-0 in the two-game playoff series of home-and-home games. OFA president A. Arnold was on hand to present the provincial trophy to the victors after the game, with W. Simpson, also of the Ontario body, presenting the loop titular cup. Our congratulations to the executive and players of the UEW Soccer Club for completing a most successful season, not dropping a decision in the regular schedule.

Knife And Fork League

A couple of enjoyable windup parties held Saturday for local associations. Executive and guests of the men's City Softball League held their "do" at a summer resort out past Ennismore with 26 in attendance. They paid their own shot and had a swell time of it. The program included the presentation of the Wm. Taylor, Geo. Dormer and Peller Trophies, latter going to Terry Woods of the Orphans as most valuable player in the league during the 1951 season. Prexy Bob Batley and his officers did things up neatly, and all are optimistic for next softball season over at the Bowl.

Junior lacrossers, the Filter Queens, wound things up at the Aragon under sponsor Frank Patterson, with 60 present. Joint winners of the Ostrander Trophy for sportsmanship, Jim Heffernan and Grant Burns, were honored, these two along with Lou Nickle and Gary Robinson also getting gifts as being club graduates this year. Whole team received windbreakers. Other gifts went to trainer Gunner Lynch and, by Mr. Patterson, to the wives and girl friends of the various players. The affair was put on by the club and enjoyed by all, winding up in a dance. The team won the Ontario junior "B" championship a year ago but lost out in "A" finals this year to Mimico, winners of the Minto Cup.

Oshawa Boys Turn Back PCVS Team 23-5

PCVS' junior Garent and Greys, last year's jnior COSSA champions, bowed out of the running for the Lake Ontario area championship Saturday, losing to Oshawa Collegiate and Vocational School 23-5 at Morrow Park.

The loss was PCVS' third in four starts. The fourth game ended in a five-all deadlock with Lindsay.

The Garnet and Grey juniors didn't start to play football until the last quarter after Oshawa had run over them for three quarters, piling up a 23-0 score. But then the best PCVS could do was one major score.

Jack Graham, Dunc Brodie, Bill Pascoe and Keith Sutherland, the Oshawa backfield, were too much for the PCVS team, emphasizing the plunging against the weak PCVS line.

For PCVS Gary Kearns and Barry Hollingsworth were the only two who seemed to be able to make yards, but not enough.

Keith Sutherland put the skids under PCVS, breaking loose early in the game at centre, lateralling to Jack Graham at the PCVS 35, placing him in the clear. Graham converted.

A bad snap by PCVS started Oshawa's second major late in the first quarter. Bill Pascoe jaunted 20 yards immediately after placing the ball on the PCVS six where Brodie scored throughout centre on the first play of the second.

Minutes later Graham broke into the clear at the Oshawa 35-yard line, neatly sifting around two PCVS backfielders. He kicked Oshawa's 17th point and his 12th on the convert.

The only score in the third came when Pascoe intercepted a pass at the PCVS 25 and scooted for the five points, Graham kicking the extra point.

Jack Crobett, Hollingsworth and Kearns placed the ball on Oshawa's 10-yard line in the fourth with a pressing ground attack. Bill Goodson broke across for the PCVS score.

Here And There In Sports

By The Canadian Press

A lacrosse command performance was played in Vancouver Saturday night but not many in the house of 5,000 kept their eyes on the ball or the players in a demonstration of Canada's national sport.

It was the first box lacrosse game seen by Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip. The Princess appeared a bit alarmed at times at the mayhem but the Prince ate it up.

Philip smiled and laughed as players hurtled into the boards and bashed each other heartily. There were six penalties.

The Royal couple had been expected to stay only half an hour but they saw the game right through.

Before the game started, the managers, coaches and captains of New Westminster Commandos and Vancouver Combines were presented to the Princess and Duke.

Philip faced off the first ball. He tugged at his ear, not quite knowing how to go about it.

The players were nervous at the start and the crowd was quiet. But as it progressed, familiar cries like "C'mon, you bums, get moving," rang out.

New Westminster won 11-7.

C. V. Whitney's Counterpoint took the lead from C. T. Chenery's Hill Prince in the stretch Sunday and went on to win the $53,900 Empire City gold cup at Jamaica, the second time he had beaten the 1950 champion within a week.

The chestnut son of Count Fleet ridden by Dave Gorman, covered the mile and five eighths in 2:42-4-5 seconds, which equalled the track record set by Stymie in 1946. Last week Counterpoint beat the Prince in the $50,000 Jockey Club gold cup at Belmont.

Billy Mihalo, 38-year-old factory worker from Detroit, Sunday set a mark of 7 hours 4 minutes 44 seconds in winning the sixth Toronto-to-Hamilton Tom Crompton walk. Bernard Malloy, 19-year-old railroad fireman from St. John's, Nfld., was second while John Wahl, of Baltimore. Md., came third.. Mihalo lopped 10 minutes 6 seconds off Chris Clegg's 1949 record.

Ralph Branca, right-handed pitcher for Brooklyn Dodgers, and Ann Mulvey, whose parents are stockholders in the club, were married Sunday as a crowd of 1,000 milled outside the Church of St. Francis of Assisi in Brooklyn.

RED FEATHER BOUND—By convincingly defeating Orillia, representatives of the Georgian Bay area of the COSSA, 39-11, PCVS will play in the Red Feather tournament Friday night in Toronto. It is likely that Hamilton Cathedral will play Stamford and Kirkland Lake will face Peterborough on Friday night, Etobicoke playing Riverdale, and Ottawa Glebe playing Windsor Patterson on Saturday night. Don Scriver plunges across (top) from the three-yard line in spite of the efforts of Orillia's O'Connell (17) and Heliotis (12). With pretty cheer-leader Phyllis Peryer and PCVS' Red Feather mascot, Chief Pigskin, Scriver (middle photo), talks over PCVS' chances. Bill Goodson (lower) scoots across the line, followed closely by Oshawa's Pascoe, for PCVS' only score as they lost to OCVI 23-5 in the first game of a double-header.—(Examiner Staff Photo).

Peterborough UEW Wins Provincial Soccer Crown

Peterborough UEW soccer team completed a highly satisfactory football season at King Edward Park on Saturday by defeating Kingston United 3-0 to capture the Ontario intermediate cup. They took the two-game playoff series 4-0. They previously had won the Eastern Ontario League, being unbeaten in the regular schedule. After the final game here Saturday afternoon, Mr. A. Arnold, president of the Ontario Football Association, presented the Norman J. Howard Trophy to the champions. Mr. W. Simpson, of the OFA executive, presented the Eastern League cup to the UEW team.

Went On Attack

From the start of play in this game, UE went on the attack and it wasn't long before Andy Smith scored as his shot was deflected into the net by a Kingston defender. The homesters kept up the pressure and several thrusts almost paid off in goals. On a Kingston breakaway their centre forward, Gillespie, twisted his knee and had to retire from the contest. UE made it 2-0 when Andy Smith scored with a fine header from a cross by Cotton.

Made It Safe

After the interval, Peterborough continued to dominate play in the second half and the United's goalkeeper made a number of nifty saves to ease the pressure. However, Robertson made it safe when he hit a hard shot into the corner of the net for the 3-0 margin. Two of the UEW players, Davis and George Smith, had to leave the game later with foot injuries. Play was keen but scoreless the rest of the distance, with the Peterborough team having a little edge to earn the championship in handy fashion.

Leaders Roll 3653

Jim Heron's team, Madill & Post — formerly Cavanagh's — struck in mid-season form last week in the men's City Bowling League to compile a total of 3653 with high single of 1360. They swamped their rivals to take over undisputed possession of top spot in the young season.

Tony White of Sunocos rolled leading triple of 878, with Heron having 867 and Bert McCarrell 850. Jack Playford led in singles with 333, other good counts being by White with 318, Vern Ferguson 311, McCarrell 308 and 304, Bill Boon 304, and Bill Stanbury 301.

Clean sweeps were racked up by Ted Moore's and by Madill & Post over Anthony's and Kawartha, as 4-2 wins were taken by Bond's (the pin-boy crew), McGillis and Sunocos over Clapper's, Bassel's, and De Laval respectively.

OAKVILLE, Oct. 22—(CP)—The executive of the Ontario Baseball Association has suspended two players of the Oakville entry in the junior series. Coach Corbett is suspended indefinitely and third-baseman Jimmy Johnston for one year. The suspensions resulted from a donnybrook in a game that Oakville won 5-2 from Fort Erie. Fort Erie protested the game but it is not expected to be replayed.

Hornets Down Reds, Trip Buffalo 4-2

By The Canadian Press

Pittsburgh Hornets ran their string of victories in the American Hockey League to five during the weekend, downing Cincinnati 4-2 Saturday and defeating Buffalo by a similar score Sunday.

They now pace the western division with 10 points, two more than the second-place St. Louis Flyers who defeated Hershey 4-2 Saturday. They were idle Sunday.

Hershey, with six points, paces the eastern section. The Bears smothered Cincinnati 7-1 Sunday, but dropped a Saturday game 4-2 to St. Louis.

In other Sunday games, Providence shaded Syracuse 6-5 and Cleveland and Indianapolis played to a 2-2 tie.

With the passing of George Soulby, at Civic hospital, Sunday morning, the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club lost a most faithful member.

Ailing since early summer, his closest friends knew he was fighting a grim battle, but his sudden passing came as a great shock.

George Soulby, on the green or off the green, in every walk of life was a Christian gentleman.

He was of a quiet disposition, and made many friends. He served on many committees in this club for a great number of years. He was also the club's auditor. We will miss George Soulby. The sympathy of the members of the club is extended his widow and daughter.

Hockey's Big Seven

By The Canadian Press.

George Gee of Detroit picked up an assist Saturday night to move into a first place tie with Montreal's Bert Olmstead, held pointless during the weekend.

Gee has two goals and four assists. Olmstead has one goal and five assists and also leads in the assists division.

Maurice Richard of Montreal, who leads the field in goal getting—four—is in a three way tie for second place with team-mate Elmer Lach and Tod Sloan of Toronto. All have five points.

Seven players are tied for the next spot with four points each. Metro Prystai of Detroit leads the pack with three goals. Adam Brown of Boston, Jim Peters of Chicago and Gordie Howe of Detroit each have two goals and two assists. Sid Smith of Toronto and Detroit team-mates Ted Lindsay and Marty Pavelich have one goal and three assists each.

PCVS Seniors Gain Right To Enter Red Feather By Defeating Orillia 39-11

By DON GRANT

PCVS' football supremacy in the Lake Ontario, Bay of Quinte and Georgian Bay districts of the COSSA was displayed Saturday when the Garnet and Grey eliminated Orillia collegiate 39-11 in Red Feather play. The decisive victory allows the Garnet and Grey to enter the third annual Red Feather tournament for the Ontario secondary schools championship next Friday night in Toronto. It will be PCVS' second appearance in the Red Feather.

The Garnet and Grey boys have been grouped in Friday's games with Hamilton Cathedral, Stamford and Kirkland Lake. Their opposition will be one of those teams, all strong.

Line Play Noted

An experienced, driving line gave the Goulding-coached team the win. Paul Frise, Larry Forbes, Jim Telford and the others pounded the Orillia line throughout the game, punching large holes. On the defensive, the PCVS line was firm, Orillia failing to crack it.

In fact a lineman, Stan Facendi, started the Garnet and Grey flying in the opening minutes by recovering a fumble, deep in Orillia territory. Altogether he grabbed three loose balls and every time PCVS went on to score.

Bryan Young had a top afternoon in passing and kicking. His passing was most effective late in the first quarter. The ends, Ted Sanders and Spin Hope, both made sensational catches. His kicking, besides the converts, included two kicks to deadline and a field goal.

Murray Grafstein, stocky plunger last year with the COSSA champion juniors, returned to old form. Throughout the first half he ploughed through the large holes for yardage, a turned ankle sidelined him.

Buster Jensen was steady throughout, Orillia finding him difficult to stop, especially on the lateral plays.

Used Old Sleeper Play

Orillia's only effective play was the old sleeper play which they used in sequence. It worked three times in succession. Cross throwing each time, catching PCVS cold for the first Orillia score.

But even that play backfired, Spin Hope and Bus Jensen intercepting the long loopers for touchdowns.

In the first minute PCVS blocked a kick at the Orillia 25, Paul Frise and Stan Facendi recovering. Grafstein and Jensen plunged to the four-yard line where Jensen went over. Young converted

From the kickoff PCVS started a 95-yard march up the field with Bryan Young passing to Sanders and Hope, Warren Brown and Grafstein carrying, Jensen finally crossing on a running play with Grafstein. Again Young converted.

In the final minute of the first, Dave Langhorne punted to the Orillia line. Orillia there tried a running play, but the ball was fumbled, Facendi again recovering at the six. Young, after a PCVS fumble out-of-bounds, kicked a point.

The line held three times at the 25-yard line and PCVS took possession there in Orillia territory. Young first passed to Dave Langhorne, then ran with Don Scriver to the three-yard line where Scriver scored.

But from the kickoff Orillia caught PCVS sleeping on sequence sleeper. Alternating throwing to the ends, Jack Cross worked the ball up the field, throwing on the third play to Garry Granston for the touchdown.

Just before the half ended, a PCVS major was called back for illegal blocking and then Young booted the field goal for three points from the 18-yard line, making the score 21-5.

Orillia scored early in the third after PCVS for talking back and other violations were penalized 40 yards on one down. The Garnet and Grey miscued on the six and Orillia recovered, Kehoe scoring across the centre.

But their luck was short-lived. Facendi dropped on an Orillia fumble at the 19-yard line and on the next play Grafstein plunged through to score.

On the first play after the kickoff, Orillia attempted their pass spread play, but Hope intercepted it and ran 39 yards before tackled at the Orillia six. Young in two plays scored and then added the point. A minute later he tried a second field goal and from the Orillia 25 but received only a deadline point.

Bus Jensen scored the final major late in the third when he intercepted a pass off an Orillia kick formation. He galloped 25 yards in the clear. Dave Langhorne kicked the 39th point.

Cobourg Ghosts Run Wild To Trim Yorks

COBOURG, Oct. 22 (ENS) — The Galloping Ghosts took a one-sided intermediate ORFU game here on Saturday afternoon when they blanked East York 40-0. Although several on the Cobourg lineup were out with assorted injuries after the game with Oshawa the week before, the Ghosts had no trouble at any time with the East York team and the game was so one-sided that some of the Cobourg fans were cheering East York.

Although the lack of opposition aided matters, the Cobourg aerial attack was functioning perfectly and most of the touchdowns were scored by long forward passes completed. East York couldn't get started and the bulk of their plays were smothered before they could gain any headway.

Scored Early

In the opening minutes of the first quarter Cobourg scored six points on Ling's touchdown and Jones' convert. Cobourg had possession of the ball soon after their touchdown and a forward from Cooper to Lenahan was completed for a touchdown which Jones converted. Jones followed this up by kicking a field goal which brought the score to 15-0 at quarter time.

Two forward passes to Campbell early in the second quarter worked the ball close to East York's line and Jones kicked a point. Cobourg intercepted a pass on East York's 30 yard line and Flesch took the ball over for a touchdown which was not converted. At half time Cobourg led 21-0.

East York's attempts at forward passing brought no results in the third quarter and after several stabs at East York's goal, the Ghosts failed to add any points in this quarter. In the last quarter, Campbell sent a forward pass to Lenahan who took it behind the line for a touchdown which Jones converted. Medhurst intercepted an East York pass that put the ball down on East York's 12-yard line. Forester took it across for a touchdown which Jones converted. Campbell tossed another forward pass to Forester for another touchdown that was converted by Jones.

Ratterman Decides To Leave Alouettes

MONTREAL, Oct. 22 (CP). — George Ratterman who caused a furore in international football circles by leaving New York Yankees to play with Montreal Alouettes, won't be back next year.

This was announced Sunday night by Joe Ryan, an Alouette director, who said Ratterman, starry quarterback, was "leaving of his own accord."

Ryan said Ratterman apparently wasn't able to adapt himself to the Canadian game and wasn't sure he could do it next year either.

Want Prize Racehorse? Here's One For Asking

ASCOT, England, Oct. 22 (Reuters).—Anybody want a prize racehorse?

Horsebreeder Sir William Waldron wants to give away 20-year-old Tiberius, winner of the famed Ascot Gold Cup in 1935. At his prime Tiberius was worth about $15,000.

Tiberius was retired to stud after his 1935 victory. Now his owner wants to get rid of him "because I know he would be happier at a small stud." Sir William added he would like to be allowed to send a couple of mares to Tiberius each year.

"But if no small stud owner wants him, then I will consider giving him away to someone who can provide him with a good home," said Sir Waldron. "As long as he goes to a good home I don't want a penny piece for him."

The breeder said he estimated Tiberius was still worth about $3,000.

Chicago, Toronto Battle To 1-1 Draw; Wings Blank Canadiens

By The Canadian Press

Maybe the goalkeeping is getting better or the boys up front haven't caught their shooting eyes, but the National Hockey League is shaping up as a tough circuit in which to get a goal. Apart from Detroit Red Wings' 6-1 decision over their "farmhand" Chicago Black Hawks last week, lopsided scores are a rarity of the 10-day-old schedule. This was evident during the weekend when the four games produced a total of only 12 goals, including 1-1 draws Sunday in the Toronto Maple Leafs-Chicago and Boston-New York encounters. The results left only three points separating the top and bottom-placed clubs.

Montreal Canadiens were shut out for the first time this season by Detroit, who thus climbed into a two-way leadership tie with them. The Red Wings delighted 12,036 home-town fans Saturday night with a goal-a-period 3-0 triumph.

And New York Rangers came up with their first victory of the season on Saturday, a well-earned 3-2 verdict over the Leafs. The decision and Sunday's tie gave them three points, two less than the Leafs and Chicago.

Some Revenge

The Detroit triumph — Terry Sawchuk's second shutout of the season—gave the Wings some revenge against the club that bounced them out of the playoffs last April. They meet again tonight, the only game on the card.

Rookie John Wilson gave the Wings their 1-0 first-period lead and veteran Sid Abel made it 2-0 early in the middle session while Maurice Richard was serving one of Canadiens' eight penalties. Gordie Howe scored probably the weirdest goal of the season when his 85-foot shot skipped off the ice and slithered past goalkeeper Gerry McNeil.

It was Rangers' night at Toronto. New York marksmen were Zellio Toppazzini, Reg Sinclair and Mick Mickoski, and the Leaf goals came off the sticks of Bill Juzda and Cal Gardner, both one-time Blueshirts.

Joe Klukay sent Toronto away to a 1-0 first-period lead at Chicago on passes from Jimmy Thomson and Fleming Mackell, but Jim Peters, with help from Bep Guidolin and George Gee, made it 1-1 shortly after the start of the second period. From then on it was a battle of goalkeepers. Toronto's Al Rollins and the Hawks' Harry Lumley kicked out labelled shots.

After a scoreless first period at Boston, Don Raleigh put New York ahead at 6:40 of the second. Ed Sandford, on a pass from former Ranger Pentti Lund evened matters at 2:34 of the third, and that was it.

Kitchener Trips Spitfires In 7-4 Victory

By The Canadian Press.

The first full week of Ontario Hockey Association Junior A activity a memory, Kitchener Greenshirt followers are pinching themselves. Maybe its only a dream, but their club, the first in 15 years, is well on top of the 10-team circuit.

To date, Greenshirts have won all five of their games, enough to give them a three-point lead over Toronto Marlboros, Guelph Biltmores and Galt Black Hawks, tied for second.

Kitchener maintained its undefeated pace with a 7-4 victory over the winless Windsor Spitfires Saturday night in Windsor. As expected, the Greenshirts held the upper hand throughout.

Frank Toyota and Mike Holoway paced the victors with two goals each while singles went to Joe Ingoldsby, Graham Joyce and Joe Schnurr. Rod McElroy, with two, Larry Thibequilt and Alger Arbour, with one each, scored for the Spits.

Blank Guelph

In other Saturday night games, Galt blanked Guelph, 2-0, Toronto St. Michael's trounced Waterloo Hurricanes 8-3, Toronto Marlboros defeated St. Catharines 8-3 and Oshawa Generals battled to a 3-3 tie with Barrie Flyers, last year's Memorial Cup champions.

Marlboros and St. Catharines Teepees battled to a scoreless draw while St. Michael's whipped Waterloo 5-1 in a Sunday doubleheader at Toronto.

Rightwinger Bob Sabourin capped an all-round performance for St. Michael's with two goals. Teddy Toppozzini, Ed Plata and Ron Wallace scored the others.

Rio Caron saved the Waterloo shutout tallying an unassisted marker early in the third period.

Ken Wharram got both Galt goals in the first period with assists going to Jack Hill and Bill McIntosh. Defensively, the backchecking of Tony Poeta, up from midget ranks, and Jim McBurney was outstanding.

Exciting Overtime

Generals scored a goal with three seconds of overtime left to gain their tie with Barrie. Gord Miles was credited with the final and tying goal for Generals.

Tommy O'Connor and Bobby Attersley hit for the first pair. Paul Emms, son of coach Hap Emms, scored twice for the Flyers, with Doug Mohns notching the third Barrie goal.

Marlboros Saturday night triumph over Teepees was their third straight of the season. They overcame a 2-0 Teepee lead, built on goals by Billy Young and Jack Principi, to win handily.

Hugh Poland and Eric Nesterenko scored twice for the Marlies with John Lumley, Earl Balfour, Parker MacDonald and Bill MacFarland adding the others. Brian Cullen notched the third St. Catharines goal.

Waterloo kept pace with the St. Michael's in the opening period. Jim Logan was the big gun for the victors with two goals. Murray Costello, Lorne Watters, Bill Dineen, Wallace, Neil Buchanan and Sabourin each scored once.

Bob Armstrong, Treen and Wood were the Waterloo scorers. Guelph will be at Kitchener on Tuesday night in the only scheduled game.

GOOD GOING!—Princess Elizabeth and Prince Phillip express delight at a particularly good broco ride during the one-hour miniature stampede staged for them by Calgary. The Duke did much handclapping as Alberta cowboys gamely strutted their stuff in wintry weather. Beside the Royal couple are Lt.-Gov. J. J. Bowlen of Alberta and Mrs. Don Mackay, wife of Calgary's mayor.—(CP From Calgary Albertan.

Argos Plaster Alouettes Twice As T: Cats Bow To Ottawa 32-16

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

A sympathetic populace probably would excuse Edmonton Eskimo and Winnipeg Blue Bomber football players today if they wandered the streets chalking up building fronts with mathematical cabalistic symbols. They know the true value of the points-for-and-against columns in the standings.

The eight-week Western Canada Interprovincial Union schedule closed out Saturday with Saskatchewan Roughriders, Eskimos and Blue Bombers in a three-way point tie with eight victories and six losses for each. Then the statisticians took over.

Based on those for-and-against columns, it figured out that the Riders were .10 point better than the Esks who, in turn, had a .19 point advantage over the Bombers. In effect, it means the Roughies get a bye into the best-of-three western finals, while Eskimos and Bombers meet in a sudden-death semi-final at Edmonton next Saturday.

Play To Last

They had to go right down to the wire to decide the issue. Calgary Stampeders, with no hope of catching a play-off spot, came up off the floor Saturday in the last two minutes to defeat the Eskimos 26-25 and Bombers, two points behind Saskatchewan and Edmonton going into the finale, defeated Roughriders 19-13 in the Manitoba capital.

This complicated situation, plus the elimination of Montreal Alouettes from the two-team Big Four play-off picture, highlighted a full football weekend in Eastern and Western Canada. And now the Big Four is following the western pattern.

With two games on tap for each club before the schedule windup Nov. 3, Hamilton Tiger-Cats, Toronto Argonauts and Ottawa Rough Riders are locked in a three-way first-place tie. This was accomplished by a double Argo plastering of the Als, 35-11 and 35-18 in their home-and-home weekend series and a hard-fought 32-16 decision for Riders over the Ti-Cats.

Air Clearer

The air is much clearer in the other senior circuits—the Ontario Rugby Football Union and the Intercollegiate. Here's the setup:

ORFU: Sarnia Imperials and Toronto Balmy Beach are certain of places in the two-game total-points playoffs Nov. 3 and 10. The Imps took over leadership with a pair of weekend victories—31-13 over McMaster University at Sarnia Saturday, and 29-5 over Windsor Royals at Windsor on Sunday.

Balmy Beach: two points in arrears, shut out the Royals 19-0 at Toronto Saturday.

Intercollegiate: The University of Toronto Blues maintained first place with a 26-2 decision over Queen's University at Kingston for their third straight victory. The Gaels have yet to win a game.

McGill Redmen snapped a 20-year jinx at London with a 21-12 decision over the Mustangs. It gave the Redmen sole possession of second place with two victories in three starts and dropped the Mustangs into third with a 1-2 won-lost record.

Tie Possibility

There's a possibility of a three-way first-place tie when the Big Four schedule ends Nov. 3 and the eastern officials may be caught with their constitution down. There's nothing in the book to provide for such a situation.

If things point that way, the Big Four will call an executive meeting to straighten things out

Mercurys, Greyhounds Battle To 1-1 Draw

SAULT STE. MARIE, Oct. 22 — (CP)—Owen Sound Mercurys and Sault Ste. Marie Greyhounds battled to a 1-1 tie before more than 4,500 fans in an exhibition hockey tilt here Saturday night.

It was the third game in three nights for the touring Mercurys.

The Owen Sound club didn't show any signs of fatigue in their skirmish with the Greyhounds. Although the Hounds had a slight edge in the play, the Mercurys came up with another fine display to earn the tie.

Forward Mike Bukacheski gave last year's Allan Cup champions the deadlock, notching the Mercs' only tally at 10:20 of the final period. Veteran Roy Heximer scored the Greyhound marker.

president Charles Lawson of Hamilton said last night. There are, however, provisions in the constitution covering a two-club tie for first or second positions.

A two-game series for the Union championship will be held if a two-way first-place deadlock develops. The team scoring the most points against the other in regular league competition will have its choice of home game.

A sudden-death semi-final will be played if two are knotted in second place. The club with the best for-and-against average will have the home game.

Dandurand Plans Resign As Head

MONTREAL, Oct. 22 (CP)—Leo Dandurand said Sunday night he will resign as president of Montreal's Big Four football Alouettes at the end of the season.

He added, however, that whether he will remain financially interested in the club, hopelessly bogged in the league cellar, will be announced later.

Dandurand said his brief announcement was prompted by reports of his retirement but that, originally, he had intended to make the anouncement only at the end of the season.

Dandurand did not comment on a Montreal Star report Saturday which said "there has been a smouldering unrest over player policy among stock-holding officials of the club."

Long prominent in sporting circles, Dandurand holds one-third interest in the Als, his partners being Eric Cradock, Toronto stockbroker, and Lew Hayman, coach and general manager.

INSPECT TEEPEE—There were smiles all around as Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh emerge from a five-minute inspection of the interior of an Indian teepee at the Calgary stampede grounds. The Duke, clutching a Calgary stetson, pauses to tease an Indian baby while the Princess flashes a winning smile at some tribal chiefs.— (CP from Calgary Albertan).

Royal 'Kerchief Causes Stir

VICTORIA, Oct. 22 (CP)—One of the most intriguing questions of the Royal tour to date:

"What's the writing on Elizabeth's kerchief?"

For her appearance on the bridge of the destroyer Crusader between Vancouver and Victoria Sunday, the Princess had her brown curls held down by a flashy kerchief containing an inscription in co-ed fashion.

The motto immediately became news, but none of the newspapermen aboard the destroyer could make it out, because Elizabeth was moving around too quickly on the rolling ship. A member of her suite promised, though, to get the words.

Conventionally, Elizabeth was wearing a brown ensemble that she had put on earlier at Kingston. It had a brown velvet coat with a dress of a lighter shade of brown, and with all accessories in brown. It was set off by a plain purple orchid worn on the left shoulder just above a sparkling silver maple leaf.

First Of Canadian Brigade Leaves For German Base

By KEN KELLY

MONTREAL, Oct. 22 (CP) — Canada Saturday sent off the first of its ground forces for General Eisenhower's European defence force when 330 officers and men sailed aboard the SS Columbia.

This advance party of the 27th infantry brigade will land at Rotterdam and move to the British sector of Germany by train.

In many cases sailing overseas was an old story. Pte. Alec Fortin of Sherbrooke, Que., took it calmly; he and Privates Andrew Tough of Montreal and Allan Munnoch of Winnipeg were having a game of cribbage. They stopped only long enough to catch a glimpse of Maj.-Gen. R. O. G. Morton, officer commanding Quebec command, as he made his way among the troops bidding them farewell.

Privates Fortin, Tough, Munnoch are veterans of the Second World War; this was nothing new to them.

Cobourg Soldier Excited

But L/Cpl. John Taylor of Cobourg, couldn't conceal his excitement. He and the small groups of signallers with him took their training at Kingston, and hadn't been so far from home before.

"I got in the army to learn a trade; I'm a wireless operator," he said. "When the chance came to go with this brigade, I sure was excited."

Johnnie's pal was Sgmn. Charlie DaVona of Moncton, NB, who was also making his first trip out of Canada. He said he always wanted to see Europe but never thought he would get such a good chance.

Perhaps the happiest man aboard the Columbia was Cpl. John Hicks. He joined up in Belleville, but his mother and father live in Salisbury, England, and plan to meet the Columbia when she puts in briefly at Southampton. He hasn't seen them in five years.

Formerly With Navy

Cpl. Hicks served with the British Navy during the Second World War, then immigrated to Canada. He graduated from the paratroop school at Rivers, Man.

Maj. R. A. Bell of Winnipeg and Ottawa was the busiest man aboard. He had to keep track of all the troops on the Greek line passenger-cargo vessel.

Maj. Bell, a veteran of North Africa, Italy, France and Germany, said most of the equipment being taken will be used to set up camps for the main body of the brigade.

Camps will be set up near Hanover and ready for the main body which leaves early next month from Quebec City.

The brigade is made up of companies from the various highland, infantry and rifle regiments across the Dominion. Approximately 3,000 men will be sent over as part of Canada's contribution to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization for European defence.

Princess And Duke To Get Real Holiday

VICTORIA, BC Oct. 22 (CP). — Newspapers and news agencies covering the Royal tour are cooperating to give Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip a real holiday on Vancouver Island.

For the first time on their trip, there will be no flash bulbs popping and no reporters scribbling notes to report their every move as Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip relax for three days this week at Eagle's Crest, an estate about 130 miles north of here on Vancouver Island.

The holiday comes Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Twice daily, timed to catch evening and morning papers, information is to be supplied the more than 150 newspapermen by a member of the Royal entourage. None of the battery of 20-odd photographers following the Royal pair will be allowed to roam Eagle's Crest, but a pool photographer will be standing by here. On call he will go to the resort to take specified shots.

Duplex Burned

WOODSTOCK, Oct. 22 (CP).—Fire of undetermined origin destroyed a two-storey stone duplex owned by John Lowes of Beachville, causing an estimated $30,000 loss. Mr. Lowes and his family were visiting in Kitchener when the fire broke out. The duplex was also occupied by Mr. and Mrs. A. Murray and his two children.

Investigate Machine

TORONTO, Oct. 22 (CP).—An inquiry has been lauched to determine whether a lighted match or a defective oxygen machine caused a fire that resulted in the death Saturday of Edward E. McNaughton, 64, of Port Carling. McNaughton died 12 hours after an oxygen tent in which he was being treated for cardiac asthma caught fire at Sunnybrook Veterans' Hospital.

Hospital Plan $30 a Year

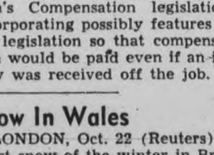
GUELPH, Oct. 22 (CP)—Walter Thomson, Ontario Liberal leader, said Saturday the top cost for family coverage under the contributory hospital insurance program the Liberal party will introduce if elected in the Nov. 22 Ontario election will probably be $30 a year.

He outlined the scheme in addresses at nomination conventions here and in the Toronto suburb of North York.

He said here that in view of huge government surpluses it is strange to see the government pointing to hospital bed shortage and crying the Liberal scheme is impractical for this reason.

Under his proposed plan, said Mr. Thomson, the ill will be admitted for treatment on a priority system based on the gravity of the illness. He promised to build hospitals for convalescent patients fro mthe surpluses the government has been "boasting about."

Probable Fee



In mentioning $30 as the probable top fee for coverage under the plan, Mr. Thomson said that if it became apparent more money was needed to make the scheme work it would be channelled "from some place other than taxes."

The Liberal leader also outlined his party's views on labor-management relations and promised improvements in provincial certification procedure and labor conciliation machinery.

He said he is in favor of the voluntary revocable check-off and promised to streamline the Workmen's Compensation legislation, incorporating possibly features of US legislation so that compensation would be paid even if an injury was received off the job.

No other bond like it anywhere...

WHY?

BECAUSE IT CAN ALWAYS BE CASHED AT FULL FACE VALUE PLUS INTEREST:

There is no other security which offers this unique feature. All other bonds which Canadians can buy are subject to market quotations from day to day. The price at which they can be sold is the price someone else is willing to pay. But Canada Savings Bonds can be cashed for 100 cents on the dollar anytime without delay.

In addition, they pay a handsome return (averaging 3.21% per year if the bond is held to maturity).

They are registered in your name, offering you protection in case of loss or destruction.

They are backed by all the wealth and resources of our country. There is no argument—the man who owns a Canada Savings Bond has made the finest investment available today. Boy Shot May Lose Left Leg

Shotgun Goes Off As Youth Hides Gun In Culvert

A 15-year-old Ennismore boy may lose his left leg as the result of a shooting accident Sunday afternoon. Patrick E. Young, RR 1, Ennismore, is today in St. Joseph's hospital while doctors try to save the limb.

His condition is "fair."

He was attempting to hide a single-barreled shotgun in a culvert, a mile and three quarters north of Ennismore village, when the gun discharged striking him in the calf of the leg and shattering the bone.

Young and a companion, Frances Brick, 16, RR 1, Ennismore, were out for an afternoon of partridge shooting.

They told OPP Constable Russ Pollard who investigated the accident that they were putting the shotgun and a .22 calibre rifle in a culvert before going into the village. As the shotgun was being hidden it discharged, striking Young.

(It is thought they may have been hiding the two guns because it is illegal to shoot on Sunday.)

Ran To Farm

To get help, Brick ran to the farm of Frank Young, about 500 yards away. Clem Young, a son of the farmer, took the car and drove to the place where the injured boy was lying. He put him in the car and drove him to Peterborough where Dr. Bob Young administered first aid.

Patrick Young was then transferred to St. Joseph's hospital and was given two blood transfusions shortly after he was admitted. The leg may have to be amputated.

Third Offender Asks Term In Reformatory

After pleading guilty to being intoxicated in a public place, Michael Hynes, 46, of Scarboro, requested a reformatory sentence when he appeared in police court today.

Magistrate W. R. Philp granted Hynes' request and sentenced him to four months in the Ontario Reformatory at Guelph. Hynes had two previous convictions on the same charge against him—one in June of this year and another in December of last year.

SLIGHT DAMAGE

Slight damage resulted when two cars collided on Lansdowne St., near Lock St., at 9.30 Saturday night. Melville Rogers, 224 Lake St., was driving west on Lansdowne when his car collided with another car driven by Harry Pearson, 93 Rubidge St., who was pulling away from the curb. Constable Ralph Beardsmore investigated.

CARS COLLIDE

As he was pulling away from the curb on Aylmer St., opposite the Fire Hall, Saturday afternoon George Johnston, RR 3, Orillia, struck the right front fender of a car driven by Mrs. Mary O'Grady, 496 Mark St. who was proceeding north on Aylmer St. Damage to Mrs. O'Grady's car was estimated at $40. Constable Ralph Beardmore investigated.

RESIDENTS WARNED

A word of warning to city residents who have been accustomed to throwing paper and other refuse on the streets to be cleaned up with the leaves, was given by Chief Constable Thompson today.

Chief Thompson points out that the new mechanical sweeper will not pick up anything but leaves. When other articles are on the pavement, the operator has to stop and remove them, as the brooms will not pick them up.

PARTRIDGE HUNTERS BAG WOLF

Outboard Mariner George Rutherford and two hunter pals were riding down Long Lake on Saturday afternoon with a boatload of supplies for their hunt camp. They saw something swimming in the water and headed it off with their kicker at the shoreline below Brown's cottage. It was a large wolf. One of the hunters let it have a blast of bird shot and wounded the beast which dragged itself to a crevice in a large rock and showed fight. Another hunter finished it off with a revolver. The bounty, which they will claim, they say, will buy them quite a few deer camp groceries.

Cars Hit At Corner Slight Damage Done

Slight damage resulted when two cars collided at Sherbrooke and Stewart Sts., Saturday.

Frank Allore, 480 Sherbrooke St., was driving east on Sherbrooke St., and while crossing the intersection at Stewart St., his car was struck by a car driven by Mrs. Agnes Sabin, 535 Bolivar St.

Mrs. Sabin was driving south on Stewart St.

After the collision, Mrs. Sabin's car continued across Sherbrooke St., and struck a parked car owned by Harold Parker, 297 Delorraine Ave., Toronto.

The Parker car was not damaged.

The collision damaged the left rear fender and left rear wheel of Mr. Allore's car. Part of the grill and left headlight of the car driven by Mrs. Sabin's were smashed.

Acting police sergeant Gordon Trennum and Constable Cecil Bowyer investigated.

Lawyers Urge Changes To Many Acts

Men Of District Hold Meeting In Lindsay Saturday

LINDSAY, Oct. 22.—Some 30 changes to existing legislation were discussed Saturday at the annual meeting of district 6 of the Ontario Federation of Law Assotions in Lindsay.

More than 50 lawyers from Peterborough, Belleville, Cobourg, Port Hope, Lindsay, Oshawa and Whitby attended the meeting.

Suggested were: Changes to the rent control regulations, a central registry for all transactions in regard to motor vehicle sales, abolition of the Dower Act, amendments to the Mechanics Lien Act, and changes in the methods of appointing justices of the peace.

Changes In JP's

During the three-hour business session in the afternoon, the association recommended that citizens not connected with police work be appointed as justices of the peace. Under the present system of appointments, JP's are for the most part chosen from people closely connected with police work.

The lawyers also went on record to advocate a central registry for all motor vehicle transactions. There is none now, and the feeling was expressed that such a central registry would iron out many difficulties now encountered with chattel mortgages on cars, conditional sales agreements, etc.

On rent control regulations, the meeting went on record to oppose the vague wording of some of the regulations, and to suggest that control be abolished except for emergency housing.

Dower Act

The Dower Act, felt by many lawyers to be an antiquated holdover from common law, should be abolished, another of the association's resolutions stated.

Under the Dower Act, the wife who outlives her husband is allowed at the least a one-third interest for her lifetime on any property owned by her husband at the time of his death.

Association members felt there should be protection for the widow, but that this act was outmoded in view of present conditions. Some suggested an act similar to the Alberta Homesteads Act, which offers more complete protection to the wife.

J. C. German, KC, of Cobourg, was elected to his second term as president of the association. T. J. Carley, KC, of Peterborough, was named first vice-president, and T. K. Creighton, KC, of Oshawa, second vice-president. Mrs. Thelma Thompson of Lindsay was chosen secretary-treasurer.

The one-day session concluded Saturday night at a dinner at which Mr. Justice Keiller McKay of the Ontario Court of Appeals was guest speaker. He discussed the philosophy of law. Premier Leslie Frost also spoke briefly.

Magistrate Refuses Bail On Drunk Count

In asking that Gordon Bowen, 41, of Lakefield, charged with being intoxicated in a public place, be remanded until Oct. 29, Crown Attorney J. A. Bradshaw asked that no bail be granted when Bowen appeared in police court today.

Mr. Bradshaw explained that proceedings were being taken to have Bowen committed to a hospital for alcoholic treatment. Magistrate W. R. Philp refused Bowen's request for bail and he will remain in custody until Oct. 29.

Touring Japan

TOKYO, Oct. 22 — (AP) —Mrs. Anna M. Rosenberg, assistant United States Secretary of Defence, arrived in Tokyo today for a tour of Japan and Korean armed forces installations. She is expected to be in the Far East about 10 days.

Scouts Elect Peter Moore Assoc. President

Peter Moore was elected president of the Peterborough boy scouts association at the 27th annual meeting of the association Saturday in the Empress Hotel.

The guest speaker for the meeting was Provincial Commissioner W. H. J. Tisdale, who gave and interesting, instructive and humorous address on scouting.

The remaining members of the 1951-52 executive are: J. N. Perry, first vice-president; A. L. Malby, second vice-president; W. G. Shiner, secretary; E. J. MacDonald, treasurer; George Groombridge and Albert Hope, honorary members;

Executive: Ed Cotton, Bill Harle, D. F. Hillier, James Houghton, F. G. McGavin, A. P. Morris, Paige Rowell, E. Truman, James Turnbull.

W. King was presented with a long service medal by the provincial commissioner. He also presented D. Barclay and F. Jay with king scout badges and certificates.

George Groombridge

The resignation of George Groombridge as district commissioner was announced. Appreciation for Mr. Groombridge's long service in scouting in Peterborough was given by President Moore.

A recommendation that Gordon Langley be appointed as district commissioner was adopted and will be forward to the provincial council.

Reports were given by Mr. Shiner, secretary; Mr. MacDonald, treasurer and Mr. Groombridge, commissioner. These reports indicated that there was a registration of 532 scouts, cubs, rovers, and leaders in 13 groups in the city during the past year. An excellent financial position was also reported.

Approximately 100 officers, group committee members, scouts and cub leaders and representatives of the clergy attended the meeting.

Opposed Remand

A request for an adjournment by Miss Ann Taylor, 23, of 129 Hazlet St., charged with consuming liquor in an unlicenced place other than her residence was opposed by Crown Attorney J. A. Bradshaw in police court today.

In remanding the case until October 29, Magistrate W. R. Philp set bail at $200, as there was one previous conviction against Miss Taylor on the same charge.

County Student Orators To Compete In WI Contest

A public speaking contest, open to county pupils in Grades VII and VIII, is being sponsored again this year by the Women's Institutes of Peterborough county. Elimination contests are being sponsored by the Institutes in Apsley, Buckhorn, Havelock, Lakefield, Norwood, Warsaw and Westwood; and by teachers groups in Keene, North Monaghan and Smith.

The winner of each of the elimination contests will compete in the county finals, to be held Friday, 8 p.m., in the Peterborough Normal School. Speeches will last from five to seven minutes.

The two top speakers of Peterborough county will then match their oratorical skill with the winners from other counties at the inter-county contest at Brighton, November 16.

Silver Trophies

Silver trophies will be given the first three prize winners in the Peterborough elimination contest. Miniature cups and cash prizes also will be given.

The president of each of the organizations conducting a contest in Peterborough will forward the name of the winner to K. O. Birkin, inspector of public schools.

Each contestant must choose his own topic and prepare his own speech. Help may be given by the teacher but, for the most part, the speech must be the work of the pupil.

James McMartin Athlete, Coach

James J. McMartin an outstanding athlete and coach for many years died in hospital on Sunday. Mr. McMartin was born 60 years ago in Otonabee township the son of James McMartin and Marbaret Bean and has lived in Peterborough all his life. He resided at 398 Aylmer St.

Mr. McMartin, was best known as a hockey player being a member in the early 20's of some of Peterborough's intermediate and senior O.H.A. teams. His position was defence and how he could bring roars from the crowd as he rounded the net in starting on a lone rush down the ice. He coached junior hockey teams. Mr. McMartin was a member of the Harriers Club and was noted for his long distance running. In later years he umpired baseball.

For more than 40 years he was an employee of the Brinton-Peterborough Carpet Co. He was a member of St. Peter's Cathedral.

He leaves his wife, the former Blanche Guerin and one sister, Mrs. Harry Mallett (Frances), Toronto.

The funeral will be held Wednesday from the Duffus funeral home to St. Peter's Cathedral where requiem mass will be celebrated at 9 a.m. Burial will be in St. Peter's cemetery.

Fire Causes $500 Damage

Fire, believed to have started from a pile of oily rags, early today caused an estimated $500 damage to the Canadian Flag Manufacturing Co., 167 Lock St.

It flared up in the storeroom at the back of the building and before it was extinguished it burned a large box of flags and pennants. It also burned two holes through the floor and badly scorched the floor in another spot.

Three other rooms received extensive smoke damage. And there was further smoke damage in the upstairs living quarters of the proprietor, Harold Dunford.

Mrs. Dunford turned in the alarm. She smelled smoke shortly after 3:30 a.m. and when she went to investigate downstairs she found the cloud of smoke so thick and choking that she could go no further.

Firemen put the fire out using a booster line.

1,374 Candidates Run In UK Election

DONDON, Oct. 22—(AP)—One thousand, three hundred and seventy-four candidates are competing in the Oct. 25 general election for 620 seats in the new House of Commons, which has 625 seats. This is 494 fewer candidates than in the 1950 elections.

Four candidates have no opposition this year and one candidate, for the Barnsley district of Yorkshire, died after nominations closed, thus postponing that constituency's election until November.

The number of persons entitled to vote totals 34,915,112, an increase of 645,348 since the February, 1950, elections.

Ancient Trouble

KING WILLIAM'S TOWN, South Africa—(CP)—Fining a 22-year-old husband for slapping his mother-in-law's face, a judge here said "it is asking for trouble for young married couples to live with their in-laws." He added that young married people should not even live in the same town as their parents.

Near Tears

30 Gas Leaks Found In Downtown Streets

Al Spencley was almost weeping today as his Utilities crew were cutting through perfectly good pavement on Simcoe St. to get down to a gas main to plug a leak.

This hole in the road today is just east of the creek, and on the north side of the street.

At the recent meeting of the Utilities Commission R. L. Dobbin, manager, mentioned in his gas department report:

"On Aylmer St. between Hunter and Simcoe Streets, 30 leaky dresser joints were uncovered, and the gaskets renewed.

Rubber Corroded

The rubber in these gaskets was badly corroded by gas oil, but still soft and pliable. Similar leaks were discovered along Simcoe St. in front of King George Hotel, where the two joints were repaired.

On Charlotte St. in front of Borden Dairy near Bethune St., another dresser joint leak was repaired. In this case the rubber gasket had hardened and lost its effectiveness as a seal, but had not corroded as the others had."

The fact of 30 leaky dresser joints is most unusual in the reports of the gas department.

Some recent opinion, although not in the meetings of the Utilities Commission, is suspecting effect of the new propane gas on the rubber gaskets.

The fact is that road openings have had to be made on Charlotte Simcoe and Aylmer Streets, as reported from the Commission, to repair gas lines.

The members of Otonabee Lodge No. 13 will meet at 7.45 p.m. Monday, Oct. 22nd, for a short session and then proceed to the home of our late Bro. Theo Thornton, 583 Harvey St., to conduct the funeral service at 9 p.m. Members of sister lodges invited.

Changing Times

Baby wants television with her bottle now. Time was when just good warm milk was enough. Last week a healthy, hungry four-month-old received her introduction to television and couldn't decide whether to drink up or watch the television. She quickly learned to watch the television for a few moments and then switch to the bottle and back to the television again. That way she took in both. But she didn't say whether she was much impressed by the football game she saw or not.

7th Polio Victim Mrs. Lloyd Ash Dies In Hospital

Peterborough district's seventh polio victim this year, Mrs. Lloyd B. Ash, 34, of 266 Mark St., died in hospital Sunday. She was admitted to the hospital October 14.

A private funeral service was held today at the Comstock funeral home at 2.30 p.m. The Rev. B. S. Morwood of Mark Street United Church officated and burial was at Little Lake cemetery.

Mrs. Ash was born in Peterborough, Olive Eleanor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rowe, and has lived in the city all her life.

Besides her parents she leaves her husband and one son Wayne Lynne. There are three sisters Mrs. Donald Gillespie (Emma) of Peterborough, Mrs. (Rev.) Arthur Leggett (Ethel) of Arthur, Ont., and Mrs. Sidney Leggett (Leah) of Sarnia. Mrs. Ash was a very active member of Mark Street United Church.

National Supervisor Visiting City Nurses

Miss Mary Ferguson, national supervisor of VON for Canada, arrived in Peterborough today.

Miss Ferguson will spend a week in the city on her annual supervisory visit. She will inspect the work of the nurses and office administration and bring them up to date on latest findings at the national office.

The national supervisor makes an annual visit to all communities with a VON nursing service.

Monoxide Hits 3 Girls In Family Car

Sisters Sitting In Rear Seat, Others Not Affected

The three school-age daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Kelly, 132 Hazlitt St., Saturday night were overcome by carbon monoxide gas while riding in the back seat of the family car.

Two of them—Diane, 7, and Marlene, 5—required medical attention and firemen used an inhalator on them for 20 minutes.

The youngest daughter, four-year-old Donna, did not require the inhalator.

After a checkup by Dr. C. F. Cahill they were put to bed and by Sunday morning they were feeling normal again.

Unknown to Mr. Kelly the exhaust pipe dropped off his 1941-model car while he was taking the family to visit some friends. The fumes filtered up through the back seat of the car.

Mr. and Mrs. Kelly and their two young sons— Kenenth, 3, and Donald 2½—were in the front seat. None of them were affected by the deadly fumes.

Got Eareache

First indication the parents had that anything was wrong was when Diane complained of an earache. They turned the car around at Downer's corners and started back home.

When they got to the CNR tracks on Park St., Diane suddenly said: "Daddy, I'm sick." She then fell back on the seat and though Mrs. Kelly shouted at her she was unable to respond.

Mr. Kelly stopped the car and got Diane out of the back seat and she collapsed on the pavement. By this time he could smell fumes and got the other two sleepy girls out into the open air.

The Kellys went into a home on Park St. where the housewife revived Diane with smelling salts. Mrs. Kelly and the five children went the rest of the way home by taxi and Mr. Kelly followed in the family car.

Diane fainted again on the veranda steps and Mrs. Kelly then phoned the fire department.

An inhalator crew, consisting of Clare Bennett, Fred Murphy and Bill Torrance, worked on the two girls for 20 minutes.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Strict Adherence To Rules In Making Codfish Balls

ATTENTION B. J. (who wrote to me regarding reducing diet for her overweight husband): I have a letter from another reader who has asked me to address a letter that she enclosed, to you. I do not have your address or name. I have only your initials. If and when you see this please let me know your address and I will forward the letter.

I am about to write a persuasive piece on the virtues of salt codfish.

Now my dear fellow beefeaters, let it be known, that there are folks in this world—right here in Canada—nice people too—who prefer fish to meat—and furthermore, eat it instead of meat.

What these coastal people do with a fish as lowly as a cod is a miracle. I would like to think that I helped to push you to such an advanced stage in your cookery training that you could make codfish balls that in turn made you famous. That takes practice and imagination and strict adherence to the rules—but very little money.

That is the point girls. It is my declared duty to save your meat money.

While I was in Moncton I picked up a box of shredded cod in a new and elegant super-market of which Monctonians are very proud. It was from this box of codfish that I made the codfish balls I am going to describe.

Coast Codfish Balls

Six ounces dry finely picked shredded cod (it is put up in 6 ounce packages), 4 well-packed cups hot mashed potatoes. (Potatoes should not have anything added to them—4 cups plain hot mashed potatoes.) Let the dry shredded codfish stand in hot water for 5 minutes—the water should be boiling when poured over it. Drain very well for water will not fry worth a cent. Add the drained codfish to the mashed potatoes, and beat for 2 minutes, then beat in 2 beaten eggs, for 2 minutes. Add 2 level tablespoons butter or margarine, and about ⅛ teaspoon pepper and salt as needed. Some cod is salt cod, other is not salted. So you must use your own judgement. It should have a salty tang. Beat until your arm aches. Drop from tip of dessertspoon into hot fat at 390 degs. Fahr. Fry only about 5 at a time so that temperature of fat is not lowered. Turn them over when bottom is golden brown. Drain on unglazed paper and serve at once.

Note: When you know the number of potatoes needed for 4 cups when mashed, the cod should be added to the potatoes when they start to cook, and both should be cooked together, then drained and processed as above. Celery salt is a required addition by some folks.

Also some people serve codfish balls with a sauce like tomato or Spanish, or chili sauce or catsup. They are commonly served with baked beans and Boston brown bread and make a wonderful Saturday night supper this way.

Creamed Salt Codfish in Potato Ring

For this you need 12 to 16 ounces salt codfish. Pull it or cut it apart and freshen it according to manufacturer's directions. Drain, cover with cold water and simmer 15 minutes. Drain. Add to 3 cups white sauce (6 tablespoons each margarine and flour, 3 cups milk) made without salt. Be sure it is very hot. Have a ring of mashed potatoes on hot platter. Pour creamed cod in centre. Garnish with parsley. This is a flavorful dish and I hope you will try it.

Suffocating "Hot Flashes" stopped or strikingly relieved—in doctors' tests!

• Are you going through "change of life"—suffering the "hot flashes," nervous tension, irritability, weakness and other types of functionally-caused distress of this difficult time?

Then... here's hope for you. In tests by doctors—on their own patients—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound gave relief from such distress. Complete or striking relief! In case after case!

• • •

Surely you know that Lydia Pinkham's is scientifically modern in action! Surely you know what it has done for others!

But do you know what it will do for you? Not if you haven't experienced the relief of tension, "flashes" and irritability it so often brings at such times!

Before another day has passed—try Lydia Pinkham's Vegetable Compound . . . and discover how much easier your "change of life" may be!

NOTE: Lydia Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is grand, too, for the functional pains, cramps, and "weak" feelings of menstruation! Millions of younger women, and girls, use it for this purpose! It strikes directly at the cause of menstrual distress!

Lydia Pinkham's action through sympathetic nervous system—relieves distress of the "heat waves"!

MOVIE COLUMN

Find Kissing On Upswing In Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Oct.22—(AP)—In case you were concerned about it, director Mark Robson offers the reassuring news that kissing is on the upswing in Hollywood.

In a clinical discussion of movie kissing and love scenes, the director observed that film smooching runs in cycles.

"There seems to be a re-birth of kissing on the screen now. It happens every five or 10 years and then dies out for a time. The trend is evidenced in the movie ads. Now you'll find wide use of photographs in which Marlon Brando, Elizabeth Taylor, Kirk Douglas are in warm embraces with their co-stars."

Love Hard Work

The renewed accent on love makes more work for the directors, he indicated. The reason: love scenes are harder to film than any other kind.

"You have to make a great deal of preparation in order to make them real," he said. "I always do a lot of rehearsing with the actor and actress so their love-making will seem natural. Often they know each other only slightly and there is a reticence to let themselves go."

He added that sometimes the performers get carried away with realism and actually develop a romance. (This has happened in the cases of Bette Davis-Gary Merrill, Lauren Bacall-Humphrey Bogart).

But Natural

"It's a very natural thing," Robson explained. "When actors are making a picture together, they feel very close and share each others' lives and problems.

"I have often seen it happen that a boy and girl will start a picture hardly knowing each other. Then they develop an antagonism and treat each other badly. After that, they're seen together a great deal."

For Kids

Robson added a warning to Hollywood's mature stars: Leave the screen love-making to the younger actors.

"When young audiences see people their own age making love on the screen, they can identify themselves with it," he said. "When they see the older stars doing it, the identify themselves—but as their own grandfathers and grandmothers."

Plan To Open Nursery Centre

TORONTO, Oct. 22—(CP)—Establishment in Toronto of a day nursery training and demonstration centre was announced today by Mrs. J. S. D. Tory, president of The Creche, 60-year-old city welfare organization which will operate the project. The project has been made possible by a $20,000 grant from the Atkinson charitable foundation.

The future program of The Creche is threefold, said Mrs. Tory. It embodies the training of pre-school children; guidance, help and education of parents to improve parent-child relationship; a demonstration centre and training-school for nursery school specialists.

Besides performing its normal function as a day nursery, The Creche foresees the new school as a training and demonstration centre for future nursery teachers.

PACIFIC MANTA

DOROTHY DIX

Someday Negligent Father Will Regret Indifference

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a young wife, mother of three children. My husband, Carl, is a good worker and to all appearances loves his family very much, but he never wants us with him. He claims it is too much trouble to get the children ready to go somewhere, consequently the youngsters and I are at home most of the time. He takes fishing trips with his men friends, and has other excuses to get out by himself. He will not permit me to take the car, nor will he give me money to go out by myself. This treatment is getting me resentful and cranky. Talking to him does no good. Is there any solution?

Mrs. W.

✧ ✧ ✧

Answer: Although at present you feel you are the injured party, in a few years when Carl's children are as indifferent to him as he is to them now, he is going to be the one to feel hurt and resentful. He is wilfully surrendering the right to the best company in the world, that of his children, and they will never have for him the feelings a father should earn. This privilege is, through his neglect, doubly yours and though constant care of the youngsters may seem confining at times, you are establishing a fine relationship with your family.

It's Your Turn

Since your husband spends money on his own outings, you are certainly entitled to similar privileges. The only way you'll get them will be to insist vehemently on the right to the car when you need it, and enough money to take the children out occasionally. But believe me, you'll have to be very determined. Hubby's had his own way long enough. Make it your turn next.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: Will you please tell me what to do about people who borrow a number of books and keep them indefinitely? When asked to return them, they become highly insulted. I think it is a downright imposition. Generally, it is a best seller that is borrowed and that it the last time you see it.

J. H.

ANSWER: A satisfactory solution to this problem would, I am sure, entitle me to handsome trophy from all bibliophiles, but also, I do not have the magic formula. I have, instead, many vacant spaces on my own bookshelves, depleted by just such means as you condemn. Why a person who wouldn't think of taking a dime from your home will walk off with an expensive book, henceforth to ignore all obligation to return same, is an eternal mystery.

The nearest I can come to suggesting a remedy is tell you to stop lending books. Have a handy excuse ready if you don't like to come right out and say you won't lend them. Either you are reading it yourself, are about to read it or have promised it to another friend. Or stipulate a time limit. Offer to lend the book for one week, then ask for its return on the ground that someone else wants it. Ah yes, you must be evasive with these chronic book-takers! Be sure your name, or a book plate, is in all books, and keep a record of what books are loaned to whom. These, at least, enable you to keep track of where your volumes are, even though it does not insure their return.

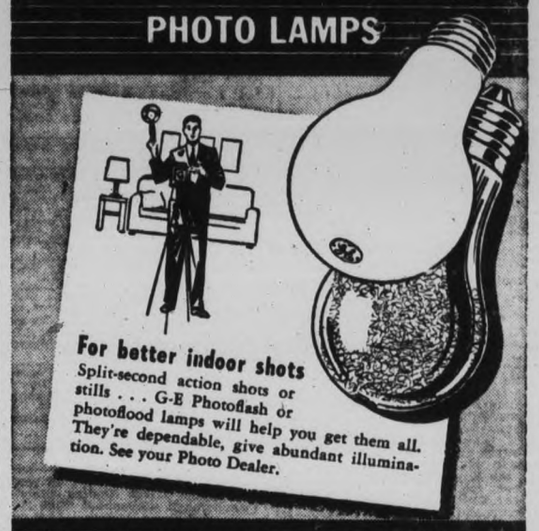
DEAR MISS DIX: My husband has told me several times that he loves another woman. I thought it would all blow over, so have tried to ignore the situation. Apparently I was wrong, for he now wants a divorce. We have no children. Should I agree to his demands?

A. B.

✧ ✧ ✧



ANSWER: If your husband is determined to regain his freedom in order to marry someone else, there isn't much you can do except agree. After all, if he is firmly resolved on his course, he can get a divorce without your consent. Before giving him a definite answer, why not consult a marriage counsellor for advice?

LOGY, LISTLESS, OUT OF LOVE WITH LIFE?

Obituaries

MRS. LAWRENCE L. MAGUIRE

Mrs. Lawrence Lumsden Maguire, 610 George St. N., died in hospital Sunday.

Mrs. Maguire, the former Dorothy Merlin, was born in Halifax, NS, daughter of the late Robert F. Merlin and Gertrude Forbes, and has lived in Peterborough for 28 years, coming here from Halifax.

She was a former police matron for Peterborough; a member of the Children's Aid Society board of directors, and a member of St. John's Anglican Church.

She leaves her husband, Lawrence L. Maguire; one daughter, Mrs. George Bouck (Sheila), Peterborough, and one brother, Arthur Frederick Merlin, Montreal.

The funeral will be held Tuesday at 2 p.m. from the Belleghem funeral home to St. John's Anglican Church. Archdeacon W. P. Robertson will conduct the service. Burial will be in Little Lake cemetery.

MISS EILEEN LOUISE WIMAN.

Miss Eileen Louise Wiman of 500 Aylmer St., died Sunday in hospital. She was born in Peterborough, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wiman, and has lived in the city all her life.

Besides her parents she leaves tow sisters, Mrs. Robert Hopkins (Dorothy) of Bronte, Ont.; and Mrs. H. Hicks (Lillian) of Picton, and a brother, Harold W. Wiman of Ottawa. Miss Wiman was a very active worker at George Street United Church.

Funeral service will be held on Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the Comstock Funeral Home. The Rev. A. A. Mathews will officiate. Burial will take place at Erskine cemetery, Dunbarton, Ont., on Wednesday on Wednesday on arrival of motors, approximately 3.30 p.m.

THEODORE THORNTON.

Theodore Thornton, 74, of 583 Harvey St., died at his home Sunday following a short illness.

He was born in Peterborough, son of the late William Thornton and Melissa Lewis, and has lived in the city a lifetime. His wife, the former Mary Chynoweth, predeceased him 14 years ago.

He leaves two daughters, Miss Esther J. Thornton at home, and Mrs. Roland Krant (Mary) and a son, Jack Thornton, all of this city.

Mr. Thornton retired from work at the Quaker Oats Company about ten year sago— he was a member of the Quarter Century Club— and of late has been in the tinsmithing business. He was a member of George Street United Church, a member for more than 50 years of Otonabee Lodge, IOOF and of the 57th Regiment.

Funeral service will be held on Tuesday at the family residence at 2 p.m. The Rev. A. A. Mathews will officiate and burial will be at Little Lake Cemetery.

THOMAS SABIN.

The funeral was held Saturday for Thomas Sabin, 78, 131 Stewart St., who died Thursday. The service was held in the Nesbitt Funeral Home at 2.30 p.m., the Rev. Maurice P. Poole of All Saint's Anglican Church officiating.

Burial was in Little Lake Cemetery.

Pallbearers were James Price, A. Warren, W. Barry, E. Kimball, E. Grose and R. Grose.

MRS. ROXIE E. HARTSHORN

After a lengthy illness Mrs. Roxie E. Hartshorn, 175 River Rd. N., the former Roxie E. Downer, died today in hospital. She was in her 53rd year.

Mrs. Hartshorn was born in Peterborough, daughter of the late Emma and William Downer. She was educated here and lived here till 1922 when she went to Toronto. In 1945 she returned to Peterborough.

She leaves a son Donald and a daughter Wilma, both of Peterborough; two sisters—Mrs. Myrtle Helip and Mrs. Wilma Murduff; Peterborough; and three brothers —Gilbert, Peterborough; Howard Cowansville, Que., and Coyle, St. Catharines.

Her husband, the late Frederick William Hartshorn, died 16 years ago.

The funeral will be Tuesday, 2 p.m., at the Kaye funeral home, the Rev. M. W. Heslip, Madoc, and the Rev. Ralph Hobson, Park-Street Alliance Church, officiating. Burial will be in Little Lake cemetery.

GEORGE W. SOULBY

Former clerk and cashier of the Peterborough office of the Canadian National Railways, George W. Soulby of 313 Boswell Ave., died on Sunday in hospital. He was 68 years old. Mr. Soulby had been in ill health for some time. Born in Whitehouse Farm, near Skegness in Lincolnshire, England, son of Thomas Soulby and Elizabeth Wells, Mr. Soulby came to Peterborough in 1913 from the Old Country.

He leaves his wife, the former Jane Lillian Gullforth, and a daughter, Mrs. W. A. Willis (Amy), of Willowdale, Ont. There are three sisters, the Misses Kate, Emily and Amy Soulby, and a brother, William Thomas, still living in England.

Mr. Soulby was a member of All Saints' Anglican Church and of the Sons of England. He was one of the older members of the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club.

Funeral service will be held on Tuesday at the Nisbett Funeral Home at 2 p.m. The Rev. Maurice Poole will officiate and burial will be at Little Lake cemetery.

William F. Elliott

NORWOOD, Oct. 22 (ENS) — The funeral of one of Norwood's oldest residents, William Finlay Elliott, was held Saturday at 2 p.m. from his home. The Rev. Harold K. Wright officiated and burial was in Norwood cemetery.

Mr. Elliott died Thursday at his home following a long illness. He was born 87 years ago in Asphodel township, the son of the late George Elliott and Mary Ann Finlay, and lived his entire life in the townhip and the village of Norwood.

Pallbearers were Edgar Buck, Roy Nevins, John Marks, Victor McNeely, Elsworth Hogg, David Stark. Flower bearers were Armar Weir, W. H. Giffen, Bazil Tucker, Aubrey Waddell, Reginald Boate, Max Harrison.

20,000 Apples Return $1,100 To Scouts

Peterborough citizens received the Boy Scouts' Apple Day with ready appetites Saturday and the result will be $1,100 to finance the development of scouting in Peterborough and district and help in other parts of Canada.

Anticipating a larger response this year, the Boy Scout Association bought 150 bushels of MacIntosh Red apples, 25 more than last year. Every one of th 30,000 apples was sold by Saturday noon.

Peter Dominik, assistant commissioner, reported a gross receipt of $1,474 but added that the various expenses will make the net about $1,100.

This mony will be used by the Peterborough Boy Scout Association for its work in Peterborough and will help pay an annual donation to Canadian headquarters to assisting Scouting across Canada.

The Apple Day was spread this year over a three-day period. The boys worked Thursday night polishing and preparing the baskets for the house-to-house canvas on Friday night and the downtown sales Saturday morning.

Most of the 150 bushels were sold Friday night, only 40 were left for Saturday.

Tuesday night the Scouts will hold their annual fall paper drive. A fleet of 30 trucks and an army of 400 cubs, scouts, leaders and fathers will circulate throughout the city collecting the waste paper.

This time they hope to colect 100 tons to raise about $900, each Cub and Scout group receiving a share for its activities such as summer camp.

Hunter Accidentally Shoots Companion

DENBIGH, Ont., Oct. 22 (CP) —Roy Rosenplot, 16, was fatally injured Saturday when shot in the head by a hunting companion. He was dead on arrival at a hospital in Renfrew, 50 miles north-east of here.

Rosenplot and his 19-year-old companion, Frank Vilneff, were hunting partridge in a nearby swamp. Police said both apparently spied a bird at the same time. Both stood up and fired with Vilneff's shot catching Rosenplot in the back of the head.

Police said there would be no inquest.

The dead youth's sister Beatrice had married Vilneff's brother Stanley, the previous day.

Fraserville News

The monthly meeting of Fraserville Woman's Association was held Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. J. Smith, with the vice-president, Mrs. Waterman, presiding. Scripture lesson taken from the 14th chapter of St. Luke was read by Mrs. Pue. There was an attendance of 12 members and one new member was added to the roll. It was decided to hold a rummage sale in the near future. Readings were given by Mesdames Smith, Kellar and Larmer. A lovely lunch was served by the hostess who was thanked for her hospitality by Mrs. Waterman.

Mrs. R. B. Lobb is a patient in Civic hospital where she is progressing favorably after falling and breaking her leg.

Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Pue were recent visitors to Toronto.

Mrs. R. M. Patterson, Lindsay, was the weekend guest of Mrs. R. Wood, Fraserville.

Hope White House Finished In Spring

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22 (AP)— The remodelled, 54-year-old White House will be brighter, more tastefully decorated and a safer place to live. It will have 14 bedrooms, 17 baths and 17 half baths.

But the news isn't all rosy for the Harry S. Trumans, who are living across the street while the White House is being rebuilt, and redecorated from top to bottom. Originally, they had hoped to move back in November. Now the best guess is that it will be early spring before the job is completed.

Maj.-Gen. Glen E. Edgerton said that with the total cost of the rebuilding placed at $5,761,000, he figures there still is $1,000,000 worth of work to be done. Edgerton is executive director of the commission on renovation of the executive mansion.

A Busy Day

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 22 — (AP) — After getting called twice to put out fires at a tent manufacuring plant Sunday firemen decided to stick around. They were wise. Six more blazes broke out during the day. Deputy Fire Chief Hugh Lyon said his men later found a large number of waxey cyclinders spread around the building which ignited one after another. Police arson squad began an investigation. Total damage was held to $300, Lyon estimated.

15 Of 18 Weekend Fatalities Occurred In Traffic Mishaps

By The Canadian Press

Crowded highways during the generally fine autumn weekend brought death to 15 persons in traffic accident in eastern Canada. Three other persons died in a variety of mishaps.

A Canadian Press survey today showed nine fatalities reported in Quebec during the weekend, six in Ontario, two in New Brunswick and one in Nova Scotia.

In Ontario two pedestrians were killed by automoblies. five-year-old Marcia Nugent of Ottawa was killed there when hit by a truck, and at Toronto, Louise Gardiner, 72, was killed when she ran into the path of a car while hurrying to catch a bus. Harvey Connors, 64, was killed at Petrolia, Ont. When a truck was in collision with the bicycle he was riding.

When Harry C. Scott, 55, of Royal Oak, Mich., fell asleep at the wheel of his car, it ran off the road near Sarnia and he was killed. Mrs. Helen Comisky, 71, of Mount Vernon, Ont., died when the car in which she was riding crashed into a 32-foot excavation on a highway near Brantford.

Andrew R. Cosby, 58, of R.R. 2, Welland, was killed while cutting the top off a tree at Welland.

Killed By Own Car

In the Province of Quebec, Jean Lecam, 49, of Croydon, was killed by his own car when he slipped while pushing it up a hill and the wheels rolled over him. Two pedestrians in Berthierville were killed when struck by moving vehicles: Danile Dranville, 5, and Frederic G. A. Sten, 39. Joseph Lapointe, 71, of Masson, was killed while crossing the highway at Thurso, Que.

George Michaud, 57, a worker abroad a freighter in the port of Montreal was killed when he fell 75 feet from a scaffold into the hold of the ship. In another industrial accident an aluminum worker at Isle Maligne, Benoit Tremblay, 20 died when he touched a high tension power wire.

A taxi-drive, Gaetan Servant, 21, was killed when his cab ran into the side of a house at Ste. Anne Des Monts in the Gaspe Peninsula. Mrs. Louis Roy, 63, of St. Angele De Rimouski, was a passenger in a car that collided with a truck on icy pavement 60 miles from Quebec in the Laurentians. She was killed.

In Truck Collision

Roger Bourget, 28, was fatally injured when his motorcycle was in collision with a truck at Montreal.

In New Brunswick two men in one car were killed in another collision with a truck. They were William Goud, 34, and Delbert Wilson, 54, both of Amherst, N.S. who were killed near Memramcook, 14 miles from Moncton.

In Nova Scotia Lawrence Fred-Cape Breton Island, was thrown from his car and crushed to death erick Cameron, 28, of Margaree, when it ran off the highway near Antigonish.

Selwyn WI Holds Family Banquet

SELWYN, Oct. 22 (ENS)—Approximately 40 members, their husbands and families attended the Selywyn branch Women's Institute's banquet, last week.

E. Bell of the Department of Lands and Forests showed several films of pictures.

Mrs. E. Blewett was the winner of the quilt draw. The draw was made by Mr. Bell and netted $33.10.

During the meeting it was reported that some of the members went to Toronto by bus to see the royal couple.

Man In Court Could Be Deported

Further evidence in the case against Emil Koninecк, a Toronto poultry dealer charged with obtaining 107 chickens from a Belmont township woman under false pretences was heard in police court today.

"This man arrived here recently via the Czechoslovakian underground and would find himself in serious circumstances if he were found guilty of this charge and forced to return to Czechoslovakia," said defence counsel J. C. N. Currelly in asking for an adjournment of one month.

At a previous hearing Mrs. Marion Sheppard told the court that Koninecк bought the chickens which were the property of her mother Mrs. Violet Clark of Belmont township, the afternoon of September 24.

Koninecк is alleged to have offered Mrs. M. Sheppard 80 cents apiece for the chickens which he told Mrs. Sheppard were dying of Newcastle disease.

Said Healthy

Mrs. Clarke testified on October 4, that the chickens were perfectly healthy at noon on the day Koninecк purchased the chickens, when she left her daughter in charge of her small farm.

Today Miss Hazel VanAllen who was working at the Clarke home at the time, testified that Kroninecк returned a couple of days later and stated that 25 chickens had died on the way to Toronto and that he could produce a paper to prove it. When informed that the police were after him, Miss VanAllen said, Kroninecк left immediately.

Questioned by defence counsel Currelly as to whether Koninecк had said he had "lost" the chickens or that they had "died" on the way to Toronto, Miss VanAllen said Kroninecк definitely stated they had "died on the way."

Crown Attorney J. A. Bradshaw said the Crown would be introducing new evidence when the case is resumed on November 19.

Pastor's Cake Features Sale

MILLBROOK, Oct. 22 (ENS)— The first "Family Fun Night" sponsored by the Home and School Association held in the school on Friday evening proved a success.

One of the features of the evening was a large cake made and iced by the Rev. A. A. Chote, decorated with a perfect replica of a church standing in the middle. It was complete to a tree-lined path and a sign board which announced morning prayer in St. Thomas' Anglican church at 11 a.m. on Sunday. The cake which was auctioned off to the highest bidder by Homer Ouellette, was accompanied by a legal looking document with seal testifying to the fact that it was made by the hands of Arthur Abel Chote. The cake went to Mrs. W. W. Kennedy.

A second cake complete with a plate decorated with pictures of the Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh, donated by Mrs. J. T. Crowley was won by Mrs. T. Wideman.

A tablecloth donated by a large store also auctioned off, went to Clifford Hall. The auctioneer was Percy Hamilton.

The school auditorium was filled to capacity with people standing at the sides for the free movies shown by Wilfred Elson. The children monopolized the fish pond which was under the direction of Mrs. M. E. Hobbs and Mrs Stewart Snelgrove with Miss Edith Clarke acting as cashier.

Mrs. Homer Ouellette Mrs. Percy Hamilton and Mrs. Herbert Bremner were kept busy selling home-made bread cakes, pies, rolls, cookies, tarts, candy, jams and pickles.

The home sewing and novelty table under the direction of Mrs. G. MacKay, Mrs. A. A. Chote and Miss E. Kent was cleared to the boards. It featured doll clothes, aprons, knitted goods, dolls made of candy and other articles too numerous to mention.

Mrs. W. W. Kennedy was in charge of the room where bridge was played. The whole fair was under the direction of the convener, Alex Gilbert. Ed Nattress and J. F. Crowley in the soft drink and hot dog booth had a complete sell-out. Weiners were donated by Mr. Nattress.

The prize in the naming of pictures from magazines and newspapers, a box of chocolates, went to Peter Crowley and the family prize, a roast, to Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Snelgrove, Gary, Johnnie and Linda.

Although the main purpose of the fun night was not to raise money, about $100 was taken in.

Walter Dinsdale To Speak To Young PC's

Walter Dinsdale, DFC, MA, MP, Brandon, Man., will be guest speaker at the Young Progressive Conservatives' annual meeting Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the Empress Hotel.

Officers for the coming year will be elected. Mrs. David Rogers is the current president.

WALTER DINSDALE

Born and educated in Brandon, Mr. Dinsdale after graduating from Brandon College worked with the Salvation Army social science department in Toronto and Montreal.

In 1941 he enlisted with the RCAF and graduated from Uplands, RCAF station in Ottawa, in 1942 and went overseas. He completed a tour of operation as a pilot with the 410 fighter squadron, receiving the DFC in 1944.

After the war he joined the Brandon College staff as a director of public relations. Mernwhile he continued his graduate work in sociology at the University of Toronto and at Chicago. For the past three years he has lectured in sociology and political science at Brandon College. Dinsdale is a well-known name in Brandon, Mr. Dinsdale's father, George Dindsale, serving as an alderman, then mayor and finally provincial representative for three terms.

Mr. Dinsdale is also a member of the American Sociological Society and of the board of the Canadian Citizenship Council.

Experts Favor Churchill Win

LONDON, Oct. 22 (AP)—Election campaigning moved into the closing stages today, and political forecasts were almost unanimous in predicting victory for the Conservative party led by Winston Churchill.

Latest reports today from political soundings all over the United Kingdom, as reported by London newspapers, told the same story with varying details — a forecast the Conservatives will defeat the Labor party in Thursday's voting.

Estimates of the expected Tory majority in the House of Commons ranged from 43 to 100 seats.

It is a notable fact that, throughout this campaign, the heavy weight of opinion—as reported in public opinion tests of various types and shapes — has favored the Conservatives.

Not every political observer in London, by any means, is convinced of the accuracy of the polls.

Bandwagon Technique

Since the great majority of British newspapers are Conservative, the feeling exists that these uniform results may be part of a "bandwagon" technique.

Even The Conservative Daily Mail reported that the voters "are not only silent, but secretive." It said that, despite the polls, the result of the election may well depend on last-minute decisions.

Conservative candidates did not campaign Sunday, in conformity with tradition.

But Labor brought out some of its big ministerial guns.

One of the most significant statements came in a speech by Alfred Robens, Minister of Labor. Speaking in Northumberland, he said:

"If the Tory party gets to power, there will be no hope of peace in industry, or loyalty of workers which has been given to the Labor government."

Fear Strikes

Fear that strikes would blossom under a Conservative government is frequently expressed by people of different political affiliations here. Industrial strife at this time thus would be doubly serious.

The Daily Mail called Robens' statement a "threat." It commented:

"We hesitate to believe that Mr. Attlee has so little trust in the good sense or good faith of the workers. Perhaps he was merely indulging in one of those last-minute scares."

Step Up Work

LA SPEZIA, Italy, Oct. 22 — (Reuters) — An Italian shipyard has stepped up work on the $3,000,000 job of refitting and modernizing Egyptian King Farouk's yacht. Officials said the ship was needed Nov. 17 82nd anniversary of the inauguration of the Suez Canal.

Vagrant Fined

William Lankford, 53, of 173 Edinburgh St., pleaded guilty to a charge of vagrancy in police court today and was fined $10 and $2.50 costs or in default 10 days by Magistrate W. R. Philp.

Elizabeth, Duke At Service In Cathedral

By DAVE McINTOSH

VANCOUVER, Oct. 22—(CP)—Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip worshipped Sunday at Christ Church Cathedral here.

Philip, dressed in navel uniform, read the lesson.

The Princess, dressed in a brown velvet coat and matching hat, with a small corsage of white orchids touched with purple, and the Prince were met on the sidewalk in front of the cathedral by the Very Rev. Cecil Swanson, dean of New Westminster, who preached the sermon.

The cathedral was packed with some 1,500 persons, nearly all of them regular members of the congregation. About 5,000 persons heard the service through loudspeakers outside the cathedral.

The Royal couple took their seats in the right front pew. Mayor Fred Hume and Mrs. Hume sat on their right.

The Princess and the Duke sang all the words to every hymn. They whispered together once, when Philip returned to his seat after reading the lesson.

Keeps Eye On Things

When the Princess and Prince first took their seats they knelt together and prayed. They rose and Philip looked around twice to see if the other members of the Royal party were seated. The Princess looked around once, then turned and smiled at Philip.

All hymns except Unto the Hills appeared in the order of service and the hymnal was used for this. Like nearly all worshippers, the Princess put the hymnal away during the singing of the hymn's last line. The Duke waited until the amen.

In his sermon, Dean Swanson said "Christian forces in Canada rejoice" that the Royal couple joined in public worship.

As this Sunday was Trafalgar Day, Dean Swanson took as his theme Nelson's famous words: "England expects this day that every man will do his duty."

"The outstanding thing about duty is that it does not count the cost," he said.

There was duty toward God; there was duty toward one's neighbor. He spoke of both the duty of the serviceman and the duty of the mother.

Ronald Wilson Wins Apsley Speech Contest

On Friday evening the oratorical contest sponsored by Women's Institute was held. There were 10 contestants. All contestants were pupils of Apsley school area school.

W. Houle, teacher of grades 5 and 6 acted as chairman. Judges were Miss Mabel Jones Deaconess of the Anglican Church here. Miss E. Infrunary, Apsley and George Booth of Peterborough. The contestants and subjects were: Andrea Steer, Africa; Rose Everett, Prince Philip; Helen Rusaw, Buffalo; Garry Hall, Rubber; Jim Reddick, Rubber; Phil Holden, Eskimos; Mervin Wilson, The Flag; Ronald Wilson, The Indians; Rhoda Trotter, Royal Canadian Mounted Police; Aileen Tanner, The Yukon.

While the judges were making their decision Derek Hester provided piano selections. The result of judging showed Ronald Wilson winner of first prize. He will compete in the county contest in Peterborough on October 26. Second prize winner was Rhoda Trotter and third went to Jim Reddick.

Mrs. Norman Reddick, president of the local Women's Institute presented the prizes and also gave each losing contestant a small gift. She thanked the contestants and all who had helped to make the evening a success. The attendance was not as large as in former years.

Won't Be Wiped Out

NEW YORK, Oct. 22 —(AP)—If there is a war and if the west is victorious, Communism nonetheless will continue in China and Russia "for some time," Lord Bertrand Russell, British Nobel Pribe winner, said Sunday. That's because "it would be too expensive for us to run their governments," he said. But eventually Communism will disappear, Russell added, because "it is based mainly on poverty which would be wiped out."

Philip Has Visit With Old Shipmates

VANCOUVER, Oct. 22—(CP)—Prince Philip ran into old shipmates Saturday night.

The Prince, a Royal Navy officer, swapped yarns with them on a visit to HMCS Discovery, headquarters of the Royal Canadian Navy Reserve here.

He ran into Capt. Donald Smith, under whom he served aboard the troop-carrying liner Empress of Asia during the war, Commodore Maurice Mayall, who was his captain on the Empress of Russia in 1941, and Lieut. Jim Butterfield, who served with him on a warship.

During his 40-minute informal visit, the Prince was reminded that in 1941, under Commodore Mayall, he had shovelled coal in the stokehold of the Empress of Russia from Newport News, Va., to Halifax.

Organ Recital By Dr. Bearder

An afternoon recital of organ and choral music was presented in St. John's Anglican Church on Sunday.

Dr. J. W. Bearder, FRCO., LISM., former head of the Canadian College of Organists was guest organist. St. John's choir under the directon of F. G. Mann, organist and choirmaster presented The Harvest Cantata by Dr. G. Garratt.

The organ recital included Sonata in A Minor by Dr. Francis Edward Gladstone, Evening Song by Edward Bairstow, Trumpet Minuet by Sir Alfred Hollins, Sursum Corda by Sir Edward Elgar, A Pastorale Tune by Godfrey Sampson, Epilogue by Dr. Healey Willan, Chorale Prelude on Irby by C. P. Cowell.

Dr. Bearder also played Grand Choeur, which was composed by Mr. Mann and dedicated to the guest organist.

Garry Ball sang the treble solo in the cantata; Victor D. Coleman, the tenor solo and Mrs. D. Landry, Mrs. G. Kilborn and Miss J. Kilborn, the trio.

The selections were announced by Mr. Coleman.

Police Donate Blood

BOSTON, Oct. 22 (AP) —More than 20 policemen donated blood Sunday for Detective Arthur J. Ahearn, who, superiors said, is suffering from ulcers apparently generated from overwork in connection with the $1,750,000 Brinks robbery. Superiors said Ahearn had been working a great deal of overtime since the holdup a year ago last January.

STATE RIDE — Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh rode in an ancient stage coach during their visit to Calgary. Ninety years ago the coach carried the Princess' great-grandfather, later King Edward VII, from Truro to Pictou, N.S., during the Prince of Wales' 1860 visit. Here an Indian blanket is being laid on the rough ground at the stampede grounds as the Royal couple alight.—(CP From Calgary Herald).

Triumphal Arches Prepared For Mossadegh At Abadan

TEHRAN, Oct. 22. (AP)—Followers of Premier Mossadegh said Sunday he may visit Abadan, site of the vast nationalized but idle refinery, on his way home from New York and Washington next week.

They said he would pass through specially built arches of triumph and would be hailed as a returning hero.

Hossein Maki, secretary of Mossadegh's national bloc and boss of the oil nationalization drive, said members of the Premier's entourage are dickering with foreign oil company representatives for the sale of crude oil, and predicted the first contracts would be signed within two weeks.

There are indications of growing uneasiness over the nation's worsening financial situation. Oil revenues formerly accounted for nearly half the government's operating expenses.

The ministers of interior as an economy measure, ordered the recall of 33 employees from Europe, where they were studying government administration.

Some government employees were reported preparing a nationwide strike against the present salary freeze. The government's debts are mounting, partly because of $3,000,000 a month being paid to oil employees most of whom are still idle.

Australia Seeking To Verify Claims

SYDNEY, Australia, Oct. 22 — (Reuters)—Capt. Patrick Gordon Taylor will make the first flight from Australia to the South Polar mainland, External Affairs Minister Richard Casey announced Sunday night.

"Such a flight will reinforce our claim to about one-third of the Antarctic continent," said Casey.

Taylor led a 9,000-mile trailblazing flight to Chile and back last spring in a Catalina flying boat.

Casey said the Polar flight will be made next January—summer in the southern hemisphere.

After making the announcement Casey left by air on a six-week tour, which includes a visit to Canada as well as Middle East discussions with the Egyptian government and attendance later at the United Nations General Assembly in Paris.

Gas Price War Draws London Crowds

LONDON, Ont., Oct. 22 (CP)—Motorists flocked joyously during the weekend to London service stations which have cut gasoline prices as much as eight cents a gallon.

But no one else seemed happy about a gasoline price war which has continued since September. Regular gasoline now is selling at some stations at 32 cents a gallon (regularly 40) and premium gas at 34 (regularly 42).

Some dealers have indicated they will cease operations until the matter is settled. Others, operating at a deficit have reduced staff.

On the other hand, those selling gas at the lowest prices reported such a rush of business they have had to take on extra help.

Because dealers pay 33.6 cents a gallon as their general basic price, those with the deepest cuts are selling at a loss. All dealers agreed the price war was helping no one.

No Hint of Settlement

But there was no hint of settlement, with the issue clouded over who should get together and talk about a price.

The price war started late in September when Sun Oil Company dropped its price from 42 to 39 cents a gallon. No reason was announced. Shell and McColl-Frontenac followed suit shortly after.

After a pause of a week the independent dealers joined in. R. L. Gilbert, owner of the Maple City Gas Company, declared he would stay under the big companies if he had to give gasoline away. He sets his prices at 32 and 34 cents. The response caused traffic jams at his York Street station as motorists hustled to get in on the gravy.

Next in line was Les Jones, White Rose dealer, who dropped his prices to 36 and 38 cents.

Spokesmen for the major oil companies have kept silent during the price war. They would not say whether they were helping their dealers by taking a portion of the loss.

Former Missionaries At Church Annversaries

HAVELOCK, Oct. 22. (ENS)—Two local churches, Havelock United and Knox Presbyterian, whose history can be traced back to the pioneer days of this community before the village was incorporated, held anniversary services on Sunday and the guest speakers in both churches were missionaries who have served in India.

Rev. Dr. Robert M. Clark, DTh, of Toronto, was the speaker at the United Church. Dr. Clark spoke in the morning on "The Growth and Character of the Christian Church as it Is Found In India."

In the evening Dr. Clark took as his subject "The Christian Church In India In Its Relation To the Nation."

Special music was rendered by the senior choir. The soloist was Mrs. R. G. Newman who sang "Bless This House" and took the solo part in the evening anthem. A duet: "God's Way Is The Best Way" was sung by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Agnew. Misses Beulah Chase and Kay Agnew took the duet part in an anthem

In Knox Presbyterian Church the Rev. A. E. Toombs of St. Andrew's Church, Campbellford, was the speaker and delivered two inspiring addresses In the morning the choir sang an anthem: "Break Forth With Joy" and Mr. Fred Bennett was the soloist, rendering "Bless This House." For the evening service a girls' quartette comprising the Misses Beverley and Shirley Bennett and Elaine and Joan Graham sang "God Is Waiting In the Shadows." The anthem was "King of Kings."

The first Methodist Church and the beginning of the present United Church was built at what is now known as Old Havelock in 1884, and was dedicated the following year. During the pastorate of the Rev. J. J. Rae, 1889 to 1892, this church was moved from Old Havelock to the site of the present church. Later it was sold and moved to where the 5c to $1.00 store now stands and was use for a store until destroyed by fire in 1908. The present United Church was built in 1896.

Shortly after the building of the first Methodist church in 1884, a Presbyterian church was built west of Pine Grove cemetery on the Marmora road. This church was later sold, for with the coming of the railroad the village began to spring up around the station and shops and quickly outgrew the few residences to the south at Old Havelock. In this new community the need was felt for a church and thus Knox Church was built in 1888, the first to be established in the centre of this new community which in 1892 was incorporated as the village of Havelock.

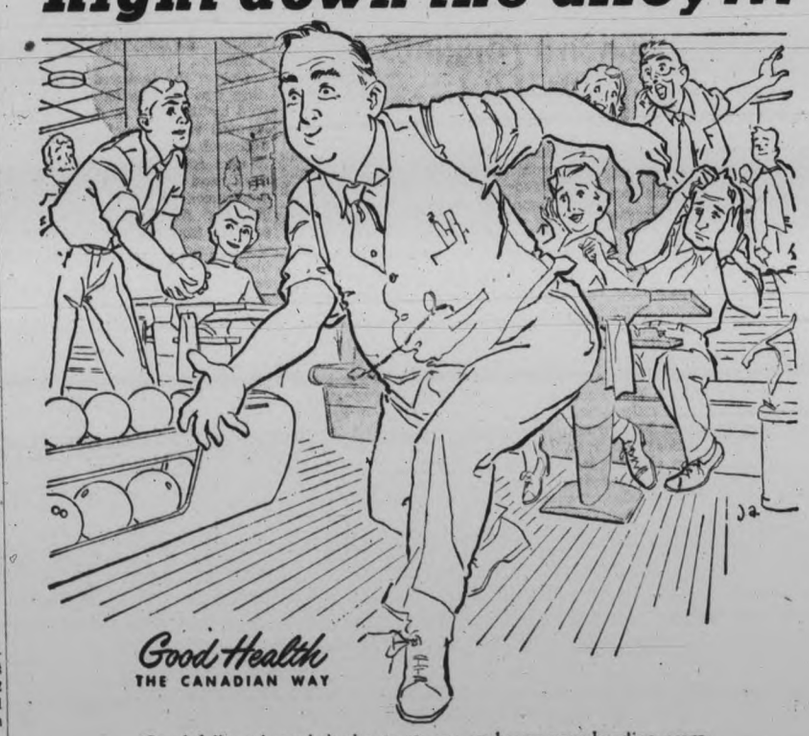
Publisher's Wife Mrs. H. W. Sabine Dies In Marmora

MARMORA, Oct. 22— (ENS) — Following an illness of some months, Mrs. Ella Sabine, wife of Howard W. Sabine, publisher of the Marmora Herald, died at her home here about midnight Saturday.

She was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. V. Hogarth, of Tillsonburg, and had been a resident of Marmora for over 40 years.

Assisting her husband in his business and being an active worker in women's organizations, she was known to a large number of people in a wide area extending beyond this village.

Mrs. Sabine was energetic for years in the activities of the Women's Association and the Women's Missionary Society of the church now known as St. Andrew's United, formerly Marmora Methodist.



For some years also she was a member of its choir. She also took an active part in the Marmora Women's Institute. She was also a member of Prosperity Chapter No. 63 of the Eastern Star of Havelock. She is survived by her husband, one son, Hogarth, Marmora, and two daughters, Mrs. Ray Bagg (Evelyn), Sunderland, and Mrs. Jack O'Hara (Winnifred), Toronto.

The funeral will take place Tuesday, leaving her late residence for service at St. Andrew's United Church at 2.30 p.m. Burial will follow in Marmora Protestant cemetery.

Phones Increase

LETHBRIDGE, Alta. — (CP) — Six hundred new telephones went into service at one swoop here, bringing the total of telephones in service in Lethbridge to 6,396.

for . . . Devotion to Duty

. . . THE AIR FORCE CROSS

". . . "an inspired example to his unit and to his comrades throughout the R.C.A.F." . . . "exceptional skill and determination" . . . "an outstanding example of practical flying skill and personal courage" . . .

In such significant language are awards for the Air Force Cross granted to members of the Royal Canadian Air Force, for acts of valour, courage or devotion to duty in non-combat flying operations.

On mercy flights through blinding snow, or search and rescue operations over land and sea — at home or abroad — RCAF personnel carry on the tradition of the men who built our country.

Four hundred and thirty-nine men of the R.C.A.F. have been honoured with this recognition since the beginning of World War II.

Today in Canada's rapidly expanding Air Force, more young men are needed to train as Air Crew Officers — Navigation Officers, Radio Officers and Pilots.

To be eligible, you must be between 18 and 24 — be physically fit — and have Junior Matriculation or the equivalent.

Harassed Polish Housewife Plagued By Shortages, Police

By THOMAS HARRIS

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 22—(Reuters)—A joint of beef bought openly over the butcher's counter this winter may mean either a good Sunday dinner or a long spell in prison for the harassed Polish housewife.

Neither she, nor the butcher nor any clearly defined law decides whether she carries in her shopping bag a treat for the family or ruin for herself.

The all-powerful Communist party is waging war against speculators and is quite frank about its methods. Polish newspapers tell how the party has appointed "social control" groups for every block of apartments in the capital to watch Mrs. Pole as she shops.

If she shops early, she may get a good joint weighing a whole kilogram (2.2 lbs.). Her neighbor, who gets up later in the morning may get only a 100 grams (about 3½ ounces). Then, as she returns to her flat, she may feel the hand of the police on her shoulder.

The informers may have estimated the daily "ration" available at half a kilogram. Mrs. Pole carries more than that. She is a potential black-market operator.

It Mrs. Pole is able to convince the People's Court that she bought the meat innocently for her family and not for resale on the black market, she is safe. If not, she is sentenced as a "speculator."

The arrangement frightens housewives and means fewer empty shelves in the shops so the government sounds less untruthful when they claim that they are mastering the food shortage.

Social-control snoopers have been organized on a cell system. There are two or three to every block of flats, a score on the railway stations and an unknown number posted in food distribution organizations and in the country to watch for farmers illegally slaughtering their own cattle.

Sentences on "speculators" caught are savage. Their number shows that a well organized black market is flourishing in Poland today.

PIPED ALOFT — Rear-Admiral A. B. Creery, Flag Officer Pacific Coast is hoisted aboard a hovering United States Navy helicopter from the deck of HMCS Sioux at sea off the west coast of Korea, for transfer to HMCS Athabaskan during a visit to the Canadian destroyers in the Far East. Instead of the traditional practice of piping the Admiral over the side of the ship the destroyermen piped him aloft.

500 Czech Spies Gather Information In Germany

By ROBERT PETTY

FRANKFURT, Oct. 22 (Reuters) There is a lieutenant-colonel in Prague who knows more about allied preparations to defend West Germany than many an allied general.

He is the operations chief of the Communist-controlled Czechoslovak military intelligence service, bureau west. Over his desk flow an endless stream of photographs, maps, western army documents and reports from Czech intelligence agents "in the field."

"In the field" means, primarily, in West Germany. The Russians appear to have given the Czechs the main espionage assignment in West Germany. According to the best allied calculations, there now are between 200 and 500 Czech spies in West Germany.

Only a few of the 60 to 70 seized by allied counter-intelligence men this year were Communists. The majority appear to have been recruited by threats, guile or blandishments. Eight per cent of them are rank amateurs.

Like Conveyor Belt

The bundles of documents stolen from allied military and diplomatic offices in West Germany, the crudely drawn maps of supply depots and barracks, the out-of-focus photographs of weapons and material, the almost illegibility scrawled jottings of the spies—all this "raw material" flows into the colonel's Prague office like ore on a conveyor belt.

A dozen or more highly-skilled men "refine" it. Captain Otokar Feifar, who used to be one of them, cleaned out his office files one night, crossed the frontier into West Germany, and turned them over to US army agents.

"You would be amazed how much the Czechs know about the American Army," he told a Reuters correspondent. "Their methods may seem crude, but the evaluators are the key to the system and they know their jobs."

After being sifted the data is ready for delivery to the Russians, who, Feifar said, "take 80 per cent of the Czech intelligence production."

No Vandalism

VANCOUVER—(CP)— Police Chief Walter Mulligan told the police commission that his men have been instructed to help ensure "good clean fun" on Hallowe'en Oct. 31, "but they also have orders to take any necessary steps to stop vandalism, fast."

John L. Lewis Believes Coal Still King Of Industry

By HAROLD W. WARD

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22 (AP)—John L. Lewis, the United States' No. 1 coal miner, thinks coal is still king of industry and that it will be a long time before atomic energy displaces it.

The leader of the 400,000 soft-coal and 80,000 hard-coal miner members of the United Mine Workers of America (Ind) thinks Britain's economic plight might have been avoided if she could dig coal faster.

The threatened expulsion of British interests from Egypt and Iran, and even the loss of India, might not have occurred had Britain been economically stronger at home, suggests this son of a Welsh coal miner.

If Britain could turn out another 200,000,000 tons a year, its economic security would be assured, Lewis says. It has the coal in the ground.

The United States has enough coal to last several hundred years and knows how to get it out of the earth at an average rate of seven tons a day per man for bituminous and about three tons a day for hard coal.

Union To Blame

Britain, on the other hand, gets about one ton of bituminous coal a day from each of its 750,000 diggers. Union policy has been partly responsible, Lewis says. The U.M.W. has encouraged mechanization, but the British coal miners' union has opposed it.

Lewis has talked these issues over with British Coal Mine Union and industry representatives.

In conversations with Lewis one gets the idea this is his favorite topic—the future of the coal industry and its importance.

"This country, and the world, are still on a coal economy," he said in an interview. "Atomic energy will not be a competitive power threat for many years to come, because we have had to devote almost all atomic research for military uses. And that will continue for some time."

Lewis notes too that supplies of uranium, on which mastery of the atom has depended in experiments to date, are extremely scarce.

In promoting development of modern coal-producing equipment, Lewis and his union have made the big pitch on getting the miner a share in the higher yield from increased output. Today, the US coal miner receives a base daily rate of $16.35, more than $2 an hour.

Legion Hoping For Inquiry

ST. CATHARINES, Oct. 22 (CP)—The Canadian Legion hopes to arrange for a general investigation into treatment of patients at Sunnybrook veterans hospital in Toronto.

T. A. M. Hulse of Aurora, president of the Legion's Ontario command, said Sunday that is why he told Arthur Padbury of the St. Catharines branch not to testify at an inquest last week into the death of a Sunnybrook patient.

"I told him that we should take the stand this was purely an inquest into a specific death and that any comments he might make might upset arrangements made for a larger investigation," Mr. Hulse told a Legion gathering.

Mr. Padbury said here recently that he had been told some Sunnybrook patients received "sausage machine treatment" and were used as guinea pigs by medical students from the University of Toronto. Hospital officials denied the charge and last week, at the inquest in Toronto, Mr. Padbury said his superiors in the Legion had ordered him not to repeat them.

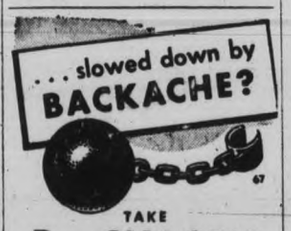
Doctrine Or Atonement Lesson Sermon Subject

"Doctrine of Atonement" was the subject of the lesson sermon which was read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world including First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Peterborough on Sunday.

The Golden Text was: "If any man be in Christ, he is a new creature: old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new. (2nd Corinthians 5:17).

Selections from the Bible included the following from 1st Samuel 15:22, "and Samuel said, Hath the Lord as great delight in burnt offerings and sacrifices, as in obeying the voice of the Lord? Behold, to obey is better than sacrifice, and to hearken than the fat of rams."



Correlative citations from the Christian Science text book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," included the following, "Atonement is the exmplification of man's unity with God, whereby man reflects divine Truth, Life, and Love."

Stolen Car Suspects

WINDSOR, Oct. 22 (CP). — A joint city and provincial police trap Sunday night nabbed eight teen-aged boys, six of them juveniles, after they had abandoned a stolen car and attempted to flee through fields for safety. Another Windsor teen-ager was implicated and provincial police are searching for him in the Sarnia area, where he is believed to be driving still another stolen car.

Plans Revenge

MONTREAL, Oct. 22 (CP). — Police said Sunday that the father of six-year-old Dide Ames, who wandered out of the woods near Caughnawaga, Que., six weeks ago, has sworn he will have revenge on his wife when he is released from penitentiary. The convict, identified only as "Roberts," is serving a 10-year term at the penitentiary in Collins Bay, for a holdup he committed in the Montreal district in 1948.

3 Teen-Agers Killed In Collision

Car Hits Transport On Curve, Upsets; Two Others Injured

BROCKVILLE, Oct. 23. (CP) — Three young persons were fatally injured Monday night when an old-model automobile in which they and two companions were riding collided with a transport truck and overturned. The others were injured, one severely.

Ruth Easter, 15, of Brockville, and Paul L. Elinger, also 15, of Syracuse, NY, died in the crash on Brockville's western outskirts. John Stanistreet, 19, of nearby Greenbush, died early today in hospital.

Mona Summers, 14, of Brockville, was severely injured. Also injured was Allan Mott, 15, of the district community of Jellyby.

The two are in hospital where their condition today was reported as serious.

Police said the car was brought last Saturday by Mott's father, Elgin Mott, in whose name it was registered. It had been reported at first that the registration was in the youth's name.

Strikes Truck

Investigators gave this account of the accident:

Len Farrow of Brockville, in a jeep, was forced over to the side of Highway 2 at what is known here as the Cedar Street curve by the car. Then the car almost collided with an oncoming transport truck driven by Wally Bitovich of Toronto, crossed behind the truck and smashed broadside into the front of a second truck operated by Henry E. Rogers of Toronto. The car bounced off and somersaulted, throwing all its occupants through its canvas top.

Rogers, protected by his truck cab, escaped injury.

During the last three years there have ben 14 accidents on the curve, but Monday night's was the only fatal one.

Youth, 17 Killed By Crusher

Warsaw Workman On Job 3 Days, Caught On Machine

WARSAW, Oct. 23. (ENS)—Ivan Lonsberry, 17, Warsaw, died of internal injuries Monday afternoon after he was caught up in the gears of a rock crushing machine. After being whirled around several times, the clothes were torn from his back and he was dashed to the ground.

The fatality occurred at the Fred Nelson gravel pit on No. 7A, 20 miles southwest of Lindsay.

Lonsberry had only been working with the rock crushing company since Friday. Monday afternoon he was given the job of oiling the crusher.

He climbed up on the machine to loosen one of the cogs and while doing so, his open windbreaker caught in the gears. He was whirled around violently several times and thrown to the ground with the clothing torn from his back.

Dead On Arrival

The foreman, Roger Tucker of Apsley, took the fatally-injured youth to Port Perry for medical attention. And he was dead on arrival at Oshawa hospital.

Lonsberry celebrated his 17th birthday Sunday. He was born in Warsaw and lived there with his mother, Mrs. Ethel Lonsberry. His father, Lorne Lonsberry, died two years ago.

Cairo Mobs Roam Streets Shouting For Arms To Fight

CAIRO, Egypt, Oct. 23. (AP)—Egyptian mobs roamed the streets of Cairo today shouting for arms to settle their differences with Britain. It was a nation-wide "day of mourning" to honor 16 Egyptians killed in last week's disorders. The crowds in Cairo, estimated at several thousand, were fairly orderly, but in Alexandria, Egypt's second largest city, police had to fire into the air to keep demonstrators in check. The new demonstrations followed a British move sharply cutting rail traffic and banning road movement in the disputed Suez Canal area. The traffic cuts will remain in force until Egyptian dock laborers, boycotting the unloading of British supply ships at the British military port of Adabia, 10 miles south of Suez, go back to work, a British spokesman said.

In Cairo where anti-British feeling was rising, the demonstrators yelled: "We want arms." One of the crowd held up a gun and shouted: "This is how we will talk to Attlee."

All shops were closed this afternoon in Alexandria and Cairo.

Seize Harbor

Britain increased her hold on the Suez Canal area Monday night by seizing the harbor and rail station at Port Said.

The Egyptian governor of Suez told reporters there was no more train traffic between the canal zone and the rest of Egypt, although within the boundaries of the zone, traffic "returned to normal." A British spokesman here said the canal zone trains were operated by British military personnel.

Suez itself was quiet during the day, as its Egyptian residents noted the "day of mourning." British forces which occupied a railway workshop outside Suez Monday night withdrew this morning.

Railway officials in Suez said several thousand Egyptian passengers were forced from two trains which the British confiscated at Fayid Monday night. The passengers spent the night at Fayid's Station under British armed guard and heard bursts of gunfire during the night, the officials said.

Heavy Restrictions

The governor said British troops permitted some highway traffic out of Suez, but under heavy restrictions.

A British spokesman indicated there would be some train traffic out of Suez.

A limited number of trains will be operated by British Army crews. One freight train daily will be permitted to cross the

Mao Indicates Red Position Hasn't Changed

MUNSAN, Korea, Oct. 23 (AP)—Red China's Peiping radio today quoted Premier Mao-Tse-tung as saying Chinese will continue to "resist America" until the US accepts Red peace proposals in Korea.

The Chinese Premier added that armistice negotiations "will be a success if America takes a rational stand in truce talks."

The broadcast was heard in Tokyo as the Reds let another day slip by without approving an agreement to re-open cease-fire talks which broke off two months ago.

Mao's remarks were taken to mean the Communists have not changed their position during the two-month break in negotiations. Red negotiators had insisted on a cease-fire line along the 38th Parallel. They said the United Nations emphasis on a battle line truce was irrational.

Earlier Peiping radio reported the Reds had reshuffled their five-man truce team, naming two new delegates. A UN spokesman said the change might indicate the Reds would place greater emphasis on military realities and less on political considerations.

Reorganization of the Communist delegation was announced as the Reds ignored a UN challenge to ratify quickly new truce-talk rules. That was the only thing still needed to re-open negotiations to end the fighting in Korea. The Red delay ruled out the possibility of a meeting before Wednesday.

Vice-Admiral C. Turner Joy, top Allied negotiator, signed the new ground rules Monday a few hours after liaison officers approved them. He asked North Korean Lt.-Gen. Nam Il, head of the Red truce team, to act quickly so negotiations could be resumed.

Weather Cancels Philip's Duck Hunting Plan

VICTORIA, BC, Oct. 23 (CP)—Prince Philip's duck shoot was called off today because of the weather. With a low-lying mist hanging over this area, the Royal party cancelled plans for the Prince to fly to Lieutenant-Governor Clarence Wallace's mainland hunting lodge for a day of duck hunting.

Announcement of the change in plans was made by tour officials shortly before Philip had been scheduled to take off for the hunting grounds 20 miles east of Vancouver.

Under the changed program, Prince Philip and Princess Elizabeth will leave the Lieutenant-Governor's residence here after lunch and motor the 130 miles to Eaglecrest, the luxury resort where they will spend the next 2½ days in privacy.

They planned originally to go there today and then Monday changed this arrangement when the lieutenant-governor invited Philip to his lodge where Governor-General Viscount Alexander has hunted a couple of times.

Now, Philip and the Princess will stay at Eaglecrest until Friday morning, leaving Nanaimo that day on the destroyer Crusader for Vancouver. They arrived here late Sunday aboard the Crusader from Vancouver.

At Eaglecrest, a 225-acre deluxe tourist resort on the shores of Georgia Strait, the Royal couple will be well away from the crowd and the corps of newspapermen and photographers covering the tour.

UN Planes Down 14 Red Jets

US EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Oct. 23. (AP)—Far East air forces today reported at least 14 Communist jets destroyed or damaged and three B-29 Superforts were hit in an air battle over northwest Korea. FEAF said waves of Russian-built MIG-15's swept down on Superforts bombing a new Red air field at Namsi. Allied airmen were credited with destroying five Red jets, probably destroying two, and damaging between seven and 10. One B-29 plunged into the water off the Korean coast. Its crew bailed out and was being rescued. Two other B-29s were damaged but landed at Allied bases in Korea.

The air battle overshadowed action on quieting ground fronts.

United Nations' tanks and infantry forces began enveloping smoldering Kumsong, deserted former Red stronghold on the central front. The Allies in the eastern mountains beat off three Red probing attacks. And in the west, raiding UN patrols got into a stiff fight with entrenched Chinese west of Yonchon.

The big air battle flamed as B-29s from Okinawa rained 100,000 pounds of high explosives on the Namsi air field—the second new Red airdrome hit in two days.

Waves of Red Jets swept in from Manchuria in "one of the heaviest and most determined attacks ever launched against the Superforts by the MIGs," an Air Force announcement said.

Pilot reports indicated there were more than 100 Red Jets.

Namsi airdrome is in MIG Alley between Chongchon and Yalu Rivers. It is west of Taechon, where another new airfield was hit Monday.

Other air actions Monday, FEAF said, cost the Reds two Jets shot down and two damaged, while the Allies lost a Shooting Star and a Mustang fighter.

NEPHEW COLLAPSES

Canada To Build Seaway Alone Pearson Announces

OTTAWA, Oct. 23. (CP)—Canada is going to build the $700,000,000 St. Lawrence seaway alone. External Affairs Minister Pearson told the Commons Monday the government is prepared to recommend that this country go ahead with the big waterway and hydro scheme without waiting for the United States to make up its mind about a joint construction.

The government will proceed "without any delay."

His announcement, coming during a foreign-policy debate, won immediate approval from the Progressive Conservative and Social Credit parties. The CCF group did not comment.

Indicating that Canadian patience has been exhausted, Mr. Pearson said that as a first step Canada soon will request "and expect to receive" from the US government the co-operation necessary under the boundary waters treaty.

Plan Legislation

At this session of parliament, the government will introduce legislation to provide for the construction and to set up, as forecast in the throne speech, a government agency to deal with the construction itself.

Mr. Pearson said Canada would like to see the seaway built as an international project, but the adjournment last Saturday of the US Congress shows that it is not going to be possible to get agreement with the US at an early date. Therefore the government was prepared to recommend an all-Canadian project.

Before this country can proceed, however, a number of agreements will have to be worked out with the provinces of On-

Strike Brings Freight Ban

NEW YORK Oct. 23 (AP). — Tons of army material and civilian merchandise piled up on the docks today with striking stevedores in almost complete control of the world's biggest port.

The freight jam has brought a railroad embargo on most goods consigned here for export and coastal shipping.

As the rebel walkout threatened to erupt along the Atlantic coast, harassed union leaders were summoned to an emergency meeting today (10 a.m. EST) by their president, John P. Ryan.

Ryan head of the International Longshoremen's Association AFL, said the session would be attended by executive committee members of the Union's Atlantic district.

There were reports that ILA leaders would bow to the demands of the wildcat strikers and ask to reopen contract talks with shipping and stevedoring firms.

France Ignores Soviet Note

PARIS, Oct. 23 (Reuters). — France has decided not to reply to the latest Soviet note accusing her of aggressive policy in Europe, a French foreign office spokesman said today.

"Owing to Russia's bad faith and her refusal to take account of our arguments, we have decided there was no need to continue this Franco-Soviet dialogue," he said.

Instead the French foreign office released a statement which said:

The Soviet Union in its note accuses France of not preventing the Germans from building up their economic strength in the 1930s.

The French government reminds Russia that from 1939 to 1941 Germany received important economic aid from Russia, with whom she was in alliance at the time.

Thousands Homeless In Formosa 'Quake

TAIPEH, Formosa, Oct. 23 — (Reuters).— Widespread destruction was reported today in large areas of Nationalist-held Formosa, where at least 80 persons have been killed and thousands made homeless by heavy earth shocks since dawn Monday.

Latest reports said that there had been 43 heavy shocks and 91 minor tremors in the last 36 hours.

About 80 persons were killed in the hardest-hit area—Hualien in East Formosa—where 56 per cent of the houses crumbled, the dikes broke, and streets were torn open.

Tearful Wives Leave Suez

PORT SAID, Suez Canal Zone, Oct. 23 — (Reuters). — British soldiers snatched a few brief hours' happiness here today with tearful wives and children aboard the troopship Empress of Australia.

Because of Egyptian rioting in the zone last week, the families must sail back to Britain Wednesday. They were on their way here to move into regular quarters with their army menfolk.

Gift-laden officers and enlisted men climbed aboard the ship to spend the day with excited wives and confused but happy kids. The soldiers had been brought 50 miles from Ismailia by special convoy for the occasion.

Seven girls went ashore for hasty wedding ceremonies to fiancees they sailed to meet.

Freedom Train Refugees Treated Like Others—Harris

OTTAWA, Oct. 23 — (CP). — Immigration Minister Harris today issued a statement covering government policy on the fact that eight of 31 "freedom train" border from Czechoslovakia to refugees, who broke across the Western Germany, have been denied entry to Canada.

Eleven of the refugees who have been granted entry are scheduled to arrive at Halifax Wednesday aboard the SS Goya.

Mr. Harris said that while there was much public interest in the "freedom train" refugees, their cases had to be considered on the same basis as those of other refugees who had crossed the Iron Curtain in less spectacular ways.

"Every possible co-operation" had been extended by Canadian immigration officers to agencies working in their behalf, and this had resulted in the early movement to Canada of the 11 refugees.

"However," he added, "we must bear in mind that similar escapes are made from the Communist countries at a continuing rate, estimated by the International Refugee Organization to be from 1,500 to 2,000 a month. Many of these, who slip across the border singly and in small groups, have risked their lives and suffered a great deal of hardship in reaching the free zones. Although their cases are not publicized, they are deserving of the same consideration.

"Sympathetic though we may be to these people, it is essential that they meet the Canadian requirements as to health and general suitability. Because of this each case must be decided on its own merits....

"This has been the procedure in regard to the 11 arriving Wednesday and applications from the others who made their escape on this train from Czechoslovakia are being dealt with on the same basis. If, however, certain members of the group do not meet Canadian requirements, they must be treated as any others who come into that category."

Reds Leave Berlin Village

BERLIN, Oct. 23 — (CP). — East German police have withdrawn from the 50-family West Berlin district village of Steinstuecken, which they occupied Thursday.

The withdrawal followed a statement by Allied authorities that the Russians had agreed "in principle" to give back to West Berlin the little community which is entirely surrounded by the Soviet zone.

Residents of the two-square-mile American sector suburb said the surprise withdrawal came suddenly late Monday night "and followed instructions by Soviet occupation authorities."

Agreement in principle was reached after talks which began Monday between US and Soviet officials after a western protest.

Final status of the island village between the American and Russian zones of Berlin probably will be decided by a joint United States-Soviet investigation, Russian officials said.

Return Open Verdict In BC Plane Crash

NANAIMO, B.C., Oct. 23 — (CP)— A coroner's jury [illegible] returned an open verdict into the deaths of 23 persons in a plane crash last Wednesday.

Twenty passengers and a crew of three perished when the Queen Charlotte Airlines Canso Aircraft rammed into nearby Mount Benson, exploded and burned. There were no survivors.

Coroner W. H. Jones said there was no evidence to incriminate the crew and suggested the open verdict with death due to misadventure.

The plane was en route from Kemano, B.C., 400 miles north of here, to Vancouver on a regular flight.

Is He Doctor Or Not? Navy Buffaloed Performs Major Operations, Man Mystery

OTTAWA, Oct. 23 (CP) — A navy medical officer is under suspension in a destroyer off Korea today and naval and RCMP officials are trying to decide whether he is actually a doctor, even though he has performed a number of successful operations.

It is likely that the officer, listed in naval records as Surgeon Lieutenant Joseph Cyr of Edmunston, NB, will be flown home to facilitate the investigation. Another medical officer would be posted to his ship, the Cayuga.

He is under questioning aboard ship by Cayuga's captain, Cmdr. James Plomer of Saint John, NB. Here in Canada naval officers poked through his records and Mounties tried to track down facts which will show whether he is Joseph Cyr or someone else.

In New Brunswick, Dr. Joseph Cyr of Grand Falls is reported to be the only doctor of that name in the Edmunston area. He said he reported to the Mounties about missing medical documents.

At naval headquarters here, a mixture of wonder and amusement broke out in the wake of statements alleging that a man who collapsed a lung, amputated limbs and removed a bullet from near a heart in operations on South Koreans is not a doctor after all.

The navy magazine Crowsnest was all set to go to press with a story reporting the officer's medical feats in Korea. The story was pulled out just in time.

John Peel's Horn To Be Up For Sale

LONDON, Oct. 23 (Reuters)—The hunting horn of John Peel, whose exploits with his hounds are still celebrated in the famous song, will be put up for sale shortly in London.

The copper, bugle-shaped horn was kept in the lounge of the Lion Hotel, Guildford, Surrey, and was owned by a brewery company which now has gone into liquidation.

With it is a letter written by Peel's son in 1886 certifying that it is the one used by his father.

John Peel was born in Cumberland in 1777.

"D'ye Ken John Peel" was written by John Graves, the hunsman's friend.

Conant Outlines "Evils" In Ont. Election Practices

HAMILTON, Oct. 23 (CP) — Hon. Gordon D. Conant, Oshawa lawyer and former master of the Ontario Supreme Court, today outlined what he termed certain "evils" in Ontario election practices.

A former provincial attorney-general, Mr. Conant told the Men's Canadian Club that the Ontario Election Act prohibits candidates for election arranging for the carrying of voters to the polls through the hiring of automobiles or other conveyances. A provincial election will be held Nov. 22.

"This law is probably violated more frequently and flagrantly than any other provision in our election act," he said.

"I believe we have got to change our election act. We must either allow the conveyance of voters to some extent or in some modified form, or we must resort to compulsory voting."

Mr. Conant said that while his address was on elections, it was not about politics, but about "the machinery and methods by which we choose our legislatures, and, as a consequence, our governments."

He said compulsory voting is the law in Australia. He saw no reason why it should not be as effective in Canada as in Australia, where in the last general election some 90 per cent voted.

Another "important aspect of our elections" was the "loose and inconclusive manner" in which the policies and principles of parties and candidates are placed before the electors.

"Although we have a literate and highly intelligent electorate, we do not require that they be informed as to the issues in the elections. We leave that to the hurly burly and rough and tumble of election tactics.

"We cannot have sound legislatures or governments if candidates are elected for extraneous reasons and on irrelavent appeals."

Russia Has Third Atom Blast

White House Makes Announcement Of New Explosion

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23. (AP) —A third atomic blast has occurred in Russia, the White House announced late Monday and "there may be more such explosions from time to time."

Giving those bare details, the White House press secretary, Joseph Short, said the new atomic blast in Russia was "apparently . . . part of a test series."

The announcement came on the same day that the United States Atomic Energy Commission set off a puzzlingly-small A-blast near Las Vegas, Nev.

Unofficial observers some distance from the scene reported the explosion flared for only one-tenth of a second or so. Officials in charge said the "desired scientific data had been obtained" but declined to comment on implications of the test.

Dr. Alvin C. Graves, scientific test chief for the AEC, declared: "It was not a fizzle or a dud."

Different Term

The White House announcement about the Soviet explosion did not use the word "bomb," which was employed Oct. 3 in the announcement of a second Russian blast.

Nor did Secretary Short explain why it had been concluded that the new blast was part of a test series.

What he did say jibed with an announcement by Premier Joseph Stalin on Oct. 6. Stalin had said:

"The testing of atomic bombs of various calibres will be carried out in the future. . . according to the plan for our country's defence against the Anglo-American aggressive front."

Support Weakens On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, Oct. 23 (CP) — Early support weakened sharply today in mid-session dealings as early afternoon stock market prices turned lower.

Volume dwindled to 1,262,000 shares for the first three hours.

Papers, constructions and miscellaneous industrials drew most support. Banks and textiles weakened while foods and liquors dipped abruptly.

Western oils lost more than half their early gains. Canadian Atlantic, North Canadian, Pacific Petroleum, Sapphire and Selburn remained strong. General Petroleum A, Devon-Leduc, Pan Wester, Security Free and Western Homestead weakened.

Base metals turned mixed. Consolidated Smelters, Falconbridge, International Nickel, Pen Orielle and United Keno Hill posted gains to $1. Estella, New Calumet, Quebec Manitou, Sherritt-Gordon and Silver Standard climbed pennies. Barvue, East Sullivan and Labrador eased.

Senior golds held early gains. Bralorne, Kerr Addison, Lake Shore, Malartic and McIntyre were strong. Secondary issues showed a majority of advances.

MRS. LLOYD ASH

A private funeral service was held Monday afternoon at the Comstock Funeral Home for Mrs. Lloyd B. Ash, 266 Mark Street, who died Sunday of poliomyelitis in hospital.

The Rev. B. S. Morwood of Mark Street United Church conducted the service. Burial was in Little Lake Cemetery. Mrs. Ash was Peterborough and district's seventh victim of polio since August.

Members of her family acted as pall-bearers: Don Gillespie, Bob Gillespie, Arthur Legate, Fred Ash, Clifford Ash and Earl Gibson.

FBI Checking Files Of Tass News Agency

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23 (AP) —The FBI is checking into the files of Tass, Soviet news agency, at its main offices here and in New York.

The justice department described the moye as "a routine inspection under provisions of the foreign agents registration law."

The check follows a recent demand by the Washington committee of the American Society of Newspaper Editors that Tass reporters be barred from the House of Representatives and Senate press galleries. The editors contended that Tass representatives were primarily intelligence agents rather than legitimate news reporters.

Wrong Decimal Point Kills Man On Tower

AACHEN, Germany, Oct. 23 — (Reuters) — A decimal point in the wrong place killed a man at Hucklehoven near here.

During the construction of a 120-foot high water tower the engineer, putting a dot in the wrong place, calculated the pressure resistance of the concrete floor at a tenth of what it should have been.

A worker fell through the floor and was killed.

The Aachen district court imposed a 1,000-mark ($250) fine on the engineer.

Budget Taunts Amuse Abbott

TORONTO, Oct. 23 (CP). — Finance Minister Abbott said Monday night he is "somewhat amused" by taunts and charges that he is the "worst budgeter in history" and that he is "engineering a gigantic swindle."

These charges, he said, have been hurled at him because of the size of his budgetary surplus. It was estimated at $500,000,000 at the end of the first five months of the 1951-52 fiscal year.

In a speech prepared for delivery before the Toronto branch of the Junior Investment Dealers, he said it was not always easy for a government to predict what the future would bring—and he quoted the experiences of Ontario and Quebec as examples.

Premier Frost of Ontario, he said, had obtained 16 per cent more revenue than he had forecast for 1950-51.

"A similar error by me would have inflated the federal surplus by nearly $600,000,000."

Treasurer Gagnon of Quebec had obtained 18 per cent more revenue than forecast—"or equivalent to nearly $700,000,000 in the federal budget."

Royal Couple Liked Reception

LONDON, Ont., Oct. 23 (CP) — Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip have thanked the city of London for what they describe as a "really stupendous reception." They spent half an hour in London Oct. 14.

Mayor Allan Rush received a letter from Lt.-Col. Martin Charteris, secretary to Princess Elizabeth.

Text of the letter:

"Their Royal Highnesses, the Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh have asked me to write to you to tell you how pleased they were by the really stupendous reception accorded them by the city of London. It was a great sadness to their Royal Highnesses that they were not able to spend longer with you but none the less they will never forget their short visit there.

"Their Royal Highnesses were very moved to think that so many people had waited for them so long and will always remember London with affection."

Agree To Privacy

Correspondents agreed Monday night to give the couple some privacy and to accept daily reports sent into press headquarters here from a member of the tour staff. There will be two reports each day.

The Princess rested at Government House here today. She looked pale and tired during Victoria's welcome for her and the Prince.

The official greeting was perhaps more starchy than in any other centre to date. Premier Byron Johnson and his cabinet wore frock coats and stovepipe hats for the reception on the steps of the legislative building.

Later, the government laid on a dress-up luncheon at which the Princess gave a speech declaring she and Philip had been moved by the Canadian welcome and that they hoped to come back to this country "before too long."

"I can find no words to tell you," she said, "how deeply I have been moved, day by day, by the reception given to me and to my husband in your great cities and in your smaller communities. The faces and voices of many thousands of our people have touched us both profoundly."

John W. Foote Nominated PC Candidate

ORONO, Oct. 23.—Major John W. Foote, VC, minister of reform institutions, Monday night was nominated Progressive Conservative candidate at the nomination meeting held in Orono. He is the MPP for Durham county.

A crowd of 700 PCs jammed the town hall to see Major Foote go in by acclamation. He held the seat in the last house.

He said the Frost government is making provision for a plan that would give a pension to all incapacitated people. It will probably reach the Legislature this spring.

Major Foote deprecated the hospital plan as advocated by Walter Thomson, Ontario Liberal leader. He described it as impractical at the present time.

The Frost government is not against a contributory health plan, he pointed out. But some preliminary conditions must be filled before it becomes practicable.

Shortage of Beds

Two of the practicable objections, he said, were a shortage of 10,000 hospital beds and a 38 per cent shortage of nurses.

Gordon Graydon, MP, Conservative foreign affairs critic, was not able to attend and his place was taken by Dr. Mackinnon Phillips, minister of health.

Dr. Phillips re-iterated that the present time was unfavorable for the hospital scheme. He quoted Dr. S. W. Jackson, director of health grants at Ottawa as opposing it because "you are telling the people you are bringing in something that you can't."

Can Develop

Liberals should not criticize the present government for having a surplus, said Major Foote. "A reasonable surplus means that the government can go ahead and develop the province."

As an indication of this development he cited the $200,000,000 hydro scheme. And Ontario's population has been growing 10,000 a month since the Second World War.

In 1943 the Ontario government gave $18,000,000 to the various municipalities and this figure has now risen to $93,000,000. And all this had been done without imposing any new taxes, said Major Foote. Other provinces have had to resort to a sales tax.

Ontario, said the minister, has the lowest per capita tax of any province in Canada.

canal to supply Egyptian troops on the east side oif the canal, the British spokesman announced. Food trains for Egyptian civilians throughout the canal zone also will operate.

British sources denied Egyptian reports that they used a squadron of tanks to take the railway shops and station at Port Suez Monday night. Only "six or seven" armored vehicles were on the move in the area Monday, the spokesman said.

Troops at Switches

But British troops are stationed at switches and crossings from Port Said to Suez, along the full 104-mile length of the canal, he disclosed.

British soldiers have been searching every Egyptian entering the canal area Oct. 17 and have been ransacking boxcars to prevent "organized gangs" from penetrating the control zone, the spokesman revealed.

Meanwhile, an RAF spokesman in Cairo said small flights of RAF jet planes were continuing to make "reconnaissance sorties" over the canal area to keep an eye on ground activities.

Egypt's fiery Nationalistic Prime Minister, Mustapha El Nahas Pasha, told cheering audiences meanwhile that he would bring the British to a "severe accounting" for their continued resistance to the Egyptian occupier moves.

More Reinforcements

More British troops and warships, from several Mediterranean bases and even from Britain, sped to reinforce the soldiers, sailors and fliers who have carried out Britain's refusal to be ousted from the vital sea lane which links the Commonwealth.

In London, the Board of Trade halted all shipments to the Egyptians of arms and munitions.

Under the Anglo-Egyptian alliance, which Egypt cancelled last week, Britain supplied much material to the Egyptian armed forces.

Nahas Pasha, making a tour of populous north Egypt, did not specify what he meant by a "severe accounting." Possible actions ranged from the holy war some Egyptians have been demanding to a charge before the United Nations.

Missed The Boat Collins Tells Industry

MONTREAL, Oct. 23 — (CP) — Canadian shoe manufacturers were criticized Monday for not being alert in the commercial exploitation of Princess Elizabeth's footwear.

Clair Collins, of Peterborough, Ont., a delegate to the shoe and leather convention here, asked:

"How is that although weeks have passed since Princess Elizabeth landed at Dorval airport, no manufacturer has yet come forward with a princess blue lace oxford. Here is a great opportunity to increase sales, yet it was overlooked.

The agency is expected to take the form of a Crown company responsible to parliament.

Russ-Speaking Fliers Said Piloting Jets

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23 (AP). —Gen. Hoyt Vandenberg, United States Air Chief of Staff, said today Russian-speaking pilots are flying some of the Communist jet fighter planes in the Korean war.

He was asked by reporters if Russians are piloting the aircraft which bear the insignia of the Chinese Communist Air Force. Side-stepping a direct answer, Vandenberg said:

"People who speak Russian are flying the MIG's. Anybody who wants to make something of that can do so."

As to the performance of American jets against the Russian MIG-15 jets, Vandenberg said the ratio of "our victories is 14 to 1."

The General said he did not think the total of UN aircraft losses since the start of the war was large.

(Through Sept. 30, the UN airforces in Korea have lost 298 planes in air-to-air combat and from ground fire by the enemy.)

House Endorses More Aid For Nato, Korea

OTTAWA, Oct. 23 — (CP).— The Commons, told by External Affairs Minister Pearson that the democracies are faced with many years of peril, Monday endorsed continuation of Canada's military efforts in Korea and in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Spokesmen for all four parties in the Chamber were unanimous in the view that security was to be found in strong collective defence forces. They spoke during a foreign-affairs debate, highlighted by Mr. Pearson's review of the international situation.

There has been, said Mr. Pearson, a "little, a very little general improvement in the last six months, but I doubt whether there has been any substantial easing of world tension." Western Europe's morale was higher and fears of immediate aggression had lessened there.

But there were grave and growing dangers in the Middle East and in the Far East Communism was as militant and defiant as ever. There were two types of aggression to fear, military and economic. How to maintain a balance between efforts to cope with both was the central problem for the free world.

Race For Years

Russia might well have decided to avoid open war now, but a marathon race would go on for many years and the west could not afford to stop preparations.

Mr. Pearson rejected a suggestion from Howard Green (PC-Vancouver-Quadra) that Canada take the lead in building the Commonwealth into a third world power. Such a move would lead to the sort of centralization this country has opposed for years. Any such move would wreck the Commonwealth because such countries as India, Pakistan and South Africa would never agree.

He said it would be wrong to attempt to negotiate a Pacific pact at this time. Gordon Graydon (PC-Peel), foreign affairs spokesman for the official opposition, disagreed and said that a Pacific pact should be concluded now to protect Canada's backdoor.

Mr. Pearson said the United Nations remains a foremost instrument for collective security, but there is a danger it may go the way of the League of Nations.

Launches Debate

Prime Minister St. Laurent launched the debate by asking unanimous approval of a motion for continuation of Canada's UN and Atlantic Pact military activities.

There followed speeches by Mr. Graydon, M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader, and Solon Low, Social Credit leader. Defence Minister Claxton gave a review of the military situation and his speech drew comments from Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, VC, (PC-Nanaimo), military spokesman for the opposition.

Mr. Graydon said Canada went into the North Atlantic Treaty Organization for her own national security as well as to buttress the the defences of other like-minded peace-desiring peoples.

"We know that we cannot stand alone in this power-infested international earth," he said. "We are fully aware also that, while we cannot hope to stand alone, we could easily perish alone and that, Canadians do not propose to do."

Suggests Board

Mr. Graydon called for establishment of a national development and production board to assess and utilize Canada's abilities to contribute to joint Western defence.

Mr. Coldwell said the success of the Western world's defence against Communism "will depend on more than armed forces."

"We must beware lest the rearmament program of the Atlantic Treaty nations bear unequally and cause internal unrest in some of the nations associated with us. Already there are indications that world inflation and the consequent increased cost of rearmament are major threats to the economies of the European members . . ."

Efforts should be made to prevent the possibility of distress and collapse among any of the Allies.

Millbrook Church Celebrates 69th Anniversary

MILLBROOK, Oct. 23—(ENS)—St. Andrew's United Church celebrated on Sunday the 69th anniversary of its dedication. The special preacher, the Rev. A. E. Kewly of Toronto, stwardship secretary of the United Church, spoke to large congregations both morning and evening.

In the morning he took as his subject "None but the thankful heart" and his text, chosen from I Corinthians the 15th chapter, was "Thanks be to God who giveth us the victory".

Mr. Kewley said that an elderly Christian when asked the definition of a saint said "He is not the one who prays most, fasts most, or gives the most offering, it is he who is most thankful". Only the thankful heart could continue steadfast, immovable in the faith.

In the evening his subject was "How much is all?" and he based his sermon on the story of the widow's mite. This was a fitting thank-offering topic, he said, since it was at the great pass-over thank-offering that the widow had given her gift. He again illustrated his talk with many stories from his experience and concluded with reminding the congregation that Christ himself had given his abundance of love and strength, that He had given his all.

The special music for the occasion consisted of two anthems by the chair under the direction of Mrs. G. A. Spicer, "Te Deum Laudamus" with Homer Ouellette taking the bass solo, and "Our Blessed Redeemer" with Yvonne Richards, soprano, as soloist. A duet sung by Mrs. G. A. Spicer and Mrs. Lawrence Winslow, "Forever with the Lord"; and two selections by the male quartette comprising Messrs. Gordon Might, Donald McKnight, Homer Oullette, Melville McDowell, "Take Time to b Holy" and "Have you wandered away from your Father's Care?" Miss E. Hetherington was at the organ.

Both morning and evening services were conducted by the pastor, the Rev. A. M. Butler. In the evening, the Rev. W. H. Heustin of Grace Presbyterian church, read the Scripture lesson services in Grace church. Many of St. Thomas' Anglican congregation were also present.

The church had been decorated for the occasion with golden glow and bronze baby 'mums from the garden of Mrs. J. H. McKnight. The committee in charge were Miss Mabel Clarry, Mrs. G. A. Spicer and Donald Spicer.

The offering taken in during the day amounted to about $720. but it is expected when all donations are in it will be well over the $800. asked for. The $100. cheque usually put in by the Women's Association was not given this year, since the W.A., under the direction of their president, Mrs. John McKnight, have just completed having a new oil heating system installed in the parsonage.

Recently Wed Couple Honored At Bethany

MILLBROOK Oct. 23 (ENS)—A community gathering was held in the town hall Friday evening, honoring Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Pomeroy of Peterborough, a recent bride and groom formerly from this village and presenting them with a platform rocker upholstered in red knobby velour and a chrome finished smoker's stand. Ray Challice read the address of congratulations and good wishes, which mentioned in particular the young couple's interest and active participation in the church groups, Badminton Club, Girls' Softball Club, and Boys' Baseball Team.

An entertainment preceded the presentation with selections by the McGill Orchestra; solo by Miss Gladys Bigelow, "Love's Old Sweet Song"; two tap dancing numbers in costume by Miss June Wright; solo by Ralph Preston, "Ain't It Nice?" The Rev. James Hampson spoke briefly expressing his good wishes and of the assembled guests. Creighton and Marie Carr sang "May the Good Lord Bless and Keep You" and "I Love Those Dear Hearts and Gentle People."

Lunch was servedb y the ladies and the bride and groom passed individual servings of wedding cake to everyone. The remainder of the evening was spent in dancing to music furnished by Robert Sisson, Miss Gladys Bigelow and the McGill Bros., with Ernest Youngman calling the square dances.

Mr. Pomeroy expressed the thanks of himself and his wife for the gift.

Pour Cement Pipes

COBOURG, Oct. 23 — (ENS)—Work has started at the ordnance depot site in the manufacture of six foot diameter cement drain pipes. It was found more convenient to make them on the spot than ship them into Cobourg and a plant was set up employing abou' 15 local men. They are now pouring cement into the moulds and the big drainage pipes will soon be ready for use.

Big Apple Day

COBOURG, Oct. 23 — (ENS) — Annual Boy Scout Apple Day on Saturday netted the largest collection on record. A statement of the net proceeds will be issued this week. The Apple Day drive was in charge of Albert Greaves assisted by Stuart Lane. Proceeds are to help scout activities in Cobourg.

Wm. A. Goodfellow Named PC Candidate For Northumberland County

WARKWORTH, Oct. 23 (ENS)—A record crowd filled the Warkworth Town Hall to capacity and overflowed into the street on Monday evening, when Conservative supporters met to name the Hon. Wm. A. Goodfellow, Minister of Welfare, their candidate in the forthcoming provincial elections.

Guest speaker of the evening was Mrs. Ellen Fairclough, MP. for Hamilton West.

R. J. Locke of Campbellford, president of the Northumberland County Progressive Conservative Association presided for the meeting. He warned against overconfidence in the elections. "We must work to win", he said.

The actual nomination was short and decisive. Mrs. Wm. Tatham of Campbellford nominated the present representative, Hon. Wm. A. Goodfellow. Her motion was seconded by Ollie Taylor of Cobourg, after which nominations were closed.

The crowd was unanimous in their support of the candidate, who addressed them and expressed his thanks for their support.

Mr. Goodfellow is the only elected member from Northumberland since Confederation to hold a portfolio in the cabinet. He spoke highly of Leslie Frost, provincial leader of the Conservative party. "Mr. Frost exemplifies what you and I are looking for in a provincial leader", said Mr. Goodfellow.

The minister said he liked election campaigns for one reason. It gives him an opportunity to meet the people of his riding.

Mr. Goodfellow explained that his duties made it very difficult for him to meet as many people as he would like to. He has attended four nominating conventions in the last 10 days and said he was amazed and pleased to see such large crowds at them all. He said it was gratifying to see the ladies turning out in ever increasing numbers to the political meetings.

Helped Women

Pointing out the strength of women in today's political affairs, Mr. Goodfellow said that Ontario was the first province in the Dominion to introduce legislation creating equal pay for equal work for the women of the province.

"If the women's organizations had not been so strong, this would probably have never come about", he said.

Mr. Goodfellow warned against complacency and over confidence in the elections. "We must leave nothing to chance", he said. Intimating that the party was going to make no rash promises that it could not fulfill, the speaker said the party would stand on its past achievements.

He told of the advance in hydro development in the county in the recent years. During the period from 1921 to 1945 there were only three thousand rural hydro users in the county. Since 1945 there have been more than thirty-six hundred new users. Eighty-six per cent of the farms in Northumberland county now have electricity, which is the highest density in eastern Ontario.

Nonsense'

Speaking of the gasoline tax, and the promises of the opposition to reduce it by three cents, from 11 to 8 cents, Mr. Goodfellow said "that constitutes the highest degree of unadulterated nonsense that I have heard in some time" He explained that increased grants and road subsidies made this impossible, especially since the province was working with a dollar worth approximately 50 cents under the present inflationary conditions.

Mr. Goodfellow outlined the road surfacing projects of the county and said that since 1943 there has been a 300 per cent increase in grants on township and county roads. He said he believed the highway between Fenella and Norwood would be the next to be resurfaced. A section of highway at Bewdley and Alderville should also be developed in the opinion of the minister.

He said it was the aim of his government to help the municipalities to help themselves. He said there had been a 400 per cent increase in grants of various kinds to the municipalities from $23,000,000 in 1943 to $105,000,000 in 1951. There was at present a committee making a full and complete study of municipal-provincial relations.

Mrs. Fairclough

Major Earl Drope introduced Mrs. Ellen Fairclough to the large gathering. She is the only woman at present in the House of Commons. She was a member of the Hamilton city council for five years, four years as alderman and one year as controller and deputy mayor.

"The people of Northumberland County are fortunate in having a man such as Mr. Goodfellow as their representative", said Mrs. Fairclough. "The welfare department has never been in better or more capable hands, and he also did a good job as Minister of Health", she said.

Mrs. Fairclough pointed out that Ontario, under a Conservative government has led the way in many forms of legislation. She spoke of the far sightedness of Mr. Frost and lauded the active part he is taking in the St. Lawrence seaway project. Our labor and compensation laws are held as a model all over the world, she said.

"The Conservative party will continue to give sane, sound, government, for the benefit of the people", she said.

Mr. R. J. Locke thanked the speakers and the audience, after which the meeting closed with many members of the audience lingering to congratulate their elected representatives on his renomination and to chat with Mrs. Fairclough.

Meet Woman MP

COBOURG, Oct .23 — (ENS)—Open house was held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. R. Richards, where residents of Cobourg and district were invited to meet Mrs. Ellen Fairclough, Canada's only woman of parliament. Also present was the Hon. W. A. Goodfellow, Minister of Public Welfare and member for Northumberland County. Mayor Jack Burnet of Cobourg was also in attendance.

Aims Of Rotary Outlined By Governor

"Rotary is friendship organized to be of service to mankind."

This statement was made by District Govenor Ken Partridge at the Rotary club luncheon meeting Monday. Mr. Partridge was making his first official visit to Peterborough as district governor. The title of his address was The Significance of Rotary.

"An explanation of Rotary, which terms in a chamber, club, a luncheon club or a business club, does not give the full significance of Rotary," the speaker continued.

He explained that the first club organized in Chicago in 1905 was motivated by a need for fellowship. However, as it grew it soon needed something else to justify its existence. It was then that service became the end for Rotary and fellowship the means.

"Rotary isn't interested in bank accounts, color of skin or ecclesiastical labels," Mr. Patridge said. "Rather it is interested in whether or not the member is a good citizen in the highest sense of the term. Is the Rotarian's community better because he lives there? Is he a credit rather than a debit?"

He described the inside dangers of hatred, suspicion and intolerance as a much greater threat to the democratic way of life than the present threat of outside aggression.

"A true Rotarion will try to clear away these threats in his community, the speaker concluded. "Rotary fellowship means a joining of hands in a common platform for all mankind, not for glory but for a common cause — service."

Mr. Partridge was introduced by President Syd Black and thanked by T. J. Carley.

The one visiting Rotarian was A. P. Whitely, Bradford, England. He was introduced by E. L. Sackville.

PTE. GORDON GEORGE ROWDEN, 24, Port Hope, was awarded the Military Medal for his part in a company attack north of the Imjin river Aug. 15. Knocked unconscious by an enemy bullet which creased his forehead early in action, Pte. Rowden recovered, dressed his wound and joined his comrades in the forefront of the assault with complete disregard for his own life. Firing from the hip, "his actions were an inspiration to his platoon and company." He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Rowden, 90 King St., Port Hope.—National Defence Photo.

Bold Foxes

KIRKLAND LAKE — (CP) — With advent of cooler weather, foxes are getting bolder and more numerous on the highway between Englehart and Cobalt. Hardly a day goes by without motorists reporting sighting the animals crossing the road.

Says Fluorine Prevents Decay

TORONTO, Oct. 23 — (CP) — Dr. David Ast, director of New York State Bureau of Dental Health, Monday praised fluorine as the most effective and practical way of preventing tooth decay among children.

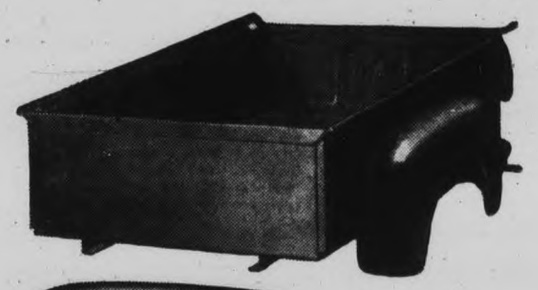
Brantford is the only test centre in Canada for fluorated drinking water, he told the 22nd annual convention of the American Academy of Pediatrics here.

Dr. Ast said that brushing the teeth regularly after each meal is still the best way of preventing tooth decay but by maintaining the correct proportion of fluorine in the water supply decay prevention is forced on every one as soon as he turns on a tap.

The proper ratio of fluorine is one part in 1,000,000 parts of water, he said. This proportion will prevent 60 per cent of tooth decay.

Workers Instal Lights Along Cobourg Street

COBOURG, Oct. 23 — (ENS) — Workmen were installing the street lights on the new standards on King Street yesterday. For several weeks they have been tunnelling with earth boring machinery to lay cable conduits along the main street and later the standards were erected and bolted down to concrete pavement.



The new lights will be on both sides of the streets, overhanging a substantial part of the road in contrast to the old ones which extended only a short distance from wooden poles and on one side of the street only.

A Momentous Election

It is unfortunate for the contestants in the Ontario provincial election that a general election in Great Britain is distracting attention from them. This is not because anyone with any political intelligence looks upon the Ontario contest as small potatoes; it is, rather, because the outcome of the Ontario election is pretty well a foregone conclusion. The British election, however, is a bigger thrill than a horse-race; the winner will probably go into power by a small majority, and there will probably be some exciting reversals of fortune; the city of Cardiff, for instance, which returns three members and sent two Labour men to Westminster at the last vote is confidently expected to return two Conservatives this time. Similar upsets are foreseen all over the country.

* * *

The Conservatives are hopeful, and it is significant that the bookies have tipped them as winners ever since the election was called, though the odds have diminished. The decision of the Liberals to put only 109 candidates in the field, and the alliance of Liberal and Conservative forces in other constituencies, has made the Tory outlook brighter. It was interesting that Churchill himself appeared as a speaker on behalf of a Liberal candidate, Lady Violet Bonham-Carter, the daughter of the late Earl of Asquith.

* * *

The curious thing is that nobody seems to think that the Conservatives can greatly change the economic status of the country, or bring about any sudden improvement in national well-being. The Conservative policy seems to be what Mr. David Eccles calls "tough and efficient expansion"; the two adjectives must fall harshly upon the ears of any industrialists who hope that happy days of low wages and high profits will come again. Not that any of the better British industrialists think of anything of the sort; they know that difficult days are coming, but they want a chance to meet them under a government which is at least as mindful of the problems and needs of management as it is of the problems and needs of labour.

* * *

Recognizing the stubborn nature of national issues, British voters have been giving a good deal of thought to international affairs, and particularly to the poor showing which the Foreign Office has made in the Persian oil dispute and the Egyptian trouble. Mr. Herbert Morrison, so capable in lesser Cabinet posts, has been little short of disastrous as Foreign Secretary. A favourite Labour question during the campaign has been: "Whose finger would you rather have on the trigger—Attlee's or Churchill's?" The Conservatives have replied that if Attlee's finger is on the trigger at all, it is trembling badly, but that it seems very likely that after the election the Labour trigger will be under the finger of Aneurin Bevan.

* * *

Conservative optimism is strong, and it is odd that Labour has fallen back on a type of campaigning reminiscent of its early days—a straight appeal to class prejudice. In some quarters, it has almost seemed that they were protesting that they could not be expected to do as well as the Tories, because they had not had the same advantages. The day has passed when such a plea has any appeal at all for the voters. Nevertheless, Labour is strong, and the contest on Thursday will not be easily won by either side. It is to be hoped, however, that whichever party wins, it will have a sufficiently large majority to give it security for a full term in office. This is no time for Britain to have an enfeebled government.

U.S. Ambassador To The Vatican

It is understandable that there should be protests from Protestants in the U.S.A. because of President Truman's appointment of an ambassador to the Vatican. Nevertheless, we think that the President has behaved wisely. If he had named a Roman Catholic for this post, it would have appeared that increasing Catholic numbers and Catholic pressure in the U.S.A. had carried undue influence with him. But General Mark Clark is an Episcopalian, and his past history is such that no one will think that he is a man easily led to change his mind. He will be a political representative of his country in a foreign state, and the religious implications of that state—though they must always be present in his thinking—will not be of first importance to him.

The Vatican presents a problem to many nations, for it is extremely easy to overestimate and underestimate its importance. To think of it simply as the headquarters of an international church is to neglect its remarkable intelligence service; to think of it as an immensely powerful political centre from which national and international plots emanate is romantic hokum. The Vatican is an astonishing survival from a time when internationalism in the political sense was one aspect of an international and single church. To forego intelligent and intellectually independent co-operation with it on matters of mutual concern is foolishness for a modern progressive state.

The Vatican has its axe to grind, of course. But in many matters of international concern the Catholic axe, and the Protestant axe,—yes, and the liberal free-thinking axe as well—are all the same instrument, and the intelligent thing is to unite on all points where union is possible. Where union is not possible, we may rely on the Vatican to be the first to point it out.

It is difficult not to be impatient with people who think that any association with the Vatican on the part of a Protestant state means an increase of Catholic power. Like the Kremlin, the Vatican has a reputation for subtlety and insidious diplomacy which is not always borne out by historical record. Protestants who fear Vatican contacts thereby reveal a lack of faith in Protestantism; but it is to be feared that in the Protestant ranks there are many thousands who are fully as authoritarian in their cast of mind as are Catholics, but who are neither as systematic nor as judicious as Catholics in choosing their authorities; such people are not real Protestants at all, and should carefully re-consider their position.

The Vatican is one of the most important international listening posts in the world. Not to have a good man in a position of such importance is weakness in a modern non-communist state, and President Truman has filled a gap in his country's diplomatic equipment with a good man, clothed with full dignity and power.

British Prestige Has Declined

Years ago, during the War, Mr. Churchill said with accustomed force of phrase and patriotism: "I was not appointed the King's First Minister to preside over the disintegration of the British Empire." If the Conservatives should win the elections, it may be Mr. Churchill's duty to preside over a British Empire which has already disintegrated as an Empire.

None recognizes this changed British status more poignantly than Mr. Churchill. Last week, throwing an electioneering fuse at the Labour Party he said: "We have endured these six years. They have marked the greatest fall in the rank and stature of Britain in the world which has occurred since the loss of the American colonies nearly 200 years ago. Our Oriental empire has been liquidated, our resources have been squandered, the pound sterling is only worth three-quarters of what it was when Mr. Attlee took over from me (in 1945). Our influence among the nations is now less than it has ever been in any period since I remember."

The Square Dance Goes Home

Because Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip have done some square-dancing in Canada a sudden enthusiasm has seized a few night-club proprietors in England, and we read that they are trying to find bands to play square-dance tunes (which should be easy) and "callers" to direct them (which may be more difficult). Perhaps, for a time, some Canadian square-dances may be seen in London.

If that happens it will not be long before some perceptive Englishman writes to the Times to explain that the square dance is nothing new—that it has, in fact, come home after a long sojourn abroad. Our square-dances had their origin in the country-dances of Britain and northern Europe, but we have preserved them while they were allowed to die in the countries of their origin. We have, however, added one very important and delightful feature to them; we have never read of a British or European dance which had a "caller". And calling-off a square dance is an art.

The first-rate caller is a modest fellow. It is only the show-off who keeps up a perpetual fire of rhymed directions to the dancers and tries to make himself the centre of attraction. The good caller is content to give directions when they are needed, occasionally putting in a few rhymed calls and a few jokes, just to show that he is in on the fun. Good callers are not to be found everywhere, and they will be very rare in London.

This continent has kept some of the old dances, just as we have kept some of the old folk-songs, of England. The late Cecil Sharp found hundreds of beautiful old songs among country people on this continent which had been lost to the people of Britain. He took them home to people who were grateful that we had preserved them. We may be happy that some of the old dances are going home from here, and that we have added that pleasing character, the "caller" to their attractions.

The Cult Of Sherlock Holmes

by
CAMPBELL NAIRNE
Literary Editor of the
"Radio Times", London

IF the creator of Sherlock Holmes were alive today he would be reflecting ruefully, and no doubt with a touch of exasperation, on the flourishing state of the Holmes cult. For it is common knowledge that Conan Doyle wanted to be rid of Holmes, grudged him the popularity he enjoyed, and could never understand why he had such a hold on the public imagination. Sherlockians remember with horror that only a few months after Holmes had made his bow in the Strand Magazine his creator declared his intention of slaying him for good and all, and two years later actually carried out his threat.

* * *

IT is one the minor mysteries of literature that Holmes and Watson were able to steal on the world almost unobserved. There were no wild scenes at the bookstalls when the first Holmes adventure, A Study in Scarlet, appeared in Beeton's Christmas Annual for 1887. No one, apparently, realized that a momentous event had occurred. True, the young doctor-author received a commission for a second tale, but when The Sign of Four, another short novel, came out in 1890 in the two editions of Lippincott's Magazine, English and American, it made no stir. In book form the stories fell just as flat.

* * *

THE spell worked for the first time when in the summer of 1891 a Holmes short story, "A Scandal in Bohemia", appeared in the Strand Magazine, with illustrations by Sidney Paget that caught the atmosphere and setting to perfection. That story had been submitted to the Strand Magazine by a literary agent. Its astute editor had promptly asked for five more — all that Conan Doyle intended to write. Month by month the popularity of the Holmes adventures increased, and the Strand Magazine urged their creator to continue them. He had received an average of £35 a story; for another set of six he named what he thought (and hoped) would be a prohibitive prices: £50 a story, irrespective of length. It was a genuine shock to him when he found that his offer had been instantly accepted.

* * *

THE Adventures ran on triumphantly into 1892 and were republished in book form. Once again the Strand begged for more. Already weary of Holmes ("He takes my mind from better things"), Conan Doyle stiffened his terms: £1,000 for twelve stories. Surely no one in his senses would dream of paying so much? But once again he was wrong. In a mood of resignation, regretting that he must put aside plans for the historical novels he really wanted to write, he began work on the stories which eventually appeared as the Memoirs. He had resolved that there were to be no more Holmes stories and when the Strand Magazine for October, 1893, appeared on the bookstalls its readers were appalled to discover that he had sent Holmes over a Swiss cataract in a death-grapple with his arch-enemy, Professor Moriarty. The public reaction was violent. "You brute!" wrote one disappointed correspondent.

* * *

FOF ten years Dr. Watson and the public laboured under the delusion (shared by Conan Doyle) that Holmes had perished in the swirl of the Reichenbach Falls. Then in the summer of 1901 the rumour spread that Holmes was to reappear in a "creeper" with a Dartmoor setting. He did; but Conan Doyle took care to present The Hound of the Baskervilles as an early adventure. There was still no question of bringing Holmes back to life. His return from the dead, as it happened, was not long delayed. William Gillette, the American actor, had been scoring a great success with his impersonations of Holmes on the stage and Conan Doyle had been impressed by his uncanny resemblance to the Holmes of the Sidney Paget drawings. His detective was much in his mind. Early in 1903 a remarkable offer came to him from America: 5,000 dollars a story for six stories, or as many as he cared to write. He seems to have recognized then that the game was up. A laconic postcard went to his agent: "Very well. A.C.D."

* * *

HOLMES'S death as explained, more or less convincingly, in the first story of the new series, "The Empty House", and when it appeared in the Strand Magazine for October, 1903, the crowds besieging the bookstalls behaved like shoppers in a bargain basement. From that moment Conan Doyle knew that Holmes had joined the immortals. He accepted the situation philosophically and at intervals for nearly a quarter of a century he continued to make addition to the Holmes saga.

* * *

IN his earliest phase Holmes was not a wholly attractive character. The opening pages of The Sign of Four, revealing him as a drug-addict, can still bring a frown to the Sherlockian's brow. But as time went on Conan Doyle's conception of him seemed to change. By a shift of sympathy similar to that which transformed Galsworthy's dislike of Soames Forsyte into affection he came to lay emphasis on the best side of Holmes and moved, perhaps unconsciously, towards identification of this "shadow" with himself. The result is that today Holmes is venerated as an embodiment and exemplar of Anglo-Saxon virtues. He has become a symbolic figure. In one of the letters displayed at the Sherlock Holmes Exhibition which has been drawing crowds to Baker Street, London, an American admirer speaks of "his intensely democratic nature, his love of adventure, his innate kindliness and gentility, his unceasing championing of the downtrodden and the oppressed, his high sense of ethics and good sportsmanship . . his abiding faith in a benevolent God and in an ordered rather than haphazard universe." It is on record that when news of the dreadful Reichenbach affair went round London young City men took to wearing crepe "weepers" on their hats. With that manifestation of esteem the cult of Sherlock Holmes may be said to have begun. For years enthusiasts tried Conan Doyle's patience with requests for Holmes's autograph and optimistically addressed gift-parcels to 221B Baker Street.

* * *

AFTER the death of Conan Doyle in 1930 the cult assumed new forms. In 1934 the Baker Street Irregulars of New York and Sherlock Holmes Society of London held inaugural dinners. Then came a flood of monographs, books, pamphlets. Every aspect of Holmes was studied and analyzed. And the societies multiplied. Today there are fifty or sixty in America alone, and a new one has just been formed in London, with the Master of a Cambridge College as its president. The warmth of feeling which discussion of Sherlockiana can arouse was demonstrated after the opening of the Baker Street Exhibition. The Times and other leading newspapers gave space to a tart exchange of views on such weighty topics as the type of stethoscope carried by Dr. Watson.

* * *

THE appeal of the Sherlock Holmes stories at a time like the present can be easily understood. The Baker Street Irregulars have a "chantey of devotion" which runs:

When influential domes
See earth to hell proceeding
We still find Sherlock Holmes
The perfect bathroom reading.

But why should men form clubs for the study of the cases? Why should doctors, lawyers, university dons vie with one another in adding of Holmesiana? Much of the mock-serious study of the Holmes canon is obviously an intellectual exercise, part of an elaborate game. But there is more to it than that. It provides a perfect excuse for re-entering and lingering in the Sherlockian world.

* * *

THAT world, sealed away in the past and inviolable, grows ever more alluring as the twentieth century advances. Here one can be sure of finding no problems that will not be neatly solved in the end. There is trafficking in violence and sudden death, but also a lightness of heart that the modern world seems to have lost, an almost Wodehousian gaiety: "My dear Watson, when I have exterminated that fourth egg I will be ready to put you in touch with the whole situation. I don't say that we have fathomed it—far from it—but when we have traced the missing dumb-bell . . . " Everything has now a period charm: the conversations, the clothes, the settings of the adventures—above all the settings. The mysterious gas-lit London of the eighties and nineties—the London of yellow fogs, hoarse street cries, and rattling hansoms—has vanished forever, but to recapture it the Sherlockian need only mount the seventeen steps to the Master's rooms.

Too Much Exercise Harmful

(GALT REPORTER)

AT long last, medical science is beginning to substantiate what we lazy guys have been saying for years—that exercise is for suckers and man would live longer flat on his back with a cooling drink rather than climbing a mountain or chasing flies in the outfield. Thus writes Uncle Mat of the Matrix Contest Corporation in his monthly letter. Then he continues:

The Sheffield Telegraph, of England, recently carried an article saying that famous men for years have been asserting that exercise for its own sake is a farce and a fraud.

Max Beerbohm declared that whenever he felt the need for physical exercise he used to lie down until the feeling went away. Mark Twain said he got all the exercise he required by acting as pallbearer at the funerals of friends who had exercised regularly.

George Nathan, the acid tongued critic, boasted that his most strenuous exercise consisted of opening taxi doors and crawling inside. He added that tortoises, the laziest creatures on earth, live to be 300 years old, while devotees of exercise, like dogs, squirrels and hares do well if they last 10 or 12 years.

A few years ago an insurance agency studied the records of 5,000 former college athletes and found that they lived no longer than their lazier contemporaries and that after the age of 45 former athletes showed a surprising tendency to die of heart ailments.

Recently, a medical research team from the University of Minnesota announced that middle aged business men who take regular gymnasium exercise are no healthier than office workers who never give a thought to their physical condition.

The fact is that excess of exercise is as harmful to the human body as racing an engine is to an automobile. Even when muscle exercise and deep breathing do develop the body, doctors are apt to say, "For what?"

Barrel chests and bulging biceps are no use to men who stand behind counters or perch on office stools all day. It is doubtful if even fat men and women benefit from exercise. Doctors are fast coming to the conclusion that overweight, where not attributable to glandular trouble, is generally caused by overeating, not by lack of exercise.

So, if you feel an urge to indulge in anything more exhausting than swim or hike—sleep it off!

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Who shall ascend into the hill of the Lord? or who shall stand in his holy place? He that hath clean hands, and a pure heart: who hath not lifted up his soul unto vanity, nor sworn deceitfully. (Ps. 24: 3, 4.)

* * *

Beloved, think it not strange concerning the fiery trial which is to try you, as though some strange thing happened unto you . . If ye be reproached for the name of Christ, happy are ye: for the spirit of glory and of God resteth upon you: on their part he is evil spoken of, but on your part he is glorified.

But let none of you suffer as a murderer, or as a thief, or as an evil-doer, or as a busybody in other men's matters. Yet if any man suffer as a Christian, let him not be ashamed; but let him glorify God on his behalf. (I Pet. 4: 12, 14-16.)

* * *

Examine yourselves, whether ye be in the faith: prove your own selves. Know ye not your own selves, how that Jesus Christ is in you, except ye be reprobates? . . For we are glad, when we are weak, and ye are strong: and this also we wish, even your perfection. (II Cor. 13: 5, 9.)

It is God that girdeth me with strength, and maketh my way perfect. (Ps. 18: 32.)

Letter To The Editor

WOMEN AT BEST IN CHURCHES

Sir: It is not customary for women to remove their hats on meeting a gentleman, and hats are very becoming to women in churches. There is far more beauty displayed in the qualities of women in our churches than has ever yet been portrayed on any screen.

The writer of a letter which appeared in your Examiner dated Oct. 17, 1951, seemed rather humorous to me. At the same time, in all earnestness, it brought back to my mind reminiscences of war, the training of which was purely due to "Parentage". Hard years were those when I fought defenceless in the "Battle for Daily Bread", which only goes to show the bewildering and staggering power of our Creator.

Since Adam came before Eve, and there being no righteousness in man-made laws today, just what right of way have men to use the land; everything they find within it; all upon it; and what it produces without "Cult of Ult"?

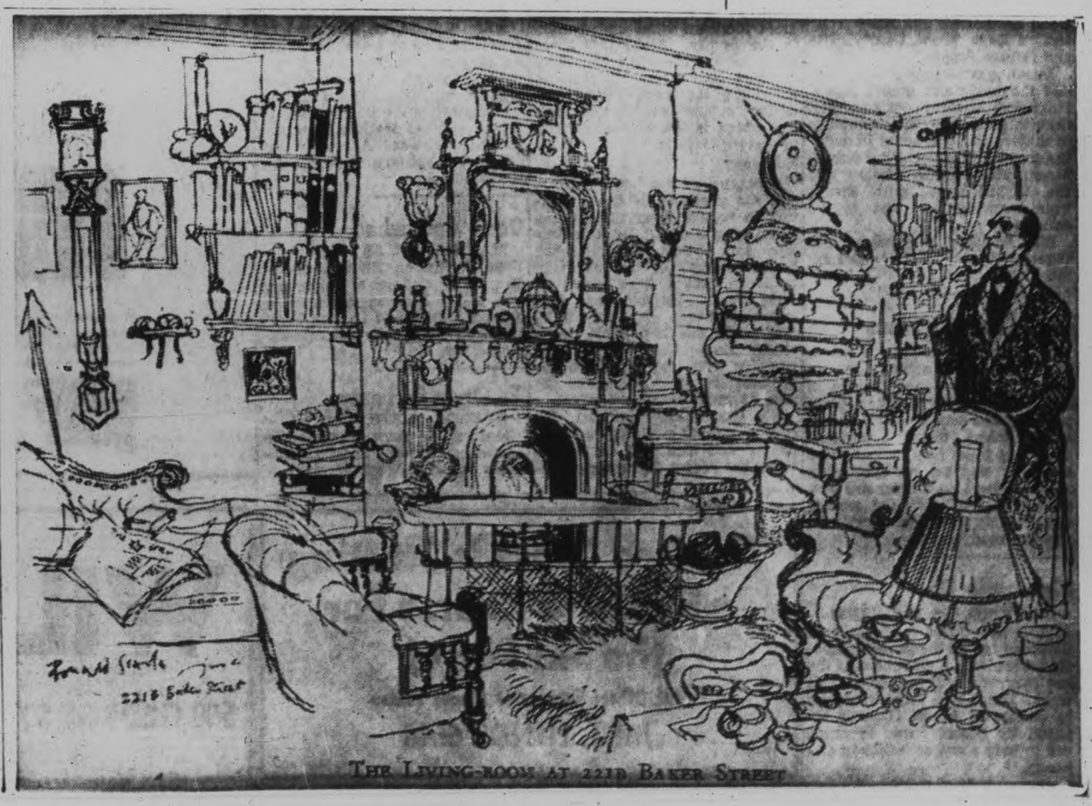
Thanking you,

A WOMAN.

Unconsidered Trifles

The beautiful blonde was trying to impress her friend. "There I was, poor little me, locked in a room with eleven men, and each one trying to break down my resistance. But I defied them all both individually and collectively!"

"Heavens, dear!" her friend exclaimed. "Were you kidnapped?"



"Don't be silly. I was doing jury duty."

Whenever a certain famous conductor was displeased at rehearsal by the performance of the orchestra, he would lose his temper and break anything in sight.

One day, when particularly displeased, he pulled a vauable watch from his pocket and smashed it to bits.

The musicians, feeling responsible for the loss, presented him the following day with an exquisite watch to take the place of the one that had been destroyed. In addition, they gave him another, cheap watch, inscribed: "For rehearsals."

Canada Refuses Plea To Free Kurt Meyer

OTTAWA, Oct. 23 (CP).—Canada has rejected an official West German Government request for the release of Kurt Meyer, the 42-year-old former Nazi general sentenced to life imprisonment for the 1944 shootings of 18 Canadian prisoners of war.

This was disclosed in the Commons Monday as Defence Minister Claxton and External Affairs Minister Pearson made statements about the former [illegible]body-guard who last week was transferred from the Maritime penitentiary at Dorchester to a British military prison in West Germany.

It was emphasized that the transfer will not change Meyer's sentence and that he will remain under Canadian control.

Mr. Pearson said that on Oct. 15—before the transfer became known—the West German ambassador designate to Ottawa, Dr. Werner Dankwort made official representations on behalf of his government for a pardon for Meyer.

Can't Be Accepted

Canada has since told the ambassador that the "representations have been considered by the government and that they cannot be accepted."

The German ambassador made no reference to the transfer of Meyer during his visit to external affairs, Mr. Pearson added.

Mr. Claxton said that Meyer had been transferred to Werl British Military Prison in the western zone of Germany, which he has designated for a Canadian service prison for the purpose.

Replying to questions asked in the House Friday, Mr. Claxton said the former Nazi will remain under Canadian control in the British prison and cannot be released without consent of the Canadian Government.

There has been "no communications to the effect that Kurt Meyer now will take his place in any army being formed in Western Germany." It would be impossible for him to do so since he is still serving a life sentence.

Mr. Claxton tabled the order-in-council, dated Oct. 18, under which he directed Meyer's transfer. It empowered the minister to transfer any one convicted by a Canadian military court and sentenced to two years or more to a service prison either in or out of Canada.

So Many Trains Sabotaged, Russ Imports Delayed

By THOMAS A. REEDY

BERLIN, Oct. 23 (AP).—Mounting underground attacks on Russian trains in Poland have forced the Soviets to shift their East German exports to sea lanes information from east zone sources said Tuesday.

Reparations trains which once rolled out of the Soviet zone, through Poland and into Russia without incident, now are apparently subject to sabotage attacks beyond control.

Informants said the Russians and the East German Communist regime are rapidly expanding ports and shipbuilding facilities at Wismar, Stralsund and Greifswald on the Baltic to handle the flow.

More than 100,000 workers, many of them drafted, have turned the coastal shipping area into a bee-hive. They are largely quartered in slave labor camps, without their families.

The rail link through Poland had been used by the Russians since 1945 to haul an estimated $1,500,000,000 worth of "reparations" out of conquered East Germany.

Can't Halt Trouble

Sabotage incidents have been reported by refugees who managed to reach the West during the last two years. Some said the underground attacks on the rail lines had pinned down three Soviet divisions for guard duty. Even this concentration apparently has failed to stop the sabotage.

Twice the famed Blue Express, elite Soviet train from Berlin to Warsaw and Moscow has been reported wrecked. There has been no official confirmation of the reports.

No high Soviet authority travelling between Berlin and Moscow uses the rails any more. Such top men as Ambassador Gregory Pushkin and Political Adviser Vladimir Semonov make frequent trips, but always by air.

The new Soviet design for hauling goods out of East Germany provides that shipments to the Soviet Union leave one of the three Baltic ports on Russian ships only. Cargoes for Poland are carried by Polish ships. Merchantmen of both countries carry the goods consigned to Red China.

Chiang Kai-shek Welcomes Winter As Ally In Build-up

By SPENCER MOOSA.

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP).—The October monsoon season provides aging, but ever-hopeful Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek another winter of grace to prepare his estimated 500,000 men for an eventual return to the Chinese mainland.

Conversely, the winds that churn the 100-mile Formosa Strait into an angry storm-lashed sea rule out the chance of a Chinese Communuist invasion of Formosa this year.

It is now 22 months since President Chiang and the remnants of China's Republican (Nationalist) government arrived on this island fortress Dec. 10, 1949.

One thing can be said without dispute—his chances of returning to the mainland are better today than they were then.

Close friends of Chiang say he is supremely confident that he will eventually return to China and deliver its people from what he declares is Soviet servitude.

No Slackening

Despite his advancing age, he will be 65 Oct. 31, Chiang has not slackened one whit the spartan life he leads. His average work day is about 16 hours.

The Generalissimo eats good but simple food. neither drinks nor smokes, reads extensively, and is fond of walks in the country.

Chiang, a Methodist, allows complete freedom of religion in Formosa as he did on the mainland.

Madame Chiang, since she came to Formosa from the United States early last year, has been the Generalissimo's constant companion.

People on close terms with the "Gissimo" and Madame Chiang say the relations between them have mellowed with the years and today are those of utmost mutual devotion.

In Government Service

Chiang has two sons by two previous marriages.

The elder is Lt.-Col. Chiang Ching-kuo, head of the defence ministry's political warfare board a man of retiring disposition who likes to keep in the background.

Some say he feels shy because he dosen't speak English. He speaks Russian fluently, however, having spent some time in the Soviet Union during his younger days.

Ching-kuo is married to a Russian and through her the Generalissimo has several half-Russian grand children.

The Generalissimo's younger son is Maj.-Gen. Chiang Wei-kuo, a dashing young man who commands Nationalist China's armored corps.

Wei-kuo speaks English well He is a good mixer and likes fun. His wife is Chinese.

Of the Generalissimo's intimate associates today, one of the closest is his secretary-general, Dr. Wang Shih-chieh, at iny, scholarly man long known as a Liberal.

Liberal Outlook

Another of his close advisers is General Chang Chun, stout, grave-eyed former Premier, also known for his liberal outlook.

Chiang has two homes, one at the fringe of the city, the other about eight miles out. He has his offices at the presidential building in downtofwn Taipeh. It used to be the administrative centre of the Japanese Governor-General of Formosa.

The 1,500,000 refugees from China's mainland on this island are keenly interested in Chiang's destiny. His foresight to make Formosa the last ditch island stand of the Nationalist cause, when some of his subordinates saw no road ahead except surrender, has attracted an increasing flock of followers.

The mainlanders know that if Chiang returns, they will too. All of them want to get back.

Recess Appointment

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23—(AP)—President Truman Monday night announced he is giving Philip C. The nomination had been rejected by a senate foreign relations subcommittee, 3-2, after a bitter controversy over Jessup's views on US policy in the Far East.

To Hear Appeal

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23—(AP)—In a step rarely taken, the supreme court reversed itself Monday and agreed to hear an appeal by six lawyers sentenced for contempt of court in the stormy New York trial of 11 top Communists.

Ancient Origin

BRIDGEWATER, NS—(CP)—Sketching the history of the native Indians of the Micmac tribe, Thomas Raddall, noted author and historian, said here that "only legends remain to tell us of the possible origin of the tribe." While there was a belief they came from the southwest, he said other evidence points to Eskimo extraction.

May we suggest a Sitting?

Illustrated—Buick Custom Deluxe 4-Door Sedan

No doubt about it—you'll make a mighty handsome picture in a strapping new '51 Buick.

But it isn't the way you look, but the way you feel that's really important.

We'd like you to discover a Buick's ease and comfort, a Buick's power and performance, a Buick's steadiness and control—just to see if maybe you have been missing a travel treat.

We'd like you to discover what a valve-in-head engine, as Buick builds it—gingered with Fireball combustion—can mean in pulse-pounding thrill and in big miles-per-gallon figures.

We'd like you to learn what coil springs on all four wheels—not just the front ones—can do in the matter of smoothing a rough road and keeping you on a level keel.

We'd like you to see what generous roadweight and a rigid torque-tube mean in solid steadiness of ride—what Dynaflow Drive* does for you in downright comfort and convenience—what a breeze it is to handle so big and roomy and impressive a car.

Most of all, we'd like you to note the easy-to-take price tags our cars wear—what a whale of a lot more automobile you get for your money in today's Buicks than you'll get elsewhere.

So—come in for a sitting soon, won't you? Whether you try a CUSTOM, SUPER or ROADMASTER, you'll find it the top buy in its field—and a beauty from any angle.

Think It Necessary

Ball Reporters Approve Reserve Clause

By HARRY SNYDER.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23 (AP) —A large number of the nation's baseball reporters believe the reserve clause, by which club owners can renew players' contracts yearly, is necessary and desirable.

This was disclosed today by the House Monopoly Investigating sub-committee that is studying bills to exempt baseball from anti-trust laws.

The results of its poll of sports writers were placed on the committee's record as baseball's new czar, Ford Frick, and Branch Rickey, general manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates, awaited call for testimony.

Frick, who testified last summer before he moved up from the National League presidency, goes on again to speak in his new role.

The committee reported that a vast majority of 103 sports writers who responded to questionnaires say they believed the reserve clause is needed to keep organized baseball going. The quiz sheets were sent to 350 writers.

Other Results

Here are some of the other results:

Asked if they believed minor leaguers are moved up in keeping with their ability, 93 said yes, nine no.

Eighty-four said they favored the use of farm systems by the major leagues; seven said no.

Fifty-five indicated they feel a change in the line-up of major league clubs is desirable; 30 said no and 13 voiced no opinion.

With regard to the general attitude of players they knew toward the reserve clause and the farm system, the majority said it was favorable in both cases.

Forty-six said they believed the players were in favor of the present methods by which they can appeal salary disputes.

And 79 indicated they believed baseball should be free to work out its own rules regarding the right to broadcast or televise major or minor league games independent of anti-trust laws as presently interpreted by the Department of Justice.

Dodgers Not In World Series But Catch 3 Places On All-Stars

By JOE REICHLER.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23 (AP). — Brooklyn's deflated Dodgers could not make the World Series, but they dominated the 1951 Associated Press major league all-star team, winning three of the 10 positions.

Half of the 16 big league clubs, four in each circuit, are represented in the AP's sixth annual all-star squad, selected today by 186 members of the Baseball Writers' Association of America.

The pennant-winning New York Yankees and New York Giants placed only one member each on the stellar squad.

The all-star team:

First base—Ferris Fain, Athletics.

Second base—Jackie Robinson, Dodgers.

Third base — George Kell, Tigers.

Shortstop—Phil Rizzuto, Yankees.

Centre field — Stan Musial, Cardinals.

Catcher — Roy Campanella, Dodgers.

Right-handed pitcher — Sal Maglie, Giants.

Five of the players are holdovers from the 1950 all-star squad. They are Robinson, Kell, Rizzuto, Kiner and Musial. Musial, who missed out only once since the poll was inaugurated in 1946, received the most votes—185. The National League batting king was one short of a unanimous vote.

Outfield Strong

The outfield of Williams, Kiner and Musial smacked 104 home runs and drove across 343 runs. Kiner poked the most round-trippers of anybody in either league, 42, while Williams led all hitters with 126 runs batted in. Musial, with 205 safeties, topped this trio in base hits.

Defensively, the infield of Fain, Robinson, Kell and Rizzuto rates as one of the best in recent years.

Fain topped the American League in hitting, with a .344 mark, but his classy glove work around first base can't be overlooked.

If teamed together, Robinson and Rizzuto would make a sensational double play team, as both are fast and sure-handed. Robinson hit a solid .338 while Rizzuto, last year's most valuable player, slipped to .274.

Kell, of course, always has been one of the game's best defensive players. This year he had a healthy .319 average to go along with work around third base.

Big Gun For Dodgers

Campanella, a candidate for the National League's most valuable player award, was the big gun for the Dodgers last summer. He hit .325—something of an oddity for current-day catchers—while knocking in 108 runs, mostly on his 33 homers. Campy also handled Brooklyn's wobbly mound staff in expert style.

The pitchers, Roe and Maglie, won 45 games between them while losing only nine—a snappy .833 percentage. Roe, while compiling a 22-3 record, twice won 10 in a row for the Dodgers. He was manager Charley Dressen's big man in the futile stretch run.

Maglie, with 23 wins and six losses, was an overpowering pitcher. The strong righthander struck out 145 batters and walked only 83. Roe fanned 112 and walked even fewer men, 64.

City Carpetball

Schedule for next week: Legion 2 vs. LOL 14, Fire Hall 15 vs. 2nd Armour Scouts 3, Legion 4 vs. Legion 16, Glens 1 vs. Fire Hall 13, Legion 6 vs. Red Patch 10, Quakers 7 vs. Legion 11, Legion 8 vs. St. George's 12, SOE 5 vs. Moose 9.

Last week's results: St. George's won from King Billie 15-4 with the latter coming from behind with 10 in the last five ends to take the other game 13-9. Fire Hall 15 took two from the Moose 21-3 and 9-7. Quakers won from Glens 12-9 but Glens came back after being down 6-0 in the next try to win 15-8. Legion teams 8 and 2 were close with No. 2 winning both as they came from well back 9-7 and 12-10.

SOE got one in the final frame to make it a 7-7 draw with Scouts and in the second game a three-end by Sons made it a 10-6 win. Three times Legion 11 and Fire Hall 12 tied in 12 frames before the Firemen took it 11-6. Legion had an 8-0 lead next game but the fire-fighters really rolled then to win 12-10. Legion 6 and 16 seem unable to arrange games when scheduled as postponements build up. Perhaps a central man at Legion could reserve open nights at Legion and eliminate mixups. Two games were not reported for last week, and the standing will have to wait a week.

What about defaulted games re points and scores to be credited? Scheduled games should all be caught up next week. Membership dues are now payable. President Homer is out of hospital but still off work.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Student body at the Collegiate these days looks ahead anxiously to the weekend when the senior gridders play in Toronto. The big Red Feather tournament when the top high school squads in the province complete in double-headers Friday and Saturday. Eight teams go before thousands of enthusiastic rooters and a panel of critical football judges. It may not be the most important week in the players' lives but it'll do as such till a greater one comes along. Coach Bev Goulding will have his team in tip-top shape and full of hustle for the event of the season, don't worry. Many Peterborough followers of the PCVS seniors will take in the tournament.

* * * * * *

Local senior "B" hockey officials aren't too happy over the OHA granting Kingston Nylons permission to import 10 players this season. It isn't fair to other clubs, who can bring in but four. However, the OHA didn't want to see that swell new memorial centre at Kingston half idle through the long puck season, and also they knew that Kingston would round out a fine grouping along with Queen's, Belleville, Petes and Eagles. They always drew well. As a matter of fact, we doubt if the Kingston club can inveigle too many good imports into the fold at this late date. They cost plenty, too. But they'll no doubt come up with a pretty fair squad.

* * * * * *

Some Changes In Rules

There's an interesting innovation in OHA rules this year. It's Rule 46 and says: "Awarded goal—this provides for the case of a player in possession of the puck who is interfered with by an opponent who has illegally entered the game, and the goalkeeper has been removed from the ice. This was not covered before. The rule also provides for a player fouled from behind when he is in the clear and the goalkeeper has been removed from the ice." Rule 52 provides for a ref's penalty to a player who deliberately delays a game in any manner. Lots of players have been guilty of this in the past. The whole idea is to keep up a fast pace during a hockey game.

* * * * * *

A penalty shot is awarded when a player, other than a goalie, picks up the puck while it's in his goal crease. A goalie can get a minor penalty for throwing a puck forward, if it's taken by one of his team. The puck is now considered "iced" if an attacker shoots it into the enemy zone from outside the enemy blue line, except where the goalie or a teammate on the enemy side could have stopped the puck ere it crossed the goal-line. Or if the goalie is the first to touch it after it crossed the goal-line. Nor should play be halted if an attacking player, legally onside, touches the puck first after it went over the other goal-line. This will make defending players hustle more to get the rubber.

* * * * * *

Eight Rounds To Decision

Provided the two clubs are well-matched this coming season—which opens in about two weeks—clashes between Petes and Eagles should attract big crowds to Civic Arena. They play each other eight times during the OHA senior "B" schedule, four "home" games for each team. And they may then meet in playoffs coming on toward spring. The teams were well-matched the past couple of seasons and dished up some grand ice duels, and last winter in particular the issue was in doubt right to the final gong. It is most likely they'll again give their followers some rousing ding-dong battles this coming campaign. They'd sooner beat each other than any other club in the circuit.

At a number of sports' dinners lately, wives and girl friends have been invited and that's a nice touch. Some of the femmes don't see much of their athletic hubbies or boy friends during a long schedule. A lot of the lasses are keen sports followers and take in all home games, but they can't travel with the teams nor are they on deck for practices, meetings, etc. Others are tied down with small children and miss even home games. They hear much at home about Joe, Billy, Bouncer, Ray, and so forth, and it's nice to have them all together at a windup "do" to meet and talk with these players and their wives or friends. In fact, it's only fair. Wives of sports writers will agree.

Robinson-Green Fight

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 23 (AP) —Promoter William Kyne Monday night announced that Sugar Ray Robinson, world middleweight champion, will fight Harold Green of New York in a title match at San Francisco on Dec. 8. Proceeds will go to the Damon Runyan Cancer Fund, he added, and Robinson will receive $1.

Olympic Trials Under Review

TORONTO, Oct. 23 — (CP) — Canadian championships and Olympic trials in boxing, fencing, track and field, and wrestling may be held in Ontario next spring.

Applications were made at a meeting of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada, Central Ontario branch. The Ontaio proposals will be considered by separate committees in each sport and may be given final approval by the A.A.U.C. National Assembly at Vancouver Nov. 15-17.

Sudbury's Northland A.C. put in a bid to hold the boxing trials there during the third week in May; the Ontario Fencing Association asked to run the trials at the C.N.E. the same month; East York Track Club requested permission for a meet at their memorial stadium in June, and the Ontario Wrestling Federation wanted to hold the trials at Central YMCA May 2 and 3.

Ray Meeds was elected president of the Central Ontario branch, replacing Harry Peace, who asked, and filled, the job of publicity and welfare director.

Other officers include vice-president, Chuck Martin, Sudbury.

Here And There In Sports

By The Canadian Press

The odds against Mrs. J. B. Walkers Gayowen shortened from 19-2 to 9-1 Monday night in the official bookmakers' callover on the Cambridgeshire Stakes Oct. 31.

The race will be run over the mile and one-eighth Newmarket course and the drawings for the Irish Sweepstakes are based on the result.

Majalis, owned by Sir Oliver Goonetilleke, replaced the Argentine owned Tudor Castle as the second favorite at odds of 100-8. Tudor Castle remained steady at 100-7, the same price as Fastnet Rock, owned by Lord Roseberry.

Although 83 horses still are eligible for the race, only 28 figured in Monday night's betting. Some 25 to 30 horses are expected to start:

Other prices:

100-6 Salamat; 22-1 Dunstable, Annamnestes; 25-1, Denizen; 28-1 Hills of Devon; 33-1 Roman Way, Numitor, Damremont, Sun Compass; 40-1 Sunny Brae, Meysey, Hampton, Royal Moccasin, Antrycide, Le Texas, Master Rocky, Barnes Park; 50-1, Polar Jest, Camp Fire, Fiar Edelweiss, The Moke, Kibitzer; 66-1, Neutron, Stromboli; 100-1 La Princesse.

Angelo Corgniale literally lives on a street of milk and honey Rome. Proof of it came Sunday when he won a national soccer pool prize worth 23,000,000 lire ($36,800). For Corgniale, a goldsmith who lives on Via Cuccagna, Rome, which in English means street of milk and honey, this was the third time he has won the pool.

In 1948, he won 2,000,000 lire ($3,200) and earlier this year he won 1,000,000 lire.

Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., was named captain Monday night of the United States Ryder Cup forces, who'll meet Britain at Pinehurst, NC, Nov. 2-4.

The 1952 edition of Montreal's Big Four Alouettes will have a lot of new faces if newspaper forecasts of those quitting the club turn out right. Here's the way various Montreal papers list the player exodus: George Ratterman, former New York Yankees passing quarterback; Rod Pantages, former Calgary Stampeder and kicking half with the Larks for two seasons; Bobby Cunningham, a member of the 1949 Alouette Club that won the Grey Cup.

An Englishman predicted Monday that baseball will oust cricket as Britain's No. 1 summer sport within a few years.

"County cricket gets progressively slower and duller every year," declared F. R. J. Clemas at London. "I know because I watch it. The crowds are getting smaller every season."

Clemas is chairman of the Wokingham Monarchs Baseball Club, an amateur team that plays in an English Sunday league.

Leo Boivan, 20-year-old rookie defenceman for Pittsburgh Hornets of the American Hockey League, left the team during the weekend. A spokesman for the team said Boivan had returned to his home in Prescott, Ont., to clear up "urgent personal business."

HAULING THE LEATHER in the PCVS' ground attack in the Red Feather tournament in Toronto Friday will be plunging backs Warren Brown (left) and Bus Jensen. Both are consistent ground gainers for the Garnet and Gray.

MIDDLE STAN FACENDI will be in there whacking away opening holes for the backfield when the Garnet and Grey Seniors play in the Red Feather series Friday night in Toronto.

Bob Shaw Awarded Dryburgh Trophy

REGINA, Oct. 23 (CP). — Bob Shaw, place-kicking and pass-receiving ace of Calgary Stampeders, is the new holder of the Dave Dryburgh Memorial Trophy emblematic of the individual scoring championship in the Western Football Conference.

Shaw, an end, kicked four converts as the Stampeders shaded Edmonton Eskimos 26-25 Saturday in the schedule windup at Calgary and wound up with 61 points.

Three points behind came Annis Stukus, playing coach of Edwonton Eskimos.

EPHL Making Plans

HASTINGS Oct. 23 (ENS) — Plans are being made to reorganize the East Peterborough Hockey League. Four of last year's entries, Keene, Warsaw, Lakefield and Hastings, attended a recent meeting, as well as a delegation from Hiawatha. One or two more entries could be accommodated. The present executive will remain in office until an annual open meeting is held in Keene on Nov. 28.

President Sherwood Payne of Warsaw conducted the recent meeting here, and secretary Dr. Forde of Keene read the minutes. The latter asks interested clubs to contact him and to attend the next meeting.

See Big Exodus From Alouettes

MONTREAL, Oct. 23—(CP)— The 1952 edition of Montreal's Big Four football Alouettes will have a lot of new faces if newspaper forecasts of those quitting the club turn out right.

Here's the way various Montreal papers list the player exodus: George Ratterman, former New York Yankees passing quarterback; Rod Pantages, former Calgary Stampeder and kicking half with the Larks for two seasons; Bobby Cunningham, a member of the 1949 Alouette club that won the Grey Cup.

Leo Dandurand, Als president, is the only front office official mentioned as leaving and he has confirmed it.

Sports writers say Pantages will stay out of football entirely or line up with Edmonton Eskimos in the western league.

Cunningham is reported planning to quit because of an aggravated knee innjury. A professional golfer, Cunningham is said to be planning to devote full time to that sport.

Ratterman announced Monday he was quitting the Larks.

Dandurand will retire as Larks president at the end of this season because of ill health and differences with general manager-coach Lew Hayman.

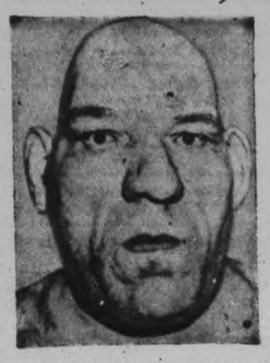
Angel Headlines Tonight's Mat Card

Maurice Tillet, better known to the world of professional wrestling as The French Angel, will grapple with Hi Lee, the Ozark giant, in the main mat event in the Brock tonight.

Hi Lee is one of the biggest, roughest and toughest wrestlers in the game today. One thing is certain, the awesome-looking Frenchman with the massive physique will give Larruping Lee a real go of it. The Angel's bear-hug hold has beaten many of the best matmen.



In the semi-final, Chief Suni War Cloud will meet Myron Cox, with Pat Flanagan tackling Steve Stanlee in the first bout.

KNOCKED IT DOWN—Winnipeg Blue Bomber Bud Korchak knocked down Glenn Dobbs' pass intended for end Jack Nix (58) of Saskatchewan Roughriders at their Saturday game at Winnipeg. Bomber Biff Fliss (64) is shown after making an unsuccessful attempt to reach the ball. Bombers won the game 19-13 to end their regular schedule in a three-way tie for first place in the Western Football Union. Other top-placers Edmonton and Calgary will play for the right to meet Regina—which gained a bye—in the playoffs.

Wings Clean Up On Habs In 3-1 Victory As 1950-51 Roles Reversed

By JACK SULLIVAN, Canadian Press Staff Writer

No one could blame Detroit Red Wing players if they personally addressed their Montreal Canadien counterparts as "cousins." But such tender greetings are out because of the ban on fraternization among players of different National Hockey League clubs. It might give fans the wrong impression, the NHL says. The Wings have every reason to show a decided fondness towards Canadiens although they were unceremoniously bounced out of the Stanley Cup playoffs last spring four games to two by the Montrealers. Things are a lot different this young 1951-52 season.

The clubs have played twice this year and Canadiens—and their Maurice Richard who just about single-handedly ruined the Wings in the cup playoffs have only a big goose egg to show for their efforts. Wings took the first 3-0 at Detroit Saturday and followed up Monday night with a 3-1 victory at Montreal.

The latest indignity to Canadiens occurred before a hometown crowd of 14,666—largest in any NHL city this season. It also broke a first-place tie between the two.

Only Game

It was the only NHL game of the night and left Wings with eight points, two more than Dick Irvin's club.

Terry Sawchuk, Winnipeg-born Detroit goalkeeper who has allowed only five goals in as many games, had 45 shots to handle against Gerry McNeil's comparatively soft touch in the Canadien nets of only 24. He opened the door only for Doug Harvey whose shot from inside the blue line was either deflected or took a crazy bounce 14 seconds after the third period face-off.

The 21-year-old netminder shared honors with 33-year-old Sid Abel whose two goals—one in each of the first and second periods—were enough to give Wings their fourth decision in five starts. They brought Abel's goal count to three for the season, all scored against the Canadiens.

Fred Glover netted the final Detroit goal at 3:57 of the third period.

The next NHL game is scheduled for New York's Madison Square Gardens Wednesday night in Rangers' first home appearance of the season. Boston Bruins, who provide the opposition are tied with the Blueshirts for last place. Each has one victory and one tie.

Sawchuk Still Leading Goalie In NHL Lineups

MONTREAL, Oct. 23 (CP) — Terry Sawchuk, Winnipeg-born goaltender with Detroit's National Hockey League Red Wings, is going all out to cop the Vezina Trophy this season.

Playing his second season with the Wings, Sawchuk has had only five goals scored against him in as many games this season for an average of 1.00. All other goalies have averages of more than 2.20.

Sawchuk, awarded the Calder Memorial Cup last year for being the league's outstanding rookie, also has two shutouts to his credit, while no other net-minder has any.

Last year's winner of the Vezina and the $1,000 prize for the goaler who has had the least number of goals scored agains him, Al Rollins of Toronto Maple Leafs, has a 2.20 average so far this season.

Wtih Monday night's 3-1 victory over Montreal Canadiens, Detroit now hold first place in the six-club league. Their four victories against one defeat give them eight points, two more than the Habitants. Tied for third place with five points are Toronto and Chicago Black Hawks. New York Rangers and Boston Bruins follow with three points each.

Scoring Leaders

Three Canadiens and a Chicagoan are tied for first place in the individual scoring race.

Maurice (Rocket) Richard and Elmer Lach, two Habitants, picked up an assist each in the Detroit-Montreal encounter Monday night to move into first place with their line mate, Bert Olmstead and Chicago's George Gee.

Richard has scored the most goals—four—while Olmstead and Lach have garnered the highest number of assists—five.

Most penalized player is rookie Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion who has spent 18 minutes in the penalty box. Close behind is Milt Schmidt of Boston Bruins with 14 minutes.

Excluding Monday's game, most penalized club was Montreal with 63 minutes in the cooler, while Boston had 60 minutes.

Greco Scores KO

BALTIMORE, Oct. 23 (AP).—Veteran Johnny Greco Canadian welterweight champion from Montreal, Monday night knocked out Jim Milligan of New Jersey in the third round of their scheduled 10-round bout.

Ex-Cage Stars To Be Arraigned On Fix Counts

By ORLO ROBERTSON.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23 (AP). — Three former University of Kentucky basketball stars were to be arraigned today on charges of accepting bribes to fix an intercollegiate game.

The players involved in the latest chapter of the basketball scandals are former all-Americans Alex Groza and Ralph Beard, members of Kentucky's national collegiate champions of 1948 and 1949, and Dale Barnstable, captain of the 1949-50 team.

Groza, six-foot seven-inch centre, and Beard, pint-sized sharpshooting guard, are part owners and members of the Indianapolis Olympians of the National Basketball Association. Barnstable is a Louisville high school coach.

They are charged with taking $500 each for shaving points in the March 14, 1949 national invitational tournament game with Loyola of Chicago at Madison Square Garden. Loyola, however, won the game 67-56.

Returned From Chicago

Groza and Beard were returned here from Chicago by Assistant District Attorney A. G. O'Connor Monday night, a few hours after the National Basketball Association ordered the two players to dispose of all their stock in the Olympians within a month. President Maurice Podoloff of the NBA, previously had suspended them for life from playing in the pro league.

Before leaving Chicago, where Grova and Beard waived extradition, O'Connor said "You may assume that other schools probably are involved."

O'Connor's comment came when he was asked about a printed report that as many as seven more schools were to be quizzed in the point-rigging that already has involved seven schools and more than 30 players.

In addition to the three Kentuckians, players from Bradley, Toledo, City College of New York, Manhattan, Long Island University and New York University have become enmeshed in the gambling scandal.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

Frank Boucher, now manager of the New York Rangers, signed with Vancouver Maroons of the Pacific Coast Hockey League 29 years ago today. Frank went to Rangers in 1926 and became one of the game's great centre players between Bill and Bun Cook, being given permanent possession of the original Lady Byng Trophy for gentlemanly play after winning it seven times.

Joliffe Pledges Special Subsidy

TORONTO, Oct. 23—(CP)—E. B. Joliffe, Ontario CCF leader, Monday night pledged his party to pay a special emergency subsidy to every municipality next year if it forms a government after the Nov. Ontario general election. He said the subsidy will amount to 10 per cent of all 1951 municipal taxes.

"This alone can protect the home owner against another big jump in taxes on real estate," he told a nominating convention in York South, his home riding.

He said that at the same time, a CCF administration would hold a series of provincial-municipal conferences to negotiate a fair sharing of responsibility and income.

"Pending the outcome of such a conference, it is absolutely necessary that the present crisis in municipal financing should be met, boldly and honestly, by an emergency grant out of the huge surpluses, swollen by the inflation, which the Ontario government is accumulating every month."

80 Mercy Killings

COLOGNE, Germany, Oct. 23—(Reuters)—Alfred Leu, 51-year-old doctor, Monday faced charges of taking part in the "mercy killing" of 80 mentally deficient children during the war. He told the court they were killed by overdoses of sleeping pills while in hospital. He claimed orders for the "mercy killings" came from the Nazi interior ministry.

Built Or Enlarged 109 Hospitals–Frost

TORONTO, Oct. 23 — (CP) — Premier Frost said Monday night that since 1943 Progressive Conservative administrations in Ontario have built or enlarged 109 hospitals and provided 14,474 beds and bassinets.

"And we haven't enough yet," he told a North York nomination meeting which chose Alexander Mackenzie to contest the riding again in the Nov. 22 Ontario general election.

The Premier reviewed the record of his administration and said:

"I say to you that what we have done is the pattern for the future in this province."

Win 58 Seats Thomson Says

FINCH, Ont., Oct. 23—(CP) — Walter Thomson, Ontario Liberal leader, predicted Monday night his party will win 58 of the 90 Ontario Legislature seats in the Provincial general election Nov. 22. At dissolution, the Liberals held 13 seats.

He addressed a Stormont nominating convention that chose Peter Manley, Berwick township farmer and former county councillor, as Liberal candidate. The seat was held in the last legislature by J. L. McDonald, Progressive Conservative, who is again in the running.

Mr. Thomson discussed his plan for a province-wide hospital scheme, promised that upon election he would cut the gasoline tax by three cents a gallon and said he would replace the present Highway 2 from Toronto to Montreal with a four-lane express highway.

Other speakers, who said the Progressive Conservative manifesto of Premier Frost is based on Liberal party principles, were Transport Minister Chevrier, Member of Parliament for Stormont; George T. Fulford, Member of Parliament for Leeds; and H. P. Cavers, Member of Parliament for Lincoln.

Nurse Gives Life

SANTA MONICA, Calif., Oct. 23—(AP)—A nurse saved comedienne Cass Daley's three-year-old son from death under an automobile Monday at the cost of her own life. Mrs. Mary Strock, 68, died in a hospital here after she pushed Dale F. Kinsella out of the path of the family car when it slipped its brakes. She was pinned under the car.

Freed On Parole

MONTREAL, Oct. 23—(CP)—Mr. and Mrs. Gerard Bruyere Monday were charged with manslaughter in the death of their four-month-old daughter and were released on parole, the first time anyone so similarly charged was paroled in criminal courts here. They were ordered to appear for preliminary hearing Oct. 25. The child died Friday night from suffocation.

Offers Solution

QUEBEC, Oct. 23—(CP)—Cyril DeMara, of Toronto said Monday that the creation of suburban shopping centres with ample off-street free parking, is the solution to crowded traffic conditions in the centre of large cities. He was speaking at the annual convention of the National Association of Real Estate Brokers.

PRODUCTION CZAR—Reginald M. Brophy, top-notch Canadian radio and electronics industrialist, Friday was appointed Canada's co-ordinator of the $3,500,000,000 defence production program. The 51-year-old head of Rogers Majestic Electronics Company and the Canadian Radio Manufacturing Corp., Toronto, succeeds Crawford Gordon, Jr., former co-ordinator who left to become president of Avro Aircraft Company at Malton, Ont.

Frost Stresses PC Gov't Has No New Taxes

LINDSAY, Oct. 23 — (CP) — Premier Frost, stating that his Progressive Conservative government has a record of eight consecutive balanced budgets, announced Monday it will use "good government" as its campaign slogan.

"We have imposed no new taxes and have made some reductions," he told a meeting here which nominated him to contest Victoria riding in the Nov. 22 general election. Mr. Frost has represented Victoria in the Legislature since 1937.

"Our aim has been to maintain our financial strength to have the power to carry out the great developments essential to the progress of the province," he said.

Need New Source

He attacked suggestions made by Liberal leader Walter Thomson to reduce the tax on gasoline. "The money would have to be obtained from some other source," said Mr. Frost.

He said the five or six million automobiles which enter Ontario from the United States now pay no licence fees but they do pay gasoline tax. "They contribute millions of dollars to help us keep our roads in serviceable condition," he said.

His budget policy included confining taxes to those having the smallest possible impact on the cost of living. He said the federal (Liberal) government aggravated the cost of living by increasing the sales tax, but Mr. Thomson, a former member of parliament, had not sat in parliament for a day to listen to the debate.

2 Firemen Overcome As Hotel Destroyed

SHAWINIGAN FALLS, Que., Oct.23 (CP)—Two firemen were overcome by smoke Monday night when fire gutted the St. Maurice Hotel in this industrial centre, 120 miles northeast of Montreal. All the 40 guests evacuated the hotel at the outbreak.

The hotel was sold only 20 days ago at $175,000, but its owner, Georges L'Herault, set damages at $100,000.

Only the four walls remained following the three-hour blaze.

YOU WONDER. He doesn't seem so much smarter than other men. Maybe it's his "attitude"—his particular way of reacting to difficulties. He has a home and family that are his incentives. They back him up and he backs them up with financial security.

He is proud of his independence. Important in the maintenance of his successful business attitude are security contracts made through a business associate —a North American Life representative.

PETERBOROUGH EXAMINER

VOL. CIII. No. 94 — TUESDAY, OCTOBER 23, 1951 — PRICE FIVE CENTS

CHAIN OF OFFICE FOR THE MAYOR OF PETERBOROUGH, and all his successors, a private gift from Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Monkman of 626 Gilmour St., will be presented to His Worship Max J. Swanston during the ceremony of the official opening of the new City Hall on Friday. The British-made symbol of authority contains a pendant with the City's coat of arms in enamel and several blank gold medallions on which the names of present and future office holders will be engraved. The architects of the new buildings, R. S. Morris, (Left) and Marvin Allan of Marani and Morris, Toronto, admired the chain on Monday. "This is the only part of the project that we had nothing to do with," said Mr. Morris.—(Examiner Staff Photo)

2nd Division Of St. John Begins Work

E. G. Baker Heads New Division; Starts Classes Now

"Three thousand Peterborough people should be trained in first aid work," said provincial commissioner of St. John Ambulance Association, recently.

And towards that goal a second division, known as the Kawartha, has been recently formed in this district in addition to the original Peterborough division.

The new unit is to interest the men of Peterborough, officials say, since the ladies division under Miss Florence Vickers, divisional superintendent, have been extremely active for some time in both first aid and home nursing.

Under divisional superintendent E. G. Baker, eight weeks of classes have been organized and in the two-allotted hours time will be devoted equally to first aid lectures and practical demonstrations. The first class will meet tonight at the Prince of Wales School at 7:30 p.m.

Two Classes

On Wednesday night there will be two classes going at the same time, one at St. Luke's Parish Hall under George Melton and the other at the Fire Hall which will appeal to both firemen and policemen. The fourth meeting of the week will be held again at the Prince of Wales on Thursday evening. The course will continue each week for eight weeks.

Recent officers elected to head St. John Kawartha division are: E. G. Baker, superintendent; Dr. J. H. Fraser, divisional surgeon; C. J. Lockwood, secretary; H. J. Huff, treasurer; W. O. Thirnbeck, sergeant; David Lawson, corporal and Ronald Krant, storekeeper.

All St. John Ambulance divisions in the Peterborough area are under the control of a committee headed by chairman Gordon Munro. H. T. Cranford is vice-chairman and committeemen are the Rev. W. G. Gilling, Harry Pounder, Robert Maybee and E. G. Baker.

Defeat

Board of Works men made a brave start in the rain this morning by starting to lay cement for a new sidewalk in front of the city hall so that by Friday, the official opening day, it would be dry enough to be used. But at noon the rain began to come down harder and the workmen were forced to give up. Water plays havoc with freshly laid cement.

Leslie Frost Nominated In Lindsay Meet

LINDSAY, Oct. 23 — For the sixth time, Leslie M. Frost, will be the Progressive Conservative candidate in Victoria-Haliburton when Ontario goes to the polls in November 22.

On Monday afternoon the Ontario Premier was unanimously acclaimed to contest the riding by a crowd of 600 seated in the Academy Theatre in Lindsay.

Mr. Frost has practised law in Lindsay since 1921.

In a friendly, conversational speech following his nomination, Mr. Frost briefly outlined his 30 years in Lindsay and outlined in detail some of his government's achievements.

Opposition

The attitude of his political opposition were examined by Mr. Frost and he prefaced his remarks by stating that he usually had little to say about the opposition. "They give me little to say. In the House they usually agree with us. When we bring in legislation they rush to vote for it. Their attitude outside the legislature is somewhat different however," he added.

The premier examined the record of the federal Liberal government and compared it with the promises of his opposition number in the Liberals, Walter Thomson, although he did not mention Mr. Thomson's name.

The Liberal leader stood for a platform which included reducing the cost of living, but the federal government, of which Mr. Thomson had been a member, had increased the sales tax, adding "two per cent to almost everything you buy."

Promises Not Kept

Liberal promises on housing were made, said Mr. Frost, but it was the federal government which took away the controls and "left the people of populous areas . . . with no protection."

In the CCF, said the premier, were "some nice fellows. Sometimes I tell them they should come over and join a party that is going somewhere."

As to the CCF claim that free enterprise was ruining the country, Mr. Frost pointed to the expansion going on throughout the province. He charged that the CCF lacked confidence in themselves and in their country.

The government, said he, has a never-equalled record of eight consecutive balanced budgets, and plans to make it nine.

Friday Big Day For City As New City Hall Opened With Golden Key

Reception Committee Approves Program For Official Opening; English Mayor Due Today In Montreal

Council's reception committee approved last night the order of events in the ceremony of the opening of the city hall, the reception of guest visitors, and the accommodation of the citizens. Canadian Press reported today that Mayor G. R. Chamberlain of Peterborough, England, was due in Montreal today "en route to Peterborough, Ontario, for a civic visit." He is accompanied by Mrs. Chamberlain and by Councillor E. V. Martin and Mrs. Martin.

Ald. Herbert Young, reception chairman, Aldermen Miller, Dewart, Braund, and their wives, will motor to Port Hope Thursday evening, will greet the Peterborough party there, and bring them to the Empress Hotel.

It is expected that the group from Peterborough, NH, will also arrive that evening. They are Selectman Forest Mercer of the municipal administration, Algie A. Holt, municipal clerk, and Carleton Wheeler, and their wives. There will be some sandwiches, tea and coffee for them about ten o'clock in an atmosphere of introduction.

In the meantime it is expected that Hon. R. F. McWilliams, Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba will have arrived in the city.

Begins At 2:30 pm

The official party will leave the Empress by automobile at 2 pm Friday. The program at the city hall begins at 2:30.

George St., between Murray and McDonnel streets, will be closed to traffic by the Police Department.

Bleacher seats will be set up on the paved strip of George St., in front of the main entrance. This accommodation will be for 500 people. Citizens Band will occupy a platform on the lawn directly north of the main entrance.

The city hall will not be draped or decorated in any way. Only the Union Jack will be flown from the flag poles.

Participants in the ceremony of the formal opening will be seated on the cement walk leading to the main entrance. They will include the municipal representatives of the three Peterboroughs and their associates; Hon. R. F. McWilliams of Winnipeg, Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba; Mr. J. G. Hungerford, Toronto, general manager of the National Trust Company, executor of the will of the late W. G. Morrow; Mayor Charlotte E. Whitton of Ottawa; Controller Balfour of Toronto, vice-chairman of the council, and representative of Mayor Hiram McCallum; His Honour Judge Sheldon L. Smoke.

Hon. H. R. Scott, G. K. Fraser, MP; all the members of the city council; Mr. Ferd Marani of the architectural firm of Marani and Morris; Mr. J. H. Eastwood of Eastwood Construction Co., the contractors of the building; Mr. Ronald Winter, adviser to the council in the planning and construction of the city hall; Bishop

Girl, 5, Regains Consciousness After Nine Days

After lying unconscious nine days in St. Joseph's Hospital, five-year-old Dianne Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Wilson, 814 Water St., regained consciousness over the weekend.

She spoke her first words to her parents since hit by a truck on Water St. near Inverlea St. on Friday, October 12.

At the time the child was believed suffering from only a slight concussion and bruises.

James Reid, 14 Mill St., driver of the truck, told police that the girl ran into the path of his truck from the east side of Water St. According to bystanders, there was a bus parked just north of Inverlea St. which may have obstructed the child's view.

Three witnesses to the accident said that the driver swerved to avoid hitting the girl and that he was not exceeding the speed limit.

CGE Employees' Bond Buying Hits $1,178,800

Employees of the Canadian General Electric Co. in Peterborough have subscribed $1,178,800 in the sixth series of Canada Savings Bonds it was announced today. Surpassing last year's record by more than $100,000, it is the greatest effort ever put forth by the employees of Peterborough's largest industry.

While the campaign is not wound up, it is expected that it will be closed in the next day or two. There were 2,627 purchasers of bonds which averages $444 The most remarkable thing about each. The most remarkable thing about the whole drive, those in charge said, was the fact that no effort was made to canvass. Posts were set up throughout the plant where bonds might be purchased and the employees went there to buy.

May Jail Drunk Drivers 15 Days, Magistrate Hints

Magistrate E. A. Gee of Lindsay on Monday hinted that he was considering raising the penalty for drunk driving from seven to 15 days in jail. His comment came after he had just sentenced a Lindsay man, Hershel McGill, 47, 190 William St., to seven days after McGill entered a plea of guilty.

"It's about time we stepped it up from seven days to 15 days for drunk driving," said Magistrate Gee. "There are getting to be too many such cases here."

Weaving Car

McGill was arrested Oct. 13 by OPP Constable W. E. Warner, Lindsay, two miles west of Omemee on Highway 7. Constable Warner noticed the eastbound car weaving along the highway but he was unable to attract the driver's attention to make him stop.

He turned the police car around and gave chase. Before he arrested McGill on the outskirts of Omemee two westbound cars were forced into the ditch to avoid an accident.

"You have been hitting the bottle too much for years now," said Magistrate Gee. "You have paid a lot of fines. It's time you quit."

Then the magistrate sentenced McGill to seven days, the minimum for a drunk driving conviction.

Garner Visits West Squadrons

OTTAWA, Oct. 23 — (CP) — Harold L. Garner of Peterborough, Ont., president of the Air Cadet League of Canada, Monday began a tour of Western Canada to outline policies of the organization and plans for stepping up the air cadet training program.

Mr. Garner will attend gatherings in each of the four western provinces as well as northwestern Ontario and will address representatives of every air cadet squadron in those areas.

The League is campaigning to increase its strength across Canada to 22,500. Mr. Garner also will stress the importance of maintaining at full strength the volunteer civilian committees which support each of Canada's 200 squadrons.

Local Branch Will Observe UN Day

Peterborough along with approximately 29 other branches of the United Nations Association have made arrangements for observing United Nations' day, Wednesday.

The local branch has distributed pamphlet material and film strips to schools and organizations in the city and district and asked that the UN be featured during the week.

The organization in Peterborough like the other branches was formed to keep the people of this country informed of the work of the UN. The observance of a special day has resulted in the intensification of this education.

Thursday night the Peterborough branch is holding a special public meeting in the public library. The following four films will be shown: Fate of a Child, Pale Horseman, Searchlight on the United Nations and United Nations Screen News.

This meeting is being held Thursday instead of Wednesday night, because of the library's closing on Wednesday.

1,364 Students Enrol At Night School

Night school at PCVS has surpassed all previous attendance and also that of the day school. C. S. Browne, principal, said today that the enrolment of 1,364 in the three departments, academic, commercial and technical (including house economics) is the largest in the school's history. A year ago the attendance was 1,160.

The regular day school's attendance at PCVS this year is 1,280.

A staff of 50 teachers is conducting the 66 classes on Monday to Friday nights and every class is filled.

An example of the increase this year is the beginners' typewriting class which had more than 150 registrations. These were divided into three classes with 55 pupils each.

There are increases in cooking classes which last year had only three classes, now there are four; the drafting and blue print reading which increased from two to five classes.

Besides these there are two new classes, sheet metal working and cost accounting. With assistance from industry, the school promoted the cost accounting class to the extent where two classes were necessary.

Some pupils who, due to night shift work, such as the apprentices at the CGE, couldn't attend regularly are attending special classes on Saturday. Three classes in mathematics, drafting and blue print reading, and first year machine design are being conducted.

Several classes have reported slight decreases such as the sewing, which decreased from ten classes to nine, and the building construction class. The class, started last year for the Veterans' Land Act, had only five registrations, and a class wasn't formed.

Scottish Rite Masons Hear G. Commander

Douglas Fraser, Regina, sovereign grand commander of Scottish Rite Masonry, was welcomed to Peterborough on Monday night when more than 300 members met in the Normal School auditorium. The gathering was presided over by Kenneth Griffin, thrice grand puissant of the Peterborough Lodge of Perfection.

James Simpson, Hamilton, deputy sovereign grand master, was also present. The sovereign grand commander presented A. O. Johnston, Lindsay, with 35 degree jewel, and in his address told of a recent trip made through the United States where he visited many of the Scottish Rite lodges in that country.

A buffet luncheon followed.

One Dead, 2nd Hurt In Crash Near Trenton

TRENTON, Oct. 23 — One man was killed and a second critically injured Monday night when a car and a transport collided on Highway 2, two miles west of Trenton.

Dead is William Woodcock of Smithfield, who died instantly in the wreckage of the car. His companion, Alfred Prough, 22, was taken to Trenton Memorial Hospital in critical condition.

Pedestrian Cut When Hit By Car

Oscar Calberry, 404 Wellington St., escaped with a slight cut on the nose when struck by a car driven by Robert Ritchie, 120 Princess St., at George and Charlotte Sts. at 11.30 Monday night.

Mr. Calberry was taken to Civic Hospital in an ambulance following the accident, but was allowed to return home an hour later.

Mr. Ritchie, who was driving south on George St., told police there was a green light for north, south traffic on George St., as he passed through the intersection of George and Charlotte Sts.

Police reported that Mr. Calberry crossed from the west side of George St. into the path of the Ritchie car and was knocked to the pavement.

Acting police sergeants Harold Mesley and Claire McGillen investigated.

Aged Paying Way May Vote Nov. 22

Elderly people living in homes for the aged who are not paying their own way, will not be entitled to vote in the provincial election on November 22.

To clarify any uncertainty regarding the voting status of anyone living in an institution for the aged, the Examiner today questioned returning officer D. J. Lawrie.

In reply, Mr. Lawrie quoted section 17 of Chapter 21 of the Election Act which states that "no person shall be entitled to be entered on the voters' list, or shall vote who is maintained in whole or in part as an inmate receiving charitable support or care in a home for the aged."

However, anyone who is paying their own expenses in a home for the aged is still eligible to vote and their name can be entered on the voters' list.

Alan Joseph McCausland, 63, president of a Toronto stained glass firm, died Saturday in Toronto. Mrs. Leslie Welsh of Peterborough is a daughter.

Quebec Mayors Unable To Come

Mayor Camilien Houde of Montreal repeated by telephone this morning his regret that he could not come to Peterborough Friday. He had accepted tentatively an invitation about three weeks ago when Mayor Swanston, Ald. E. C. Braund and City Clerk Outram were in Montreal on an industrial quest.

Mayor Houde recently wrote that preparations for the visit of Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh to Montreal Monday Oct. 29, required his attention at home.

Mayor Lucien Bourne of Quebec has also informed the council that he could not arrange to accept the Peterborough invitation. Mayor Hiram McCallum of Toronto has replied that he finds it necessary to delegate Controller David Balfour, vice-chairman of the city council, as his representative, who will be accompanied by Mrs. Balfour.

Truck Damaged

A minor hit and run accident was reported to police Monday by G. R. Reynolds, 497 Cross St.

Mr. Reynolds said that a car collided with his truck as he was driving west on Lansdowne St., at High St., early Saturday morning.

The left rear fender and body of Mr. Reynold's truck was damaged in the collision.

Constable Cecil Bowyer is investigating.

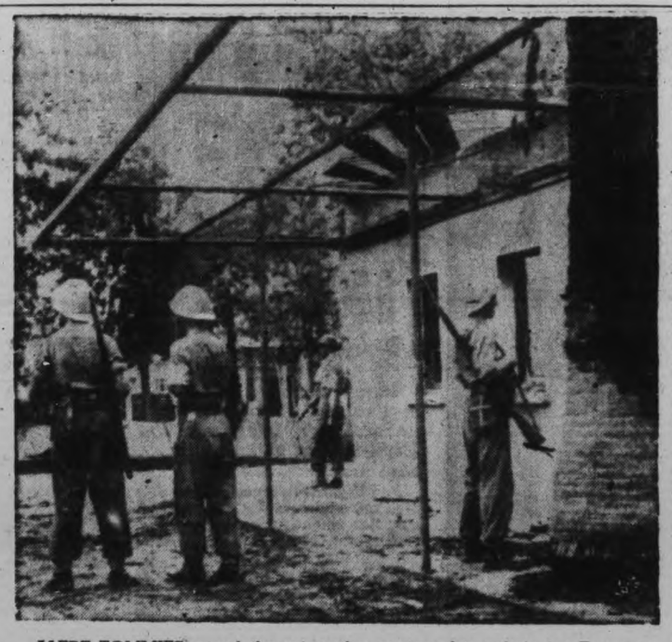
Citizens are cordially invited to attend the ceremony of the official opening and dedication of the new City Hall, which will take place on Friday afternoon, October 26th, 1951, at 2.30 o'clock.

His Worship Mayor G. R. Chamberlain of Peterborough, England, civic officials of Peterborough, New Hampshire, and civic representatives of Ottawa, Toronto and Montreal will be present. The Peterborough Citizens Band will be in attendance and a loud speaker system assures that the proceedings will be easily heard. Seating accommodation will be provided for the citizens.



Following the opening ceremonies the out-of-town guests of the city will inspect the building. On the afternoon and evening of Monday and Tuesday, October 29th and 30th, special arrangements have been made for the inspection of the building by Peterborough citizens, who will also be served refreshments in the Mayor's Parlour.

It is hoped that as many citizens as possible will exercise the opportunity of making their inspection of this notable civic building on either Monday or Tuesday afternoon or evening. Mayor Chamberlain will be in attendance in the Mayor's Parlour on Monday afternoon and evening, and a special welcome is extended to Old Country citizens for this occasion.

May Invite Royal Pair To Square Dance

MONTREAL, Oct. 23.—Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh may be invited to attend a square dance festival at which 300 Montreal school children will go through their paces.

Jack Lang, director of physical education for Montreal Public Schools, said he had suggested the visit to authorities. The dancing will be part of the annual square dance festival in Molson Stadium.

Mr. Lang has had trouble getting suitable records. He finally managed to get There'll Be a Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight, They Cut Down the Old Pine Tree, and My Pretty Girl, from his brother, George D. Lang of the St. Thomas Public Utilities Commission. The records are now on their way.

Mr. Lang would like to have the Royal couple take part, but said he understood that was not possible. The dance is scheduled for October 30.

2 Of Britain's Big Papers Suddenly Back Churchill

By RELMAN MORIN.

LONDON, Oct. 23 (AP)—Two of Britain's most respected newspapers The Times of London and The Manchester Guardian, today swung their support behind the Conservative party in last-minute decisions before Thursday's general election.

Neither is affiliated with one of the two major parties.

The Times was neutral in the 1950 election. The Guardian supported the Labor party.

In leading editorials they advance the same reason for their decision—namely, that the Labor party and its Socialist policies no longer will serve the best interests of the country.

The campaign moved into high gear as the polling approached Britons awaited with interest the final major speech—this afternoon—from Winston Churchill, who will again be Prime Minister if the Conservatives take over the government.

Doorbell Ringers

Major personalities in both parties headed for strategic areas to make closing appeals to voters. Both organizations sent out teams of doorbell-ringers in districts classed as "doubtful."

The consensus still was that the Tories will win.

The Times speaks with a new voice on the pros and cons of the battle. Until now the influential Journal had not taken sides. But today it says:

"If the vote goes against (Prime Minister Clement) Attlee and his colleagues on Thursday it will be because of the conviction that they have nothing further to contribute in this chapter, at least, to the conduct of their country's affairs.

"It is not simply that, in their election statements, bereft now of the old, exhausted remedies of six years ago, they have nothing to offer. It is the mounting impression on indecision, delay, miscalculation and error that tells against them."

Foreign Affairs Failure

After a full survey of economic conditions inside Britain, the editorial turns to the foreign scene.

It said the Labor ministers are "Hagridden by old doubts about the place of power in world affairs." It contrasts their prestige and influence with what it calls the "weight" of importance enjoyed by Churchill and Anthony Eden.

The Manchester Guardian's pronouncement may be of even greater importance. It has been for many years the main voice of the Liberal party—a minor contender in Thursday's election. But its 2,600,000 voters in closely-contested districts, may make all the difference between the Tory and Labor candidates.

The Guardian says "Confidence and vitality have been running out of" the Labor party. It adds: "There is a point in the life of any government at which its impetus falls off, its shop windows become empty or the goods soiled."

At the same time, the paper says, for "the radically-minded," the thought of a Conservative government is not very appealing either.

But, summing up, it told its readers, "The return of a Conservative government would, all things considered, probably be a psychological service to the country in its present moment of crisis."

Drew Wants Soviet Expelled From UN

WINNIPEG, Oct. 23 (CP) — Progressive Conservative leader George Drew said Monday that Russia should be expelled from the United Nations.

Mr. Drew, addressing a service club luncheon in Winnipeg, said the expulsion of Russia from the UN was necessary if the organization is to carry out its purpose. The action should be taken to save the UN from the same impotence which crushed the League of Nations.

"I do not see how it is possible for Russia to remain a member of the United Nations unless all the proceedings there are to be carried forward in an atmosphere of complete unreality," he said.

The UN charter provided for the expulsion of members which repudiated the terms of the charter. Russia had officially published proof that she was supporting and directing North Korea in its fight against UN forces.

Indian Disappointed Didn't Shake Hands

VICTORIA, BC, Oct. 23 (CP)—Hundreds of Indians welcomed Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip to Thunderbird Park Monday, but one must have been disappointed.

He was 77-year-old Jimmy Fraser, grandson of Prince Freezy, a famous Songhees chief who met the first Hudson Bay traders to Victoria.

Jimmy had told friends: "If I can shake hands with these people from Queen Victoria, my hand will live forever."

But the lovely Princess and the handsome Prince standing on the platform never shook hands with the kindly old man. They had no knowledge of his wish. If they had, there is no doubt they would have been glad to make Jimmy's hand immortal.

READY FOR WINTER—Princess Elizabeth was well-prepared for winter, and she needed to be, when she encountered cold weather on her tour of western Canada. After watching the "Royal Winter Stampede" at Calgary, with a temperature of 17 above and a miniature snowstorm blowing at times, the Princess wore these knee-high rubber snowboots when she waved good-bye to the crowd after leaving the village of Cochrane on her way to Banff Thursday. She also wears her Canadian mink coat, a wedding gift from Canada.

District Church Observes 76th Birthday

COLDSPRINGS, Oct. 23 (ENS)—The Rev. A. C. Luffman, of Baltimore, was guest speaker on Sunday, when St. Paul's United Church, Coldsprings, marked its 76th anniversary. Mr. Luffman spoke at both services.

The weather was ideal, and large congregations were present. The church was decorated with wellow mums, ferns, and potted plants.

The music was by the home choir, under the direction of Miss Edith Hoskin, organist. Warren Buttars also accompanied at the piano, for the congregational hymns.

At the morning service the choir sang, "Still, Still With Thee". Mrs. Paul Harris, a solo, "Beside Still Waters". Mrs. Clifford Minifie, and Mrs. Clifford Timlin, a duet, "Thanks Be to God."

At the evening service, the anthem rendered was, "How Lovely Are Thy Dewellings". An octette composed of Misses Helen Ritchie, Lorene Timlin Eunice Minifie, Sheila Ritchie, Dorothea Bowman, and Messrs. Paul McIntosh, Bill Little, and Gordon Buttars, sang "Thy Will Be Done". A quartet composed of Mrs. P. Harris, Mrs. C. Timlin, Messrs. Gordon Buttars and Bill Little, sang "Rock of Ages."

Lots Of Headaches In Arranging Elizabeth's Party For Trumans

By RUTH COWAN.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23 (AP).—It will be saddle of lamb when Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh entertain President and Mrs. Truman at dinner November 1.

The Royal couple, who will visit the Trumans at Blair House for three days, will give their "bread and butter" dinner at the Canadian Embassy. There will be only 20 guests.

It sound simple, but from a protocol viewpoint it is complicated. The reason is that Truman, one of the guests-to-be, outranks everyone else, including Princess Elizabeth.

With the Royal arrival on October 31, there are some important details — such as who sits where and how to get in and out of the dining-room — yet to be nailed down.

Usual Procedure

The usual procedure is for top-ranking official guests to spend the first night at the White House—or at Blair House, the Trumans' temporary residence—and be entertained at an official dinner. They move next day to their own country's Embassy and give a return dinner.

The heiress-presumptive to the British throne is on this side of the Atlantic as a guest of Canada. Technically, Elizabeth is coming to Washington as Princess of Canada.

Someone—maybe Mrs. Truman—invited the young visitors to stay the whole time at Blair House. Then the Canadian Embassy was decided upon as the scene for the Royal dinner.

The Canadian embassy, a handsome Georgian house set in a beautiful garden, will also be the locale for a comparatively small get-together of ambassadors representing the eight countries in the British Commonwealth.

At Family Party

To this "family party" have been invited 150 guests representing Canada, Britain, New Zealand, Australia, Ceylon, India, Pakistan and South Africa.

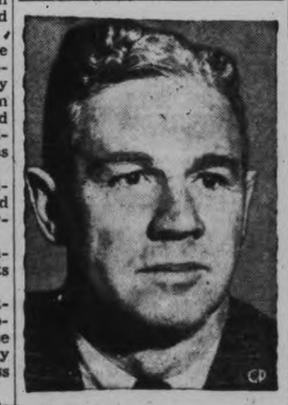
Ambassador Hume Wrong and Mrs. Wrong, with the Princess and Duke, will receive their guests in the library. Will there be anyone else in the receiving line? "That hasn't been decided yet," said Mrs. Wrong.

Elizabeth and the Duke, like other tourists, will first visit Mount Vernon. Mrs. Wrong will go along. Somehow she is supposed to get back to the embassy ahead of the Royal party.

"If I have time, I'll change into a red silk dress, but if not I'll just keep on the dark blue suit I'm planning to wear that morning," Mrs. Wrong told a reporter.

That afternoon comes the mammoth handshaking—a reception at the British embassy to which 2,000 guests are invited—and then the dinner at the Canadian embassy.

It will then be Princess Elizabeth's turn to hurry, for she and her husband will have to leave Blair House in time to get to the embassay ahead of the Truman's and their other guests.



The dinner will be rather simple. There will be cocktails in the drawing room. But how to get into the dining room?

It isn't as simple as having Princess Elizabeth, as hostess, say "let's eat."

It is up to Truman to take the initiative and escort the Princess into the dining room, the Duke giving his arm to Mrs. Truman.

How will they be seated? That too has yet to be worked out. Two can sit at each end of the table, and it may be that Truman and the Princess will be at one end and Mrs. Truman and the Duke at the other.

And when it comes to who says "good night" first—Truman does.

Mystery Fleet Of Russian Ships Off Shetland Islands

LONDON, Oct. 23 — (Reuters)—Eighteen Russian ships which have been idling for two weeks in British territorial waters near the Shetland Islands, are fitted with radar, islanders said Monday.

They were first seen anchored in Burro Firth, a sheltered harbor in the islands. They were believed to be waiting for favorable fishing conditions.

But though they left harbor five days ago, coastal spotters say no one has seen any of the ships fishing.

They are still steaming or at anchor in the vicinity of the islands. Their lights are usually visible at night.

One of the two larger parent ships—about 10000 tons—had been nosing about in confined waters among the smaller islands where experienced shipmasters would hesitate to take even a much smaller vessel.

Islanders thought the crews were doing sea training.

CHATEAU CHEESE SAUCE

Here's a superb cheese sauce to liven up dozens of vegetable and meat dishes! Its distinctive Chateau flavor will show you why people who know cheese, insist on Chateau!

Cook tender asparagus shoots (fresh, frozen or canned), then smother them in this delicious, easy-to-make Chateau Cheese sauce!

½ package Chateau Cheese
1 cup milk
¼ tsp. salt
⅛ tsp. pepper

Cut Chateau into small pieces (it melts . . . spreads . . . slices to perfection), allow to melt in top of double boiler. Add milk, stirring gradually till smooth. Add salt and pepper. Pour it piping hot on the asparagus. Chateau has the protein content of meat yet it costs far less!

Snacks, main dishes . . . everything has a distinctive mouth-watering goodness when the main ingredient is mellow-mild Chateau. Buy it in the ½ pound package. Chateau is not a sliced cheese . . . you don't have to expose the whole package for a few slices. It stays covered, always fresh!

The delicious flavor of each of Borden's Fine Cheeses (mellow result of cheese making for half a century) makes it traditional for cheese lovers to say, "Borden's Cheese, if you please!"

Other zesty Borden Cheeses include: Vera-Sharp (for the connoisseur), Chateau Pimento, Borden's Grated, Tiny Cheese.

EXCLUSIVELY CANADIAN...

Each summer the "Trail Riders of the Canadian Rockies," whose world-wide membership is open to "dudes" of every race, colour and creed, gather amid the majesty of snow-capped peaks to ride the alpine trails and to camp in the valleys of one of Canada's loveliest playgrounds.

Created and signed by The House of Seagram, this advertisement, with appropriate copy for foreign lands, is appearing in magazines and newspapers printed in various languages and circulated throughout the world.

Seagram TELLS THE WORLD ABOUT Canada

THIS advertisement was designed by The House of Seagram to tell the people of other lands about Canada and things exclusively Canadian.

Many people in Latin America, Asia, Europe and other parts of the world are not fully aware of the richness of Canada's natural resources, wild life, scenic beauty and cultural traditions. The more the peoples of other lands know about our country, the greater will be their interest in Canada and Canadian products.

The House of Seagram feels that the horizon of industry does not terminate at the boundary of its plants; it has a broader horizon, a farther view—a view dedicated to the development of Canada's stature in every land of the globe.

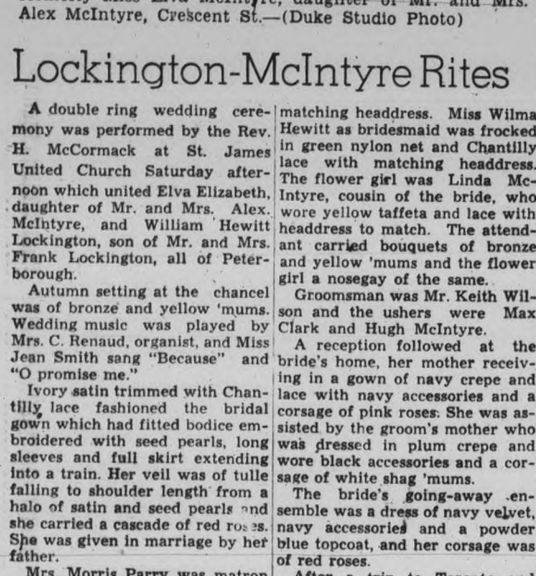
MR. AND MRS. W. HEWITT LOCKINGTON, the bride formerly Miss Elva McIntyre, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex McIntyre, Crescent St.—(Duke Studio Photo)

Lockington-McIntyre Rites

A double ring wedding ceremony was performed by the Rev. H. McCormack at St. James United Church Saturday afternoon which united Elva Elizabeth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex. McIntyre, and William Hewitt Lockington, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lockington, all of Peterborough.

Autumn setting at the chancel was of bronze and yellow 'mums. Wedding music was played by Mrs. C. Renaud, organist, and Miss Jean Smith sang "Because" and "O promise me."

Ivory satin trimmed with Chantilly lace fashioned the bridal gown which had fitted bodice embroidered with seed pearls, long sleeves and full skirt extending into a train. Her veil was of tulle falling to shoulder length from a halo of satin and seed pearls and she carried a cascade of red roses. She was given in marriage by her father.



Mrs. Morris Parry was matron of honor, wearing a gown of saddle tan Chantilly lace with matching headdress. Miss Wilma Hewitt as bridesmaid was frocked in green nylon net and Chantilly lace with matching headdress. The flower girl was Linda McIntyre, cousin of the bride, who wore yellow taffeta and lace with headdress to match. The attendant carried bouquets of bronze and yellow 'mums and the flower girl a nosegay of the same.

Groomsman was Mr. Keith Wilson and the ushers were Max Clark and Hugh McIntyre.

A reception followed at the bride's home, her mother receiving in a gown of navy crepe and lace with navy accessories and a corsage of pink roses. She was assisted by the groom's mother who was dressed in plum crepe and wore black accessories and a corsage of white shag 'mums.

The bride's going-away ensemble was a dress of navy velvet, navy accessories and a powder blue topcoat, and her corsage was of red roses.

After a trip to Toronto and points west the couple will live at 130 Perry St.

MR. AND MRS. GORDON CLARE CASEY, the bride formerly Betty Marie Belsey, who were married Saturday at the Elim Tabernacle.—(Parks Studio Photo)

Betty Belsey Weds Gordon C. Casey

Chrysanthemums and ferns were the setting at Elim Tabernacle Saturday as the Rev. G. Evans officiated in the marriage of Betty Marie, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Belsey, to Gordon Clare Casey, the youngest son of Mrs. Casey and the late Mr. Allan Casey, all of Peterborough.

Given in marriage by her father the bride was gowned in white slipper satin designed with lace collar and bouffant skirt with a satin flounce trimmed with lace. Her headdress was in crown effect trimmed with sequins and held her train-length embroidered veil. She carried a white Bible topped with a red rose and showered with satin streamers tied with rosebuds.

Bridesmaid Miss Ruth Casey, sister of the groom, was dressed in pink taffeta with matching gloves and a poke-shaped headdress trimmed with pink tulle. Miss Carol Belsey, sister of the bride wore green taffeta with matching gloves and poke headdress with green tulle. Each carried a bouquet of 'mums.

Miss Murelann Belsey sister of the bride, sang 'The Wedding Prayer" during the service and "The Voice that Breath'd O'er Eden" during the signing of the register. The music was played by Mrs. Irvin Hill.

Robert Belsey was the groomsman and the ushers were Patrick and Earl Belsey all brothers of the bride.

A reception was given at the bride's home. Her mother received in a dress of intermission crepe with a corsage of yellow roses and brown accessories. She was assisted by the groom's mother, in grey tricotine with corsage of pink roses and navy accessories.

The bride chose for travelling a navy gabardine suit, cream shortie coat and navy accessories and she had a corsage of red roses. After a motor trip the couple will live at 30 Lafayette Ave.

Women Teachers Meet In Colborne

Annual fall conference for region four, Federation of Women Teachers, was held in Colborne Saturday. Mrs. Luella Young, of Grafton, provincial director, was in charge of the meeting, held in the Colborne United Church. Theme of the deliberations was "Citizenship."

Delegates were welcomed by Mrs. Buchanan, president of the hostess association. A message was sent by Mrs. Ruth Clarke, provincial president and member of region four, who was attending a meeting in Hamilton.

Reports were given on legislation, public relations, superannuation, teacher education, research and finance. The teachers expressed themselves in favor of the single salary schedule with equal salary for women and men with equal qualifications and equal responsibility.

Eleven teachers from Peterborough were present, Miss Clara Doughty who gave the sick benefit fund report, Miss Cora Bailey, Miss Hilda Thurston, Miss Marian Pound, Miss Agnes Chalk, Miss Ruth Mortlock, Miss Agnes McNab, Miss Muriel Ball, Mrs. Grace Samson, Miss Jean Leach, Miss Marjory Stenton.

Dinner was served at noon by ladies of the church.

The 1952 fall conference will be held at Picton.

Chesney-Gray Nuptials At Barrie

A quiet wedding on Monday afternoon at three o'clock in Christ United Church, Barrie, united Muriel Ellen Gray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Gray of Barrie, and Mervin Chesney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Chesney of Buckhorn. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Bewell.

Given in marriage by her father the bride was wearing a street length dress of pale blue nylon, softly tucked at the waist with bouffant skirt. Her accessories were navy and she wore a corsage of sweetheart roses. She was attended by Miss Fern Chesney, sister of the groom, who wore a similar dress of soft pink with navy accessories and had a corsage of talisman roses.

Groomsman was Roy Gray, brother of the bride.

A reception at the bride's home followed. Her mother was receiving in a deep blue crepe dress and navy accessories and the groom's mother was wearing a grey and blue figured dress with navy and grey accessories. Each had a corsage of bronze 'mums.

The bridal couple left afterward on a motor trip in northern Ontario, the bride wearing a cherry red crepe dress with navy topcoat and navy accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Chesney will live at 226 Brock St., Peterborough.

Set Dinner Date

Regular meeting of the YWCA Board of Directors was held Monday afternoon. Date of the centennial dinner was set for Friday, November 30th. Ladies in charge will be Mrs. Hugh Waddell, Mrs. H. C. Four Attend Helen Briggs

At St. James United Church on Saturday, Helen Gertrude Briggs, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Briggs of Sussex, NB, became the bride of Aubrey William Morrison, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Morrison of Lakefield. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. H. McCormack, minister.

The church was decorated with baskets of 'mums and roses. Music was played by Mrs. C. Renaud, organist, and Miss Mary Hunter sang "I'll Walk Beside You" during the signing of the register. Mr. Eric Hunter gave the bride in marriage.

She was wearing a gown of white slipper satin with a net yoke and a train trimmed with Alecon lace. Her veil fell to the floor from a regal headdress and she carried a bouquet of American beauty roses.

Miss Betty Briggs was maid of honor for her sister and bridesmaids were Miss Marie Armitage, and Miss Anna Chapman. Elizabeth Cox, niece of the bride was flower girl. The maid of honor wore pale blue taffeta with overskirt of net, the bridesmaids were in mauve and pale green frocks similarly styled, and the flower girl was dressed in pale yellow taffeta. They wore matching feather headdresses and carried baskets of 'mums and carnations.

Royden Hockaday attended the groom and ushers were Hubert Morrison, brother of the groom, and his cousin, Douglas Hamblin.

A reception was held afterward in the parlor of the church with the bride's sister Mrs. Thomas Cox receiving, assisted by the groom's mother. Mrs. Cox was wearing a wine suit with grey accessories and Mrs. Morrison a wine dress with matching color hat of French velour. Each had a corsage of white 'mums. Guests were present from New Brunswick, Toronto, Lakefield, Cavan and Peterborough.

For a wedding trip to Toronto and New York City the bride chose a navy suit and rust accessories and wore a fur neckpiece.

Mr. and Mrs. Morrison will live at 140 Perry St. on return.

Newlyweds Feted

BAILIEBORO, Oct. 23 (ENS)—On Friday evening a large crowd assembled in Centreville hall in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Bell (nee Joan Westlake) who were recently married. Mr. Arthur Beebe read the address and Messrs. Robert Fisher and Otis Burns made the presentation of a studio couch to the honored couple. Mr. Harry Campbell was chairman.

Dancing was enjoyed and lunch was served.

Evening Skirts Very Tight In Latest Paris Collection

PARIS, Oct. 23 (AP)—Long evening skirts were nearly as tight as mummy wrappings in the new mid-season fashion collection shown by Jacques Fath today. The lady who wears one will move with sinuous glide.

Opening during Fath's absence in America, the new collection was a sparse one with only 14 new models, padded out with boutique numbers.

It seems that the mid-season collections as a whole this year will be fewer and smaller than ever before. Majority opinion is that many houses can't afford the expense, but some dressmakers insist that they are still too busy with customers for their fall collection to make a new one.

Fath obviously aimed at the Christmas holiday trade with a collection leaning heavily to evening and cocktail clothes.

Next to black, bold scarlet was the favorite color. The one huge-skirted number was as merry as a Christmas bell in deep red velvet. With this one exception, all the long dresses were snakeskin tight, with angle hobbling hems, prim and proper with high-necked long-sleeved jackets.

The designer is still faithful to bell skirts in his short dresses.

One dress has a real skaters skirt swinging out from beneath a short double basque effect. Most day dresses were in jersey with moderately narrow skirts.

Simplicity was the over-all theme of the collection.

Peterborough Girl Wed In Windsor

A quiet double ring ceremony by candlelight in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church at Windsor Saturday evening, united in marriage Miss Bette Victor, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Victor, Gilchrist St., Peterborough, and Mr. Frank Vukobratick,, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Vukobratick of Schumacher.

The bride was attired in a navy gabardine suit, buttoned to the neck, and she wore a five-strand pearl necklace. Her hat was in watermelon shade of shaped feathers and she wore white gloves and navy shoes and a corsage of white roses. She was attended by Miss Evelyn Collins, also formerly of Peterborough, who wore a gray pic and pic suit with navy accessories and a corsage of red roses.

Attending the groom was Mr. Louie Iacuzzi of Windsor.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Dominion Golf Club which is owned by an uncle of the groom. The couple then left on a short honeymoon to the United States and on return they will live in Windsor.

Miss Nancy Eastwood Wed

The marriage of Miss Nancy Margaret Eastwood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent McCarter Eastwood of Peterborough, to Mr. David Graham Ritchie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bertrum Ritchie of Ottawa, was solemnized at St. John's Anglican Church on Saturday by Ven. Archdeacon W. P. Robertson.

Standards of pink and white 'mums were the setting and wedding music was played by Mr. F. G. Mann, organist.

The bride's gown was of French ecru lace over pale pink taffeta. It was designed with fitted bodice, long tight sleeves pointed over the hand, and the skirt fullness caught in inverted pleats at the back and falling into a train. Her veil was of ecru nylon net caught under a matching ecru lace cap and falling to waist length. She carried a bouquet of sweetheart roses with white and green ivy leaves. Mr. Eastwood gave his daughter in marriage.

Bridesmaid was Miss Roma Williamson who was gowned in rust velvet the dress fashioned with long pointed sleeves, a rolled off-the-shoulder neckline and full skirt with slight train. Her rust velvet fitted cap had a rolled brim. She carried a bouquet of autumn 'mums with green and white ivy leaves.

The groom's attendant was Mr. Ronald Boyd of Ottawa. Ushers were Jack Matthews, R. N. McLaughlin of Toronto, George Ritchie and John Ritchie Jr. of Ottawa.

The reception was held at Peterborough Golf and Country Club where Mrs. Eastwood received in a spice colored wool dress with matching jacket, spice velvet hat and corsage of bronze orchids. The groom's mother was wearing heather crepe with a black velvet hat and her corsage was mauve orchids.

Leaving later on a motor trip to the United States the bride wore a raspberry colored suit and beige topcoat with matching accessories. Her corsage was of white gardenias.

They will live at 512 Evered St in Ottawa.

Oak Leaves, Tartan Drapes Setting For Highland Dance

HAVELOCK, Oct. 23 (ENS).—Decorations of colorful oak leaves and tartan drapes presented a charming setting for the annual Highland Dance in the town hall on Friday night sponsored by the Havelock Pipe Band, which attracted a large crowd.

In the receiving line were Mesdames Harry Anderson Carl Lynn and Anson Seabrooks. Music for the round dancing was supplied by a Belleville orchestra, while the square dancing was done to bagpipe music. The program, which commenced with a grand march led by Pipers Bruce Anderson and Bruce Cooke, was interspersed with selections by the Pipe Band under the direction of Pipe Major Harry Anderson. The following members of the band entertained with the Argyle Broad Swords dance: Helen Robinson, Shirley Anderson, Audrey Newell, Robert J. Hill. The draw for the door prize which was won by Mr. and Mrs. B. Bell was drawn by Drum Major A. N. Clarke of the CGE Pipe Band, Peterborough.

Pipe Sergeant Angus Munro of the CGE Pipe Band, Peterborough, drew the winning tickets in a draw for three prizes on which the band had sold tickets The winners were: radio, William Morrow, Campbellford; floor lamp, Miss Ruby McIntyre, Havelock; electric kettle, Bogart Lynn, Petherick's Corners. Three lucky spot dance prizes were awarded as follows: Mr. and Mrs. H. Winslow, Peterborough; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bennett, Havelock; Mr. H. Winslow and Miss Betty Weidner, Peterborough.

Those attending were: Mr. and Mrs. G. Braund, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Wilkinson, Dr. and Mrs. H. Ball, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. DOROTHY DIX

Find Group Activities Help End Self-Consciousness

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am 17 and just beginning college. I have a definite lack of self-confidence, easily seen in the way I act toward people. Sometimes I feel that it may be due to the fact that I am not pretty but just average in looks. My self-consciousness plagued me all through high school, and I would love to go through college with a little more confidence.

Dorothy Dix

CAROL

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Self-consciousness can be overcome, and while a special course is most-hepful in overcoming the difficulty, you can do it alone! First of all, don't stay on the sidelines! Get into every school activity you can get in to work—not act as a spectator. Most helpful in your case would be athletics, dramatic or singing clubs, dancing classes. Don't be apologetic if your work in these activities is not the best; begin by acting confident and the attitude will soon be second nature.

Accept Responsibility

Be willing to accept responsibility! If a call for workers goes out from one of the groups you belong to, raise your hand high. You'll be scared stiff at the first job or two, but the ease with which you gain confidence will be astounding.

Don't hold back because of this "I'm not pretty" nonsense. Neither are most girls. That's why the pretty ones stand out. Good looks are, most certainly, a wonderful asset, but lack of them is not an insurmountable difficulty. Study the faces of many women in the news—even those of women to whom the word "glamorous" is often applied. They are not pretty, but perfect grooming, poise and self-confidence give them an air that mere prettiness could never emulate.

Lastly, stop thinking of yourself and consider the other person, no matter who he or she may be. Self-consciousness, after all, is only thinking too much of ourselves and not enough of others. When talking to someone, don't worry about the impression you're making. Give all your attention to what your vis-a-vis is saying; be interested, be impressed. Self-consciousness? Why, the very idea! Who said you had it?

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am 47 and my wife is 21. We have been married eleven months and she has left me. She claims she is lonesome for her mother and home. She has gone out with me several times since she left.

H. S.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: It is very doubtful if your wife could be completely happy with a husband old enough to be her father. Whether she is conscious of the cause for her dissatisfaction or not, it is there, and to her it took the obvious form of homesickness. I cannot prophesy the outcome of your problem, but for the time being, let your wife remain with her mother and see if her affection for you is strong enough to bring about a resumption of your married life. Don't force her to come home; be patient. Give her a chance to resolve the future.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 15 and have been asked by a very nice boy in our neighborhood to go out with him. I am afraid to ask my mother's permission because she seems afraid to let me associate with boys at all.

PAM

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: The last person in the world a girl should be afraid of is her mother. Perhaps you have never gotten close enough to understand each other, but even now it is not too late. You must eventually discuss the boy-meets-girl problem with her; why put it off? Tell her you have been asked for a date; if she doesn't know the boy, tell her all about him and offer to bring him home to meet the family. Let her know you are growing up and can be trusted to act accordingly. I think mom will have enough confidence in you to permit the occasional dating.

What's Right?

Your child receives a written invitation to a party.

WRONG: Don't bother seeing that it is answered.

RIGHT: If the child is old enough to write, have the child answer the invitation. If not, answer it for him.

LOGY, LISTLESS, OUT OF LOVE WITH LIFE?

Wouldn't you like to jump out of bed feeling fine?

Not up to par? . . . you may suffer from an upset system. If you are constipated your food may not digest freely—gas may bloat up your stomach . . . all the fun and sparkle goes out of life. MARY MOORE SAYS:

Use Quinces For Mint Jelly Quince To Glass of Jelly

My neighbor gave me eight large quinces, so presto! I now have eight glasses of mint jelly lined up on my kitchen window sill.

Does anybody want to make up some mint or angel or even quince jelly? Do you know where you can pick up about eight quinces?

Emem's Mint Jelly (using quinces)

Wash well, cut into eighths and trim away the stem and any blemishes from 8 large quinces. (Use 10 or 12 if yours are medium-large or small.) To the prepared quinces add enough cold water to show beneath top layer of quinces. Cover and cook gently until quinces are very tender—about 40 minutes. Strain overnight through double thickness of cheesecloth. Measure juice. I had 5½ cups.

To this add 10 5-inch stalks of fresh mint and boil gently for 20 minutes. Add 5 cups sugar. Bring to boiling point and add ½ bottle commercial pectin, and enough green coloring to give the jelly a bright green tint. I used 1 teaspoon liquid vegetable coloring, but you must use your own judgment about this. Strain through sieve covered with one thickness of cheesecloth. Boil until two drops of syrup will drop separately from spoon. Pour into sterile glasses at once. Cover with hot paraffin at once adding a second coating when cold.

Today, lamb fronts are down in price to 55 cents per pound. Maybe we could have a roast of lamb in the not too distant future and strut out the new mint jelly to serve with it.

Angel Jelly (using quinces, apples and cranberries)

Eight quinces, 6 red apples, 1 lb. cranberries.

Wash all of the fruits. Core and trim the quinces and apples and cut them into eighths. Pick over the cranberries. Almost cover the mixed fruits with cold water and boil gently until tender. Strain through double thickness of cheesecloth overnight. Measure juice and boil 20 minutes. Add an equal quantity of sugar, boil 3 minutes test for jellying by lifting spoon high above kettle and letting juice drip from it—if juice runs off in two drops it is ready to pour. Pour into sterile glasses and seal with double coatings of paraffin.

✧ ✧ ✧

NOTE: To keep caught up with readers' letters during the canning season I am going to tack on an answer sometimes to the column during the early part of the week. So watch for my answers to you.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MRS. MOORE: "Garden fresh" canned rhubarb after four years' storage in a locker in an apartment garage basement in Montreal was prepared as follows:

Do not pare rhubarb but have it perfectly clean. Cut into one inch pieces and pack into clean sterilized jars. Run the balance of the clean rhubarb through the fool chopper catching every drop of the juice. Pour this juice into the filled jars (cold) inserting silver knife, as in usual canning, withdrawing air bubbles. When filled to top screw tops down (with rubber rings). If rhubarb is plentiful—from your own garden say, discard the pulp (leftover from obtaining juice). The pulp however may be added to the rhubarb in the sealers, saving every bit of the food. No processing—all cold. Store.

Twenty years ago one of the ladies in the church in a village in Kawartha lakes district gave me this,—her way of canning rhubarb for the most delicious pies ever tasted at a church social in the depth of winter . . . I enjoy reading your column, and particularly like the human touch, so thought you might be interested in this way if you have not come across it before. Best of everything. Mary F. D.

ANSWER: Thanks Mary F. This is most unusual and welcome.

MOVIE COLUMN

Mother Defends Children Who Work In Films

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 23 (AP)—The life of a child actor in Hollywood today was defended by the mother of three movie moppets.

"I get angry when I read all the stories about how child stars face broken marriages and unhappy lives in their adult years," said Mrs. Eleanor Perreau. "I think that is untrue as a hard and fast rule. Anyone who writes such stories can visit my home and he will see three of the most normal kids he can find."

The speaker is the mother of Janine, Gigi and Gerald Perreau. (Gerald's movie name is Peter Miles.) They are 9, 10 and 13 years old, respectively, and the family has been in pictures almost eight years. Mrs. Perreau said their acting careers have made no dents in their normal living.

"The children have been in the business so long that they are no longer awed by it," she said. "They accept acting in the movies as a matter of routine, the same as going to school.

Good Work

"As a matter of fact, I think it is a good thing for them to work in pictures. It teaches them to use their memories. They learn to make good use of their time, since punctuality is essential in making a picture. And they are earning some money which they will be able to use in later life."

Mrs. Perreau said she thought over-ambitious parents are the cause when child stars are spoiled for later life.

"I think it's wrong for parents to lavish acting and dancing lessons on their children and try to push them into jobs," she observed. "When a child sees all the attention his parents are giving him, he figures he must be important."

Wren Commander Enjoys Varied Career

WINNIPEG —(CP)— Manitoba's senior woman naval officer has tried her hand at everything from fencing to a newspaper career but she still professes one secret ambition.

Lieut. Joan Brackenridge— a woman with a wide grin and close-cropped hair—is in command of HMCS Chippawa's women reservists at Winnipeg. Once a week she leaves her husband at Gretna, Man. and drives 75 miles to look after her 35 Wrens.

She's responsible for their administration, discipline and morale. Wrens take their training courses with the men.

Mrs. Brackenridge's secret ambition comes from three years' experience in the newspaper business. She was once assistant music critic on the Vancouver Province and later wrote music reviews for The Quebec Chronicle-Telegraph.

Advice Column

"I've always wanted to write an advice-to-the-lovelorn column," she says.

Mrs. Brackenridge is also a handy woman with a golf club and a fencing foil. She once held the British Columbia fencing championship and was a runner-up in a Dominion final. When music doesn't interfere she raises prize dogs.

During the Second World War she served more than three years as a Lieutenant with navy intelligence. She met her husband at Halifax while he was serving as chief engineer in the Royal fleet auxiliary, a branch of the Royal Navy.

Mrs. Brackenridge now runs a landlocked household at Gretna where her husband is chief engineer of a pipeline station.

Two UK Women Square Off For Ballet Fight

By JULIAN BATES.

LONDON, Oct. 23 (Reuters).—The only straight fight between women in Thursday's general election is a knockdown battle of two seasoned political Amazons.

The contest is between Irene Ward, 51, Conservative member of parliament since 1950 for Tynemouth in the industrial northeast of England, and Grace Colman, 58, who held the seat for Labor from 1945-50.

In 1950, 6,452 votes went to Liberal candidate E. B. Slack, a 26-year-old lecturer. Miss Ward was elected with a majority of 5,637.

No Liberal is standing this time, leaving the decks clear for the second straight all-female fight since 1918, when women were first allowed to stand for parliament.

Miss Ward went into politics in the early 1930s, tilting unsuccessfully against miners' leaders in tough coal areas.

In 1931 she won a Tyneside seat from Labor's redoubtable Margaret Bondfield, the first woman cabinet minister. In 1935 she again defeated Miss Bondfield and switched her main interest from mining and industrial matters to foreign affairs. She was a delegate to the United Nations and travelled widely through Europe as well as visiting the United States and Canada.

Committee Chairman.

During the war she became chairman of the committee directing women's work throughout Britain. After her defeat in the 1945 election, she visited the Middle East to talk to the British troops about demobilization, and training schemes.

Grace Colman is tall and slim with hair just beginning to grey.

Horn-rimmed glasses give her a studious air — in fact, she was a tutor at Cambridge and London universities before turning to politics.

Daughter of a minister of religion, Miss Colman early took a strong interest in welfare work and is known as an expert on juvenile courts. She became a Socialist while studying at Cambridge.

She represented Tynemouth in Parliament from 1945 to 1950 after working during the war as a temporary civil servant with the Ministry of Labor.

The only other straight fight between women since they won the right to sit in parliament was last year's struggle between Jennie Lee, 47-year-old wife of fiery left-wing labor rebel Aneurin Bevan, and Conservative Mrs. M. Hickling. Miss Lee won by an overwhelming majority.

6—In Memoriam

MANN—In loving memory of a dear mother, Ada M. Mann, who passed away one year ago, Oct. 22, 1951.
How dear, how near her memory,
How close, how sweet it stays,
To watch above her loved ones
And guide them through the days.
How perfect, too, each thought of her
How comforting to know
Her own dear love is with us still,
To bless the way we go.
—Lovingly remembered by sons and daughters.

McLAREN—In loving remembrance of Billie McLaren, dear husband and dad, who passed away October 27, 1941.
—Still sadly missed by his wife and family.

7—Cards of Thanks

With sorrow, we remember the loss of our dear husband, son and brother, Earle Stafford Drummond, Sunday, Oct. 7th, 1951. Our sadness would be unbearable except for strength from Almighty God and tender assistance of the many kind friends, relatives, neighbours and police, who by means of lovely flowers, meaningful cards, thoughtful deeds, personal calls and other expressions of sympathy lightened our mourning. With God's help, the darkness of our night shall be turned into the glorious dawning for he is with Him.—Mrs. Hilda Drummond, Mr. and Mrs. Holmes Drummond and family, Mr. and Mrs. Preston Armstrong.

All souls are Thine, and here or there
They rest within Thy sheltering call
One providence alike they share,
Hallelujah.

Liquor Count Fine

Convicted on a written plea of guilty, Cliffard McConnell, 264 King St. W., North Bay, was fined $15 and $2.50 in costs or one month by Magistrate W. R. Philp in police court today.

McConnell was charged with having liquor in a place other than his residence. The charge was laid in Norwood on October 8.

Owner Of Cattle Not Charged Case Dismissed

A charge of allowing cattle to be at large on a road against Mrs. Thomas McAdams of Chandos township was dismissed by Magistrate W. R. Philp in police court today.

The charge was laid by OPP Constable Bert Howden on September 13, following an accident on the Coe Hill road. Cattle owned by Mrs. McAdams' husband were alleged to have ran into the side of a car owned by Miss Proudy of Apsley as she was driving along the road.

Defence counsel Alex L. Elliott entered a plea of not guilty for Mrs. McAdams and refused to cross examine crown witnesses.

Testifying for the crown, both Miss Proudy and Constable Howden said that Mrs. McAdams had admitted the cows belonged to her husband, who was sick in the hospital.

After the crown's case was completed, Mr. Elliott asked that the charge be dismissed because "the act provides only for the responsibility of the owner. There is no provision for a charge by proxy," said Mr. Elliott. "Both witnesses have said that the cows were owned by her husband.

Magistrate Philp dismissed the charge.

Burma To Nationalize Oil In Slow Stages

NEW DELHI, India, Oct. 23—(AP).—Burma intends to nationalize her oil industry, "but we will do it in an orderly manner by slow stages," Burmese Premier Thakin Nu said today.

He told a press conference that the first step was the purchase of five per cent of the £100,000,000 ($280,000,000) outstanding shares in the Burmah Oil Company, Ltd., a British company.

The company operates a refinery at Rangoon, the Burmese capital.

Thakin Nu said nationalization would come in Burma through purchase rather than confiscation. (Burma's output of petroleum was 7,762,000 barrels in 1941. Production has been materially less in postwar years.)

The Burmese leader is in New Delhi for an "exchange of ideas" with Prime Minister Nehru.

Canada's Mounties May Get Pay Boost

OTTAWA, Oct. 23 (CP).—Canada's Mounties may soon get a pay increase.

A submission may soon go forward to Cabinet it was learned today, to boost the pay of the 5,000 man force by about 10 per cent.

The last pay increase for the RCMP was in December, 1950.

Pay for the Mounties ranges from $200 a month for a second-class constable to $300 a month for a sergeant. If the increases go through, a second-class constable would get about $220 a month and the sergeant about $330.

THREE WARTIME LEADERS get together to talk over old times at the annual reunion of the British 8th Army "Desert Rats," staged in London. The old chums are: (L-R) Winston Churchill, former Prime Minister; Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, Supreme Allied Commander in Europe; and Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery. Ike flew from his headquarters in Paris to attend the affair.

Speeder Fined After Chase

Charged with exceeding the 50 mile an hour speed limit on Highway 7, Percy Merrill of RR 2, Indian River, pleaded not guilty but was convicted on the evidence of OPP Constable Thomas Armitage by Magistrate W. R. Philp in police court today.

Magistrate Philp ordered Merrill to pay a fine of $10 and $2.50 costs or spend 10 days in the county jail.

Constable Armitage testified that Merrill passed him driving a 1933 model car and he had to drive the police cruiser at a speed of between 55 and 65 miles an hour through traffic for two or three miles before he could stop the car driven by Merrill.

No Muffler

"There must have been something wrong with the police cruiser," said Merrill testifying in his own defence. "I don't think my car will go that fast. There was no muffler and I'd be afraid to drive it that fast for fear the exhaust would ignite the carburetor and blow it up."

Merrill admitted not having a speedometer on his car.

In convicting Merrill, Magistrate Philp said that "fifty-five or sixty seems like a pretty good speed for a 1933 car" but added there was nothing to dispute the officer's testimony.

Second Offender Fined

First pleading not guilty to a charge of being intoxicated in a public place, John Whaley, 40, of 272 Westcott St., pleaded guilty in police court today when Crown Attorney J. A. Bradshaw asked for a remand on the charge because the arresting officer was not present.

There was a previous conviction against Whaley on a drunk charge earlier this year and Magistrate W. R. Philp ordered him to pay a fine of $50 and $2.50 in costs or in default one month in jail.

Friday Big Day

Gerald Berry; Rev. Charles Boyd, president of the Ministerial Association, and Rabbi J. Mayer.

Chairman

A microphone and loud speakers will carry the addresses to the public from the top step of the entrance. Ald. H. N. Young, chairman of the reception committee of the council, will preside.

Mr. Gordon Monkman will present to Mayor Swanston the gold chain, symbol of the mayoral office and dignity, which he has had made in England. This is Mr. Monkman's gift to the city, and he will invest Mayor Swanston with it as its first wearer.

His Worship's reply will be followed by short addresses by Bishop Berry, Rabbi Mayer and Mr. Boyd. The band will play a hymn, and Mr. Marani will be introduced.

Mr. J. Hubert Eastwood, general contractor of the building, will present a golden key of it to Mr. Marani, who in turn transfers it to Mayor Swanston.

The band will play the royal salute as Ald. Young calls upon Hon. R. F. McWilliams, the King's representative in the province of Manitoba, and a former Mayor of Peterborough. He will be followed by Mr. Hungerford.

Open Building

Mayor G. R. Chamberlain of Peterborough, England, is then introduced. He will receive from Mayor Swanston the golden ceremonial key and will officially open the main door of the building.

After the address by Mayor Chamberlain the out of town guests will be invited by Mayor Swanston into the city hall. For the general public special open hour occasions have been arranged for Monday and Tuesday afternoon and evenings.

The program concludes with "O Canada" by the band.

Following the inspection of the building, the women of the official party will be entertained at afternoon tea by Mrs. Swanston at her home on Armour Road, and the men will be guests of His

Visiting Mayors To Attend Battery Reunion

The municipal representatives of the three Peterboroughs who will be here Friday for the opening of the city hall have an added engagement for Saturday night as guests at the first re-union of the 4th Anti-Tank Battery Association.

Mayor Chamberlain of Peterborough, England, will be here with Mayor Swanston, and it is hoped that Selectman Forest Mercer of Peterborough, New Hampshire, U.S. can arrange to remain for this event.

Opening session of the re-union will be Friday at 8 p.m. at the armouries for election of officers and general business.

The dinner Saturday night will be in Canadian Legion hall at 7 o'clock, followed by a dance in the armouries. On Sunday there will be a general Artillerymen's reunion of the city and district with a parade to the Cenotaph at 12.30 p.m.

Orangized 1950

President of the 4th Anti-Tank Battery Association which was organized here last year is Wilfred Jones, 643 Lundy's Lane; Charles Dorrington is vice-president. Ted Wood is secretary-treasurer, and Col. John A. Harstone, M.C., is honorary president.

The 4th Battery was mobilized here, its garrison headquarters, June 11, 1940, and was the first unit to depart from Peterborough for active service in World War II.

It is expected that 150 members will be here for the first reunion. They will be accompanied by their wives.

Drunk Fined $10

Jack Sweeney, 22 of 12 Cotton Road, Scarboro, pleaded guilty to being intoxicated in a public place October 22 when he appeared in police court today.

Magistrate W. R. Philp fined Sweeney $10 and $2.50 costs or in default 10 days in jail.

AID TO ARTS

The annual government grant to the Arts Council of Great Britain amounted to £600,000 for the fiscal year 1949-50.

Worship the Mayor at the Peterborough Club.

The concluding civic dinner will be at 6.30 p.m. at the Empress Hotel.

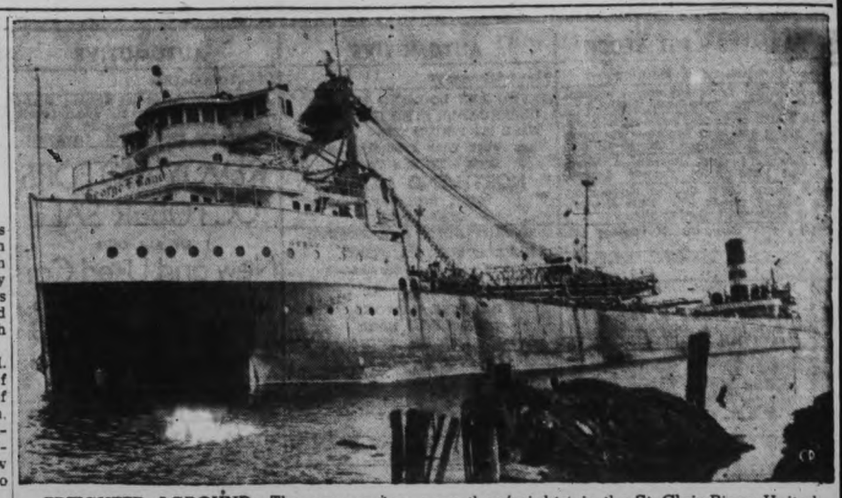
Seek Permission To Draw Plans For Two Schools

PORT HOPE, Oct. 23.—Plans for the new Port Hope High School and the proposed addition to Bowmanville High School may soon reach the blueprint stage as the result of a resolution passed at a meeting of the District High School Board here Friday night.

The resolution instructed H. Mitchell, secretary-treasurer of the board to write the councils of Clarke, Darlington, Hope, Cavan, Newcastle and Millbrook, requesting permission to hire architects to draw up plans for the new high school and the addition to Bowmanville collegiate.



Overcrowded

Both schools are badly overcrowded at present and since the situation is expected to become worse, the new facilities will be needed within the next couple of years.

The board also plans on surveying the recently purchased high school site immediately, so a playing field can be layed out for use in the near future.

The board did very well to purchase 12.3 acres for $15,000 said Read Budge in noting that other towns have paid much more for similar school sites.

If the remote possibility occurred that the school is not built, the board could realize a considerable profit from resale of the land said Stuart Ryan. Mr. Ryan named a figure between $2,000 and $2,500 as a possible sale price for the land.

FREIGHTER AGROUND—The ore carrier, George F. Rev. Norris Preacher At Bethany

BETHANY, Oct. 23- (ENS) — Bethany United Church held their anniversary services on Sunday, with the Rev. D. P. Norris of Bridgenorth as the guest minister. At the morning service Mr. Norris took his text from Matthew's Gospel "There came unto Him a woman having an alabaster box of very precious ointment and poured it on His head." The disciples questioned her deed and Jesus said "Rebuke her not."

"There is an importance in the service of tribute and we should pay honor where honor is due. We should forget ourselves in service to others. It is the ordinary every day words of praise, the service of homage, encouragement and friendly gestures that makes men great and remembered in after years," said Mr. Norris.

In the evening Mr. Norris took his text from Proverbs: "The highway of the upright is to depart from evil; he that keepeth his way, preserveth his soul." "Just as our provincial highways are clearly marked by signs to guide the traffic and make for safe driving; so is the highway of life. If everyone paid attention to the traffic signs and kept to the right side of the road accidents would be entirely eliminated. If we pay attention to the guide signs as given in the teaching of Christ and the Christian way of living, so will your journey of life be without accidents."

Norman Lowes, Toronto, gave several organ selections preceeding the morning service.

Mrs. H. D. Jackman, Peterborough, was guest soloist, singing "Green Pastures," "Come Jesus My Redeemer," "Spirit of Holy Love" and "Oh Sacred Flame of Love Divine." She was accompanied by Mrs. Leonard McNeil, also of Peterborough.

The choir with Mrs. Ona Thorndyke at the organ sang four anthems. "Bless The Lord Oh My Soul" with Ralph Preston taking the tenor solo; "Oh Jesus Thou Art Standing" with Mrs. Preston Neals and Mr. Harry Preston taking the alto and baritone duet; "I Will Give Thanks" and "Harbour Bells."

The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion with a mass arrangement of chrysanthemums in shades of red and bronze. There was a large attendance at both services, with many former members from outside points present. A thankoffering of $685 was received.

The Rev. James Hampson thanked all those who had taken part in the services; also expressing the appreciation of the various church organizations to Hubert Lowes for his services in the past and who is leaving this week to attend a Bible College in New York, U.S.A.

Queer Target

WILCOX, Sask. — (CP) — An albino duck was shot near here by Billy Schneider. The duck, a spoonbill, had flesh-colored feet and bill, pale pink eyes and white feathers.

The task of arm-waving orchestra conductors has been made lighter since someone dreamed up the idea of making batons of aluminum. This gave us the notion that aluminum bull-fiddles would be a lot lighter to lug around. But, sure enough, someone had thought of that, too! Aluminum certainly lightens the load for lots of people these days—and in lots of ways.

To make more of this metal available Alcan is embarked on a further long-range expansion programme which will run to a quarter of a billion dollars. Aluminum Company of Canada, Ltd. (Alcan).

Nominate Whitehead Hastings Candidate

BELLEVILLE, Oct. 23 (CP) — Arthur Whitehead of Point Anne Monday night was nominated as CCF candidate for Hastings East in the Nov. 22 Ontario election. He will oppost Roscoe Robson, Progressive Conservative who held the seat in the last legislature, and Don Carruthers, Liberal.

Ernest Gibbs of Belleville was chosen CCF candidate for Hastings West in place of Bert Giles, recently nominated. Mr. Giles withdrew for personal reasons.

Wins Appeal

MEDIA, Pa., Oct. 23— (AP) — An Algebra teacher's demand that he be paid extra for taking tickets at a school football game was upheld Monday in court. The decision was on an apepal by A. Todd Coronway, of Lansdowne Pa. It held that the assignment of Coronway to take tickets at a game "was a demotion to the said Coronway in type of position."

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 23 (AP) —It took Mrs. Carolina Paris, 70, 11, years and 11 months to make up her mind to remarry. She and Jim Nicolino, 68, obtained a marriage licence Monday. Nicolino said that for 30 years he had lived as a roomer in Mrs. Paris' home. He proposed nearly 12 years ago and she accepted last week.

Three-Way Tie In AHL Scoring

NEW YORK, Oct. 23 (AP) — Ken Davis and Jack Stoddard of Providence and Rudy Migay of Pittsburgh are tied today for first place in the American Hockey League's scoring derby at nine points each.

The trio boast identical records of three goals and six assists. Four players, Ab Demarco of Buffalo, Pat Lundy and Cliff Simpson of St. Louis and Bob Solinger of Pittsburgh are deadlocked for fourth place at seven points apiece.

Lundy and Simpson, along with Arnie Kullman of Hershey and George Armstrong of Pittsburgh are tied for goal-getting honors at four each: Davies, Stoddard and Migay lead in assists with six apiece.

Little Gil Mayer of Pittsburgh, last year's top goalie, is leading again. Mayer has allowed seven goals in five games for a percentage of 1.40. Ralph Almas of St. Louis has posted the only shutout. Pete Durham of Omaha, who led the defunct US league in penalties last year, tops the "badmen" with 21 minutes in the box.

"Difficult Day?. . take a Disprin"

Why DISPRIN? Because DISPRIN is soluble and substantially neutral. When taken in water as recommended, it enters the stomach as a true solution and not as undissolved particles. It is therefore less liable to cause stomach discomfort.

DISPRIN is readily absorbed. Because it definitely dissolves (not merely disintegrates) DISPRIN permits speedy absorption and gives quicker relief.

DISPRIN is palatable. Even children will take it readily.

Marmora Canvass Yield Tops Past Years

—MARMORA, Oct. 23—(ENS)—The recent canvass undertaken by Marmora Women's Institute on behalf of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind brought results with which the local organization is highly pleased. The canvass itself amounted to $151.20 and the tag day held on Saturday evening, Oct. 13, yielded $22.26, making a total of $173.46, an amount greatly in excess of the contribution from Marmora in former years when only tagging was resorted to.

Trent River WI Names Delegate To Toronto

TRENT RIVER, Oct. 23 (ENS)—The October meeting of the Trent River Women's Institute was held in the community hall on Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Tom Wright acting hostess.

Mrs. Harry Mann, president, was in the chair. At the opening two minute silent prayer was observed for the recovery of the King.

The members decided not to apply for the government grant. All the ladies who can were asked to attend the conference "We Call It Human Nature" in the Havelock town hall on October 23. Mrs. Howard McKeown was appointed delegate to the Central Area Convention which is to be held in Toronto Nov. 5, 6, 7. Mrs. George Alley was named alternate.

Donations were given to oratorical contests in Northumberland and Peterborough counties. The secretary, Mrs. Earl Greenly, was instructed to have tickets printed for the Christmas draw of a turkey, Christmas cake and chickens.

A baby bank account was started for baby Jon Donald. It was decided to hold a Hallowe'en community party on Oct. 31 with Mrs. Jack Henry, Mrs. George Brownsell and Mrs. Eric Little, committee in charge.

November meeting is to be held one week later on account of the convention. Mrs. James Longmuir, standing committee convener, gave a paper on the history of Trent River. Sick committee was asked to send fruit and candy to sick and bereaved.

In regards to the Jamaica relief, the matter was left for November meeting. A donation was made to the district fund. Mrs. Tom Wright gave a demonstration on the making of slippers from felt insoles and bits of satin material. Mrs. Ross Pollock had charge of the program which was as follows: singsong led by Mrs. Eric Little at the piano; reading by Mrs. James Longmuir, Mrs. Harold Thompson won the birthday prize and Mrs. Melville Wight won the names in songs contest.

Lunch was served by the hostess Mrs. Tom Wight, assisted by Mrs. Clarence Glenn, Mrs. James Carnrite and Mrs. Eric Little.

If Gas Tax Reduced Road Grants Cut

JARVIS, Ont., Oct. 23—(CP)—Highways Minister Doucett said Monday night that if Liberal Leader Walter Thomson's promise to reduce the gasoline tax by three cents a gallon were put into effect, it would cause a 25-per-cent reduction in road grants to municipalities.

"That would be foolish, because no road is as important as the road that passes your own door," he told a Haldimand-Norflok nomination convention.

Thomson Begins Ontario Tour

TORONTO, Oct. 23 — (CP) — Walter Thomson, Ontario Liberal leader, starts his campaign tour in the Nov. 22 provincial general election with speeches at Sarnia and Wallaceburg in Western Ontario Oct. 30.

The previous night he will speak in Belleville, although that appearance is not on the official itinerary released Monday by Ontario Liberal Party headquarters.

Campaign dates: Oct. 30, Sarnia and Wallaceburg; Oct. 31, North Middlesex and St. Thomas; Nov. 1, South Middlesex and Kitchener; Nov. 2, open; Nov. 3, Sudbury; Nov. 5, Sault Ste. Marie; Nov. 6, open; Nov. 7, Simcoe Centre and Orillia; Nov. 8, Ajax, Burlington and Hamilton; Nov. 9, Welland and St. Catharines; Nov. 10, 11 and 12, Ontario riding; Nov. 13, Carleton and Russell; Nov. 14, Renfrew North and Renfrew South; Nov. 15, Toronto; Nov. 16, Addington and Kingston; Nov. 17, Victoria or Northumberland; Nov. 19, 20, Ontario riding.

Toronto Labor Council Criticizes Newspaper

TORONTO, Oct. 23—(CP)—The Toronto Labor Council (CCL-CIO) Monday night passed a resolution criticizing The Toronto Star for its "unbalanced coverage" of the Ontario election campaign.

The resolution accused the Star of giving one political party and its leader as much as 20 times the space given to other parties, suppression of news unfavorable "to its political friends," and distortion in headlines.

The resolution said the council neither asks nor expects newspapers to support its political views, but "insists that any newspaper worthy of our democratic traditions should present all views to its readers fairly and honestly."

KILLER TRIES SUICIDE IN COUNTY JAIL

Charge Egyptians Opened Fire On Army Convoy

CAIRO, Oct. 24. (CP)—Britain charged today that Egyptians opened fire on another army convoy in the disputed Suez Canal zone. A British military spokesman said Egyptian villagers pumped six shots into a passing army convoy in the canal zone near the city of Ismailia. No details were available. Egypt, meanwhile, moved to back up her ban on British ships in the canal. The Egyption government has issued orders to customs officials to refuse clearance to British ships using the canal, a Royal Navy statement charged.

The statement said Egyptian authorities at Port Said, the Mediterranean entrance to the canal, had also been ordered to cut off fuel and water supplies to British vessels.

British officials countered the customs block by issuing their ships with documents granting special permission to move in the canal because the Egyptian clearance had been withheld illegally. The certificates were issued in the name of the British Navy.

Ships affected are vessels supplying British garrisons along the canal banks.

Protected By Guns

Today the guns of British warships covered British merchant ships which were clearing through the canal in defiance of the Egyptian government orders.

Aside from the report of the attack on the army convoy, the Suez and Cairo areas were quiet after recent violent outbursts of anti-British rioting. The Egyptian government issued stern warnings against new outbursts.

Britain modified her clampdown on traffic to let 250 oil trucks go through from Suez to Cairo, Egyptian officials said. Most rail traffic in the canal area still was banned and road traffic moved under tight restrictions. Egyptian informants said the oil trucks were let through after British officials of the Shell Oil Company told the British military that oil installations at Suez would be damaged if they had to be shut off.

A British spokesman said, however, that as far as he knew there had been no protest from Shell or any other company on the British oil ban.

A British military spokesman said the ban on truck and tanker traffic from Suez to Cairo was lifted at down today for a 24-hour period only. He declined to say why it was eased for only the day.

Strong forces of Egyptian police fired on unruly crowds in Alexandria Thursday. They flung tear gas to break up demonstrators who paraded before the Russian

Launch Drive To Boost Phone Rates

OTTAWA, Oct. 24 (CP)—The Bell Telephone Company of Canada launched a new drive today for a $15,800,000-a-year boost in Ontario and Quebec telephone rates.

In a formal hearing before the Board of Transport Commissioners, company counsel J. W. Pickup of Toronto said if the boost is granted, the company would put it into effect Nov. 1.

Counsel for major Ontario and Quebec cities appeared at the hearing to fight the boost, which the company said it required to cover heavier costs due to increased taxation and wages.

The hearing was to receive argument on the company's request for a temporary increase only at this time, with another hearing later to cover a permanent boost.

Covers Full Amount

However, deputy chief commissioner Hugh Wardrope said that the company's request for a temporary increase covers the full amount of the proposed permanent boost.

If approved, the rates would go up on about 1,700,000 phones in the two central provinces. For homes the increase asked would range between 25 to 75 cents a month, depending on the type of service and size of the community.

Individual business phones would jump anywhere from $1 to $3 a month. Long-distance charges would not be changed, but the standard nickel for a phone-booth call would jump to 10 cents in the large cities ranging down to the size of St. Catharines.

Allied Planes Down 20 Jets

US EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Oct. 24 (AP)—Another jet battle raged over North Korea today as allied tanks for the fourth straight day pounded the former Communist bastion of Kumsong on the central front.

The Fifth Air Force said one MIG was shot down and another was listed as a probable. One American F-86 Sabre jet was reported lost.

The Fifth Air Force said between 70 and 150 Russian-made MIGs fought across the entire waist of the Korean peninsula.

The new air fight followed Tuesday's scrap in which Allied B-29 Superforts and jets destroyed or damaged 20 Communist jets which tried to stop a bombing attack on the Reds' new airfield at Namsi.

Two Small Boys Die As Flames Raze Shack

KENTVILLE, NS, Oct. 24 (CP)—Two boys died today when fire destroyed a shack in the nearby farming community of Coldbrook. Laurie, 5, and Donald, 1, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Young, were found dead in their cribs.

The mother suffered severe burns when she ran into the building in an attempt to save the children.

The family was living in the crude shack while a new home was being built on an adjacent lot.

Queen Elizabeth Begins Duties Again

LONDON, Oct. 24 — (AP) — Queen Elizabeth today carried out her first public engagement since King George's operation Sept. 23.

She opened an extension to the Royal Free Hospital School of Medicine. Addressing an audience of surgeons, doctors and students the Queen declared "I am glad to be able to tell you that the King continues to make very steady progress ...

"Words cannot describe our gratitude for the devoted loving care with which the King has been surrounded."

MEMBERS OF THE PETERBOROUGH CITY COUNCIL posed for a record picture this week on the occasion of the opening of the new City Hall on Friday. Cut Wrists With Razor While In Bed

Doctors Report Robert Wyse In Good Condition

PEMBROKE, Oct. 24. (CP)—Lloyd Robert Wyse, convicted Tuesday of the murder of Lloyd Barber, Killaloe, taxi-driver, was taken to hospital here today after an apparent attempt to commit suicide in his cell at the county jail.

Sentenced Tuesday to be hanged next Jan. 8, the 35-year-old Wyse was reported to have haemorrhaged severely from razor blade cuts in his wrist. He was not unconscious when found and is reported to be in good condition in hospital, where he is being watched by two guards.

Dr. L. G. Reid of Pembroke was called to the jail about 12.45 am EST and ordered Wyse taken to hospital after treatment. The incident occurred while he was in bed in the death cell of the jail.

A 12-man Ontario Supreme Court jury returned a verdict of guilty yesterday after deliberating more than three hours. Mr. Justice R. W. Treleaven pronounced sentence.

When asked if he had anything to say before sentence was passed Wyse replied in a quiet, even voice:

"I did not kill Lloyd Barber."

A hush fell over the courtroom when the 12-man Supreme Court of Ontario jury, closeted for more than three hours emerged to deliver the verdict.

No Emotion

Wyse showed no emotion when sentence was pronounced. As he was led back to his cell he passed by his wife, standing in a corridor. He made no sign to her. His face was expressionless.

Mrs. Barber, the victim's wife, was among the spectators in the courtroom. She sat quietly as sentence was read.

Conviction followed a week-long trial in which the crown sought to prove that Wyse, early last April 13, murdered Barber by stabbing him 13 times on the head.

Barber's body, dressed only in long underwear, was found in the bathroom of his Killaloe home on April 13. Wyse was arrested in Hamilton the following day.

The crown alleged that Wyse escaped in Barber's automobile, after taking some of Barber's clothes and private papers, and disposing of the car by selling it to a Niagara Falls, Ont., used car dealer, for $1,700.

Reds Now Agree To Reopen Truce Talks

MUNSAN, Korea, Oct. 24 (AP)—Allied and Communist negotiators will reopen Korean armistice talks Thursday. They will tackle first the knotty problem of where to establish a buffer zone.

The five-man delegations will meet at Panmunjom, a roadside village six miles east of Red-held Kaesong, where cease-fire talks were suspended Aug. 23 by the Reds.

Thursday's meeting is scheduled to begin at 11 am and (9 pm Wednesday, EST).

Carnival Appearance

Panmunjom now has the appearance of a carnival. Armistice activities are housed in circus-like tents. Huge colored balloons and searchlights ring the conference area to warn planes away from the neutral zone.

Resumption of the conference talks was made possible when the Communists Wednesday ratified security ground rules drafted by United Nations and Communist liaison officers.

The UN had approved the ground rules Monday.

An allied liaison officer said a new dispute cropped up Wednesday. The Communists objected to allied military policemen at the entrance of the negotiations tent.

The Communists insisted that they be stationed about 110 yards away. The liaison said the guards would be posted at the tent door unless Vice-Admiral C. Turner Joy, chief UN negotiator, yields to the Red demand.

Joy and Gen. Nam Il, 37-year-old North Korean, again head the delegations.

28 Drinkers Die Of Liquor Poisoning

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 24 (AP)—The toll of liquor poisoning deaths reached 28 early today—and the list of dead was expected to grow.

Twenty-two persons died in hospital of methyl alcohol poisoning in the wake of weekend sales of a mixture of wood alcohol and water peddled as "good drinking liquor—cheap." Six others died in their homes.

Doctors have treated more than 100 persons for the deadly posion, and cases were still coming in today.

Twelve persons accused of peddling the potion have been jailed on charges of manslaughter. Officers are searching for an unidentified man believed to be the source of supply.

30 Million Likely Vote In UK

LONDON, Oct. 24. (AP)—Some 30,000,000 Britons are expected to vote Thursday in the general election. Balloting will be from 7 am to 9 pm GMT (2 am to 4 pm EST). British workers are being asked to chose between a Labor government and Conservative government. The electors will be choosing their local representatives in the House of Commons, where 625 seats are at stake. Only 620 seats will be voted on. Four candidates in Northern Ireland were returned by acclamation. Voters in a fifth district will not ballot until later because one of the candidates died. First results are expected to begin coming in an hour after the polls close, but the outcome may not be known until the following afternoon.

Because many of the voting constituencies are small, and only a few votes can change the seating picture, a general trend will be difficult to determine until most of the votes are counted.

In the last election in 1950, Labor held a comfortable 61-seat lead by the end of the first day's counting. During the following day, this lead was whittled down until at one time the two major parties were even. Then Labor finally emerged with only a majority of a handful of seats.

Two Critical Issues

The campaign has been focussed on two critical issues—the country's place in a world threatened by war, and her controversial experiment in Socialism.

Apart from political technicalities and party manoeuvres these facts are ominously evident:

One is that Britain has a bad case of low blood pressure economically. It's getting worse.

The other is that the bonds between Britain and the United States are frayed. Both sides recognize the seriousness of this in the struggle with the Communist world and in a world where Britain is encountering new and serious troubles in areas she once dominated.

Believe Cayuga Surgeon Former Novitiate On Farm

GRAND FALLS, NB, Oct. 24. (CP)—Dr. Joseph C. Cyr expressed opinion Tuesday that a man under suspension on the destroyed HMCS Cayuga off Korea is an acquaintance whom Dr. Cyr knew as cecil B. Hamann.

The surgeon-lieutenant, who enlisted as Dr. Joseph C. Cyr has been suspended pending an inquiry to decide if he actually is a doctor. The inquiry started after publication of the medical officer's feats in Korea. He enlisted last March as Dr. Joseph C. Cyr of Edmundston, NB, but the Grand Falls Dr. Cyr, 28, is the only doctor of that name in New Brunswick. He has said that some of his medical credentials have been missing since last November.

In an interview Tuesday, Dr. Cyr said the man he remembered would "have nerve enough to perform operations under difficult circumstances.

He was introduced to the husky "Dr. Hamann" in July, 1950, at Martin farm of the Brotherhood of Christian instruction here, where the man was doing a novitiate as "Father John." The last time he saw Hamann was Feb. 2 of this year.

Charming Man

Dr. Cyr described the 200-pound-plus man as "very charming," with a "dynamic personality." He had introduced himself as a specialist who formerly held high surgical posts at the Boston infirmary. But the "specialist" said he was too busy when Dr. Cyr once asked him to assist in an appendectomy. He refused to be photographed or to "talk shop."

Dr. Cyr said that when he missed his diplomas and other identification documents Hamann had been a persistent caller. Later Dr. Cyr visited the Boston infirmary, where he was told the institution knew no such specialist as Dr. Cecil B. Hamann. One person,

UN Observes 6th Anniversary

PARIS, Oct. 24 (CP).—In an atmosphere of tension and fear of war, peoples around the world today marked the sixth anniversary of the United Nations, the world organization dedicated to the task of preserving peace.

In open air ceremonies, French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman handed UN Secretary-General Trygve Lie the key to the Palais de Chaillot where the General Assembly will open its sixth session Nov. 6.

There were observances in almost every world capital.

At Ottawa, Prime Minister St. Laurent said in a statement that support of the United Nations the Commonwealth and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization is the best and perhaps "the only way of avoiding another world war."

Birthday processions started at dawn in Indian cities and in Pakistan 27,000 Karachi schoolchildren witnessed a UN pageant.

The Communist Czechoslovak government scheduled special birthday broadcasts on the state radio.

Citizens of West Berlin hailed the first anniversary of the freedom bell presented to the city by private US citizens on the UN's fifth birthday last year.

Philip Drives Princess To Holiday Spot

VICTORIA, BC, Oct. 24 (CP)—Ever waited through strenuous days for your vacation to start and then have it rain when the big day arrives?

It happens to Royalty, too.

Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip reached Eaglecrest Lodge Tuesday night to begin a two-day holiday from the arduous rounds of receptions, state dinners and speeches of their Canadian tour.

Prince Philip drove the 106 miles from here to the Lodge through the pouring rain. But the downpour didn't stop thousands of Vancouver Island residents from coming out to greet them.

It has rained every day since the Royal couple started the BC portion of their tour last Friday.

The weatherman said it would be cloudy today but there would be sunny intervals.

Enjoy Fire

A blazing log fire in the fireplace greeted them Tuesday night as they came out of the rain and wind into the warm confines of the $500,000 Lodge.

An information officer with the Royal party said there were "enthusiastic" comments from the Royal pair when they saw the swank resort.

(Newspapermen covering the tour have agreed to give the couple some privacy during the next two days and to accept twice daily reports on the Royal holiday from a member of the entourage.

Prince Philip made stops at Duncan, Ladysmith, Nanaimo and Parksville.

There was no roadblock at Duncan, 40 miles north of here.

Tour Functions Should Be Cut

OTTAWA, Oct. 24 — (CP) — George Hees (PC-Toronto Broadview) complained Tuesday in the Commons that official functions are taking up too much of the time of Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh.

The result, he said, is that the people of Canada aren't getting a chance for a good look at the Royal couple in their current tour. Also, the pace of the tour was too strenuous.

In both Ottawa and Toronto, a great deal of the time of the Royal visitors was taken up with official luncheons and receptions. They were surounded by officials and the same people were presented to them "over and over again". This was being repeated everywhere else.

The government, too, should have seen to it that the Royal couple were given two days off each week during the tour so they could relax. Otherwise, the country was "running a great chance of them cracking up."

Decline In Food Prices Said Over For Present

MONTREAL, Oct. 24—(CP)—Housewives probably don't get around to reading business reviews very often but the Bank of Montreal's latest contains some news of interest to them—food prices probably are going to level off.

The review notes that the consuming public is more than usually concerned with trends in food costs these days.

Outside of pork which the review says is expected to show "more than seasonal price reductions," beef, veal, butter and eggs probably will cost more or be scarce this winter.

The review says reduced production and increased exports will push up the price of fresh beef and veal. Butter production has fallen off and presages a shortage. Egg prices have been higher than for some years but 48 per cent more eggs are being hatched out instead of ending up in the frying pan with your bacon. That may mean higher egg prices.

"From the consumer's point of view, the easing of agricultural prices since mid-year is a noteworthy change of trend," the review says. "At latest report Sept. 28 wholesale prices of farm products in general were 7½ per cent below the all-time peak reached at the end of June.

"In the first seven months of the year a 14 per cent advance rise in retail food prices accounted for over half the 10 per cent advance in the cost-of-living index, but in August, retail food prices on the average registered a decline.

"All things considered, it would seem reasonable to expect a greater stability of food prices in the months to come."

That means, housewives, there isn't likely to be a continuation of the decline in food prices from now until the end of the year.

Won't Cram Too Much In New Zealand Visit

WELLINGTON, NZ, Oct. 24—(Reuters)—Prime Minister Sidney Holland today asked the House of Representatives not to try to cram too much into the itinerary for next year's visit by Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh.

Holland said the itinerary can not be completed until the Royal couple returns from Canada.

Holland said Princess Margaret, who was to have accompanied the King and Queen on their proposed visit, would have made several side trips.

She will not accompany the Princess and the Duke.

Canada Accepts Jap Invitation

OTTAWA, Oct. 24 (CP).—Canada and the United States have accepted an invitation from the Japanese Government to attend a three-way Tokyo conference on North Pacific fisheries, starting Nov. 9, the Fisheries Department announced today.

Aim of the conference will be a tri-partite agreement for North Pacific fisheries of common concern.

In convening the conference, Japan is carrying out provisions of article 9 of the Japanese peace treaty, under which she agreed to enter promptly into negotiations for regulation of fishing and conservation and development of fisheries on the high seas.

Fisheries Minister Mayhew will head the Canadian delegation.

Russ Workers Get Orders Produce More Next Year

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 24 (Reuters)—Russia's multiple ministries are sending out millions of forms telling workers that they must work harder and produce more next year.

But there is no talk of higher wages for them.

For weeks the ministries have been holding conferences with trade union leaders in Moscow and other cities to draw up next year's production plans. These fix the output of each industry and the amount which the state is prepared to pay.

The next step has been for the union leaders to allocate the fixed production quotas and the fixed wage scales among the different factories. Long, involved forms are used.

When the factory managements and local union officials have studied the forms, they will call meetings of the workers to discuss them. The workers will be told: "Our factory must produce so many thousand tractors, say, next year for a cost of so much. What are your suggestions?"

In practice, all that the workers can do is to suggest ways of turning out more tractors for less money. To suggest fewer tractors for more money would be to attack the plan and to attack the plan is sabotage under Soviet law.

If a worker has bright ideas, he is given a chance to try them out. If he increases his production, he can qualify as a shock worker and treble his salary.

Shock workers also get the best houses.

Unlike western trades unions, the Soviet unions are not concerned with obtaining higher wages for their members. Their task is to see that the workers fulfil the production plans.

The Soviet penal code gives the unions a big stick to brandish over the workers while they see that the plan is carried out.

Rain And Snow Pelt Wide Areas Of US

CHICAGO, Oct. 24 (AP)—Rain and snow pelted wide areas of the United States today, but it was pleasant October weather in the Atlantic Coast states.

Heavy rainfalls doused the mid-continent. One wet belt extended from the eastern and central Great Lakes region southward to Kentucky and Eastern Tennessee. Snow mixed with rain fell in parts of Wisconsin and Northwestern Illinois. Snow also fell in the northern Rockies and rain hit parts of Northern California to Puget Sound.

Fair and mild weather was reported in the Atlantic Coast states and the far southwest. It was fair and cool in the northern plains.

Freight Rate New Deal Promised

Need Lots of Study Before Changes Made In Structure

OTTAWA, Oct. 24. (CP)—The government has promised a new deal in freight rates for the outlying sections of Canada, but says it is going to take time.

Transport Minister Chevrier made that plain in the Commons Tuesday night when he moved legislation to implement some of the recommendations of the Royal Commission which spent two years surveying the country's transportation problems.

An equalization of freight rates across Canada, he said, is a good thing, but it is going to take time

A good deal of study must be undertaken by the Board of Transport Commissioners before it can make a general overhaul of the freight-rate structure. For example, it will have to determine the effect of any changes on the railways themselves, on industries and other groups.

Some Alterations

The legislation is similar to that introduced at the last session of parliament, but not debated before the session ended. With some alterations, its main function is to empower the Transport Board to devise uniform freight rates as far as possible for all sections of Canada.

There will be no change in the Crow's Nest Pass rates and the Maritime Freight Rate Act. These provide low rates for certain traffic in Western and Eastern Canada.

So far as the Maritimes is concerned, Mr. Chevrier made that clear Tuesday night when he gave assurance to Newfoundland members that there is no truth to suggestions that freight rates to the Maritimes will be doubled by the legislation. The bill will only equalize rates as recommended by the Royal Commission.

A new provision of the legislation is an authorization for payment of a subsidy of not more than $7,000,000 a year to the Canadian National and the Canadian Pacific Railways for the maintenance of trackage in the thinly-settled areas of Northern Ontario.

Before embarking on the railway legislation, the Chamber endorsed a government motion seeking approval of policies in support of United Nations action in Korea and the efforts by the North Atlantic Pact to strengthen Atlantic defences.

MEMBERSHIP MEEETING

A membership meeting of Local 524, United Electrical Workers, will be held Thursday night to decide on a health and welfare plan that has been prepared by a special committee. The committee, representing some 7,000 production workers in the UE-CGE chain, will make recommendations. The meeting will be at 7:30 pm in the Brock Street Summer Gardens.

THIS HILL, with its barren trees and shell-pocked slopes, is known as Hill 893. It is one of the hills which make up Heartbreak Ridge in Korea where the bayonets of United Nations troops routed deeply entrenched Reds after the longest and most costly battle of the Korean war. It stands now as a desolate monument to the bravery of Allied troops who fell on its slopes. Below the crests of other hills rising out of the morning mist in the background, U.N. fighting-men still are engaged in fierce combat with the enemy.

Says Common Diplomacy Out

OTTAWA, Oct. 24. (CP)—External Affairs Minister Pearson said Tuesday that one of the quickest ways to destroy the commonwealth would be to establish a central authority to dictate a common diplomacy, a common foreign policy for all members. He made the statement in concluding a foreign-affairs debate started Tuesday. After he finished, members unanimously adopted a motion calling for continuation of Canada's efforts in the United Nations and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. Mr. Pearson replied to pleas from Howard Green (PC-Vancouver-Quadra) that Canada take the lead in building the commonwealth into a third world power. He again reiterated the view that the time is not ripe for a Pacific pact; he said Canada is satisfied with the way Gen. Matthew Ridgway is conducting truce negotiations in Korea, and that Canadian forces in Europe will serve only in areas under Gen. Eisenhower's command.

Mr. Green said Canada could do more to promote peace by strengthening the Commonwealth than in any other way. He hoped the Commonwealth would come to be recognized as a third world power. Anything was preferable to the existing two-power bloc.

Mr. Pearson said that Mr. Green apparently wanted the Commonwealth to build itself into a political organization apart from the United States and Russia.

General Blocs

"When I talk of two world blocs," said Mr. Pearson, "I have in mind a bloc of freedom and a bloc of slavery". The United States and the Commonwealth belonged to the bloc of freedom. Mr. Green had indicated that he wanted the United States and the Commonwealth as two blocs on one side and Russia on the other.

Mr. Pearson said he did not think it would be wise to give the impression that the Commonwealth wants to divorce itself from the United States in the struggle for freedom.

If the Commonwealth was rebuilt on lines suggested by Mr. Green then it would lead to the establishment of a central authority and eventually to one diplomacy and one foreign policy. That, he said, was apparently what Mr. Green wanted because he had charged Canada was "sitting on the fence" as far as the issues in Iran and Egypt were concerned.

Mr. Green and other members of the Progressive Conservative party had urged that Canada take the initiative in negotiating a Pacific pact. Canada will be ready, said Mr. Pearson, to support such a pact when the proper time comes.

3 Boys Charged With Candy Theft

A break-in escapade early Tuesday evening will probably land two nine-year-olds and an 11-year-old boy in juvenile court after they see Police Chief John Thompson today at 4.30.

In answer to a telephone call at 8.15 Tuesday evening, Constables Cecil Bowyer and Dennis Traynor went to Winslow's service station at 16 Lansdowne St. E., where they found a window had been broken in the east end of the building.

They learned that two boys had been observed behind the counter and later had been seen fleeing from the service station.

Following a trip, the constables visited the home of a nine-year-old suspect and he admitted breaking into the service station a short time before and on another occasion previously. The boy named his accomplices and when police called at the home of the second nine-year-old he said he had broken into the station three times.

Then, the trail led to an 11-year-old lad who was found sleeping in an old trailer at the rear of his home.

Cached Loot

Together with the two constables, the boys went to a coal yard on Ware St. where they unearthed their cache of loot—about a dollar's worth of candies and peanuts.

One of the accused boys implicated a fourth lad who denied entering Winslow's service station but said he ha d broken into another service station on George St., about a month ago.

The boys were brought to the police station and were later allowed to go home in custody of their parents.

No Dom. Highway Law Coming, Fraser Told

OTTAWA, Oct. 24 — (CP) — Transport Minister Chevrier indicated Tuesday in the Commons that no legislation will be introduced at this session dealing with federal control of interprovincial and international highway traffic. He was replying to G. K. Fraser (PC-Peterborough West) who asked if there will be any legislation based on a supreme court judgment Monday. The judgment said that inter-provincial and international highway traffic is under federal jurisdiction.

City Man Helps Save Tommy In Korea

A Peterborough soldier now in Korea, L-Cpl. Marvin Johnston, figured recently in the rescue of the English driver of a Bren gun carrier.

The carrier collided with a second military vehicle, slid off the road and overturned at the bottom of a steep embankment. L-Cpl. Johnston, with the Engineers, held the driver's head out of a pool of water while his companions lifted the carrier and freed the driver.

L-Cpl. Johnston then applied artificial respiration until the driver's breathing was normal. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Rollie Johnston, Rubidge St.

Radar System Nearly Finished

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 (AP) —The $295,000,000 radar system for warning of possible aerial attack against the United States is nearly completed, Gen. Hoyt Vandenberg said today.

The Air Force Chief of Staff told reporters the complex and far-flung detection system should begin full operation soon.

But, he indicated, it will take longer before all the units of new jet interception planes needed as a vital second part of the defence system are ready.

The Air Force has been able to rush the radar net near to completion in a little more than two years.

The warning and interceptor forces of the US work in close liaison with those of Canada in the protection of the Northern Hemisphere.

Air Force experts say the problem of establishing even a warning system has been staggering because of the vast area involved in the Alaskan-Northern Canada-Greenland air approaches.

Stock Market Shows Wide List Of Gains

TORONTO, Oct. 24 (CP) — Stock market prices followed New York's lead today in early afternoon dealings with a wide list of gains. Industrials, golds, base metals and western oils climbed strongly.

Western oil and base metal activity increased to push volume for the first three hours to 1,703,000 shares.

Steels continued as the market's strongest section. Liquors, manufacturing companies and miscellaneous industrials showed a majority of gains but retail stores weakened.

Ajax Petroleum, Calvan Consolidated, Devon-Leduc, Gridoil, Home Oil, Kroy, Pacific Petroleum, Royalite and Trans Empire posted gains to 50 cents. Canadian Collieries, Central-Leduc and Saphire countered the trend with penny losses.

International Nickel, Noranda, and Waite Amulet added fractions. Barvue, East Sullivan, Mackeno, Mindamar, New Calumet, Sherritt-Gordon and United Asbestos climbed pennies. Consolidated Smelters and Normetal eased.

Senior golds showed six gains ranging to 90 cents against one decline. Juniors strengthened while prospects edged higher and holding companies turned mixed.

however, said that Father John's description fitted a former orderly at the infirmary.

Father John was a brilliant conversationalist and discussed adventures in Africa, India, Belgium and Germany, Dr. Cyr said.

Records at Martin farm of the Brothers of Christian Instruction show that the man arrived there about a year ago. Known under the brotherhood name of Brother John Payne, he introduced himself as a former Protestant who had been converted to Roman Catholism.

Vanished In March

There has been no report of him since last March, when a "Surgeon-Lieutenant Cyr" enlisted at the naval base in Saint John, N.B.

According to information here, Brother John ended his religious career after he was photographed when he took holy vows before Bishop Roy of Quebec last February. A former Martin farm student was said to have identified the picture as that of a man he had known in the United States as Dr. French.

Meanwhile Brother John went to Boston for a conference with religious officials. He met them in a hotel room, asked to be excused for a moment and disappeared, according to reports here.

At Alfred, Me., Sheriff Everett S. Knight said Tuesday that unclaimed mail, including replies to applications for enlistment in the Canadian armed forces, was awaiting Cecil Boyce Hamann. He said the mail is at Notre Dame seminary, where Hamann had stayed.

A warrant for his arrest on a theft charge was sworn out after he left Alfred in a seminary car, but the charge was withdrawn when the car was found in Boston, the sheriff said.

When tour plans were first announced, no stop was scheduled for Duncan and residents said they would halt the Royal car with a roadblock if necessary to enable them to get a look at the Princess and her husband.

Slows Down

Philip slowed down to two miles an hour. A press release said the throngs of children were so dense that it was difficult for the Duke to keep the car in motion.

The release said plans for the holiday today and Thursday would depend on weather conditions. The Royal couple is scheduled to see high riggers do some timber-topping.

Dollar Up

MONTREAL, Oct. 24 — (CP)—The American dollar today opened at 4¾ per cent premium to the Canadian dollar, up 1/16 from Tuesday's close. That is, it took $1.04¾ Canaidan to buy $1 American.

The pound sterling was $2.93 5/16, up 3/16 from Tuesday.

INVITE STUDENTS

School boards are being asked to permit the students of Collegiate Institute and Vocational School and St. Peter's High School to attend the ceremony at the city hall beginning at 2:30 p.m. Friday.

Truck, Car Hit Man Shaken Up

William Dyer, 585 Chamberlain St., was slightly shaken up and received a bruised knee in a car, truck collision at the corner of Monaghan Rd. and Lansdowne St., at 8:20 Tuesday morning.

Mr. Dyer was a passenger in the front seat of a car driven by Stuart Manley, 667 Little St. Mr. Manley was driving south on Monaghan Rd., and according to police, had stopped for the stop sign at Lansdowne St., when a truck driven by Claude Cowan, R.R. 5 Peterborough, going east on Lansdowne St., made a sharp left turn, colliding with the car driven by Mr. Manley.

Damage to the right front fender, right running board, and right side of Manley's car was estimated at $100.

The truck also received damage estimated at $100 to the right front fender, headlight and hood.

Mr. Cowan told constable Harold Andrew who investigated the accident that he did not see the car until he struck it.

Oil Expert Goes To US

TEHRAN, Oct. 24 — (AP). — Iran's chief oil expert, Kazem Hassibi, was summoned suddenly today to Washington, where Premier Mohammed Mossadegh conferred Tuesday with President Truman on the British-Iranian oil dispute.

Hassibi's departure aroused speculation here that Mossadegh might be preparing to re-open negotiations with Britain. Last week he told the United Nations Security Council that Iran would talk with Britain only about oil sales to her and possible reparations to the nationalized Anglo-Iranian Oil Company's British owners.

Hassibi left by air today. He is Under-Secretary of Finance and the principal architect of Iran's nationalization of the AIOC.

The sudden summoning of Hassibi, it was felt here, indicated Mossadegh's talk Tuesday with the President may have produced a plan for settlement—possibly an international company to handle sales.

legation in Cairo and shouted "give us arms" to fight the Britons. One demonstrator was reported killed in Alexandria Tuesday.

Take Strong Measures

Interior Minister Faud Serag El Din Pasha said the government will "take the strongest measures against these troublemakers."

The government banned demonstrations after rioting broke out two weeks ago in the wake of Egypt's denunciation of its treaties with Britain.

The independent Cairo newspaper Al Ahram said the government has ordered the privately-operated Suez Canal Company to bar all ships from the canal unless they have permission to go through from the Egyptian administration.

The canal is operated by the Compagnie Universelle du Canal Maritime de Suez, the French firm which built it more than 80 years ago. Britain owns 45 per cent of the company, and this week seized firm military control of the area around the 104-mile ditch.

Under an international convention, the canal is supposed to be open to all countries in peace and war.

Tag Day For Blind Yields $150

BANCROFT, Oct. 24—(ENS)—The tag day for the Canadian Institute for the Blind realized $150.30 in Bancroft on Saturday. This was considerably in excess of the sum raised last year as the gross for 1950 was $150. for North Hastings.

Returns for the complete campaign are not available yet as boxes have been left in nearby rural stores and post-offices for the current week. The places that are being canvassed in this manner are: Combermere, Maple Leaf, Maynooth, Lake St. Peter, Wilberforce, Highland Grove, Green's Corners, McArthur's Mills, Hermon, Fort Stewart, Boulter, Gilmour, Coe Hill, Paudash, Musclow, Hybla, New Carlow and Detlor.

Thirty-six girls, under the supervision of W. R. Robinson, local representative for the CNIR, covered Bancroft village on Saturday. Joint treasurers for the day were Mrs. Henry Smith and Miss Mona Stringer.

CHARLES JOHNSTON, Cobourg, nominated Tuesday night in Warkworth as Liberal candidate is being congratulated by Dr. Fred G. Robertson, MP, federal Liberal representative for Northumberland.—(Bill Reid Photo)

Northumberland Liberals Nominate Labor Man, Charles Johnston Candidate

WARKWORTH, Oct. 24 (ENS).—A steady rain failed to dampen the spirits of a large number of Liberal supporters Tuesday evening in the Warkworth town hall, when they turned out to select Charles "Chuck" Johnston, Cobourg, candidate for the Northumberland riding in the November 22 provincial elections.

Nominated by Mayor Jack Burnet of Cobourg, Mr. Johnston was born and educated in Cobourg. He married a Harwood girl and the couple have four children, all girls. He is 32 years of age, and a member of the Cobourg Town Council.

A member of the Canadian Legion, the candidate is a veteran of World War II, having served in the RCN. He is employed by the Dominion Wheel and Foundry Company, and is a leader in labor organizations and a past president of the Allied Labor Council of Cobourg. He is active in sports, having played with Cobourg's Galloping Ghosts and frequently acts as referee. He attends the United Church and is a member of the Masonic order.

Pledged Loyalty

In moving his nomination, Mayor Burnet spoke highly of the candidate, who replied saying he would be proud to have his name stand, and pledged his loyalty to Liberal policy and to the Liberal leader, Walter C. Thompson.

Others who received nominations at the meeting were Wm. A. Hogle of Campbellford, president of the Northumberland Liberal Association; Mrs. Helen Upper, chairman of the women's committee, and Mayor Jack Burnet of Cobourg. All declined the nominations to leave the way open for Mr. Johnston.

Guest speaker of the evening was Donald Baxter, MLA of Prince Edward County. He is a twin brother of Magistrate R. B. Baxter of Cobourg.

Mr. Baxter appealed to the youth of the riding to get behind their candidate and to take an active interest in political affairs. He said the Frost cabinet was weak, and that the Liberal leader, Walter Thompson, had forced most of the beneficial moves made by the Frost Government during the past three years.

Forests Weakest

Mr. Baxter said that of all the departments in the Frost cabinet he believed the Department of Lands and Forests was the weakest. He said the forest resources of the province could be a great source of revenue if they were handled properly, and predicted that if the Liberal Government were in power these resources would yield an extra ten to fifteen million dollars per year.

The speaker also denounced the workings of the Municipal Board. "The municipalities deserve a new deal," he stated, and claimed the present system of handling grants to municipalities was too haphazard and discriminatory. Department ministers played petty politics in handling grants, he claimed, and said this was particularly true of the Department of Highways.

Mr. Baxter also singled out the Department of Agriculture in his attack. It interferes too much with the milk and cheese producers, he said. The speaker believed the solution to all the many troubles he outlined in nearly all departments of the present Government was the election of a Liberal Government on November 22.

Hospital Plan

Speaking of Walter Thompson's proposed hospital plan, Mr. Baxter said that the first thing the Liberals would do when they got in power would be to study the hospitalization plans of the Western Provinces, pick out their good points and employ them in a plan for the province of Ontario. "Only the very rich or the very poor now get proper hospital and medical care," said Mr. Baxter.

The hospital plan should not be delayed, he stated, and asked that the voters take the attitude that they are not voting against one party, but rather voting for a party when they elect a Liberal Government next month. The party has never regretted putting Walter Thompson at the helm, he said, and stated that Mr. Thompson had endeared himself to the people of the province. . . According to Mr. Baxter, the Liberal Government will, as he states, "lift the burden of taxation from the property owner."

Dr. Fred Robertson introduced the guest, and told of his achievements in the Legislature. He also spoke highly of the new candidate, Charles Johnston, and said he was confident of the success of this candidate.

Robert Love, president of the Cobourg Liberal Association, also spoke a few words on behalf of Charles Johnston, as did Mrs. Helen Upper, and Ted Woodyard of Orono, president of the Durham County Liberal Association.

The audience gave rousing cheers for the new candidate at the close of the evening, and Mr. Johnston mingled with the crowd, greeting many new friends for the first time.

Parishioners Attend Congregational Dinner

CAMPBELLFORD, Oct. 24 —(ENS).—Some 130 members and friends of Christ Church, Campbellford, attended the fall congregational dinner held in the parish hall to celebrate progress made by the parish during recent months.

The program was provided by the Rev. George Nicholson, rector of St. John's Church, Blackstock, a well-known and much-travelled missionary. Mr. Nicholson showed four of his personally photographed movies depicting the rigors, adventure and varied interest of life and work north of the Arctic Circle. The films included "Hom Summer Comes to the Arctic," "Building the Igloo," "A Dog's Life in the Arctic." Commentaries by both Mr. and Mrs. Nicholson were much enjoyed.

Hilton Beatty, people's warden, reported an encouraging and well maintained increase in freewill offerings and congratulated the congregation on evidence of growth in every department of its work.

During the dinner the rector introduced new members, among them being Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Mace, lately of Wellington, Ont.; Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Mace of Toronto; Mr. V. T. B. Rout, a New Zealander who is now a member of the local high school staff, was introduced as leader of the prospective Christ Church Young People's Bible Class. Also welcomed were Mrs. J. G. Scott, Mrs. C. H. Harris, and newly-confirmed members, Mrs. Ethel Higginson, Mrs. David Morgan, Misses Joy Ireland, Joan Robertson and Joline Root.

Seated at the head table were the Rev. and Mrs. George Nicholson, the rector and Mrs. McKibbin; Major N. A. MacColl, rector's warden, and Mrs. MacColl; B. H. Beatty, people's warden, and Mrs. Beatty; Mrs. R. A. Linton, president of the Parish Guild; Mrs. P. D. Melville, president of the Chi-Rho Society.

The dinner was sponsored by the Chi-Rho Society under the general direction of Mrs. John Herd, social convener, assisted by numerous ladies of the congregation.

Hurt Cutting Corner

COBOURG, Oct. 24 —(ENS)—Eleven-year-old Lyle Batchelor of Cobourg was shaken up but otherwise uninjured when knocked off his bicycle Tuesday by a car driven by Kenneth Huxtable of Toronto. Police said that the boy, on his way home from school, cut the corner of King and George Streets, going through the red light. Acting Chief H. Pearse investigated.

Milburn Speaks To Rotary Clubs

CAMPBELLFORD, Oct. 24 —(ENS)— "We can't solve our problems by pushing ourselves up and others down." This was the gist of an address by Vivian Milburn, representative of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture, speaking to the Rotary Clubs of Havelock, Stirling and Campbellford at the parish hall on Monday night.

Mr. Milburn appealed to the businessmen to reflect upon this fact, saying that it is a truism applied locally, nationally or internationally. "Farming is a business, not a way of life, as some would have us believe", he said.

Considering the question "Are food prices too high?" he said that at times they had been ridiculously low. In the '30's a farmer working as an individual had to produce enough to give him a living, so instead of producing one steer, he produced two, which in turn, depressed the value of the first one.

Farmers, he said, were the victims of an unorganized economy and as primary producers took a great deal of the burden of a depressed state of business. In 1900 it took about 41.7 minutes work to buy a pound of steak. Today at average wages, it takes 54 minutes. It took at that time 15.7 minutes to earn a quart of milk; today only 11.9 minutes. Comparatively he said other prices had increased to a greater extent than those of agriculture.

He said that by working together with "our rural friends," business men could do an immense service to the country, and the world by creating a better understanding of each other's problems.

Outlined Answer

At the commencement of his address, Mr. Milburn outlined the answer to the question "What is the Federation of Agriculture?" He said it is a federation of farm organizations embracing some 80 types of producers in Ontario, each of which is autonomous and independent. There are the Co-Ops, the bargaining groups, next are the educational groups, such as Junior Farmers, Fair Associations, etc., and finally the Agricultural Councils set up in various counties under the county councils.

The speaker was introduced by Fred Rutherford and thanked by E. D. Chiles of Havelock.

New Cases Reported

COBOURG, Oct. 24 —(ENS)—Twenty new cases of communicable diseases were recorded for the week ending October 20 by the Northumberland and Durham Counties Health Unit. Three new cases of polio were listed, one each in Bowmanville, Hamilton township and Seymour township. Two cases of Chickenpox, one of scarlet fever, a case of whooping cough, two of German measles and 11 cases of mumps completed the list.

Crowds Attend Sabine Funeral

MARMORA, Oct. 24 (ENS).—Funeral service for Mrs. Ella M. Sabine held in St. Andrew's United church on Tuesday afternoon, despite the heavy rain, drew a large congregation, including members of the Chapters of the Eastern Star of Madoc, Havelock and Peterborough, who formed a guard of honor at the church porch as the body was borne from the church at the close of the service.

The Rev. G. D. Young conducted the service and delivered a sermon. Burial took place in Marmora Protestant cemetery. Pallbearers were V. M. Lynch, E. C. Prentice T. J. Bateman, A. W. Drew, J. Jarvis and S. Sandham. Flower bearers were Clayton Bedore, president of Marmora Branch 237 Canadian Legion and Privates K. Henry, H. Williams and M. Gordon, local soldiers on furlough.

No Appeals In Parliament

Last week in the House of Commons an M.P. from British Columbia addressed an entreaty to the Minister of Justice and the Secretary of State to commute the sentence of a lad in B.C. who is condemned to hang. The boy is seventeen, and he raped and killed a girl; his first conviction was appealed, but the higher court sustained the judgement of the lower and the boy awaits execution. We do not offer these details because they influence what we have to say on the matter, but merely in order to make it plain that the M.P. was not making his appeal in a trivial case. Undoubtedly he was moved by many admirable emotions, or he would not have acted as he did. But we feel that he behaved improperly, and that it would be a bad thing for justice in this country if it ever became possible for court sentences to be appealed directly in Parliament.

* * *

Of course, the nature of Parliament itself must not be forgotten; it is a law-making body, but it is also a place in which any notorious wrong may be aired, where laws may be questioned, and where miscarriages of justice may be righted. God grant that we may never see the day when a Member of Parliament will not feel free to stand up and shout himself hoarse if he thinks that real injustice is being done. But in the case which we now discuss, two courts had agreed on a decision, and the M.P. was pleading not that there had been a miscarriage of justice but merely that less mercy had been shown than he desired. If one M.P. were to be successful in such a case, it would not be long before half the M.P.s in Ottawa would be trying their luck as amateur lawyers.

* * *

There is fully adequate machinery under our legal system for appeals against sentences; death sentences always receive the personal attention of the Minister of Justice, who is no more anxious than any other Canadian to hang a boy of seventeen if there is any other way of meeting the demands of justice. It may truly be said that nobody is hanged in Canada whose case has not been given the benefit of every doubt. It is improper, therefore, that a parliamentarian should put before the House, in an atmosphere of emotion rather than one of judicial calm, a plea for mercy which has been denied in the proper quarter.

An Unnecessary Law

A bill is before Parliament at present which would, if passed, establish an objectionable and unnecessary form of postal censorship in Canada; we sincerely hope that it will not be passed. It is sponsored by Mr. Wilfrid LaCroix, M.P. for Quebec-Montmorency, and it strongly suggests the type of arbitrary censorship, putting great powers in the hands of individuals, which exists in Quebec as a result of its Padlock Law. Mr. LaCroix' bill would make it a crime to distribute through the post "any communist newspaper or any newspaper the purpose of which is to establish in Canada a totalitarian dictatorship"; an odd point about the bill is that it specifies that these offending papers must be under foreign control, which seems to leave the way clear for any paper advocating totalitarianism which is Canadian. The bill is muddled in expression, and this suggests that it is a consequence of muddled thinking.

There are very good laws to control the sort of thing which the LaCroix bill strikes at. The Criminal Code has sections dealing with the distribution of treasonable writings and with seditious plotting. It is important that our legal system should not be cluttered with laws relating to similar crimes; the law should be as clear as is compatible with completeness.

The LaCroix bill also proposes a type of law to which we strenuously object; a country should not have laws which put great powers (such as refusal of mail service) at the arbitrary disposal of public officials, to be used at their discretion. Very good men have been corrupted and betrayed into folly by the sudden accession of such powers; ordinary men simply cannot be trusted to use them wisely. For centuries our trend has been toward a system which takes arbitrary powers from single people and reposes them in the courts, where they are subject to many checks and the discretion of many trained minds. Let us not, after ten centuries of legal evolution, go back to laws which make dictators of public officials.

Ginger Ale And Biscuits For School Trustees

We notice with raised eyebrows that the Toronto Board of Education has been running up bills for flowers, which have been sent to members and employees, presumably while ill. It is pleasant to receive flowers when one is indisposed, and it shows a nice spirit on the part of the Toronto Board to think of such little politenesses, but when quite a lot of flowers are sent which are paid for out of public money, the public becomes restless, and the Toronto public is asking questions.

The Toronto public also wants to know why the Board of Education has spent so much on soft drinks and fancy biscuits. The present bill runs to about $38. The Board, it appears, has been making life as pleasant for itself as possible.

We are interested in this matter because other Boards of Education might follow the Toronto lead. And although it is pleasant to think of Boards of Education all over the province nibbling fancy biscuits and sipping delicately at glasses of ginger ale, while they listen to the school-teachers putting on the pressure for still another raise, we cannot be sure where such self-indulgence is likely to lead. A trustee who is full of free biscuits and pop, and who has been softened up by smelling free flowers, may be so full of the notion of spreading the wealth that he will eagerly press upon teachers even greater raises than they have dreamed of—and such raises would be very large indeed.

Let the Toronto Board of Education return to austerity. Its present Pompeian style of conducting business may unsettle school boards elsewhere.

Last Minute Guesses

We often wish that we were more respectful in our attitude toward public opinion polls and those forecasts which are attributed to "well-informed sources." However, we can never escape a conviction that people change their minds several times a day, and that the answer which they give the pollsters in the morning may not be the same one which they would give in the afternoon. It is this sort of frivolity on our part which keeps the Examiner a humble local newspaper, instead of a Great National Organ.

For what it is worth, we offer some opinions on the British election which will take place tomorrow. One London Sunday paper predicts that the Conservatives will go into power with a majority of 58. Another Sunday paper gives them a majority of 45. A statistician (and we must all be respectful toward statisticians) says that the Conservatives will get 350 seats, Labour 265 and the Liberals 10. A poll taken among weekly newspaper editors in England gives the Conservatives 344 seats, Labour 268 and the Liberals 10. These are the last guesses—sorry, we should say "informed predictions"—which we shall receive, and we offer them to you for your amusement. It may be entertaining to compare them with the actual results. One gentleman, writing to us from England, says that he would not be surprised to see Labour go back with a majority of ten to fifteen. So you see, the guesses suit every taste.

Who Become Centenarians?

Within the last week we have carried reports of the death of one woman at the age of 107 and another who was 112. No month passes in which we are not reminded by somebody or other that the race is living longer, that we can all look forward to a longer life than if we had been born even so little as ten years earlier, and that the number of centenarians among us is on the increase.

Who are these centenarians? We ask the question, and answer it in part by the very act of asking. They are, in the main, people who are never heard of until they become one hundred years old. They make no special stir in the world; they are neither rich nor poor; they are not, as their recorded remarks reveal, people of unusual intellectual power; they are very fond of recommending quietness, evenness of temper and freedom from worry as aids to longevity. The only remarkable thing about them is that they live for a hundred years. We can only recall one centenarian—the late Sir William Mulock—who ever had anything to say which the world listened to from any motive other than good nature and respect for white hairs. It is noticeable that centenarians rarely have any interesting recollections of their younger days; they are a total loss, so far as the historian is concerned.

We have no desire to appear scornful of centenarians. Nevertheless, we wonder whether it may not be better fun to rush through life, worrying about things which demand worry and enjoying life when enjoyment is possible—and to quit the scene at a mere seventy or eighty—than it is to live a vegetative life and round out an unremembered, unremarkable century.

We hear that the Brantford Expositor offers $50 to anyone who will prove that Nelson said "Kiss me, Hardy," to his surgeon, while dying on the deck of the Victory. If Nelson said it to his surgeon, his eyes must have been dim indeed, for Hardy was his flag-captain.

Treading Out The Wine

by WILLIAM CLARK

"AM I in Europe or Asia?" is a question that the casual traveller to Portugal is bound to ask himself, as his senses are assailed in Oporto by the smell of filth and fish, the moaning cries of the myriad beggars, and above all by the exotic architecture of the Baroque churches.

The writhing tracery of their columns and decoration is closer to Hindu snake temples than to European Gothic, while the habit of decorating the outside of the buildings with vast tile frescoes gives the disturbing impression that the whole structure has got turned inside out.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE visitor who is confused by so much that is unfamiliar does not have to look far to find more homely touches. The telephone kiosks are identical with the British model, even down to button B; the pillar boxes are the familiar shape and colour; British cars, almost exclusively, honk their way through the streets, and English brand names for everything from paint to fruit salts adorn the advertising boardings.

✧ ✧ ✧

FOR Portugal, as the inhabitants are never weary of reminding you, is England's oldest ally. It is a strange alliance originally founded on a common interest in maritime imperialism, now based largely on port wine. This is one of Portugal's biggest sources of foreign currency, and almost the sole importer is Britain. In fact Portugal today, though still an Imperial power in Africa and even in India, is almost in a colonial relation with her northern neighbours, and especially Britain, to which she exports her primary products—cork, wolfram, sardines and port—and in return receives such manufactured goods as are needed.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE port wine trade is British owned and controlled, almost as completely as the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company created and controlled the Abadan refinery. A small British colony, nearly all cousins to each other, lives in Oporto, speaking fluent but bad Portuguese, and operating one of the country's main industries. It would appear inevitable that an explosion—like the Persian explosion—must come. Yet there seems no sign of any trouble; in fact the British visitor must accustom hismelf to being popular and respected throughout the country.

THE difference between Persia and Portugal is partly to be found in the difference between the oil and the wine trade. Pumping and refining oil is a dull, mechanical process best carried out by a few technicians with a mass of wholly unskilled helpers. Producing wine is one of the oldest, most primitive arts in which everyone—peasant, chemist and merchant—plays his specially skilled role.

The British wine merchants are, in fact, more like eighteenth-century squires than twentieth-century industrialists. Much of their time is spent not in offices or in factories, but out in the vineyards with the farmers talking over the problems posed by the weather and the markets. The crucial decision for each Quinta—or vineyard—is the exact time at which the grapes shall be picked; the critical moment when the grapes are fully ripe, but have not yet begun to burst their skins.

✧ ✧ ✧

ONCE that moment has been decided (some time between September 15 and October 15), and the vintage has begun, there is no turning back, for the interval between picking and pressing must be as short as possible. All port wine grapes have to be grown in a limited area along the steep banks of the Douro, which are terraced so as to appear like a gigantic stairway into the heavens. At vintage time these stairs are crowded with grotesque figures seven or eight feet high, which turn out to be a woman unconcernedly carrying on their heads baskets of grapes weighing a couple of hundredweight.

✧ ✧ ✧

AS soon as a press, holding perhaps a ton or so of grapes, is full the treaders begin their work. Usually this task is for men only. Dozen or more men, dressed in sombre black coats, waistcoats and hats but without any trousers (looking like a vestry meeting of forgetful church wardens), solemnly begin to walk round the square granite press crushing the grapes with their bare feet, which are soft enough not to crush the pips. After a little of this weary work the group will begin to sing in unison, by evening some local banjoist will have joined them and as the night wears on the excitement grows. By midnight the solemn treading has become a bacchanalia with the men and boys capering round together in the rich purple bog of grape juice.

✧ ✧ ✧

EVEN for these tough peasants this work is exhausting, but they make it so gay by their dances, their songs and their incessant cheers—cheers for the bailiff, for the wine, for the English, for the Douro—that it is reckoned the happiest time in their year. For a few weeks, moving from Quinta to Quinta, they are sure of dry straw to sleep on, company to sing with, and food and wine in plenty.

With the vintage over they must return to their own filthy hovels, living amongst the animals and trying to wring subsistence from a few yards of barren land cultivated by methods which have not changed in 2,000 years.

THE poverty in Portugal—and Spain—is deeply shocking to the traveller who strays off the tourist path. The blind or limbless beggars, the deformed and naked children, the inevitable rice cooking over an oil flame in the street, which serves as kitchen and lavatory, suggests that the Pyrenees have cut off Iberia from the intermittent social progress made in Europe during the last century.

Here, quite as much as anywhere in Asia, is a backward area. What is even more depressing to a visitor is the absence of any sign that the present situation is resented, or even deplored. There are excellent newspapers in Portugal, but they carry almost no home political news, and no comment.

✧ ✧ ✧

HOW far this is due to Portuguese temperament and how far to Dr. Salazar's dictatorship it is hard for a foreigner to know. Dr. Salazar has been Prime Minister now for twenty years, and effective opposition is not tolerated.

It is easy to blame all the social defects in Portugal on this secluded professor turned politician, but it would not be fair. He is not holding down a rebellious population with an iron grip. The police and the army are numerous but kindly, and about as ruthlessly efficient as shallow. It is easy to know there are a lot of prisoners because you can see them at the windows that open on to the street, talking to their friends or arranging to have their wives come in to spend the weekend with them.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE prisoners are cheerful, the peasants, however poor, are full of songs and laughter, the shopkeepers believe in bad service with a big smile—sometimes it is hard to feel Portugal has missed much by missing progress. And it is hard to feel that the dictatorship is suppressing liberty, so much as supporting a carefree people that has gone to sleep in the sun with a smile on its face.

(Special to the Examiner from the London Observer.)

"How About Pulling in Your Own Belt for a Change?"

The Enigma of The Liberal Vote

by PHILIP VERNON

OF the 1,375 candidates nominated for the General Election, only 141 are not either members or supporters of the two main parties. The actual figures for the 625 seats are:—

Labour	617
Conservatives and associates	617
Liberal	108
Communists	10
Independents	10
Independent Labour Party	4
Nationalists	9

The greatest difference between these figures and those for the last election is the drastic reduction in the number of Liberal and Communists who are standing as candidates: in 1950, there were 475 Liberals and 100 Communists. Moreover, whereas in 1950 there were 54 Independents and others, this time there are only 28. In other words, this election is nearer to being a straight fight between the two main parties than was the last—indeed, than any election since before 1918, when the Labour Party first presented itself to the electors as an alternative Government.

✧ ✧ ✧

THIS is the natural outcome of the result of the last election when the minority parties and the Independents were overwhelmed by the candidates of the two main parties. Of the 475 Liberals who stood in 1950, 319 lost their deposits—in other words, failed to poll an eighth of the total vote—and all but three of the 100 Communists paid the same penalty. Nine Liberals and two Irish Nationalists were the only candidates to be returned to Parliament who were not associated with either the Labour or the Conservative Party.

✧ ✧ ✧

IT was inevitable that after this crushing defeat the Liberals should decide not to fight again on a broad front, but to confine their activities to those constituencies where their candidates stood most chance. This election therefore poses two questions about the effect of this limited Liberal intervention. The first, whether the Liberals can hope to survive as a small group in the House of Commons. The second, how the Liberals will vote in constituencies where there is no Liberal candidate.

✧ ✧ ✧

BOTH of them are impossible to answer authoritatively, but certain thoughts may be put forward. On the first, it must be said that no small party in Britain has very much chance of survival however good its principles, its policy and its intentions. The electoral system—as the last election showed—tends to squeeze small parties out. There is no evidence that the Liberal Party is in a position to resist this tendency. At the last three elections (1935, 1945 and 1950) not only has its representation in the House of Commons declined from 18 to 12 to nine, but so has its aggregate vote in the country in relation to the seats contested.

Moreover, though more than 2,500,000 Liberals cast their votes at the last election, they were for the most part spread widely over the whole country and only in a few strongholds (mainly in Wales) were they concentrated in sufficient strength to give a Liberal candidate much chance of election.

✧ ✧ ✧

AT this election it is possible that some Liberals will be returned in constituencies where the Conservatives have decided not to oppose them. These are constituencies where as long as the Liberal-Conservative vote is split the Labour candidate is likely to be returned. The Conservatives have, therefore, decided to allow the Liberals in these constituencies a free run this time in the hope that Labour representation in the House of Commons may thereby be reduced. Although this may result in a temporary increase in the number of Liberal M.P.s it does not really strengthen the Liberal Party's chances of survival, for at any future election the appearance of a Conservative candidate would almost certainly result in the Liberal's defeat.

ON any objective assessment of the facts, therefore, it must be admitted that this election marks a further decline in the position of the Liberals as a national party. This is scarcely a matter for satisfaction, since it is not a good thing that all minorities and independents should be denied a voice in the House of Commons. But nothing is to be gained by overlooking the facts—including the latest public opinion polls, which show no new upsurge of Liberal feeling.

The second question—how will the Liberals vote in constituencies where there is no Liberal candidate?—is as difficult to answer as it is important. The Gallup Poll, published in the "News Chronicle" this week, shows that according to its sample of "disfranchised" Liberals, they will divide in these proportions:

Vote Labour	23
Vote Conservative	29
Will not vote	20
Don't know	28

✧ ✧ ✧

THE small difference between the "Vote Labour" and "Vote Conservative" figures, and the large proportion who still "Don't know", make it difficult to draw any conclusions from this poll. Moreover, it is not so much the way in which Liberals all over the country will vote that matters as the way in which they will vote in certain crucial constituencies. For example, in Lancashire there are many seats in which the disposal of the Liberal vote may be decisive, and there is no reason for thinking that the Liberals in Lancashire will vote in the same way as the Liberals elsewhere. Liberals are awkward people—and spring from many traditions—and it is notorious that no two Liberals can ever be sure of reacting in the same way to a given set of circumstances.

✧ ✧ ✧

THUS, although the Liberals who will vote Labour throughout the country may be only slightly fewer than the Liberals who will vote Conservative, it is possible that in a place like Lancashire the proportions will be quite different—and in Cornwall, with its strong radical tradition, still different again. To the many people who are getting increasingly tired of clever statistical forecasts of the election results, the uncertainty which the Liberal vote introduces is a matter for great consolation.

✧ ✧ ✧

I HAVE met many people recently who hope that whoever wins the election the public opinion polls will lose! And Beachcomber, the humorist of the "Daily Express" has put many of us in a happier frame of mind with his daily reports of the "Beachcomber Poll" and his "revelation" the other day that people had started to ring up the Beachcomber Poll asking how they were going to vote and why.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And when he had called unto him his twelve disciples, he gave them power against unclean spirits, to cast them out, and to heal all manner of sickness and all manner of disease....Behold, I send you forth as sheep in the midst of wolves: be ye therefore wise as serpents, and harmless as doves. But beware of men: for they will deliver you up to the councils, and they will scourge you in their synagogues....And ye shall be hated of all men for my name's sake: but he that endureth to the end shall be saved....

He that loveth father or mother more than me is not worthy of me: and he that loveth son or daughter more than me is not worthy of me. And he that taketh not his cross, and followeth after me, is not worthy of me. (Matt. 10: 1, 16, 17, 22-34, 36-38.)

Letter To The Editor

LET'S GET TO WORK

Sir: At the invitation of a school teacher, we went, along with numerous students and parents, this past Sunday, up to Cedar Lakes, to explore the park comprising over 500 acres, which has been donated by the government to the people of this district, for their general use.

And it's nice to think that someday we could go up there for a picnic, or to swim, or to boat, or to fish, and no one is going to come along and order us off.

Happy thought.

And all of us were amazed at the splendid layout and beauties of this rolling area, lying within 30 miles of the city. There is a good road in, and two lovely lakes surrounded by a virgin forest just waiting to be rambled through. What a future awaits us up there. What with picnic tables scattered about, a barbecue here and there, water to swim in and sport upon—why, it's a natural!

But, there is work to be done, and we, the people will have to do it. So let's a few more of us get up there to look it over, then get a committee formed to get something started, because I'm quite sure once the folks see it, they'll be quite willing to get behind the project with a will.

To get there, take Highway 28 through Burleigh Falls, and turn left when you get to Cedar Lakes, then tell the folks what you think of it through this paper.

And in closing, I for one, would like to see it called Marshall Park, in memory of him who did so much to get it for us.

Yours truly,
ERIC E. HOWARD.

4 Teen-Agers Have 2-Day Spree In Car

COBALT, Oct. 24 (CP)—Two youths and two 15-year-old girls from Lachine, Que., were held today after what police described as a two-day spree in a liquor-loaded automobile.

They were stopped yesterday at a police roadblock outside New Liskeard after a youth with a .22-calibre rifle held up Mrs. Douglas Rutherford's cross-road grocery store six miles west of New Liskeard and fled with $42 in small bills.

One youth in the group, aged 15, was charged with armed robbery. The others face theft charges. They will appear in court in nearby Haileybury Friday.

Police said the car belongs to the mother of the other youth, Gilbert Hamelin, 17.

Members of the group told police they left Lachine Sunday afternoon stopped Sunday night near Renfrew, Ont., drove all day Monday and Monday night and arrived here yesterday.

A police search of the car turned up $42 in cash, a .22-calibre rifle, several bottles of champagne, a bottle of whisky, several bottles of wine and a quantity of canned goods and home preserves.

Earlier, police had been on the lookout for the car.

Decides Against Being Candidate

TORONTO, Oct. 24 (CP)—Roy H. Thomson, newspaper publisher and radio station owner, said Tuesday he has decided not to contest Toronto Bracondale as the Progressive Conservative candidate in the Nov. 22 Ontario election. The party will choose a candidate tonight for the riding held in the last legislature by Harry Walters, CCF.

Mr. Thomson last week was asked to stand for the nomination. The announcement, by Ed Brown, chairman of the Bracondale PC Association, disclosed a division in the party and the association postponed the nomination meeting for a week.

The publisher said Tuesday he reached his decision after "giving the matter serious consideration and weighing a combination of factors."

Oldest Veterinary Acted As Doctor For Two Moose

SUDBURY—(CP)—Dr. Thomas Craig Young, at 81 beleived Canada's oldest practising veterinary, has inspected more than 100,000 horses in his career and once acted as medical advisor to two moose.

Graduating from Ontario Veterinary College in 1892, he practised for 18 years at Cobden, 60 miles west of Ottawa. He was persauded to come here when his cousin, a Sudbury veterinary, was killed in a railway accident.

At that time Sudbury had a population of 8,000, with 300 horses in the city and another 2,000 in lumber camps and farms of the district.

Faithful Helper

He considers the horse as man's most faithful helper. "Today there are about 30 horses drawing milk wagons in the city," he mourns. "The bulldozer and the tractor have displaced them in the bush and on the farm."

Practising in Sudbury, he was often called out into the bush to attend a sick horse. On one such mission about 15 years ago the team of huskies pulling his sled broke away and in the upset he suffered a broken hand. But the horse was attended to before he returned to Sudbury to get his hand set.

His moose patients were two animals captured at Chelmsford and broken to harness. For two seasons they were feature attractions at the harness track there, under the medical care of Dr. Young.

Conant Urges Reform In Law Act

HAMILTON, Oct. 24 (CP) — Gordon D. Conant of Oshawa Tuesday called the delays and obstructions possible under the present system of judicial administration "the refuge of wealthy litigants."

A former Ontario attorney-general and former premier, Mr. Conant told the Women's Canadian Club that, considered from the aspect of expedition and efficiency, the administration of justice has lagged behind the times.

He said that while the judicature act of 1881 and the law reform act 1913 simplified procedure to some extent and consolidated into one the functions of several courts, further reform was needed.

"I do not think that there is anything sacred about practice and procedure and the administration of justice except justice itself . . . I refuse to conclude that the science of law is static. I believe changing needs and demands of society with increasing dispatch and precision."

He said that although exact figures were difficult to obtain, he believed that few actions in the Ontario Supreme Court, of which he is a former master, were tried within less than a year after the initial writ was issued.

"When the expense of litigants is involved, it is obvious that the poor man or the man with limited means is at a serious disadvantage. He may be, and often is, literally worn out financially by a wealthy opponent."

Leo Durocher Manager Of Year For Sensational Pennant Win

By RALPH RODEN.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24 (CP). — Leo Durocher, whose managerial career hung in the balance four years ago, is baseball's "manager of the year" for 1951.

The 45-year-old pilot gained the accolade for leading the New York Giants to the most sensational pennant triumph in National League history.

Durocher won the award with comparative ease in an Associated Press poll conducted among the 187 members of the Baseball Writers' Association of America.

The Giant leader collected 113 votes to breeze home ahead of Casey Stengel, manager of the world champion New York Yankees, who limped home second with 64. Stengel won the award in 1950.

Durocher, advised of his selection while playing golf near his West Los Angeles winter home said:

"That's great news. It makes me very, very happy. I am very grateful.

Team Comes Through

"I'm grateful to the New York Giants' team. It was the players who made this possible for me Without them, without the grand way they played I wouldn't get this honor, of course. They came through and played like the champions they are."

Thus in four years Durocher has sprung from the bottom of the heap to the top.

Durocher's darkest hour was in 1947 when he was suspended for the entire season by former baseball commissioner A. B. Chandler for "conduct detrimental to baseball."

Durocher returned to the helm of the Brooklyn Dodgers in 1948 but on July 16, in a move that stunned the baseball world he switched over to the New York Giants, Brooklyn's most hated rivals.

The Giant fans didn't take to Durocher right off the bat. Some even termed the move high treason. The Giants finished fifth in 1948 and 1949 and the fans began yelling for Leo's scalp.

Durocher risked his job during the 1949 off season when he broke up a slow-running, but heavy slugging crew for "my kind of a team."

Takes Chance

The Giants started off slowly in 1950 and again Durocher's job was in jeopardy but the New Yorkers came fast and finished a strong third.

Durocher's 1951 team was favored in many quarters to bring the Polo Grounds its first flag since 1937. But the Giants lost 11 straight during the first month.

The little leader restored the team's confidence and slowly but surely the Giants began to climb. They trailed Brooklyn 13½ games as late as Aug. 11 but kept plugging away and finally caught the Dodgers two days before the end of the season. The Giants climaxed their stirring comeback by beating the Dodgers in a playoff for the pennant.

30 Players Seek Places Cobourg Team

COBOURG, Oct. 24 — Over 30 candidates turned out for the first practice of the Cobourg intermediate hockey team here Tuesday night under the direction of the newly appointed coach, Gerry Scott.

Players from Bowmanville, Orono, Trenton, Port Hope, and Oshawa made the trip to work out with the team, an entrant in the Lakeshore loop this year.

Slip Rowe, and Art Jones, last year's regular goalie, were on hand, as was young Jex from Port Hope.

Buck Cowle headed the Bowmanville delegation of 10 players trying to catch a place on the club since Bowmanville will not enter a team this year.

Last year's Cobourg juniors who have played with Port Hope were also on hand, and included Bun Flesch, Cood Medhurst, Japper Wilcox.

Gerry Scott worked out with his band of hopefuls, although he does not expect to play this year.

The Cobourg team will be in a league made up of Port Hope, Whitby, Lindsay, and perhaps another starter.

Here And There In Sports

By The Canadian Press

Leo Boivin, 20-year-old promising rookie defenceman with Pittsburgh Hornets of the American Hockey League, said at Prescott he isn't sure why he left the team Monday.

Boivin, who impressed Toronto's National Hockey League Leafs during pre-season training camp at St. Catharines so much that it was expected he may nail down a regular berth with the NHL club, added that he may quit hockey altogether.

"The money doesn't bother me," he said. "I'm just not sure I want to be a professional."

He is slated to talk the matter over with the Leafs' general manager Conn Smythe Saturday and is expected to announce his decision after that.

Jockey Gilbert Robillard, reinstated by the Ontario Racing Commission after being suspended indefinitely in connection with Ontario's race-fix inquiry, can ride today at Dufferin race track in Toronto if he chooses.

He has been restored to good standing pending further investigation.

He was one of seven jockeys fined $100 and suspended for not reporting bribe offers promptly.

Jockey Richard Lawless, 19, of Chicago, who with five other race track figures was indicted here last week in connection with race fixing at Lincoln Downs last fall, will be arraigned in Superior Court this week, Attorney-General William E. Powers said on Tuesday at Providence, RI.

A grand jury last Friday accused Lawless of offering a bribe to jockey Wilfred Hughes to influence a race at Lincoln Downs last Nov. 7.

Two of the six indicted already have been arraigned. They are jockey Carroll Haire and T. Paul Kanall.

At Shawinigan Falls, Que., Detroit's National Hockey League Red Wings Tuesday night defeated Shawinigan Falls Cataracts of the Quebec Senior Hockey League 7-2 in an exhibition game.

Wings were paced by Gordie Howe and Metro Prystai who scored twice each. Marty Pavelich, Johnny Wilson and Tony Leswick got the others. Georges Ouellette got both Shawinigan goals.

Bill McKechnie, who performed the same task for Lou Boudreau at Cleveland, has agreed to coach Boston Red Sox pitchers, at least through spring training.

Boudreau, who Monday signed a two-year contract to manage the Red Sox, still hopes to have McKechnie with him through the 1952 season.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Big test for the senior Collegiate gridders comes Friday p.m. in Toronto when they tackle Kirkland Lake. It's COSSA vs. NOSSA in high school football competition at the annual Red Feather tournament. This tourney has grown to be a real autumn sports attraction. While it takes place in Toronto, various other centres are keenly interested in the affair, having teams competing in it. Nearest thing to an Ontario interscholastic rugby championship there is, as the various associations do not playoff once their own titles are set. The Red Feather pits the top eight squads in the province against each other in the two-day tourney, with a panel of judges naming the all-around victor.

* * * * * *

A hot race, too, in the Central Ontario ORFU senior "B" schedule. Cobourg and Oshawa are practically tied atop the heap with our Orfuns next. Winner of the schedule goes into the provincial intermediate 'A" playdowns, while the runner-up gets a crack at "B" playdowns. Cobourg's Galloping Ghosts come here this Friday eve for a football fray of considerable importance to both Ghosts and Orfuns. Frank Gnup's locals have been rolling lately, downing Oshawa Raiders last start in the Motor City. They may finally beat that ghostly jinx and trim Cobourg here to knot up the race still tighter. We rather expect they will.

* * * * * * *

From Defence To Coach

It might be noted that our three OHA coaches this puck season were former ace defencemen. Johnny Godfrey of the IOOF juniors and Ned Vitarelli of the senior "B" Eagles teamed up for Legion on defence to form as fine a blue-line pair as has played for this city since the days of McLeod and Parker. And they were of senior "A" calibre. Jim Ellis of the Petes was a topnotch defender and fast-stepping rusher for years in senior "B" company. All three of these chaps played in the States at one time or another, and Godfrey was on N.Y. Rangers' list when serious sickness forced them to drop him. He came then to Peterborough. The other two are Peterborough natives. Ellis is presently acting coach of the Petes along with Drake Jopling, also a noted defenceman here and at one time with the N.Y. Rovers.

* * * * * *

We didn't mention Drake so prominently as he has said he would not coach the club this season, while there's a chance Jim Ellis may. Not much info as yet from the Petes' puck camp. Goalie Ray Harding will be back and a number of last year's players — the team which went into Allan Cup playdowns — but there'll be changes, too. They've lost several and they're picking up several others. Gus Leonard and Fred Garvey will be with 'em again and others of the 1950-51 lineup, but we'd better await official word before listing the 1951-52 squad. We suppose Jake Wade, Arn Dugan, Curly Mason, Ted Collins and more are available. But no one is saying too much as yet.

* * * * * * *

Team Not Picked As Yet

That goes for the Eagles, as well. The goalie problem is just that. All last year's forwards are signed, but some may be dropped. The fellows from Lindsay aren't expected to perform here this season. Jim Munroe will likely be on defence again, and Keith Montgomery has been working out with the club, though he isn't living here now. Just sort of looking around, we imagine.. Honey Tompkins will be with Eagles if he gets his release. Cliff Maundrell, formerly of Oshawa and last year with Cobourg, has been on deck, also. Buck Legrow is another possibility. Several newcomers are getting tryouts. Team hasn't been chosen yet, and open workouts are called for seven p.m. tonight and Friday at the arena. More news on the squad soon.

* * * * * *

Pat Flanagan and Steve Stanlee staged a whale of a prelim at the Brock last e'en in the three-bout pro mat card. Gave the fans the works and quite a crowd whooped it up delightedly. But both were counted out of the ring. Referee Sam Gotter being a little quick on his figures. A jabbing nail punctured the hide of Chief Sun War Cloud plenty in the semi-final but he wound up a winner over villainous (but colorful) Myron Cox, once the ref dislodged the elusive nail from the mouth of Myron. We mention the main bout last because it was the poorest. The French Angel got it on a disqualification of Hi Lee by the ref—who resented being tossed about by the tall Texan. That's the only way the clumsy and slow Angel, who is quite a freak, could have won it.

Dese, Dem And Dose

Petes have three more open puck practices, tonight and Friday at 8.30 p.m., and Oct. 28 at 10 a.m.; team picked then.... Belleville team name this season is Hawks.... Nylons' officials still say the OHA didn't give their players a fair hearing, that the team didn't throw that series and that "the better team won".... Trojan bantams have an open meeting tonight at seven at 57 Aylmer St..... L. Vincent rolled best in the Girls' City Bowling League.... SPS seniors have an exhibition grid tilt tonight in Whitby; SPS juniors are at Cobourg this weekend.... Lot of Cobourg fans coming for the ORFU game here Friday eve; Ghosts still nurse a few injuries.... Blair Thomson is playing regularly and going well this football season with Western Mustangs.... Tely last p.m. ran pix of PCVS players Brown, Grafstein, Jensen, Craw, Scriver, Frise and Young.... Prince of Wales seniors won 6-0 in soccer over Queen Mary.... Stan Scrutton will coach the Kingston senior "B" entry.... Gans, peeved at getting the heave-ho from our grouping, offered to bet up to $150 that they could beat either local club or Belleville in an exhibition.... Then there was the Scottish jockey who bought but one spur, figuring if one side of the horse moved fast the other side would, too.

Heavy Transfer

HALIFAX (CP).—The moving men had a field day when the Halifax conservatory of music shifted its quarters. They toted 13 pianos out of the building without a scratch, plus big bass fiddles and enough other instruments for three full orchestras.

BOUDREAU TO PILOT BOSOX—Lou Boureau (left), former manager of the Cleveland Indians, signs a two-year contract in Boston making him the new manager of the Red Sox. He replaces Steve O'Neill. Bosox general manager Joe Cronin (right) says his new field boss will have a free hand in running the team.

GET THAT BENNY—Big Vince Mazza (55) and an unidentified Hamilton Tiger-Cat team mate try for Ottawa's hard-driving Benny McDonnell who has just eluded Bobby MacDonald (68). But the Tabbies couldn't stop Ottawa Saturday and bowed 32-16. The victory moved the Roughriders into a first-place tie with Hamilton and Toronto in the Big Four.

Complete Suspension Story Not Been Told Nylon Club Officers Reveal

KINGSTON, Oct. 24. (CP)—Officers of a Kingston hockey club, of which 16 players and officials recently were suspended for allegedly "throwing" a playoff series last spring, claimed Tuesday that the Ontario Hockey Association had failed to produce "any evidence in the form of a referee's report, which throws any suspicion on the team. In an open letter to the OHA signed by three club officers of the Kingston Nylon Social and Athletic Club, claim was made that the full story had not been adequately presented by the press and radio "nor have all the facts been made known to the OHA."

The three club offers—President H. W. Langabeer, Secretary J. C. Wilkinson and Treasurer H. D. Filiatrault—further charged that at the suspension hearing on the 10th of this month:

"The players were not permitted to answer any questions in their own words. They replied to prepared and slanted questions put to them by members of the OHA sub-committee. These, we feel, definitely had the appearance of having been prepared in order to substantiate an opinion already conceived. Presentation of their (players) views was not permitted."

Knew Nothing

Following the October 10 hearing, the OHA sub-committee said it had reached unanimous decision that the Nylon team "threw" a four-game series to Peterborough, in OHA Senior A playoffs, so Nylons would drop into a lower ranking and continue in the "Bx" playoffs. The committee said the Peterborough club had no knowledge of any such plan.

Suspended for life were the team manager, D. L. McKnight, and the coach, George Patterson, one-time NHL player. Two Nylon players received two-year suspensions and 12 other players were suspended for one season.

The open letter to the OHA said in part that during last summer Manager McKnight told Patterson he would be replaced as coach. Patterson is said to have replied he would form another senior club in Kingston.

The letter continued that the Nylon team manager, feeling there was no room in Kingston for a third Senior B team—Nylon and Queen's were the others — opposed the players' transfers.

Shared By Peterborough

"His opinion.... was shared by the management of the Peterborough Petes who stated publicly that should a third Senior B team be organized in Kingston they would seek grouping in the Toronto area....

"Eventually, G. Patterson, by various methods, got the signatures of five players on a petition to the OHA for their release from the Nylon team. The hearing of the petitions was held September 25 in Kingston. At the hearing, only one player, G. Patterson's son, held firm to his request to leave the team.

Angel Wins Over Hi Lee In Main Go Of Mat Card

Hallowe'en came early to the Brock St. Arena when the French Angel frightened fans in the main mat bout last night. However, the Angel drew a hand when he won over Hi Lee as Referee Sammy Gotter disqualified Lee in the final round for roughing the ref. They had gone seven minutes and Hi had the horrible-looking Angel in a corner and choking the stuffing out of him, after earlier jabbing his eyes. The ref tried to break him up and was tossed around lightly by Lee, who was promptly disqualified by his indignant nibs.

Lee won the second fall in six minutes with a rolling headlock and slam, after some choke grips and eye rasps. He scaled 290 and was much taller than the spindly-legged and big-headed 276-pound French freak. It was a slow bout with the strong, but clumsy and heavy-footed. They tested each other in shows of strength and once in awhile the odd Angel got in a few slugs or a bear-hug. He proved more popular than the rough Texan, he of the bull voice, shaggy mane and mean ring tricks.

Took First One

The Angel won the opening fall in eight minutes with three slugs to the chops and a bear-hug and slam. He had trouble with the husky Hi, who towered over him and roughed it up when he got the chance. Lee found the barrel-bodied short Frenchman a puzle for a time as his long, bald head offered little chance for a holding grip. He was just feeling the other out but roughing him in a corner when the Angel surprised him with some chops to the jaw and the winning body grip.

A better bout was the semi-final when Chief Suni War Cloud, at 226 pounds, defeated 222-pound Myron Cox in 28 minutes. He got him with his "Indian death lock" and war-whooped it up and danced in glee after as the fans cheered. Cox was a colorful character with a lot of stuff, including rough tactics like using knees, ropes, eye rasps and hair-pulling. He nearly scalped the Indian at times and frequently used his "secret weapon" — a shingle nail which he hid by sleight-of-hand in trunks, mouth and hands. He had Suni like a pin-cushion before the finish, and Referee Sam Gotter finally made like a fox to slap the weapon from Myron's mouth just before the fall came. The Chief got in some good work at times, too, but he couldn't contend with those sharp pricks on the back and legs, till the weapon was uncovered.

Te Best Bout

The best bout of all was the wide-open prelim which saw Pat Flanagan, going 228 pounds, and the 237-pound Steve Simlee both counted out of the ring at 26 minutes. They contended the count was fast. Certainly the bout was, the colorful Flan refusing to let Stanlee stall and hustling it all the way. He really used his great bag of tricks in a crowd-pleasing display that drew plently of loud applause. Steve used illegal stuff but Pat had it over him like a tent until he was tossed out of the ring. Both were out and mixing it after some furious open action when the Ref finished his count of 10.

Things Just Won't Be Same As Rangers Face Off Without Pal Psychologist

By JACK SULLIVAN, Canadian Press Staff Writer

Things won't be the same tonight when New York Rangers open the 1951-52 National Hockey League season at home against Boston Bruins. The blueshirts will be minus the services of psychologist Dr. David Tracy, a guy who tried to put them straight mentally last season, and Leone's Elixir, a bubbly, salty, non-alcoholic liquid that produced a healthy belch and a thirst. Both failed in their jobs—to get Rangers into a playoff spot. They were called in last Nov. 15 by a desperate Ranger management with the club showing only two victories to that date and the fans staying away from Madison Square Gardens as if the place was declared a hazard. Rangers perked up noticeably but faded in the stretch.

"What we need is goals, not psychologists," says manager Frank Boucher who negotiated a few off-season deals that sent four oldtimers to the minors or other NHL clubs and brought up youngsters. His figuring, probably, is that the kids don't need the psychological uplift and the "youth" liquid.

So far this season, Rangers are averaging two goals a game and share the bottom spot with the Bruins. Each has won one and tied one.

Same Problem

And Rangers are up against the same problem they encountered last year—their third forward line so far is the scoreless wonder of the league. Boucher predicted big things for the Paul Ronty, Gaye Stewart, Wally Hergesheimer front wall in a pre-season review of the club but its average to date is exactly .000.

Boucher also predicted that this time the club won't have the Broadway blues at the end of the season. It will hit the playoffs "for sure."

At its present clip, maybe Dr. Tracy and restaurateur Leone will be called into the act before next March.

It was an open date on the NHL schedule Tuesday night, but managing director Conn Smythe of Toronto Maple Leafs hit the public prints with a blast at the league for slashing the player limit from 17 to 15, exclusive of goalkeepers. He said it imposed an additional hardship on young players attempting to stick in the big time.

"You can't carry a kid who's just learning," he said. "There just isn't room for him on a 15-man roster because there's no room to make mistakes. There's no time to put an inexperienced player into a game and try to teach him under fire.

"It's not like football, where a place-kick specialist can come off the bench for one play."

Simpson Leads Flyers To 9-2 Win Over Reds

By The Associated Press.

Cliff Simpson, 28-year-old centre of the St. Louis Flyers, appears headed for another banner American Hockey League season.

Simpson, only player ever to score 40 or more goals in three different seasons, is averaging a goal a game for the high-scoring Flyers.

The clever veteran pumped home two goals Tuesday night as he led the Flyers to a 9-2 romp over the Providence Reds. The goals increased his output to six for the season and boosted his league career total to 213. The victory enabled the Flyers to tie idle Pittsburgh for the western division lead.

Pat Lundy and Don Morrison also scored twice for the Flyers.

HARLEM DEFEATS MERCURYS

At Toronto, Harlem Globetrotters Tuesday night clowned their way to a 71-40 victory over Toledo Mercurys in an exhibition basketball game played before 13,801 fans at Maple Leaf Gardens. Minneapolis Lakers opened the doubleheader with a 63-45 national basketball exhibition triumph over Philadelphia Warriors.

Denies Scaring Hockey Player

KITCHENER, Oct. 24 (CP).—Police Chief John Patrick Tuesday denied charges that Kitchener police "scared the pants off" a young player who is the subject of a player dispute between the Kitchener and Galt Hockey Association Junior A teams.

Red Hamill, coach of the Galt Black Hawks, said Kitchener police telephoned James Farelli, young Fort William player, and badly frightened him. Hamill did not specify what was allegedly said.

Farelli, property of Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League, attended the Chicago Black Hawks' training camp at North Bay and later went to Galt. He had been ordered to report to Kitchener, Canadian affiliate, by the NHL club.

Kitchener officials reported they had been unable to reach Farelli and several days ago charged that Galt was "hiding" the boy. Galt, meanwhile, has appealed to the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, but no decision has been made.

Chief Patrick said it was "nonsense," when informed of the Hamill statement. President Walter Weber and manager Bob Crosby of the Greenshirts also denied telephoning Farelli.

Arraign 3 Cage Stars On Bribery Charges

NEW YORK, Oct. 24 (AP). — Three former University of Kentucky basketball stars were arraigned Tuesday on charges of accepting bribes to fix an intercollegiate game and were freed in $1000 bail each.

The three players involved in the latest chapter of the game-fixing investigation are former all-Americas Alex Groza and Ralph Beard, members of Kentucky's national collegiate champions of 1948 and 1949, and Dale Barnstable, captain of the 1949-50 team.

Groza, six-foot, seven-inch centre, and Beard, pint-sized sharp-shooting guard, are part owners and members of the Indianapolis Olympians of the National Basketball Association. Barnstable is a Louisville, Ky., high school coach.

The trio was accused specifically of accepting $500 each to "shave points" in the national invitation tournament game between Kentucky and Loyola of Chicago in Madison Square Garden on March 14, 1949.

Louis Believes He'll Score Marciano KO

NEW YORK, Oct. 24 (AP). — Joe Louis thinks he'll knock out Rocky Marciano Friday night at Madison Square Garden.

"He can't fight" said Louis after watching movies of the Marciano-Rex Layne fight. Joe didn't even stay to see the ending and Marciano's knockout win.

The 37-year-old champ looked fit and trim as he breezed through his final boxing session.

Polly Smith, a 178-pounder from Bermuda, hit the deck after absorbing a whistling hook to the jaw. Elkins Brothers, a maingo heavyweight, also absorbed a pasting.

Despite reports of Louis' fine condition, odds favoring the Bomber slipped to 6½ to 5 against the unbeaten Brockton, Mass., slugger.

Marciano, with youth and speed on his side worked on endurance yesterday in four-minute rounds. It was a switch for the 27-year-old oldster who has been boxing two-minute rounds.

Trainer Charlie Goldman explained the change.

"We worked Rocky two-minute rounds to gain speed," he said. "I wanted him to work four minutes to be ready to keep up an attack. We believe Louis no longer can stand up when you go to him and keep punching."

Isabel McKean of Toronto was voted winner of the Norman Craig memorial trophy by the Ontario branch of the Women's Amateur Athletic Federation of Canada 13 years ago today. The 14-year-old sprinter that year set a dominion record of 7.6 seconds for the junior 60-metre event, gaining recognition as Ontario's greatest junior girl athlete.

Former Spy Freed From Pen

MONTREAL, Oct. 24 (CP) — The Gazette says today its Ottawa sources report that David Gordon Lunan, former Canadian information services official convicted of spying for Russia in 1946, was released from Kingston penitentiary.

(At Kingston, penitentiary officials refused comment on the report.)

The 36-year-old Lunan was one of nine convicted in the espionage ring linked with the Russian embassy in Ottawa. Only one still in prison is Sam Carr.

Lunan was convicted and sentenced to five years for conspiring to communicate confidential information to Russia. Later he was given an additional year in contempt of court when he refused to testify at the trial of Israel Halperin, convicted on a similar charge.

Lunan's first term was finished last Jan. 20 with time off for good behavior.

Didn't Like Editorial

NEW YORK, Oct. 24 (AP). — Striking longshoremen who didn't like an editorial in Tuesday's Daily Mirror delayed Tuesday night's early edition for an hour and a half by picketing the newspaper plant. The management of the Hearst newspaper said the delay began when employees of the mechanical department refused to cross the longshoremen's picket line.

Resisted Questioning

CHICAGO, Oct. 24 (AP). — A former Michigan beauty queen who was born in Windsor said Tuesday night she resisted police questioning because needle marks on her arms still disclosed her old narcotics addiction. Peggy Ellsworth, 24, Miss Michigan of 1947, who police said twice had been convicted of narcotics violation, was charged with disorderly conduct.

Judge Refuses Order

VANCOUVER, Oct. 24 (CP)—Mr. Justice H. S. Wood in Supreme Court Tuesday refused to order the Salmon Arm, BC, school board to admit 510 pupils to the schools. The Salmon Arm schools were closed to pupils from the municipality because of lack of funds. Municipal ratepayers recently turned down a bylaw to provide the necessary $16,000 for school purposes. City and rural pupils were admitted to the schools.

Creighton Mayor

BRANDON, Man., Oct. 24 (CP) —James (Jimmy) Creighton Tuesday night was elected mayor of Brandon. The Brandon-born 45-year-old former hockey star and referee rolled to an impressive victory over mayor F. T. Williamson, his only opponent in the mayoralty race. Williamson conceded the election when returns from 27 of 32 polls showed Creighton ahead 3,079 votes to 1,896.

Barred By Group

NASHUA, NM, Oct. 24 (AP)— Dr. Hermann N. Sander, central figure in a 1950 "mercy killing" trial, Tuesday night was denied readmission to the Hillsborough County Medical Association. His application fell short of the required two-thirds majority of the number voting by 13 votes. The vote to accept was 58 to 48, with 106 members voting. Dr. Sander was acquitted in March, 1950, of a charge that he injected air into the veins of Mrs. Abbie Borroto, 59, of Manchester, causing her death.

British Parties Ducking Financial Crisis

LONDON, Oct. 24—(CP)—To a sympathetic outsider, the remarkable thing about the British election campaign is the gap between what the politicians are saying and what the pundits think they ought to say.

In this view, widely held by serious students of affairs, candidates are just wasting their time in trying to make the cost of living the main election issue. The really important question, these observers argue, is Britain's economic problem. Anything else is secondary or irrelevant.

Responsible organs of opinion broadly claim that the Labor party ignores the problem, both in its election manifesto and in its speeches, while the Conservative party admits its existence but doesn't say specifically what it would do about it.

By now, Canadians may be bored with talk of the dollar gap, but those who take statistics seriously say it is crucial. There has been a financial crisis every two years and the 1951 one—now in storage until the election is over—may be the most severe.

Few Expedients

The first two were solved by expedients Now there are few expedients left. Lurking dangers include the growing balances held by some sterling-area countries, which will not be content to hold on inconvertible currency indefnitely, and the recent revelation that Britain is a European debtor nation.

For the first time, she now is in debt to the European payments union.

Two facts make it difficult for politicians to recognize the crisis. One is that the problem just seems too big for ordinary men's minds; the other that the Conservative party has been so scrupulous in its pledges not to do anything unpopular such as reducing the food subsidies, that it has little room for manoeuvre.

Perhaps this explains why it has been a quiet election campaign. The ardour of the candidates is suppressed by the brooding knowledge that the last ounce of energy will be needed for unpleasant tasks, and the enthusiasm of the electors is muted by a vague awareness that tough times lie ahead, whoever gets in.

Searching Question

Occasionally a party voice makes itself heard above the irrelevancies of the electoral campaign. Thus Viscount Hailsham, a Conservative peer who graduated from the House of Commons to the comparative serenity of the House of Lords, writes in the Independent Sunday Observer about the "fundamental question" of the election.

"How," asks Lord Hailsham, "is our island community, dangerously concentrated in a few urban areas, the ideal target for modern weapons of war . . . vitally dependent upon what we can import from abroad to satisfy our simplest needs, enjoying a standard of life immensely privileged compared with that possessed by the greater part of humanity—how is this little, civilized island, precariously poised upon a delicately-planned economic mechanism, to survive in the latter part of the 20th century when none of the sources of material power from which we derived our strength, neither the navy, nor supremacy in the financial field, nor our lead in craftsmanship, nor our political dominion, still remains, when not one of these things will ever return to us again."

L. Vincent Leading

L. Vincent rolled high single of 295 and top three of 746 in the Girls' City Bowling League this week. Cardinals had best pinnage of 3,193 and Arcos' 1,166 was tops in single efforts. M. Barringer's 475 took the blind score of 469.

Three coats of whitewash were applied during the night's play at Duffus', Cardinals over Aces, Marines against Dickson's, and Arcos over Curtin's. Closer competition saw Black's edge Collis 2-1 on the night, and Bassel's beat Sevenaires by a similar margin, with all games close.

Named Vice-President

KINGSTON, Oct. 24 (CP)—W. A. Mackintosh, principal of Queen's University, Tuesday announced appointment of Dr. J. A. Corry as vice-president of the university. Dr. Corry, who came to Queen's from the University of Saskatchewan in 1936, will continue as professor of political science in the department of political and economic science.

Dangerous Man

TORONTO, Oct. 24 (CP) — A mental patient described as dangerous escaped Tuesday from Sunnybrook veterans hospital. The heavy-set, fair-haired man, between 19 and 21 years old, fled in hospital clothing.

Killed In Landing

KENORA, Oct. 24 (CP) — Lorimer J. (Larry) Quirk, 35, pilot for Ontario Central Airways, Monday night was killed when his plane crashed at the edge of Red Lake as he was coming in for a landing. His body was found in the plane.

Name Thomson Candidate In Own Riding

By The Canadian Press

Ontario's political pot reached full boil Tuesday night when the leaders of the three major political parties took to the hustings with speeches in the Nov. 22 provincial general election campaign.

Premier Frost promised to press for changes in marketing legislation in co-operation with federal authorities, CCF leader E. B. Jolliffe pledged his party to set up an anti-racketeering board if elected and Liberal leader Walter Thomson told a nominating convention that chose him as candidate in Ontario riding that his party is "moving surely to victory."

The night also saw the nomination by the Liberals in Lambton West of Mrs. Marcella Brown, second woman candidate nominated so far. The other is Agnes Macphail, CCF standard-bearer in York East.

Constitutional Trouble

Mr. Frost said in Woodstock that "constitutional difficulties" arising from the division of powers between the federal and provincial governments now prevent use of some practices which would improve farm marketing methods. He said he would go to a federal-provincial conference to seek changes which would give the provinces additional powers.

Such a step had been taken successfully in the marketing of Ontario cheese. As a result, an association of Ontario Cheese Producers had signed its own contract with the British ministry of food.

Mr. Jolliffe said his proposed non-partisan board of review would prevent the growth of racketeering in Ontario. He told a Toronto gathering that the board would investigate complaints of wrong-doing in provincial affairs, "with full power to compel disclosure in public of all matters relating to law enforcement, charitable appeals, liquor licences, gambling, stockateering and political party funds."

Expects Big Majority

Mr. Thomson predicted that he will poll as many votes in his Oshawa district riding as he did in winning the riding federally in 1949, when he received 13,412 votes, against 9,803 for his nearest opponent. T. D. Thomas, CCF, who held the seat in the last legislature, is running again. The Progressive Conservative candidate is Mayor Michael Starr of Oshawa.

The Liberal leader said in Whitby that, if elected, he will name Farquhar Oliver, Liberal house leader in the last legislature, as minister of agriculture.

TRUCE PARLEY IN CIRCUS TENT—Col. Andrew J. Kinney (right) head of the UN Liaison Mission, and North Korean Col. Chang Chun San (left), head of the Communist delegation, sign the ground rules agreement in a circus tent at Panmunjon, Korea, to pave the way for resumption of Korean truce negotiations. At Col. Kinney's right is Lt. Horace Underwood, UN interpreter. In background, a UN stenographer records the session.

20 People Arrested

VANCOUVER, Oct. 24 (CP) — Twenty persons were arrested late Tuesday in a mass raid which police said was aimed at rounding up Vancouver's top race horse gamblers. All were charged with conspiracy. All bookmaking here stopped shortly after the round-up started.

British Defence Heads Study Red Moves In Asia

By LIONEL HUDSON.

SINGAPORE, Oct. 24 (Reuters) —Britain's defence chiefs in the Far East meet here frequently to study Asian Communist moves and their effect on the security of British teritories.

They form the British Defence Co-ordination Committee, a top-secret body which for five years has kept a vigilant watch on political and military developments.

The function of the BDCC is to advise the chiefs of staff in London on high policy concerning the defence of British territories in the Far East and to report on relevant trends in other Asian countries.

Once a fortnight, or more often when the tempo of the situation dictates, this committee gathers in a map-lined room at Phoenix Park.

Great Responsibilities

The chairman of the BDCC is Malcolm MacDonald, Commissioner-General for South-east Asia. The other full members are Vice-Admiral Sir Guy Russell, Commander-in-Chief Far Eastern station; Gen. Sir Charles Keightley, Commander-in-Chief Far East land forces; and Air Marshal Sir Francis Fogarty, Commander-in-Chief Far East Air Force.

Among them they have responsibilities stretching from Ceylon to Korea, and they are continually on the move studying the situation at first hand.

They maintain close liaison with American, French, Australian and New Zealand service chiefs who have forces engaged in the region. They keep in contact with the leaders of free Asian countries.

Although they speak from four different angles, they agree on the same over-all appreciation of the situation. These are the points they make:

1—The battles being fought against Communist aggression in Korea, Indo-China, Burma and Malaya are virtually "one big war." It is just as important for Southeast Asia that the bid for Communist domination be resisted on the 38th Parallel as on the 5th Parallel.

2—In view of the growing war potential in Communist countries, there are no grounds for complacency regarding the defence of Malaya, Singapore, and British North Borneo.

3—But neither are there grounds for defeatism.

4—It can be fully expected that Indo-China and Burma would beat back the Communists as long as local insurgents did not receive large-scale aid from outside, such as Chinese volunteers.

5—The Communists cannot be expected for a considerable time to challenge the sea or air power of the anti-Communist forces.

TITANIUM SOURCE

Ore deposits at Lake Allard, Quebec, are believed to be the world's largest single source of titanium.

Israel, Arabs Not Invited To Defence Plan

PARIS, Oct. 24—(AP)—Israel and the Arab states are being advised formally that they will not be invited at this time to become members of the Middle East Defense Command, authoritative sources said Tuesday.

This follows the refusal of Egypt, one of the seven Arab states, to go along with the command, which proposed joint defense of the Suez Canal by Egypt, Britain, the United States, France and Turkey.

Most of the Arab states backed up Egypt's action, including her scrapping of the 1936 Anglo-Egyptian Treaty. With the western powers aligned in denouncing the one-sided Egyptian Treaty action, there appeared little common ground left upon which the Arabs and the West could meet in a defense effort.

The western nations were reported still anxious to form a command representative of a united Middle East stand against Communist aggression, but would await a more opportune time to present the idea anew.

Appointed CO

OTTAWA, Oct. 24 (CP).—Wing Cmdr. Harold M. Smith, DFC, 36, of New Westminster, BC, has been appointed commanding officer of No. 408 photographic station at Rockcliffe, air force headquarters announced Tuesday. He replaces Wing Cmdr. Donald Jackson, 36, of Plunkett, Sask., and Ottawa, who has been posted to the United States for a three months' course.

Believed Bluffing

OTTAWA, Oct. 24 (CP).—N. R. Danielian of Washington, an American proponent of joint construction of the St. Lawrence seaway, said Tuesday night that United States opponents of the project are successfully promoting the idea that Canada is bluffing in her announced intention to go ahead with the project alone.

Defence is your duty, too!

The most important job in Canada today is defence. And defence is not the responsibility of just a few. It is a duty which every young and able man in Canada must accept — if we want to make sure we stay free.

You as a free Canadian citizen must be prepared to meet any challenge to your freedom. The least you can do in these uncertain days is to serve part time as a Citizen-Soldier in the Canadian Army Reserve Force.

You devote one or two evenings a week to training in the arts and skills of the modern soldier. In addition there are the occasional week-end exercises and two weeks of summer camp.

The Reserve Force soldier receives the same uniforms and equipment as used in the Active Force. He is paid Active Force rates of pay for all training periods.

There are Reserve Force units in towns and cities across Canada. There is one in your district. Visit it right away. Find out how you can serve Canada in the Reserve Force.

Defence is every Canadian's duty. It is your duty, too!

FUNNY BUSINESS -- By Hershberger

"I sold the dining room table and bought this—at least I'll be sure of warm food on your club days!"

Good Disposition Wins Over Looks And Money

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: With a choice of two friends, should I choose the one with a good disposition or the one with looks and money? I am 16 and like a boy 17 who is good looking, but does not have a good disposition. He flares up if I look at another boy, is moody and easily irritated. I also like another boy with a very good disposition and even temper. He is not particularly good looking but is a more agreeable companion.

Dorothy Dix

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: A good disposition is pretty much a permanent asset. Looks can change, the financial status of a boy can improve or decline, but temperament remains quite static. Moody people provide a problem even for adults to handle; they're much too much for a teen-ager to cope with. After all, what you want on a date is gaiety and fun. Trying to cheer an irritable beau is no part of an evening out.

Don't Marry A Grouch

Some people are born with sunny dispositions and exude cheerfulness under all circumstances. Others, less fortunate, begin life with chips on their shoulders. Wrong training in childhood intensifies a bad disposition; then they reach adulthood seemingly with no other aim than to make everyone else in the world miserable. Woe to the woman who marries such a one! The rarest thing in her life is a smile, or a word of praise.

Don't let your moody friend make excuses for his bad temper. There are none! A little sense and determination can sweeten the worst humor. However, since you have a pleasant young man at hand, save yourself the job of reformation and take the beau with a smile!

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: A lovely lady of 47 is very much in love with me, and since I am 68 I think there is too much difference in our ages. She insists she doesn't like younger men. My children are grown and I doubt if they would approve of a stepmother their own age. The lady thinks I ought to put the wife first, which is true, but I don't want to hurt my children. Would you think it a wise move to marry her?

WIDOWER

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I do not! She is so determined to get you, however, that you'll have to do some fast footwork to escape her clutches. Not only is she much too young for you, she is also too intent on binding you in matrimonial bonds, and drawing you away from your children. All in all, she is not an admirable character and you'll be happier continuing in your present status.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: Two years ago my first husband and I were divorced and I was given custody of our two young children. I remarried, and shortly after my second husband died. Recently, his brother has proposed to me, and he could give me everything I want. While I was considering his proposal, my first husband reappeared on the scene, said he still loved me and wanted me to go back to him. For the children's sake, I think this would be a good idea. I feel I could be happy with either man, as they are both wonderful.

PEGGY

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: To clarify a complicated situation, I agree that for your children's sake you would be wise to remarry your first husband. Just be sure to straighten out, before marriage, the problems that contributed to the divorce. Going through the whole process again will further confuse the lives of your youngsters, and by this time they should be established in some form of security.

Bride Feted

MILLBROOK, Oct. 24 (ENS)—Last week fellow employees of the Westclox gave a shower for Mrs. Percy Bothwell, of Fraserville, formerly Marion Thorn, of Millbrook, whose marriage took place September 29.

The evening was spent doing contests and playing euchre. Four girls put on a mock wedding ceremony. A chair had been decorated for the bride and a bell above her head with streamers showered down confetti. An address was read by Mrs. Harvey Challice. Jean and Louis Gardiner carried in the large decorated basket of gifts, preceded by little Janet Hard. The bride expressed her thanks to all.

Kathie Howell, chairman of social and publicity, introduced her guest speaker, Ann Ryan, whose topic was "Operation Fatima." Margaret Caravaggie of Apostolic and good literature, introduced her speaker, June Dolan, whose speech was entitled "Marguerite Bourgois." Next meeting will be held the third Sunday of November.

Hawkins-Noble

In a double ring wedding ceremony in Tory Hill United Church Saturday afternoon, Doreen Ruth, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Noble of Essonville became the bride of Caldwell Cecil Hawkins, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hawkins of Peterborough.

The Rev. Mr. Rutherford of Haliburton officiated. Miss Goldie Boyce played the wedding music and Mrs. D. E. Finlay was soloist and chose the selections "O, Perfect Love" and "I'll Walk Beside You" for the occasion.

The bride given in marriage by her father, wore a becoming beige suit with navy accessories and a corsage of pink and white sweetheart roses. Bridesmaid Mrs. Gordon Stockdale, sister of the groom wore a navy suit with light blue accessories and a corsage of pink roses. Gordon Stockdale was groomsman.

Following the marriage, 35 guests assembled in the basement of the church, for a reception. The bride's mother received in a blue ensemble with navy accessories and wore a corsage of red roses. The groom's mother was in a navy suit with wine accessories and a corsage of red roses.

The couple then left for a motor trip and on their return will live in Peterborough.

Hairdresser Raves About Princess' Hair and Skin

VICTORIA, BC, Oct. 24 (CP)—Doris Stenmark, 26, hairdresser at Victoria's leading hotel, shampooed and waved the hair of Princess Elizabeth yesterday.

Elizabeth's hair, said Miss Stenmark, is "a glowing chestnut color, of nice texture with lots of body."

Her skin drew raves from the hairdresser.

It is "the clearest ivory."

The Princess' eyes, Miss Stenmark said, are "a most attractive blue," and Royal voice is "lively."

Miss Stenmark was immediately ushered in to the Princess' suite when she reached Government House.

"I was scared to death," said Miss Stenmark "but Her Highness put me at ease immediately, because she was so friendly. I asked her if she were anxious to start the trip home. The Princess said she missed her children very much but that she was finding the tour exciting and interesting.

"She said she had studied a great deal about Canada and knew the country was large but it had taken this trip to make her fully realize how enormous it is."

Women Discuss Civil Defence Role Of Red Cross

A discussion on the role of the Red Cross Society in civil defence was carried on at the regular meeting Tuesday evening in the Red Cross rooms at Brock and Hunter Sts. Twelve women came out for the meeting in spite of the wetness but male members apparently found weather difficulties too great.

President Mrs. F. E. Hooper reported the purchase of a good used car for use in the blood donor service and for other purposes of the branch.

A comprehensive account of the work of the blood donor service was given by Mrs. C. J. Ray, stressing the need of blood donors. She advised of the generous action of the local radio station, CHEX, in giving free time for the appeal for more blood donors.

Demand for articles from the loan cupboard was reported by Mrs. W. R. L. Blackwell. Reports on other activities of the Branch were also given.

It was decided to continue the custom of procuring a poppy wreath from the veterans to be placed on the cenotaph on Remembrance Day.

Cancer Society Needs Materials

A great need for materials for cancer dressings is being felt by the local branch of the Canadian Cancer Society. There is also need for women to help in making the dressings for local patients.

Any white material that is absorbent is acceptable. Old white cotton and linen is usually used.

Packages may be sent to Mrs. John A. Bradman, 678 Bethune St.

Patricia Parks Weds Roy Moore

At the Free Methodist Church the Rev. R. E. Dargan on Saturday performed the marriage of Patricia Parks, daughter of Mr. Cecil Parks of Parkbeg, Sask., and Roy Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Austin Moore, 116 Hilliard Street, Peterborough.

Mauve, white and yellow 'mums and autumn leaves decorated for the occasion. Mr. George Robinson played the wedding music and Mrs. Percy Graham sang during the service "The Wedding Prayer" and "I'll Walk Beside You."

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Lyle Parks of Sudbury. Her gown was of white slipper satin made with sweetheart neckline, tight-fitting bodice, with long pointed sleeves and full skirt. A tiara of rhinestones and pearls held her fingertip veil of silk net and lace. She carried a bouquet of red roses.

Matron of honor was her sister Mrs. Michel Schmitz of Preston, and the bridesmaid was Miss Lois Moore, sister of the groom. They were in bouffant frocks of mauve taffeta and yellow brocaded satin and wore mittens of matching material and head-dresses of tiny roses in the colors of the dresses. Their bouquets were of yellow mauve and white 'mums.

Mr. Carl Moore was groomsman for his brother and the ushers were Wesley Parks, brother of the bride, and Floyd Beatty, cousin of the groom.

The reception was held at the home of the groom's parents. His mother received in a dress of black crepe with hat in wine shade and matching accessories, and wore a corsage of white 'mums.

When leaving later on a wedding trip north, the bride wore a navy suit and grey accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Moore will live at 284 King Street on their return.

Princess' Plain Dresses, Suits May Start Fashion Trend

By KAY REX

TORONTO, Oct. 24 (CP) — Princess Elizabeth likes simply-cut, well-tailored clothes. Nothing flamboyant. This may mean that plain suits and dresses will stage a comback in Canadian fashion circles.

Furbelows and flares may disappear; narrow skirts and fitted coats return. Even hemlines may stay put for a while.

With two weeks of The Tour over, Canadians have seen neither too much nor too little of the Royal legs. Princess Elizabeth—who with Prince Philip is holidaying today on Vancouver Island—likes her suits and dresses three to four inches below the knee.

Most of her suit skirts are pencil-slim—not as full as many North American manufacturers have been turning out of late. Her coats are fitted, not voluminous according to current trend.

But where she does adhere to 1951 fall styles is in the velvet trimming. At least two of the outfits she has worn so far have been edged in velvet.

At Ottawa Oct. 11 she appeared in a fitted coat of "robin red" wool, its collar and sleeves trimmed with black velvet buttons. There also was velvet on the blue suit she chose for her arrival at Montreal's Dorval airport three days earlier.

Hats Not Startling

The Royal hats may not start the milliners cutting capers, but they're attractive and along the same lines as those now popular in Canada.

The brimless, head-hugging numbers which the Princess favors are particularly suitable for a person constantly in the public view as they permit her face to be seen from all angles. So far they have included a blue turban-type model and a black close-fitting hat of coque feathers.

The latter was worn at Ottawa and again in Toronto. It completed an outfit which included a two-piece dress of slate-blue taffeta.

The Royal wardrobe is reported to contain 18 costumes but so far the Princess has worn several more than once. At Kingston, Oct. 12, and at Regina five days later, she was seen in a dress of brown ribbed silk with matching hat of feathers. She wore the "robin red" coat while travelling between Kapuskasing, Ont., and Winnipeg. She again appeared in it at Vancouver.

Shoes Quiet

Shoes for the slate-blue ensemble were black pumps. Plain with heels of average height, they were like most of the Princess' footgear—not calculated to produce any startling changes in Canadian shoe styles. Her shoes, throughout, have appeared comfortable—and conservative.

The oxfords she wore on her arrival at Dorval were unusual—but it's unlikely they will create a stir in Canada's fashion world. They were cut much higher than most women here are accustomed to wearing.

These oxfords—they had high cuban heels—were worn with a suit the color of which still is causing confusion among fashion reporters. It was blue, but whether teal blue or slate blue, no one was certain.

Earlier predictions that the heir presumptive would have a lot of green in her wardrobe have gone unfilled. She has appeared in only one such outfit—an olive green dress and matching coat at Quebec City.

For the most part her clothes have varied from a deep rose to chocolate brown and slate blue to dark mustard. All are colors designed to blend well with the rich hues of a Canadian autumn.

Princess Elizabeth's clothes are bound to win the approval of the girl with quiet tastes and a slim pocketbook. They look well anywhere, at any time. They're conservative without being dull.

Ex-Servicewomen Show Interest In UN Group

"The United Nations was devised to work under conditions of peace, and as yet have not had a fair opportunity to do so" said Mr. Charles Hurst in his address to the members of Branch 452, Canadian Legion (exservicewoman) at the meeting monday evening.

In a broad outline of the purposes and functions of the United Nations Association, Mr. Hurst made known many startling facts. "You know the health of the people in Egypt means more to the people of Peterborough now than it did ten years ago" said the speaker in connection with functions of the United Nations Health Organization.

Mr. Hurst outlined the various associations within the United Nations suggesting that all should take an active interest in their activities. The formation of a study group was discussed and Mr. Hurst pointed out that United Nations literature was not only readily available but was in all aspects factual.

After his address Mr. Hurst answered many queries. He invited the Branch to take over one of the broadcasts in connection with United Nations discussions. The speaker also tendered an invitation to the Branch to attend the films being shown at the library Thursday evening.

The speaker was introduced by Miss Claire Mason, secretary for Peterborough Branch of United Nations Association and sincere thanks was extended to Mr. Hurst by Comrade Mrs. Dorothy Grady.

A business meeting was held following a delightful lunch served by members of the refreshment committee.

President Comrade Irma Allen reminded members of the annual Legion church parade to be held at George Street United Church, Sunday, Nov. 4. Parade to form up at 10:30 a.m. Miss Allen also asked the support of all members as "taggers" on Poppy Day, November 10.

Plans for the Remembrance Day service at the cenotaph Nov. 11 were outlined. Parade is to fall in promptly at 10 a.m.

Members were advised of a change in the monthly meeting night from the fourth Monday to the fourth Friday due to an extension in the training program at the armouries.

Christmas project convener, Comrade Edna Rule, asked for volunteers to assist in packing and sending the annual Christmas parcels to an orphanage for retarded children in England. A letter was received from Miss Dorothy Peace, one of the staff, and a former Peterborough girl, which thanked the members for their continued interest in the children.

Comrade Mrs. Dorothy Grady was elected nominations committee chairman to be assisted by Comrades Mrs. A. Morin, Mrs. H. Campbell and Miss Esther Wight. A new slate of officers is to be presented at the November meeting.

Following the discussion of plans for the branch's first Remembrance Day dinner to be held at the YWCA Nov. 10, the meeting adjourned.

Many At Shower For October Bride

NORWOOD, Oct. 24 (ENS)—About 60 friends and neighbors gathered at the home of Mrs. W. A. Garden Monday evening to honor a bride of this month, Miss Barbara Cuthbertson. A musical contest was played and Mrs. Wilfred Parker received first prize.

The bride, seated before a table decorated in pink and white streamers opened the gifts which were before her.

Among the guests present were: Mesdames Gerald Martin, Kenneth Thompson, Ronald Rothwell, Rod Webb, Donald Telford, Jack Hyslop, Fred Patterson, Harry Godin, Russell Jennings, William Golloher, John Rogers, Thomas Morrison, Earl Spencer, Frank Bedore, Neil Rogers, Hugh Rogers, Jim Rogers, Cecil Watson, George Peoples, Lottie Burtt, Wm. Hubble, Bert Scott, M. W. Bailey, Gerald Baker, Keith Longmuir, Cecil Cuthbertson, Charles Fredericks, Robert Garden, George Bitten, Earl Hamblin, J. Bingham, Joseph Rae, Ross Legge, William Sedgwick, Clifford Sedgwick, Wm. A. Garden, Wm. Foshee, Stanley McMillan, Colin Althouse, O. R. Edwards, Keenie Edmunds, Misses Greta McGee, Maisie Buck, Florence Nevins, Jean Campbell.

Those unable to attend but sending gifts were: Mrs. G. A. End Bad Cough Quickly, at One-Fourth The Cost

Thousands of housewives have found that, by mixing their own cough syrup, they get a dependable, effective medicine. They use a recipe at only one-fourth the usual cost of cough medicine, but which really breaks up distressing coughs in a hurry.

From any druggist get 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a 16 ounce bottle and fill up with granulated sugar syrup to make 16 ounces. The syrup is easily made with 2 cups sugar and 1 cup water, stirred until dissolved. No cooking needed. (Or use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.) It's no trouble at all, and makes a splendid medicine. Keeps perfectly, tastes fine.

Its quick action loosens phlegm, helps clear the air passages and soothes away irritation.

Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well known for its soothing effect on throat irritations. Money refunded if it does not please you in every way.

French Dancer Leslie Caron Got Contract, Husband In Year

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 24 (AP)—Leslie Caron, the young French dancing sensation, got herself a Hollywood career and an American husband in less than a year. She's wild about both.

Miss Caron, a mite of a lass with a puckish face, told me her feeling about American men—particularly her husband, George Hormel, young heir to a meat packing fortune.

"Why did you marry an American?" I inquired.

"That's silly," she replied, putting me in my place. "I fell in love. What else could I do?"

"But do you favor American men over the French?"

"Oh, yes. The French men are very selfish. The wives are never consulted when a family decision is to be made. The husband decides everything for himself."

Americans Worship

American men, she added, are much more considerate. "They place women on a pedestal," she said, indicating that the girls like to be there.

"But the French take marriage more seriously," Caron continued." When a French man proposes marriage to a girl, it is for life. There is never a thought of divorce. . ."

"In America, it is different. The young couples go into marriage too lightly. They figure if it doesn't work out, they can always get a divorce and try someone else."

Miss Caron makes her film debut with Gene Kelly in "An American in Paris."

Princess Just Betty To Husband Duke

VICTORIA, B.C., Oct. 24—(CP)—Betty . . . She's Princess Elizabeth to everyone else, but to the Duke of Edinburgh she's just plain Betty.

Canadians have wondered if the Prince used the full name of Elizabeth.

Those at the head table at Monday's state luncheon here found out that Philip prefers the shorter name.

The Princess was so engrossed in the diamond and emerald necklace the people of British Columbia gave her, she obviously was forgetting the rigid time schedule.

Finally, Philip leaned toward her and said:

"Betty, we really should be leaving."

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Salmon For Special Menu

Epicurean Canned Salmon (see notes)
Hungarian Potatoes (see notes)
Stuffed Fresh Tomatoes
Sauce Verte (see notes)
Chilled Compote of Pears and Apples (see notes)
Gingerbread (see notes)
Coffee

DIRECTIONS: This is a lovely meal. The items complement one another so well and the balance is so good you should share it with some of your friends. (There I go—helping you squander your money.)

Epicurean Canned Salmon

This is so easy and good you won't believe me—the only catch is you have to have sour cream—but we should learn to use sour cream more in our cooking. Cover the contents of a large can of salmon with 2 cups thick sour cream. Season with salt and pepper and bake in oven of 350 deg. Fahr. until cream is reduced to a rich sauce with patches of brown on it. Pass quartered lemon.

Hungarian Potatoes

Have ready 4 cups raw potatoes. Melt in saucepan 2 tablespoons bacon or chicken fat or margarine, panfry in it for 4 minutes 1 very large chopped onion, and 1 cup boiling water. Boil gently until potatoes are just tender and water is evaporated. These are a pretty reddish color and delicious.

Stuffed Fresh Tomatoes

We should keep on serving these while there is still one left. Cut slice from top and scoop out centres from small tomatoes. Salt and invert to drain. Fill with mixture of finely cut celery, green pepper, and shredded lettuce or cabbage mixed with mayonnaise. Garnish with small ring of green pepper on top.

Sauce Verte

This is simple but effective. Merely add a few drops of green liquid coloring to genuine mayonnaise. Instead of putting the mayonnaise in or on the tomatoes (or any salad) pile it in a small bowl and let the folks see how pretty it looks. You may further embellish it by adding finely chopped pickle, chives, parsley and capers.

Chilled Compote of Pears and Apples

Pare and core 6 pears. Pare and core and quarter 2 large apples. Have ready and boiling a sugar syrup of ¼ cup sugar and 1¼ cups water, to which you have added grated rind of ¼ lemon and about one-sixteenth teaspoon powdered ginger. Drop the fruit into this syrup as soon as you have it ready, to prevent browning. Poach until fruit is nearly tender—about 10 minutes. Chill before serving. This is lovely when colored green. If you want to do this add a few specks green coloring to the syrup before you add the fruit.

Great Grandmother's Gingerbread

This recipe was sent to me by a reader named Mrs. Simmons, and a note informs me it is 100 years old.

One-half cup each brown sugar, and butter and lard mixed, 1 egg, 1 cup molasses, 2½ cups pastry flour, 1½ teaspoons baking soda, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1 teaspoon ginger, ½ teaspoon cloves, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 cup hot water.

Method: Cream shortening and sugar, add beaten egg, molasses, then the dry ingredients which have been sifted together. Add hot water last and beat until smooth. Bake in greased shallow pan 40 to 45 minutes in moderate oven of 350 deg. Fahr. Makes 15 portions, Mrs. Simmons adds that this is good old-fashioned gingerbread —and she is right.

No Style Changes In Spring Shoes Sandals Featured

MONTREAL, Oct. 24— (CP) — Changes in the women's shoe fashion picture for next spring, as seen at the Canadian Shoe and Leather Industry's fashion show, are chiefly in colors, materials, and lasts.

The shell pump, the pump with cutouts, overlays and pipings, and the sling pump in all its variations are featured for spring. Experts say all kinds of sandals should be important.

The stripping and naked shoes types remain in the picture, and following the closed-up trend for early spring, the open-toe closed-back, and the closed-toe open-back will become strong. There are still platform soles, mostly in quarter-inch heights, for those who prefer them.

Fashion shoes modelled showed beige, the brown family, navy and the lighter, livelier blues, red, green and grey. As always, black will lead the field in early spring. There is an increasing use of two-tone or tone on tone. For later summer selling there were pastels, the pale tints and the stronger colors, along with multi-colors.

UK Papers Have Tough Job Crowding In News Stories

By JOHN CULLIS

LONDON, Oct. 24—(Reuters)—British newspapers, which have a wide circulation but an acute shortage of space, have had a tough selection problem during the weeks preceding Britain's general election.

They have had to choose between fireworks abroad, the progress of Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh across Canada and a domestic election campaign which, up to now, has produced few sparks.

Generally speaking, foreign affairs have won the play.

But while events in Iran and Egypt, the United States and the Far East have tended to crowd election news out of the main columns, extra allowances of newsprint have ensured that the persistent reader gets the news.

The additional alowances were given for the pre-election period to enable the press to keep the public informed of the various party policies and promises.

In the newspaper campaign, the Conservative party holds the advantage.

Apart from its official organ, The Daily Herald, which has a circulation of 2,000,000, the Labor party can rely only upon the independent Daily Mirror to present its point of view. The Mirror has a circulation of 4,500,000.

Backing Labor

The Communist Daily Worker, which never tires of telling its 115,241 readers that a Conservative victory would be a working-class defeat, now is urging its readers to vote for the Labor party in all constituencies where there is no Communist candidate. There are only 10 Communists seeking a place in the 625-seat parliament.

Ranged against the left-wing press is the full weight of the big newspaper combines headed by Viscount Kemsley, Lord Rothermere and Lord Beaverbrook, which among them have a country wide circulation.

The main newspapers controlled by the Canadian-born Lord Beaverbrook are The Daily Express, circulation 4,,000,000, The Sunday Express 3,000,000 and The Evening Standard 800,00.

Great Influence

Two famous independent British newspapers which have a comparatively small circulation but great influence are The Times and The Manchester Guardian.

Neither is affiliated with one of the two major parties but this week they threw their support behind the Conservatives. In leading editorials they advanced the same reason for their decision—namely, that the Labor party and its socialist policy no longer will serve the best interests of the country.

The Daily Telegraph, which like the Guardian is aimed at the business and professional classes, has a circulation approaching 1,000,000. It makes no secret of its allegiance to the Conservative cause.

Sunday newspapers, which enjoy a tremendous circulation, are divided in the support they give to the two main parties.

Immigration Pact

OTTAWA, Oct. 24 (CP).—Canada has signed an immigration agreement with Pakistan permitting the admittance of 100 Pakistan residents into this country every year in addition to those who can come to join relatives here. In making the announcement, the External Affairs Department said it was almost identical with an agreement concluded early this year with the government of India.

Way To Avoid War

OTTAWA, Oct. 24 (CP). — Prime Minister St. Laurent said Tuesday that support of the United Nations, the Commonwealth and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization is the best and perhaps "the only way of avoiding another world war." In a statement on the eve of the sixth anniversary of the signing of the UN charter, the Prime Minister said the task which lies ahead for the free nations "is enormous."

School Bylaw Prepared For Council

Will Need Approval Of Municipal Board For East City School

A debenture bylaw for $250,000 to pay for the building of a new eight-room school in the McFarlane Ave. section of Ashburnham, as requested by the Board of Education, will be introduced at the next meeting of the council and will be referred to the Ontario Municipal Board for its aporoval.

That was the recommendation of the board of works, composed of all the members of the council, in a motion by Mayor Swanston and Ald. H. T. Rehill, Monday night. The chairman, Ald. J. E. Gillespie, presided.

The statutory procedure was explained by City Solicitor W. F. Huycke, K.C.

According to the Public School Act, he said, it was a matter of policy whether a school bylaw was referred to the voters, but it must be submitted to the Municipal Board.

Badly Needed

A letter from K. S. Wightman, Superintendent of Schools, conveyed the application of the Board of Education for funds for the proposed school, and emphasized the seriousness of the need of increased primary school accommodation in that north end of Ashburnham.

Ald. E. C. Braund asked what would happen if the bylaw was presented to the ratepayers and defeated.

Alderman T. D. Miller said he could not recall any Board of Education bylaw being defeated. The last one receiving endorsation was for the financing of the new Collegiate Institute on Monaghan Road south.

On the other hand it would cost only a few dollars to place the bylaw before the people at the municipal elections "and give them a chance to express themselves", Ald. Miller said.

Discussion mentioned the additions to Queen Mary, Prince of Wales, Grove and Parkhill area schools, on the west and south fronts of the city. They were all carried through without use of voting ballots.

Would Be Supported

"This school is for children of Ashburnham," said Ald. Gillespie, "and I feel certain that voters of all the other sections would support it. I don't think there would be any discrimination against the school needs of the east section."

"I don't think a bylaw would be defeated," Ald Braund said. "I was just wondering what would happen."

Ald. John A. Dewart said the only advantage of a vote of the people was the publicity which would be gained for the responsibility of the Board of Education and the growing school needs of the city.

Mayor Swanston recalled that the Monaghan Road Collegiate bylaw had been supported from all other sections of the city, "and even better than in the immediate area of that school."

It was also said that public schools were recognized as a primary need of the community and its children, as compared with the collegiates, and it was felt that there was no question about securing the approval of the Ontario Municipal Board.

AN ESTIMATED $8,000 LOSS resulted Tuesday night from a spectacular midnight fire which razed the barn on Fred Stenson's farm on Highway 28. At 1 a.m., an hour after the fire started, the barn was completely down, with 60 tons of hay and a quantity of wheat destroyed. The flames leaped high into the sky, causing a red glow which attracted hundreds of spectators. Part of the hay and wheat crop (above) slides into the gutted milking stalls as the fire completes its destruction.—(Examiner Staff Photo).

Toronto Firm Would Build 75 New Homes

A Toronto contracting firm is interested in building 75 houses on the 15 acres adjoining Moldaver Bros. property, as reported to board of works Monday by the owners.

This proposed subdivision on the south side of No. 7 Highway, east of the city, would depend on the extension of the city's services, especially sewer and water connections.

Reaction of the board building should be continued in areas that are already supplied with these improvements or that are readily accessible.

Ald. Hugh Waddell said "we should not guarantee any services out there until the government decides on the location of the houses they are interested in. That might be a guide for us, but I'd hold that letter for the present."

Ald. Burrows seconded the Waddell motion.

English Mayor On Way To City

QUEBEC, Oct. 24 (CP)—Mayor G. R. Chamberlain of Peterborough, England, arrived Tuesday to attend the opening of a new city hall in Peterborough, Ont., at the invitation of Mayor Max Swanston.

E. V. Martin, former mayor of the English city, accompanied Mayor Chamberlain aboard the liner Empress of France which continued to Montreal.

Mayor Chamberlain brought a scroll inscribed by council members of the English city offering greetings to the citizens of the Canadian city.

Mayor Chamberlain also has been invited to visit Peterborough, N.H.

LATE BERRIES

Two strawberries, probably confused by October's summer-like weather, were picked Tuesday morning in the garden of Lawrence Winslow, Millbrook. Mr. Winslow brought the berries both quite ripe, to the Examiner.

500 Watch As $8,000 Fire Wipes Out Stenson Barn

A crowd of at least 500 people jammed the Port Hope highway at the city limits, shortly after midnight, to see the barn of Fred Stenson, North Monaghan, burn to the ground. Loss of the barn and contents—mostly hay and grain—is estimated at $8,000, though the replacement value would be much higher. The loss is only partly covered by insurance. Cause of the fire is not known, but Mr. Stenson thinks it started in the haymow. Within a few minutes of the time it was discovered the fire was racing through the old barn—built by the Goodfellow family more than 50 years ago—and the structure was a mass of flame.

The old barn was a two-storey building, 90 feet by 40 feet, and with a straw shed forming an "L" to the south. Inside was the year's crop of hay—60 tons, valued at $1,200—and 100 bushels of fall wheat. Most of the hay was bailed but some of it was loose.

Flames Shoot 200 Feet

After the metal roof fell in, flames are estimated to have shot up 200 feet in the air. The reflection of the spectacular blaze lit the low hanging clouds into a cherry red. And the glow could be seen for miles.

Fifteen calls, beginning at 12:11 a.m., were logged at the Peterborough Fire Department within a few minutes. And the telephones of The Examiner and Radio Station CHEX kept jingling as residents phoned in to find out the seriousness of the fire.

A steady stream of cars heading for the west end of the city clogged motor traffic on Lansdowne St., and Clonsilla and Western Aves. While the fire was at its peak, traffic on Highway 28 was cut off.

A heavy shower of sparks and burning embers was blown directly across the highway by a south-east wind that licked into the blaze. The direction of the wind was a fortunate thing for both Mr. Stenson and Dick Ouimet.

Had the wind been in the opposite direction the two-storey building owned by Mr. Stenson, about 150 feet east of the barn, would have gone up in flames. The western half is a service station and the other half is Mr. Ouimet's newly-opened Bar-B-Q.

Wetness Helped

The heavy rain that soaked the fields and trees and roofs of houses just across the highway, helped to reduce the threat of the fire spreading.

Assistant Fire Chief Stewart Foster drove out to the blaze to see that no city property was damaged. The Peterborough Fire Department did not fight the fire because the barn was outside the city limits. North Monaghan has no working agreement with the city so the Peterborough firemen do not answer North Monaghan calls unless instructed to do so by Mayor Max Swanston or Alderman A. B. Burrows, chairman of the fire, water and light committee.

Even if the city firemen had answered the call it is unlikely that they could have saved the barn, considering the age of the building and its contents.

Received Call

Mr. and Mrs. Stenson, who live down the highway from the barn, were playing cards at a neighbors when they received a phone call from Mr. Ouimet that their barn was afire.

The alarm was first raised by some passers-by who noticed the smoke drifting across the highway and told Mr. Ouimet.

Mr. Stenson realized that nothing could be salvaged from the barn as soon as he saw the fire and he concerned himself with saying the service station and the Bar-B-Q. Only the direction of the wind prevented him from sustaining a much greater financial loss.

There was no stock left in the flaming barn. Some 40 head of cattle were out to pasture and so were three horses. There were no chickens or swine and the farm implements were at the home of Mr. Stenson's father, Arthur Stenson.

As he surveyed the ruins, still smouldering eight hours later, Mr. Stenson said he did not think he would build the barn again.

What's Opaque? Meaning Halts Smoke Bylaw

Meaning of the word 'opaque' put a temporary brake on advancement of a smoke curbing bylaw at the board of works meeting Monday.

City Solicitor Huycke appeared to be satisfied that he had succeeded in drafting the proposed ordinance with clarity and simplicity, leaving long locutions out of the composition.

Ald. H. T. Rehill put an arresting finger on the word opaque as a condition and element of smoke that would be considered offending.

"What's the meaning of the word?" he asked and not because he didn't know it.

"Not transparent; something you can't see through," said Mr. Huycke.

"All right, but you can't see through steam, and you can't see through the smoke from oil furnaces on cold days. In certain conditions it will give you the same type of smoke," still refering to opacity.

Limits Dense Smoke

The bylaw proposes that in a down town area, to be designated, boilers shall not emit dense smoke for longer than six minutes in any hour.

Alternative to the element of simplicity is appointment of a smoke board of seven persons, and generally a complicated statute.

Ald. P. J. Anglesey was told that the bylaw did not include railway locomotives.

Ald. Rehill expressed doubt of the reasonableness of proposed restriction. He said that in an institution such as the Prince of Wales School black smoke would continue from its chimney for about 30 minutes of firing.

"One way to reduce smoke is by change of fuel," said Ald. Rehill.

Smoke Bylaws were in effect in other places, Ald. H. Waddell remarked. A motion by Aldermen Braund and Burrows asked that the bylaw be brought before the next meeting of the council.

Crash At Curb

Pulling away from the curb on Hunter St., at St. Peter's Cathedral, a car driven by Mrs. Agnes McDonnell, 457 Elm St., Tuesday collided with a car coming south on Hunter St., driven by Melville McKee, RR 3, Peterborough.

McKee's car was damaged slightly.

Constable Donald Mackay investigated the accident.

Wet Holdup

Rainy weather the past two days has delayed pouring the concrete for the sidewalk in front of the new city hall. Even if tomorrow is sunny, only a short stretch of walk either side of the entrance will be completed. It takes about a day for the ready-mixed concrete the city uses to set. The rest of the sidewalk will be finished when weather permits. If tomorrow is rainy, the gravel bed now waiting the concrete will have to serve as a sidewalk.

County Will Consider $330,000 Debenture For Lakefield High School

Council Urged To Pass Bylaw Quickly Before Costs Go Higher; Board Has Firm Bid For Contract

County council will meet Nov. 3 to consider a bylaw permitting them to issue $330,000 in debentures for a high school in Lakefield. Municipalities in the Lakefield high school area are the village of Lakefield, the townships of Chandos, Burleigh-Anstruther and Harvey, and parts of the townships of Smith, Dummer and Douro.

A similar bylaw has been passed authorizing $390,000 in debentures for building a high school in the Norwood high school area. But it has not yet been given final approval by the Municipal Board.

At the last meeting of the county council Eric Pearson, county representative on the high school board, and Principal R. E. Sutton, of Lakefield, asked the county to pass the bylaw as soon as possible.

They said they had a firm price of $300,000 for the erection of the school and they wanted to let the contract before the cost of materials and labor went any higher. The Municipal Board has approved the cost.

Call Meeting

A resolution at the last meeting instructed the county clerk to call a meeting of the county council as soon as all the interested municipalities had submitted the necessary bylaws and resolutions.

The bylaw to finance the Norwood high school was declared invalid by T. J. Carley, KC, who was asked to give a legal opinion. This time council want all the regulations complied with before they go ahead and pass the bylaw.

The reason for the county making these two debenture issues is that it can borrow money for less than small municipalities with more limited credit. Only those municipalities in the high school area will be taxed.

Slight Damage

Only slight damage to both vehicles resulted from a collision between a car driven by Ralph Hendren, 572 Rogers St. and a car driven by Jack Gibson, 483 Parnell St., at Stewart and Sherbrooke Sts., about 6.45 Tuesday evening.

Constable Cecil Bowyer reported that Mr. Hendren was travelling south on Stewart St., and Mr. Gibson was driving east on Sherbrooke.

Recommend $160 As Theatre Fee

A recommendation that the Queen Mary auditorium be leased to the Summer Theatre for the 1952 season was passed by the finance committee of the Board of Education Tuesday night.

Michael Sadlier, when he completed the 1951 season, wrote the board asking for a lease next year.

The question was referred to the finance committee, after a letter had been received from the board's insurance broker, intimating that an increase was likely in the rates, with the use of the auditorium as a summer theatre.

Charles Ray the board's broker met with the committee and said that the fire underwriters had put into effect an increase of one cent per hundred dollars of insurance carried and that the increase on account of the summer theatre was $107.

The finance committee recommended that Mr. Sadlier's request for 11 weeks be granted with the first week in the PCVS auditorium, as the Queen Mary school will still be in session, and that the remaining 10 weeks be in the Queen Mary auditorium. This year the first and last weeks were in the PCVS auditorium, but the last week was the poorest of the summer run in Peterborough. The recommended fee is $160 a week which is $10 more than was charged this year.

The committee also recommended that a re-valuation be made of the schools in order that proper values may be established so that the co insurance clause in the board's fire insurance will be fully lived up to.

Immunization

Susie To Get First Needle In School

Susie is six years old. This is her first year in one of the city's separate schools.

To Susie, school is a big building with a lot of rooms and a lot of children where something new is happening every day.

Today she is going to be immunized. To her its just a name she can't pronounce. Or it's a sharp prick in her arm that startles her and frightens her for a moment.

The doctors and nurses who wipe off her arm and stick the needle in are the same who come around and make her open her mouth and say "ah". They inspect her teeth and check her eyes.

She doesn't know that the needle and inspections by nurses and a doctor are part of the Separate School Board's health program under the supervision of Dr. R. A. Kelly, medical officer of health for the city.

If you asked Susie what diphtheria was she would probably be puzzled. She would be just as bewildered if you mentioned tetanus (lockjaw) or smallpox.

They're Catching

You'd have to tell her that these big words mean kinds of sickness. And you could go on to explain that one little girl can catch diphtheria or smallpox from another.

This is where immunization and inoculation come in.

If Susie's mother took her to the baby clinics operated by the department of health, she knows what happens. What looks like water (sometimes colored or murky) is squeezed into her arm through a hollow needle at the end of a glass tube with a plunger in it. This liquid inside her body will give her more resistance to disease.

Susie will be one of a great many children in the city's separate schools to receive the benefits of an immunization program, this year beginning today and carried through until Christmas by the department of health: Dr. R. A. Kelly, MOH, and public health nurses.

The children will be inoculated for diphtheria and tetanus and vaccinated for smallpox. Approximately 350 city children in Grade 1 and 8 will be given this preventative treatment. Another 140 children in St. Alphonsus and St. Anne's schools outside the city limits will be given this treatment.

Reinforcing Doses

Many of these children have received inoculation and vaccination in the department's clinics. In these cases, only reinforcing doses will be given.

The parents' consent is received before any child is inoculated and vaccinated. Forms are sent home with the children for their consent.

Usually this program is carried out at the start of the school year. It was delayed this year because of the increase of polio infection in the city and district. Seven separate schools are included in the program.

Dr. Kelly says it works, Susie. He says that there haven't been more than two cases of diphtheria in Peterborough in one year for at least the past seven years. Some years there weren't any cases of either diphtheria or small pox.

Bring Song Folios

Citizens are cordially invited to attend the ceremony of the official opening and dedication of the new City Hall, which will take place on Friday afternoon, October 26th, 1951, at 2.30 o'clock.

His Worship Mayor G. R. Chamberlain of Peterborough, England, civic officials of Peterborough, New Hampshire, and civic representatives of Ottawa, Toronto and Montreal will be present. The Peterborough Citizens Band will be in attendance and a loud speaker system assures that the proceedings will be easily heard. Seating accommodation will be provided for the citizens.

Following the opening ceremonies the out-of-town guests of the city will inspect the building. On the afternoon and evening of Monday and Tuesday, October 29th and 30th, special arrangements have been made for the inspection of the building by Peterborough citizens, who will also be served refreshments in the Mayor's Parlour.

It is hoped that as many citizens as possible will exercise the opportunity of making their inspection of this notable civic building on either Monday or Tuesday afternoon or evening. Mayor Chamberlain will be in attendance in the Mayor's Parlour on Monday afternoon and evening, and a special welcome is extended to Old Country citizens for this occasion.

Elected Mayor On Vote Of City Clerk

The closest mayoral contest in the city's history was in 1920, when A. A. McIntyre and W. H. Taylor were opponents. The final vote had to be cast by the city clerk, Simon Armstrong.

Election returns showed that Taylor was ahead by one vote, 1,481 to 1,480. McIntyre applied for a recount before Judge E. C. S. Huycke, and this application was granted.

At the end of the first day of the recount Taylor increased his majority by another vote, 1,475 to 1,473.

Then came the big problem for Judge Huycke. Eighteen ballots had not been initialled by the returning officers at the polling booths and were thus spoiled. The judge ruled all 18 valid, and that once again tied the count.

City Clerk Armstrong was then placed in the embarrassing position of having to make a choice. He did so immediately. In line with precedents in both Ontario and Great Britain he cast his ballot for the candidate with the most municipal experience.

And A. A. McIntyre was elected Mayor of Peterborough.

FRANK ADAMS, who for 30 years was treasurer of Peterborough. Mr. Adams began his municipal career as a school trustee in the village of Ashburnham before it became part of the city. Later he was a councillor and reeve of the village. Following amalgamation he was elected alderman of the city.

Obituaries

FREDERICK LEWIS GALLOWAY

Frederick Lewis Galloway, Lot 13, Concession 15, Otonabee Township, died in hospital Tuesday following a short illness.

He was born in North Monaghan Township, son of the late David and Isabel Galloway, and has farmed in North Monaghan and Otonabee Townships all his life. He was a member of the United Church and of the Canadian Order of Foresters.

He leaves three sisters, Miss Grace Galloway, at home, Mrs. William Padgett, Toronto, and Mrs. Fred Galloway, Orchard Park, NY.

The funeral will be held Thursday at 2:30 pm from the Comstock Funeral Home. The Rev. B. S. Morwood of Mark Street United Church will conduct the service. Burial will be in Little Lake Cemetery.

MRS. LAURIE McGEE

Mrs. Laurie McGee, the former Leta Mary Cooper, died Tuesday at her Powle's Corners home, RR 2, Cameron, after a 10 weeks' illness. She would have been 61 on Friday.

A daughter, Mrs. Clarence Henry Frances, formerly taught at a Peterborough business college. Also surviving are two sons, Jack and Don McGee.

Funeral service will be held on Thursday at 2:30 in her home. Burial will be in the United Church Cemetery at Fenelon.

Destroyer Hit

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 — (AP) — The United States navy reported Tuesday that one man was killed and limited damage done when an enemy shell hit the destroyer escort Ulvert M. Moore off the Korean east coast Oct. 17. The vessel was hit when engaging in a bombardment near Hunnam.

Ape Goes Berserk

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 24 — (AP) — Bobo, a pet ape which kept A. H. Peterson company in the cab of his truck, went berserk Tuesday and attacked him. The truck and its two empty tank cars plunged over a 35-foot embarkment. Peterson leaped clear. Arteries in both his legs and his right ankle were severed by the ape's teeth.

Religious Group Allowed Banner On Brock Street

Representatives of Jehovah's Witnesses returned to the city hall Monday night to repeat their petition for permission to stretch across George St. at Brock, a banner announcing their forthcoming convention.

They asked the question why their claim was rejected while some other banners are allowed.

Ald. Graham stood up immediately and said he was repeating his motion of a week ago that permission be refused.

"It would be an insult to the returned man," Ald. Graham said, referring to allegation previously that J. W.'s would not fight for their country.

"They carried the wounded off the battle field," said Ald. E. C. Braund.

"Because the government made them," Ald. Graham replied, "that is the only way you could get them there."

Ald. Rehill moved that in view of permission to the Lacrosse Club Jehovah's Witnesses be allowed to string a banner across George Street at Brock St. Ald Braund seconded that motion.

The board adopted the motion of Ald. T. D. Miller that the banner be placed not on George St. but on Brock St. in front of the Summer Gardens. It was seconded by Ald. Dewart.

Surveys Credit Unions

COBOURG, Oct. 24 — (ENS)— Leon Davey of Cobourg was guest speaker at the monthly meeting of St. Michael's Parent-Teacher meeting last night, giving a talk on credit unions. He referred to the origin of the credit union and gave a survey of the work of the Cobourg Credit Union which now has 190 members. The speaker was introduced by the Rev. G. J. Maher and thanked by Claude Bisonette. A film entitled "The Rising Tide," showing the work of the co-op movement in Nova Scotia was shown.

Quite a Shock

MUNICH, Germany, Oct. 24 — (Reuters)— Peasants in a Hungarian village couldn't believe their ears when the public loudspeakers that carry Communist propaganda began to broadcast news from the west. An offical of Radio Free Europe gave the explanation Tuesday. He said a radio engineer in the Town Hall forgot to cut off the loudspeaker system when he tuned in secretly to Radio Free Europe. Secret police arrested him, the official added.

Theodore Thornton

The funeral for Theodore Thornton, 583 Harvey Street, who died Sunday, was held Tuesday from his late residence. The Rev. A. A. Mathews of George Street United Church, assisted by the Rev. M. C. Parr, Galt, and a former minister of George Street United Church, conducted the service.

Pall-bearers were: Roland Craig, Harry Butler, Oric Pollick, Tom Craig, John Tremaine, William Zeihr. Burial was in Little Lake Cemetery.

Sold Tablets To Buy Decisions

BOSTON, Oct. 24 — (AP) — A man serving a life sentence in Massachusetts State Prison told a startling story Tuesday of peddling benzedrine tablets to other prisoners so he could pay expenses for drawing up a habeas corpus petition in a bid for freedom.

Michael Goggins, 24, of Lowell, Mass., convicted in 1947 for the "Lover's Lane" slaying of Mario Grimolizzi, 28, said he used the money from the sales to buy copies of law decisions at 50 cents each.

He said prison officials refused to grant him access to law books so he had to buy the decisions to help him prepare his petition.

Goggin is seeking release on the grounds he was not involved in the slaying for which he was convicted.

He told Superior Court Judge Paul G. Kirk that he sold the tablets at the rate of 20 for $25. He said they were mixed with soft drinks to "hop up" the purchasers.

Goggin did not reveal where he got the benzedrine.

Need Bills Paid

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Oct. 14— (AP)— The United Nations still has to collect more than $14,000,000 before the year is out to balance its books. China paid in $500,000—part of her 1949 and 1950 dues, Britain owes about $141,000, Russia owes nearly $3,000,000, the United States $2,378,244 and France $1,000,000.

TORONTO, Oct., 24 (CP)—Toronto secondary school students are to be taught more about alcohol and its effects. The board of education's management committee called for "increased emphasis on alcohol education in secondary schools."

D. McIlraith Winner Of Oratory Contest

COBOURG, Oct. 24 —(ENS)— Donald McIlraith won the public speaking contest held last night in the collegiate auditorium for pupils of the public school. His subject was the "Hapsburg Treasures". Janet Allen and Susan Sine tied for second place, the former speaking on "Alexander Graham Bell" and the latter contestant on "Color".

Chairman was Reginald Gardiner, member of the public school board and the judges were five public school teachers from Port Hope. The winning orator will compete in the county contest to be held at Colborne on November 9th.

Embezzled Gasoline

TAIPEH, Formosa, Oct. 24 — (AP)— Tang Yu-ming, identified as chief of the supply section of the Chinese Nationalist 54th Army was executed Tuesday for embezzling 530 gallons of gasoline.

Map In Floor Of City Hall Lobby Only One Of Its Kind In Ontario

The map of colored terrazzo and metal in the lobby floor of the new city hall is believed by its makers to be the only one in Ontario, and one of a very few in Canada.

Appropriately enough, the map, —following sketches made by the city engineer's office, was laid out by a Peterborough firm—the Ontario Marble Co.

Officials at the marble company say they have had demands for company trademarks set in terrazzo, but never before for a map of any size.

Various Colors

Seven different colors and shades of terrazzo, as well as two kinds of metal, are used in the map. They are used to designate the different counties, and the rivers, lakes, roads and cities.

Seven counties are shown on the map, although only two appear in their entirety (Peterborough and Northumberland). The other five are: Victoria, Hastings, Durham, Ontario and Haliburton.

Peterborough county is in dark pink terrazzo, Victoria and Hastings in eggshell, Northumberland and Ontario in buff, and Durham and Haliburton are laid out in flesh pink. Rivers and lakes are in green; silver metal being used where the rivers are narrow.

Markings for municipalities start from a basic, solid circle of brass. For villages, only the solid brass circle is used. For towns, white terrazzo, then narrow ring of brass surround the basic circle. For the cities, two concentric rings surround the central circle.

Peterborough city is set apart by the use of a thin hexagon of brass around the two concentric rings and the white terrazzo.

Names In Brass

Place names, for the most part are set in plain brass capital letters, varying in size in proportion to the size of the municipalities. Rivers are not named, nor are lakes, excepting for Lake Ontario, for which large script capitals of brass are used.

Roads on the map are indicated by half-inch strips of black terrazzo, bordered by white metal. Border of the map itself is in white and dark pink strips of equal length, each measuring two miles on the map.

In the northeast corner of the map is the compass, which uses all colors of terrazzo except black, and which has brass letters.

The map shows the country as far north as Dorset, in Haliburton county, on the west, and Maynooth, in Hastings, on the east. Trenton in the east and Oshawa in the west come close to marking the respective boundaries.

Both the Otonabee and Trent rivers are shown, but neither the Indian river nor the York river (that runs through Bancroft) are shown. All the larger lakes in the district appear on the map.

The game preserves—between Burleigh Falls and Apsley, and at Nogies Creek near Bobcaygeon—are both shown, as well as the forest preserve south of the crown-game preserve at Burleigh.

Electrical Products Sold In '50 Four Times '34 Level

In the 12 years since the Second World War started, the value of electrical products made in Canada has jumped to $600,000,000 a year—six times the pre-war value of these products. Actual physical volume of goods in the same period has increased by four times.

These and other facts concerning the sales of electrical appliances were told to the Sales and Advertising Club at their fourth annual Manufacturer's Night held Tuesday night at the CGE.

Guest speaker was John S. Keenan, manager of the supply department of the CGE, and in charge of appliance sales in Canada. He spoke on developing the electrical way of living.

Double Promotion

He spoke of the two ways in which sales of electrical products have been promoted—individual firm advertising, and co-operative promotion.

Mr. Keenan made it clear that co-operative promotion campaigns in the electric industry had played the larger part. As an example, he spoke of the experiment in Toronto carried on by the Electric Service League, a group of manufacturers who got together in an effort to raise the standard of electrification in private homes.

The league, formed in the 1930's, so influenced contractors that their standards of wiring were eventually accepted and used in more than 25,000 homes in the Toronto district before the beginning of Second World War.

Before that, he said, many problems faced the industry. Installation of heavy duty wiring was costly; there were too few electrical outlets in most homes, and in some cases power companies were advising people not to cook by electricity. This last advice was given because of the peak load of hydro at noon hours.

The problem of the noon-hour peak load was eventually overcome; in some cities by the simple means of cutting off electric water heaters. Connecting them with a single switch in a central hydro station made it possible to lower the huge lunch-time use of electricity.

For the individual firm's advertising, there are 11 avenues of communication open, said Mr. Keenan. These include newspapers and magazines, billboards, radios, exhibits at fairs, and, to a lesser degree in Canada, television.

Mr. Keenan was introduced by Robert Maybee, and thanked materially by Harley Weir, who presented the speaker with a leather travelling bag. Chairman for the evening was club president H. B. Cowan, Jr.

CGE Welcome

J. E. Girven welcomed the club to the CGE and Dr. Mark Crough thanked Mr. Girven for offering the club a chance to visit the plant.

After the dinner, at the plant cafeteria, the 250 members and guests were split into small groups and guided through most of the factory, visiting the fire, induction motor, switchgear, punch press, machine shop, armature fractional motors and other departments.

New Baby Tablet Fills Long Felt Need

TORONTO — In these days of advancement with so many improvements in fashion, style, and manufacture it is difficult to keep abreast of them; but there is one improvement recently developed by a leading pharmaceutical manufacturer that is proving a real boon to mothers.

It is an Acetylsalicylic Acid (A.S.A.) tablet made especially in Baby Dose Size, exactly ¼ adult tablet, orange flavored and sweetened, saving lots of time, fuss and bother. No longer is it necessary to cut or divide Adult tablets for baby use. It eliminates guesswork and assures accuracy.

Acetylsalicylic Acid (A.S.A.) is one of the most widely used pain relief medicines, and this new baby size tablet is called Baby's Own Espirets. It's made by the makers of Baby's Own Tablets, and you can get it at your neighborhood drug store. Be sure to ask for Baby's Own Espirets.

City Hall Is Memorial To Great Citizen

Very Reluctant, Hesitant Candidate For Mayor City's Great Benefactor

By HARRY THEOBALD

Peterborough owes its city hall to the generation of citizens of 50 years ago.

When they elected William George Morrow as an alderman of the city council in 1907, they set in motion a chain of events which only now are coming to their climax in the ceremony of the opening of the new civic building on Friday afternoon, October 26.

There are few links in that chain, which indeed may be fancied as extending further back into the youthful years that shaped the personality of Mr. Morrow and directed his gradual entry into manhood.

After three years as alderman, W. G. Morrow was elected mayor in 1910 in a strenuous contest with Ernest F. Mason, and as was usually the custom he was given an acclamation in 1911.

Toward the close of that second Morrow term, the council was considering the drafting of bylaws to be submitted to the ratepayers on the approaching New Year's Day. Three were discussed at more or less length, but only one question was written in ballot form. It was a proposal to borrow $19,000 for the building and equipping of an isolation hospital. It was defeated.

Meanwhile, the council had been giving some thought to the preparation of a bylaw to authorize the purchase of a site for a new city hall. Evidently it was discarded in the December weeks of decision. The Examiner's report of the election results makes no reference to it.

That proposal involved the borrowing and spending of money, and presumably the council came to the conclusion that it would be rejected. Perhaps the members sensed the opinion of the voters to the effect that the municipal affairs and administration were not seriously handicapped in the old Water-Simcoe building, which was bought in 1883 from James Stevenson for $4,500. Alterations cost an additional $1,500.

Mr. Morrow was a man of few, if any, confidants, and it can only be surmised now that the city hall bylaw discussions around the committee room table (he was probably chairman in committee of the whole), left a deeper impression in his memory than he ever realized. At any rate, there was the seed of an idea that arose sharply and clearly in his mind when he prepared to dictate his will.

Enthusiasm First, Then Wait For Public Re-action

Councils can generate enthusiasm for civic improvements and present glowing arguments in their support, until they catch a glimpse of the taxpayer looking over their shoulders and counting the cost.

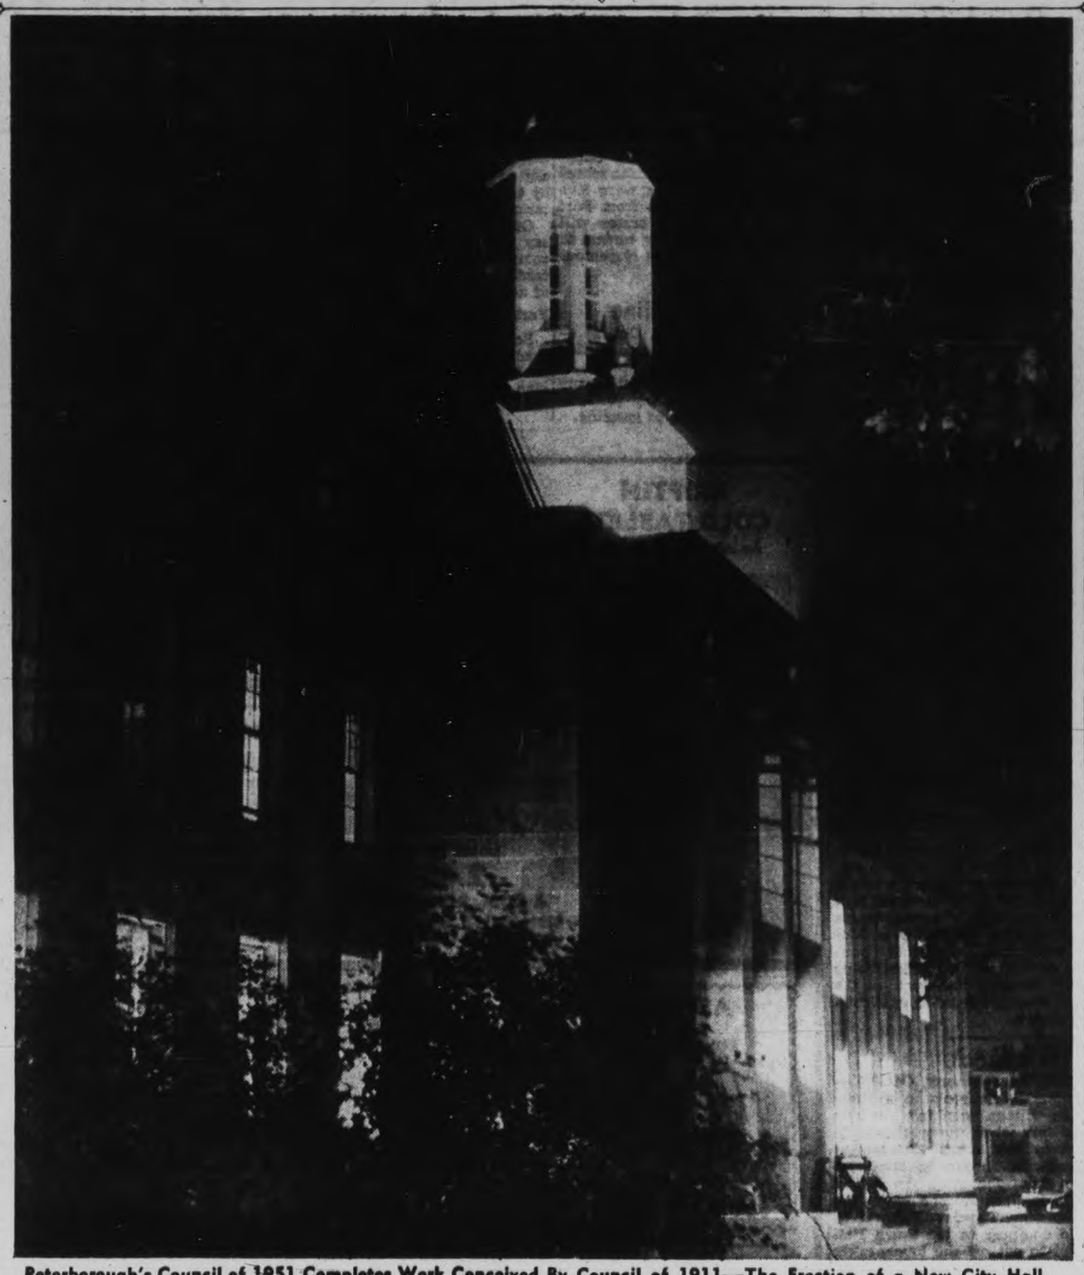
Something of the brighter facet of that picture must have recurred to Mr. Morrow in a grim hour of wisdom and resolution that comes to most men, as he set himself to arranging for the eventual disposal of his estate.

His deliberate thoughts are in his will, specifically within the discretion of his executor, the National Trust Company, and their reality has become the splendid substance of the city hall, with the approval of that executor at every stage of planning and progress.

The inspiration of that bequest appears to trace back to the ambition of a somewhat forgotten council which Mr. Morrow shared at the time, and had to forego and abandon.

W. G. Morrow thought of leaving the bulk of his property for a city hall in a spirit of gratitude and loyalty to his native place, and largely because he had once talked about it and visualized it as mayor, and it had gleamed in his committee's conjuring. And so, he provided bequests within a diminished personal sphere that had been dear to him, and devised the rest for the aid of institutions in which he had been interested and left the bulk of his estate to the citizens of Peterborough for a municipal building.

What every graduate alderman knows from his experience in the civic service—the Swanston council has completed the public work the Morrow council conceived.



It seems reasonably presumable that Mr. Morrow might not have placed the financing of a city hall foremost in his bequests if he had not been mayor when the council of 40 years ago declared among themselves its shabbiness and inadequacy for the needs and dignity of a community whose dreams were beginning to come true.

And, Mr. Morrow would not have been a party to that discussion and sentiment if the people had not placed him at that boardroom table. Then, when the proposed bylaw to buy a site for a city hall was "left in abeyance," it remained in the mind of W. G. Morrow through the years as a memorandum of unfinished business.

Mr. Morrow was a reluctant and hesitant candidate for the mayoralty of 1910. He had been elected an alderman in 1907, was first chairman of the manufacturers committee, in recognition of his influential connections, and then chairman of finance in 1908 and 1909.

MAYOR MAX SWANSTON, under whose guidance the city hall has been built. Mayor Swanston is completing his third term as mayor and had the proud distinction of occupying the chief magistrate's chair during Peterborough's Centennial Year, 1950.

Roland F. McWilliams was elected mayor in 1907, defeating Robert Hicks by a majority of 221. The aldermen were: W. G. Morrow, George E. Elliott, George J. Tovey, Harry Phelan, William H. Bradburn, Robert Leary, A. A. McIntyre, George H. Duncan, Arthur Stevenson, William J. Johnston, George Ball and T. J. Wilson.

In the following year, Harry Rush won the mayoral position from Mr. McWilliams by a majority of 763, and was returned by acclamation in 1909. A special Act of the Legislature became effective that year, setting up the two-year term for aldermen. The members of the council under Mayor Rush were: George A. Gillespie, Harry Morgan, William H. Buller, Harry Phelan, Robert Hicks, W. G. Morrow, Joseph J. Duffus, W. H. Bradburn, J. J. Turner, George H. Duncan, A. A. McIntyre and Joseph R. Metheral.

Later, the council was reduced to ten aldermen, five of them elected annually for two years. Survivors of the council of 1909 are: Mr. Gillespie, Senator Duffus and Archibald A. McIntyre.

Mr. Gillespie recalls that Mayor Rush informed the council, after one of the meetings toward the end of the year, that he intended to retire. The exact sequence or details promoting a Morrow boom is not important now. At any rate, the Examiner of Nov. 29, 1909, published a news item to the effect that "a number of citizens have waited on W. G. Morrow with a view of getting his consent to become a candidate for the 1910 mayoralty." His reply was that he would consider the matter for a few days.

Evidently the aldermen that night at the city hall had "put the pressure" on Mr. Morrow, and before they left he told them that he would accept a nomination.

"Night brings counsel", and the very next morning Ald. Morrow called at the office of Ald. Gillespie with the announcement that "it's all off."

"He told me he had decided not to run," Mr. Gillespie recently told the Examiner.

The reason for Mr. Morrow's change of heart was essentially that he was rather diffident, a shy man. There was nothing of the extrovert about him.

Electioneering Was a House to House Canvass

Electioneering in those days involved by custom a virtual house to house canvass of the voters. Candidates were even permitted to make a tour of the industries and shops, and most of them took advantage of that means of introduction, possibly with some sort of solicitation.

In the conversation that morning, Mr. Morrow took Mr. Gillespie into his confidence, and frankly said that he could not face the round of canvassing.

"As I remember," Mr. Gillespie says, "I told him he had to run, people were urging him and the council wanted him. I kept persuading him, and I told him I would do all Ashburnham with him."

Mr. Gillespie lived across the river at that time. "And, when he was definitely in the field, I carried out my promise, and went with him from door to door, and it turned out to be a very friendly experience."

Evidently Mr. Morrow continued his canvass of the voters in other sections of the city. To him and most other candidates it was a custom that ran against their grain of character, and eventually faded out of election practice.

On December 13, the Examiner announced Mr. Morrow's decision. He said in that public statement that he was influenced by his long citizenship and interest in the welfare of Peterborough, particularly in its industrial and manufacturing advancement. He mentioned some of the city's problems, especially the project of extending the sewerage system into the southwest area of the city, and a policy of permanent roads.

As to the development of the civic administration at that time, the council of 1909 had taken a rather important step in deciding to appoint permanent assessors. The late Thomas B. McGrath and the late William H. Thompson were finally engaged to take on that work at $700 and $400 a year, respectively. That news item in the Examiner is an indication of the state of departmental affairs 40 years ago. Assessors had been only part time officials, chiefly for the reason that they could make the circuit of taxable properties during the spring and summer.

The Morrow hat in the ring did not intimidate Ernest F. Mason who in the Examiner of Dec. 24 informed the electors that he was going to be a mayoral contestant.

Grocer and member of the Board of Education, with several previous years in the council, Mr. Mason was a strong opponent. He was qualified by experience and ability, and he was as widely known in the city as Mr. Morrow.

The Examiner cast its support in the campaign on the side of Mr. Morrow. In a front page editorial, it said, in part: "Mr. Mason is an excellent members of the School Board and a conscientious, upright business man. The Examiner, in common with hundreds of the most deeply interested citizens, feels that at the present time the interests of the city will be best served by the election of W. G. Morrow as mayor for 1910."

Two Candidates Had Been Friends Since Boyhood

In an advertisement requesting the endorsation of the voters, Mr. Morrow said: "My opponent has been my friend since boyhood, and I trust that our friendship will not be interrupted by this campaign. I would like the electors to consider my record in dealing with civic affairs, and if it meets with their approval to give me their hearty interest and approval. I am pledged to neither class nor party, and I will receive all questions and consider them with free and unbiased judgment."

The Examiner published interviews with citizens who were lining up behind Mr. Morrow. Himself a prominent Liberal, he was supported by both Liberals and Conservatives.

Among those who publicly endorsed the Morrow candidature were, T. Frank Matthews, James Kendry, Andrew McFarlane, Harry Phelan, John J. Hartley, William Scott of Ashburnham, Robert J. Soden, Frank D. Kerr, K.C., Wm. H. Meldrum, Harry Rush, Robert Fair, and others.

Robert Hicks, on the side of Mr. Mason, criticized the record of the finance chairman by pointing to the 1908 overdraft.

Harry Phelan replied that there had been considerable unemployment, and the council, on the unanimous recommendation of the finance committee, of which Mr. Morrow was chairman, had decided to provide extra work in the temporary circumstances, and in doing so had spent more than the appropriation for the year.

G. A. Gillespie, chairman at a meeting in the interest of Morrow, said the only regret in the nominations was that Mr. Mason was opposing him.

Mr. Morrow was nominated by two Conservatives, T. F. Matthews and Wm. Langford; and Mr. Mason by Robert Hicks and James Bogue.

On Jan. 1, 1910, Mr. Morrow carried the 14 polls for a total of 2,148, a majority of 751 over Mr. Mason's 1,397.

The vote for aldermen was: G. H. Duncan, 1,838; J. J. Turner, 1,791; W. H. Bradburn, 1,663; J. J. Duffus, 1,619; J. R. Metheral, 1,572; James Graham, 1,413; all for two years. The other members of the council of 1910 were: G. A. Gillespie, Harry Morgan, W. H. Buller, H. Phelan, A. A. McIntyre and R. Hicks.

A bylaw to authorize building an isolation hospital was defeated. Its estimated cost was $19,000.

The Examiner's editorial on Jan. 2 expressed satisfaction with the results, and congratulated the citizens on their choice for mayor.

Senator Cox Influence in the Background

Mr. Mason sounded a minor note of asperity in his card of thanks to the people who had voted for him. He had discovered in the brief campaign that his opponent was not only Mr. Morrow, but also in the background the potential influence of his uncle, Senator Cox.

Of course, Senator Cox did not appear in the election, in fact he had moved to Toronto in 1883, was president of the Bank of Commerce, had many other interests, and had become a leading financier of Canada.

Mayor Morrow fulfilled during his two-year term his general undertaking to promote the development of Peterborough. One of council's first actions was to engage W. H. Duggan of Montreal as an industrial commissioner. The council provided $2,000 and the Board of Trade matched that sum for salary and expenses.

This decision followed upon the representations of a group of public spirited men headed by William H. Denham, general manager of Quaker Oats Co., J. H. Larmouth, head of the Peterborough Light and Power Co., and its street railway, Daniel O'Connell and W. H. Moore, lawyers.

Extension of the sewerage system south on George St. and westerly on Romaine St., and generally in the southwest section was authorized in a bylaw which the ratepayers approved by a majority of 145.

Peterborough streets were oiled for the first time in the late summer of 1910, chiefly in the central area, replacing the horse-drawn watering carts, the primitive means of combatting the dust clouds of traffic.

Purchase Of Site For Hall One Of Proposals Made During Mr. Morrow's Term

Public Library Completed—Peoples' Chimes Bought

The public library was completed, and Fred M. Dela Fosse was appointed librarian, with Miss Hattie Cahill as his assistant. The People's Chimes of St. John's Anglican Church were purchased.

The Morrow council turned serious attention to matters of public health, and laid the foundation of the general policy which later councils steadily expanded to Peterborough's advantage and also its pride. Mayor Morrow and Dr. G. S. Cameron were two members of a committee appointed at a public meeting that was called for the purpose of considering an offensive against tuberculosis.

Only in the last few years has that campaign reached the stage of X-ray examination, without charge, of thousands of industrial and commercial employees, and citizens generally.

The building of Queen Mary Isolation Hospital was begun during those two years of the Morrow regime, and the mayor was appointed chairman of its first board of management.

The council passed a milk bylaw requiring and providing for the testing of milk and its sale in bottles. A whole chapter could be written about that drastic and long overdue measure terminating the old method of ladling milk out of the dairyman's delivery cans into the domestic pitchers.

Eventually Mitchell F. Hepburn passed a provincial law ordering the pasteurization of milk for public sale and consumption.

The Morrow council discussed the question of the public ownership of electric power, and submitted it to the people at the polls on New Year's Day, 1912. It carried by a majority of 1,639. Hydro power was the biggest issue before the people of Ontario in that second year of the Morrow administration. Sir Adam Back came to Peterborough in the course of his appeal to the people of the province.

The only flaw in the Morrow council's record was the sale to the CPR for $10,000 of water lots and frontage at the foot of Charlotte St.

Private shoreline properties further south had been sold to the company by William English, William Taylor, R. Denne and others. CPR wanted the area as a site for freight-sheds and sidings, and held out the prospect of connecting Peterborough with the Georgian Bay railway. That was a clinching consideration, the offer of further railway communication.

The industrial commissioner failed in several respects to fulfill the expectations of the council, and those who had advocated his engagement. At any rate the council dismissed him on May 10.

Peterborough's municipal tax per capita was the second lowest in Ontario, and the rate was 24 mills.

Property For City Hall—New Police Station

Civic ambition was given ample play. There was the suggestion of buying property for a city hall, and at another time the building of a new police station. Parks, school debentures, and other ramifications of planning and envisioning are indicated in The Examiner's reports.

Finally, on December 19, 1911, Mayor Morrow thanked the council for their support and courtesy. Felicitations were exchanged in that parting hour, and Harry Morgan, the exuberant alderman from Ashburnham, declared that Mr. Morrow was the best mayor Peterborough ever had.

In his municipal commentaries and chronicles, Frank Dobbin endorsed that tribute . . . "Quite so . . . but Ald. Morgan had not sat under mayors of years beyond his memory . . . There were giants in those days, who made the town. We are just now coming into our heritage."

Mr. Morrow had been secretary of the Board of Education 23 years. He was appointed on Aug. 2, 1887, succeeding his father, W. A. Morrow.

On January 4, 1910, Mr. Morrow tendered his resignation, telling the Board that his duties as mayor prevented him from continuing in the position of secretary. That same evening Mr. W. H. Thompson became his successor.

The school trustees met in the board room of the Toronto Savings and Loan Co. offices in the building now largely occupied by Victoria and Grey Trust Co.

Mr. Thompson immediately discovered that the Board of Education possessed no office property, not even a typewriter. When he asked Mr. Morrow what he should do about it, the reply was the simple advice that Mr. Thompson try to get along as best he could.

Apparently the Board had used for years the office equipment of Toronto Savings and Loan.

WILLIAM GEORGE MORROW, former alderman, mayor and secretary-treasurer of the Board of Education, who is the benefactor behind Peterborough's new city hall. Mr. Morrow in his will left the residue of his estate, which amounted to about $600,000, towards the building of the city hall.—(Roy Studio Photo).

THE FOUNDATION STONE of the city hall was laid on December 1, 1950, by the Hon. Leslie Frost, Prime Minister of Ontario. In the stone went micro-film records of the events of the day and other historical facts of Peterborough's Centenary Year.

Beautiful Oak Panelling Used In City Council Chamber

By JIM ENGLISH

Handsomest room in Peterborough's new city hall is the oak-panelled council chamber. Here, in a room no larger but more eye-pleasing than the old council chamber, municipal business of the future will be conducted.

New Coat Of Arms

Over the modern, built-in oak dais for the mayor is set the new coat of arms for Peterborough, designed by the Royal College of Heralds in England. The dais is at the south end of the council chamber, which is located on the second floor above the lobby.

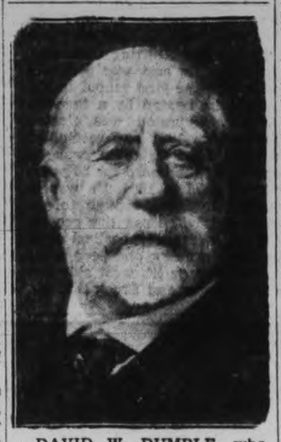
The oak panelling, known as "combed-oak", extends from the hardwood parquet floor to the plaster ceiling. For the aldermen there are swivel chairs, of oak with turquoise leather upholstery.

Three windows face on George St., and high oak doors open out of the council chamber into the corridor on the second floor.

Long Counter

One of the longest counters to be found outside some of New York's larger bars is that of the general office in Peterborough's new city hall.

The counter is 60 feet long, fronted with combed oak, and topped with green linoleum. Behind it, in a large space, will work the general office staff of the city.



Inside the counter, the floor is light green linoleum, but outside, the public will walk on rubber tiles colored like dark brown marble, and bordered with cream tiles.

Off the general office is a soundproof machine room for accounting machines, the city clerk's office, and a vault. The city clerk's office is furnished with walnut chairs and desk.

Mayor's Office

In the south wing on the first floor, besides the general office and offices off it, is the mayor's office, complete with cloakroom and washroom. There is a consulting room, and offices for the city treasurer and tax collector, with space for the public and for their staff.

In the hall off the lobby are the enquiry desk and main switchboard. There will also be public phones available.

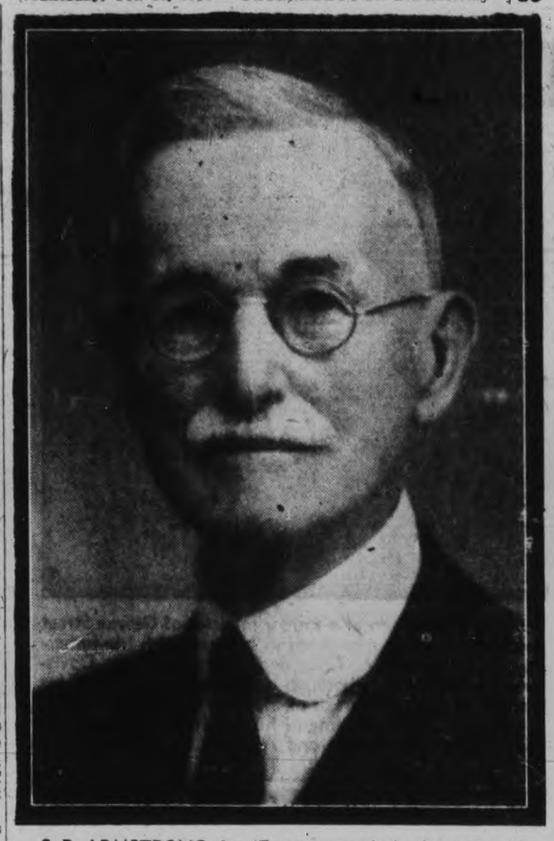
DAVID W. DUMBLE, who was for 40 years police magistrate of Peterborough, retiring in 1921. Mr. Dumble also served for many years on the Board of Education.

In the north wing of the first floor are offices for the city engineer, the city solicitor, auditor, and assessor. For the engineer, there is a general office, and a drafting room. For the assessor, whose staff will use the machine room off the main office, there is a vault.

On Second Floor

Going up to the second floor by the stairs off the main hall, a visitor finds in the north wing a large committee room that can be divided into three rooms by folding partitions, a board room, the mayor's reception room and a kitchen and washroom for the reception room.

In the mayor's reception room, the ladies have not been forgotten. A vanity table has been supplied so they may ready themselves for any public appearance. Next to mayor's reception room is a board room for Board of Education.



In the south wing of the second floor are the offices of the Board of Education. The board's offices are on the east side and include offices for the attendance officer, general staff, the inspector of schools, and the superintendent of schools.

Opposite the board's offices is the city's department of health, with offices for the medical officer of health and his assistant, the sanitary inspector, the chief public nurse, and a room for the public health nurses. There is also a general office for the department.

Throughout the building, the office doors are of oak. Connecting doors are of steel painted deep blue. Floors are of cream terrazzo, and the plastered hallways are painted a buff color.

Stairs are also of terrazzo, with marble-faced balustrades and flat brass handrails.

Windows throughout the new city hall have built-in storm sash, hinged for easy cleaning. Radiators are of the convector type.

S. R. ARMSTRONG, for 47 years was clerk of the city. Mr. Armstrong was born in Hastings County, came to Peterborough as a reporter on staff of the Review in 1882, and later became editor. He was appointed town clerk in 1893, serving until his death in 1941. In Peterborough's history there have been 12 clerks.

Department of Health Established In 1934; First Full-Time MOH Named

By COLLETTE FERGUSON

The completion of Peterborough's new city hall marks another episode in the history of one of the most important civic organizations—the Department of Health.

October 13, 17 years after its establishment, the department moved from the Turner house on the corner of Water and McDonnel Streets, to carry on its activities in the new city hall.

During these 17 years, the staff has increased from three to thirteen. This growth can only suggest the development and expansion of the services of this department since its birth.

On July 1, 1934, the department was officially established as a city department and Dr. Murray Fraser, a Peterborough physician, was appointed as the city's first full-time medical officer of health.

Members of the Board of Health decided that the public health services in the city should be combined. This was done by establishing the department in offices in the city hall, 137 Simcoe St.

Part-Time MOH

Previously the duties of medical officer of health were carried out on a part-time basis by city physicians using their own offices as headquarters. All official records were kept in the city clerk's office.

The city sanitary inspector had a desk in the city engineer's office before the department's establishment.

The earliest recorded part-time MOH was Dr. Robert Kincaid. According to Howard Pammett's "Progress of Peterborough," Dr. Kincaid was hired as "town physician in 1872 at $150 a year, to be increased to $400 in case of an epidemic.

The same year George Johnston was appointed chief constable, building and health inspector at $600 a year.

In the early 1870's it was safer to drink whiskey than water. Pammett again records that although the town was authorized to finance waterworks construction, construction was delayed and polluted water was always an excuse for a visit to the tavern.

With Dr. Fraser's appointment came the end of the part-time services of a MOH carried on for so many years by citiy physicians such as Dr. T. W. H. Young, Dr. A. W. McPherson and Dr. C. H. Amys.

The new department offices, which later became cramped, were at first quite adequate. They included the MOH's office and clinic, the sanitary inspector's office, a waiting room, an examining room, laboratory and washrooms. Very few changes took place in the department's housing until new quarters were obtained 16 years later in the Turner house on the corner of Water and McDonnel Sts.

The staff of the new department consisted of three people. In addition to Dr. Fraser, there was C. S. Stapleton, sanitary inspector and Miss Alma Blanchard, department secretary.

However Mr. Stapleton had served as city sanitary inspector long before the department came into existence. One of the record books stored safely away shows entries in his handwriting as far back as 1921. Tales are also recounted of Mr. Stapleton going about his civic duties on a bicycle. However he did go so far as to rent a car once a year to inspect district dairy farms.

Members of the Board of Health at the time of the department's establishment were: Ald. Walter Stalker, Ald. Malcolm McIntyre, Mayor George Macdonald and Ald. James Dutton.

Dobbin's history of Peterborough brings other interesting facts to light about the board's early activities.

In 1906 the council passed a law compelling all milk vendors to have licenses. The licenses were only granted following provincial inspection.

The same year, R. S. Sturgeon was appointed Peterborough's first plumbing inspector. His successor was Arthur Metheral, who still holds this post.

A year later Alderman George Ball resigned from the city council to become the city's first sanitary inspector.

At its establishment the city's health department was a far cry from smooth-running and co-ordinated organization that it is today. Further centralization of health services in the community was needed in addition to staff expansion. However, progress in this direction soon developed as the city's health needs came to the fore and were understood.

Public Health Nurse.

Previously, the only service of this nature was carried on by the Peterborough Health Association — a voluntary organization financed by an annual grant of $1,000 from the city and by public subscription. One nurse was employed by the association to carry on bedside nursing. With the establishment of the VON in 1941, the association's nursing service was discontinued.

In 1937 Harry White, London, was appointed acting sanitary inspector. The following year the present sanitary inspector, R. M. MacPherson, received his appointment.

The beginning of the Second World War had a direct influence on the Department of Health with the enlistment of Dr. Fraser, MOH. For the duration of the war and a short time after its conclusion, the postion of MOH was held open for Dr. Fraser, and the city was served by three acting medical officers of health. They were Dr. L. A. Clarke, Toronto, appointed in 1940; Dr. D. Avison, St. John, N.B., in 1941, and Dr. R. A. Kelly in 1943.

Dr. Kelly, the present MOH, received his permanent appointment in 1946.

Board of Education and City Schools

James Stevenson For 55 Years Served Board of Education, Also Mayor And MP

By G. WILSON CRAW

When Peterborough became a town in 1850 there were several one-room "common schools", which today would be called public schools and the Grammar School which was later to be known as the Collegiate Institute. These schools were administered by a Union School Board whose members were largely composed of the clergy, especially that section of the board entrusted with the affairs of the Grammar School. In fact the pioneer clergy were largely responsible for teaching the children in the early days.

These one-room schools were brought together in 1852. This school was located in a church situated on the northeast corner of Hunter and Sheridan Sts. In 1857 the Grammar School was moved into the same building. That year a start was made on the erection of the present east building of Central School which was completed and opened in January 1860. The cost of building was slightly in access of $16,000.

Forming of Boards

The Ontario Education Act of 1863, permitted the establishing of Boards of Education, in towns and cities to administer both the primary and secondary schools. Thus in January 1864 the first Board of Education was elected in Peterborough and took over the administration of the educational system. Many of the men who had served on the Union School Board became members of this new civic body. However there were two who played a prominent part in educational affairs of Peterborough for the next 40 years. The first was Dr. George Burnham, Sr. who was elected the first chairman and for the ensuing 19 years remained as head of the Board. He had been a member of the Union School Board back as early as 1849 when the Rev. J. M. Roger the minister of St. Paul's Church, and the first Presbyterian minister in Peterborough was chairman. The other was James Stevenson who was chairman from 1873 to 1891. Mr. Stevenson was for 55 years a member of the Board of Education or until 1905. He was also mayor of the town for 10 years. He held the dual office of mayor and chairman of the board from 1886 to 1891 and the last four years of which he was also member of the House of Commons for Peterborough West.

At the inaugural meeting at which Dr. Burnham was elected chairman, Ivan O'Beirne was appointed secretary and for the next 10 years remained secretary of the board. In 1864 there were 379 pupils in the public school and 28 in the Grammar School. Apparently in those days secondary education only drew a very small percentage of the pupils who attended the public school. During Dr. Burnham's term the west building was added to the Central School and the necessary steps were taken to have the Grammar School recognized as a Collegiate Institute.

Mr. Stevenson who was largely responsible for the Canadian General Electric Company coming to Peterborough was first elected chairman in 1873. One of his first duties was to secure the land for the South Central School, now the administration building of the Board of Education. This school was opened in 1874. The cost was $5,792.02. In 1877 the West Ward School, now the plant of the Albion Knitting Company was built. Its cost was $3,422.17 and it was the first school in the town to be heated by a furnace.

W. H. Wrighton was elected chairman in 1891 and re-elected in 1892. Mr. Wrighton was a member of the board for 25 years or from 1879 to 1904. He was in business in Peterborough for 50 years and witnessed the growth of the town from its earliest days. His little grocery and feed store was on George St. west side between Hunter and Brock Sts. Mr. Wrighton also laid claim to the honor of driving the span of horses that drew the carriage which carried the Prince of Wales through the town in 1860. During his term as chairman, two rooms were added to the South Central School and the older section of Queen Alexandra School was built. The first cost $6,087, and the second $6,757.

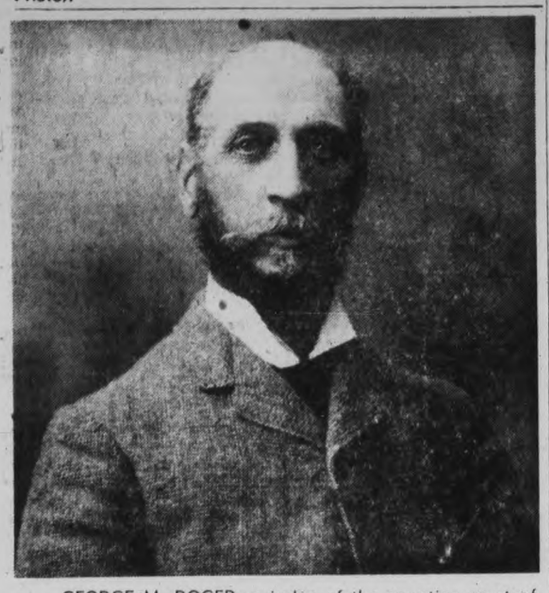
In 1893 Dr. George Burnham, Jr. was elected chairman. He was first elected to the board in 1876 and served continuously until 1914. Dr. Burnham was a cousin of the first chairman of the Board.

Following Dr. Burnham's four years as chairman, the Board then inaugurated a new policy of giving its chairman two years in office. This custom continued until 1942. Following Dr. Burnham was Peter Hamilton the father of an ex-mayor of Peterborough, James Hamilton. Mr. Hamilton was an implement manufacturer and was member of the Board from 1889 to 1906.

During that first 50 years of the life of the town of Peterborough many of its most prominent citizens served on the Board of Education and following this first step in civic affairs they went on to other fields of municipal, provincial and federal politics. Some of these were James Kendry, member of parliament; George A. Cox, a member of the Canadian Senate; J. R. Stratton, a member of the legislature and a minister of the crown; Thomas White, a member of the government of Sir John A. Macdonald and L. M. Hayes, judge of Wellington county. Others who played a prominent part in the life of Peterborough were Henry Denne, A. P. Poussette, J. F. D. Dennistoun, William Cluxton, James Hall, William Hall, J. W. Gilmour, R. D. Rogers, William Lundy, Dr. T. W. Poole, James Edwards, George Hilliard, George Edmison, Dr. Robert Kincaid, C. W. Sawers, T. W. Robinson, R. B. Rogers and Col. Haultain.

W. H. Hill followed Peter Hamilton as chairman. Mr. Hill first became a member of the Board in 1888 and remained until 1915. Mr. Hill first taught school and then became connected with the Sun Life Assurance Co. He also served on the Water Commission, the Nicholls Hospital Trust and the Utilities Commission. He was a popular and much respected citizen deeply interested in the welfare of the city. J. J. Hartley followed Mr. Hill as chairman. He first was elected to the Board in 1892 and remained a member until 1906. Mr. Hartley was a contracting bricklayer and a member of the town council from 1881 to 1891. W. G. Ferguson was chairman in 1905 and 1906. He was elected to the Board in 1890 and served for 16 years. Robert Fair a merchant for many years was chairman in 1907 and 1908 and was a valued member from 1896 to 1912.

It was during the period from 1900 to 1909 that the controversy raged over building a Collegiate Institute. Up until that time the west building of Central School had been used.



After much discussion between the Town Council and the Board over a site, plans for the collegiate were presented in February 1904 and in March the Board asked the council for $50,000. On May 5 the ratepayers vote approval by 470 to 348 but by the time plans were completed and tenders called the Board found it needed more money. The school had to be much larger than originally proposed. A second $50,000 was asked but on a vote of the people was defeated.

The Board changed the plans and cut costs some $25,000 finally asking the city for $21,000 which was granted. In 1907 and 1908 three schools were under way. The Collegiate Institute being built by Langford and Sheehy for HENRY BEST, pioneer, workman, explorer, traveller and mayor. Native of Peterborough, he was born in 1836, attended common school and was apprenticed to the tinsmith trade. In 1852 he made his way by the Isthmus of Panama to the Pacific and prospected in British Columbia. Later he operated a wooden box manufacturing firm in Valparaiso Chile. The boxes were used for the shipping of whale oil. In 1872 he returned to Peterborough and bought out the business of James Stevenson to whom he had been apprenticed as a boy. He became interested in municipal politics, being elected councillor, alderman and mayor. His term as mayor was 1905 and 1906.—(Roy Studio Photo).

GEORGE A. MACDONALD was mayor of Peterborough in 1936 and 1937. Previous to his election as mayor, Mr. Macdonald had been an alderman 10 years, many of which he was chairman of the finance committee. In 1940 Mr. Macdonald was elected to the Utilities Commission and has since been a member of that municipal body.—(Roy Studio Photo).

ONE OF THE MOST colorful figures in the municipal history of Peterborough has been the Hon. George N. Gordon. Mr. Gordon was for years one of the city's leading lawyers. He first served on the Board of Education, then the city council. He was elected to Parliament and became deputy speaker of the House of Commons and later a minister of the crown. On his retirement from federal politics he re-entered the municipal arena as an alderman. He also was for a number of years city solicitor.

ROLAND DENNE mayor of Peterborough for eight years, 1928 to 1935, was chief magistrate during the most trying times this city ever passed through, the years of the depression. He was the second son of the late Henry Denne to become mayor and before being elected to the council was a member of the Board of Education. It was largely through his efforts as president of the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition that it became a class A fair.

CAME UP THROUGH THE RANKS to head the police department John W. Thompson, LEFT, succeeded Samuel Newhall as chief constable in 1944. Chief Thompson had previously served on the force for 24 years. Fire Chief George Smith RIGHT was named head of the department in 1948 succeeding George Gimblett. Chief Smith joined the department in 1923.

Fairy Godfather To Peterborough

Railway Bonds Broke Town So City Trust Formed To Rescue Financial Affairs

By DON SWAIN

Ever since it was established by special act of the Government of Upper Canada on May 18, 1861, the Peterborough City Trust has played an important part in the city's financial affairs.

On that day ninety years ago, Peterborough was on the verge of bankruptcy.

A series of investments in railway building had undermined the financial structure of the growing municipality to the point where it was about to collapse under a topheavy burden of debt when the Trust was set up and given the job of getting the town back on a sound financial footing.

In 1857, the town had invested $120,000 in the stock of the Port Hope, Lindsay and Beaverton Railway.

That was a big sum of money for a town the size of Peterborough to raise in those days. The total assessment was less than $60,000. It would be financial suicide by present day standards for a municipality to issue debentures for nearly three times the amount of its assessment even if the ratepayers and the Ontario Muncipal Board would agree to such a fantastic move.

Another Block Bought

The next year however, the railway was still short of funds and the town was so anxious for rail connections that it purchased another $60,000 block of the company's stock.

By 1861, the town had not made much headway toward paying off the snowballing debt when it found itself faced with the prospect of having to borrow more money.

An additional $10,000 was needed to subsidize the Grand Trunk Railway for completing the branch line from Millbrook, linking Peterborough with Port Hope. There was also the need for funds to build a new town hall which was to be erected on the east side of Water St., across from the old Market Square.

Eventually the town obtained $80,000 from the railway but to make matters worse, the council tried to keep the tax rate from skyrocketing by using the sinking fund of the debt for current town expenditures and secure a false relief for the taxpayers.

City Trust Founded

To get the town's shaky finances back on firm ground, the Peterborough City Trust was founded to pay off the debt and raise any further funds that might be required for the new town hall and other purposes.

Municipal property was the security for the money which had been borrowed and all town property was vested in the Trust which was administered by five commissioners.

The Commissioners were appointed by council for five-year periods, one commissioner retiring each year. However, the retiring member could be re-appointed, which was frequently the case.

The trust was the owner for the city—collected rents on municipal property, made improvements and applied the revenue on the debenture debt.

In those days, municipalities borrowed money by agreeing to set up a sinking fund each year to pay off their debentures when they matured and the Trust agreed to pay off so much of the existing debt and new loans each year.

Through sound financing, the Trust brought Peterborough from a state of near bankruptcy to a healthy financial position.

The block which takes in the Market Square and the Hilliard Farm at the north end of the city were two of the larger properties administered by the Trust and a large surplus was gradually built up.

$125,000 For City Hall Site

As more money was being accumulated than was needed to retire the debentures, part of this surplus was turned over to the city at different times—the most recent example being the $125,000 which the Trust gave the city to help purchase the new city hall site.

In the words of Vincent Eastwood, chairman of the Trust, "It has been a fairy godfather to the city for many years."

Mr. Eastwood has been chairman since 1919 and has served as a commissioner of the Trust since 1909 and he explains that these surpluses were often used to keep the city tax rate down.

"When council decided they needed a certain amount of money for the year but were reluctant to raise the tax rate high enough to provide the revenue, they would come to the Trust for a handout to make up the difference."

Until the city took over all properties from the Trust in 1948, the commissioners were authorized to lease the property under their control for periods up to 21 years and they could sell city property with the approval of council. Several business premises on George Street are still under leases let by the Trust.

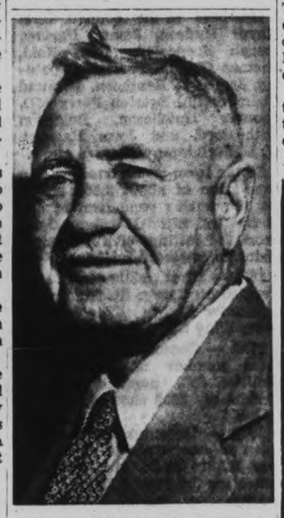
Now that the property has been taken over by the city and debentures are no longer issued by setting up sinking funds, the Trust's responsibilities are not so heavy.

Mr. Eastwood says that the Trust's securities "have just about reached the vanishing point. We had to sell over $300,000 worth of securities at the end of June to retire maturing debentures but we will not have to sell any more this year.

"By the end of June 1953, the individual amounts of the sinking fund issues outstanding will have just about all been redeemed. Then the Commission will be due for dissolution."

Not Many Trustees

"There haven't been many trustees. I guess it's because they all seem to live so long," Mr. Eastwood chuckled as he recalled the names of the first commissioners appointed in 1861.



The original commissioners were: Charles Bradfield, Samuel Dickson, James Stevenson, Edmund Chamberlain and William Hall.

In 1914, according to Dobbin's Reference Book, Richard Hall, Vincent Eastwood, E. A. Peck and James Kendry with W. H. Moore as chairman were the five Trust commissioners.

Mr. Eastwood is the only one of the 1914 group still on the Trust Commission. The other commissioners are: A. A. McIntyre, Thomas C. Ephgrave, James Hamilton and C. H. Cutmore.

Although the original statute setting up the Trust was passed in 1861, the present powers of the Trust are contained in an Act of the Ontario Legislature passed in 1908.

When the last debenture issued by the Trust is retired, its job will be finished. Its final dissolution will mean the end of one of the few remaining links connecting the Peterborough of yesterday and today.

G. A. GILLESPIE is one of the three men living today who served on the city council when the late W. G. Morrow was mayor, 1910 and 1911. The other two are A. A. McIntyre and Senator J. J. Duffus.

Department Of Health Established

The office of supervisor of public health nurses was created in 1940 when two nurses were employed by the department. Miss Geraldine Conley was appointed as supervisor and the other nurse, Miss Margaret McDonald divided her duties between the department and the Separate Schools.

In 1945 Miss Gene Clarke, present supervisor of public health nurses, was appointed.

Dr. Harold Worton became the city's first food and dairy inspector in 1948. Previously this work was done by the sanitary inspector and Dr. Worton had been employed as assistant to Mr. MacPherson from 1944 to 1948.

Four years after its establishment in 1934, the department took over the Well Baby Clinic. The clinic had operated as a separate organization since 1919, but in 1938 its directors gave notice that it would be forced to close down due to lack of funds. With this announcement the department stepped in and took over what has now become one of the most important aspects of its work.

This brought to an end, the basic and outward developments of the department in its 17 years of existence. However its present administration reveals that inner and even more important progress has evolved in its lifetime.

Not only has the departments staff increased to include seven nurses and two office secretaries, but its activities have grown to keep in date with latest findings and developments in public health work.

The present activities of the department can be summed up under two headings—environmental hygiene or sanitation and individual health.

Environmental hygiene is primarily the responsibility of the sanitary inspecor and the dairy and food inspector.

Places where food is prepared, stored, sold and offered for sale such as restaurants and grocery stores are periodically inspected. They can only operate under licenses issued by the city council on the recommendation of the Board of Health. Abattoirs also come under supervision.

Dairy farms that ship milk into the city receive periodic inspection. The milk itself is also tested.

The sanitary inspector tests the few remaining private water supplies in the city, bathing beaches and swimming pools.

Vermin control was first introduced as a department activity in 1940. Now, the sanitary inspector will inspect houses contaminated with vermin and give information and advice on the latest means of extermination.

Sanitation in general housing conditions is also carefully watched by department officials. If needed improvements are suggested and if necessary, the department recommends closing of premises.

With an examination of the role the department plays in the health of the individual we find a detailed program of clinics and general health education that deals with all age groups.

The clinical program begins with the pre-natal clinics which include both classes for expectant mothers and the service of a public health nurse for discussions with mothers in their homes.

Infant and maternal welfare is the next stage. Here too, staff nurses make home visits and mothers are invited to bring their children to health clinics if they wish. Four clinics are held a week.

At these clinics, children are weighed and if it is desired, examined by a physician. Any problems may be discussed, but no treatment is given. If treatment is needed mothers are referred to their family physician.

In the pre-school period, children may also be brought to the clinics. Nurses are also available for home visiting and will help with any problems dealing with the health and welfare of children and the whole family.

The department provides nursing care for the separate schools in the city. The Board of Education operates and maintains its own school health service. However both the boards of health and education are now conducting preliminary talks towards amalgamation of services.

The nursing service at the separate schools included two mornin visits a week when classrooms and individual pupils receive inspection.

The department's immunization program is started when the child is six months old and is continued until he enters school.

One of the most important activities of the department is its dealings with communicable diseases. The department is responsible for maintaining provincial regulations in control of all communicable diseases including quarantine of cases and isolation of contacts.

In co-operation with the Peterborough County Tuberculosis Association and family physicians, the department assists in gaining treatment for TB patients in institutions.

In addition contacts are investigated in a program of case finding tests and x-rays. Bi-monthly x-ray clinics are held at both city hospitals, which are arranged and staffed by the department and financed by the County TB Association.

Suspects, contacts and old cases are also kept under close observation. Help in the rehabilitation of patients is another of the department's activities.

The department stresses education as one of its most important programs. This is carried out through the mediums of newspapers, radio, posters and exhibits and also through personal contact by nurses visits to the homes. Such topics as nutrition receive special attention.

In the field of mental illness, the department offers practical psychology by discussions of problems.

In 1940, department officials after working for several years in cramped quarters in city hall offices were given new spacious quarters in the corner house at Water and McDonnel Sts.

In addition to Dr. Kelly MOH; Dr. Worton, food and dairy inspector, Mr. MacPherson, sanitary inspector and Miss Gene Clarke, supervisor of public health nurses, the department's staff includes the following nurses: Misses Veronica O'Leary, Francis Blue, Anne O'Leary, Dorothy Walker, Marian Parks, Mrs. Phyllis Pyburn and Mrs. Laura Sheppard. Miss Alma Blanchard and Mrs. LeRoy Menzies are the department's office secretaries.

Members of the present Board of Health are: Alderman J. A. Dewart, chairman; His Worship, Mayor M. J. Swanston, Alderman P. J. Anglesey, William Tinker and Dr. R. A. Kelly, MOH. E. A. Outram is secretary.

In His Own Reserved Way W. G. Morrow Took Great Interest In Civic Affairs

"A few days after I came to Peterborough, a tall, slight young man walking along George St. was pointed out to me by a newspaper reporter," is a reminiscence of Mr. F. D. Kerr, KC.

"The reporter was William Buchanan, now Senator Buchanan, proprietor of the Lethbridge Herald. He remarked: 'There is one of the coming young men of Peterborough. He is George Morrow, secretary of the Board of Education, and nephew of Senator George A. Cox.'

"He took me across the street and introduced me to Mr. Morrow. We were warm friends from that time on.

"In his own reserved way that was characteristic of him, Mr. Morrow took a great interest in Peterborough's civic affairs, in the growth of the city, and in people generally. Very few persons were aware of his private charities which were widespread.

"Mr. Morrow was a home-lover. His sisters managed the house for him, and there was always a warm welcome to their friends. He was a most hospitable host. He was fond of the outdoors, was well up in the forefront at Peterborough Golf and Country Club, and rarely missed the deer hunting and fishing seasons of Ketchecum Lake Club.

"He was not only a sportsman, and one of the most active members of the Curling Club, but he was also a churchman, deeply interested in Trinity United Church.

JOSEPH WEARING, who for years was a prominent lawyer in Peterborough and city solicitor. Mr. Wearing was named judge of Middlesex County in 1930 and served on the bench until his death in 1947.

"Mr. Morrow was an admirer of horses, and delighted in driving what might be called his own spanking team, especially in Canadian winter weather, with the bells ringing, and his cutter made comfortable with a buffalo robe or two. Of course, that was before the automobile came onto the scene and displaced the horses.

"My impression of Mr. Morrow was that he took a friendly attitude toward life and people. He was active in Masonry, was at one time Worshipful Master of Corinthian Lodge."

Of Mr. Morrow's genuine interest in community affairs, mentioned by Mr. Kerr, it may be recalled that Mr. Morrow was for some years a member of the Public Library Board.

He was just as keen about the part he was about the whole; just as willing to serve as a trustee of the Library as trustee of the municipality in the office of alderman and mayor. It was no superficial attachment, but was evidence of sincere sense of public duty, showing here and there all through his Peterborough citizenship.

A. STANLEY COUPER was appointed tax collector 15 years ago and on the retirement of Frank Adams who had been treasurer of the city for more than 30 years, he was appointed to that office.—(Roy Studio Photo)

Site Of The Old City Hall Set Aside By Order For Market, Gov't Building

Peterborough's three previous city halls have been located on the block of land bounded by Simcoe, George, Charlotte and Water Sts. and removal to the new site will be the first time that the civic administration has not been centred around the piece of land set aside in 1832 at market site.

Years before its settlement, the townsite of Peterborough was conceived by Richard Birdsall when, in 1818 he was running the survey lines in North Monaghan. The great grandfather of Lt.-Col. Everett Birdsall of Asphodel township designated the extreme northeast corner of the township, on the west bank of the Otonabee river, for a town site. Seven years later, in 1825, he surveyed the lots and streets of the site, then coming into reality with the arrival of the Peter Robinson immigration. In the meantime the site has acquired the name Scott's Plains. For Adam Scott had built a saw and grist mill approximately on the present land of the Peterborough Canoe Company on Water St.

Name Changed

In 1827, two years after the first Robinson Immigration the small settlement of Scott's Plains had taken the name Peterborough from Hon. Peter Robinson. By that time the residents were in full appreciation of their public property and wanted a market on the property set aside as a site for the government building. In fact Birdsall had designated the site as a market block as early as 1825.

But it was not long until land dealers and others cast a covetous eye on the block of land. The citizens heard rumors of the desire of the government to break up the site and turn it into building lots. To offset any partition a public petition was circulated and largely signed by the residents of the town and these of the adjoining townships. For the pioneers in those days were then vitally interested in having a market site. The petition was presented in 1832 to the Legislative Council of the Province of Upper Canada then sitting at York, long since Toronto.

Photostatic Copy

On October 9 the Commissioner of Crown Lands received at York a memorandum or brief signed by Peter Robinson. In the margin of that record are the names of several Peterborough men. Those that are legible in the photostatic copy of today are Oughtry Morrow, probably the grandfather of the late W. G. Morrow, Dr. John Hutchinson, Charles Rubidge, James Harper, G. Orde and James Gardiner Armour. The Hon. Peter's note to the Commissioner was as follows: "In the survey of the town of Peterborough the plot of ground mention by the petitioners was set apart for a market place and I have never understood that it was the intention of the Government to appropriate any part of it, otherwise than for the purpose it was originally intended. The best mode for securing it for the town is, as the petitioners suggest, by conveying it to trustees. For which purpose it would be necessary to refer the petition to the Council, that an order may be issued to that effect, if the measure is approved of."

Strong Backing

The petitioners had strong reinforcement in the position and influence of the Hon. Peter Robinson. Minutes of the meeting of the Council held in York on October 11, 1832 record that the members attending were the Hon. James Baby, presiding; the Hon. and Ven. John Strachan, D.D., Archbishop of York; the Hon. Peter Robinson and the Hon. Joseph Wells.

The Council recommended on October 11 "that the plot of ground set apart for a market in the town of Peterborough be conveyed in trust to such persons as the Lieutenant-Governor may approve, subject to such restriction as will secure to the public the full advantages for which the grant is intended. "Its control remained with the trustees until May 1850 when the crown grant was formally made.

MAYORS IN THE FORTIES were James Hamilton (LEFT) and William Ovens (RIGHT). Mr. Hamilton served in the trying days of the Second World War and Mr. Ovens immediately succeeded him. Mr. Hamilton is a native son of Peterborough having been interested in municipal affairs for more than 40 years. Mr. Ovens is a native of Cobourg. Mr. Hamilton has second longest record for years of service as mayor, being nine years in the chief magistrate's chair. Mr. Ovens was three.—Roy Studio Photos.

1,900 Cubic Yards Concrete Poured On Construction Job

How many bricks are there in the new City Hall? How much steel, concrete and other materials have gone into the building of this modern three-storey building which will be the new home of Peterborough's civic government?

The correct answers to these questions will not win you a new car or a winter vacation to Bermuda. However, everyone in Peterborough has seen their new City Hall gradually taking shape since construction started on August 14, 1950, and many have probably wondered what quantities of the various materials were required to build it.

185,000 Bricks Used

If your estimate of the number of bricks is 185,000, you are a good guesser, because that's how many were used.

Clerk of Works W. F. Orr has supervised the building operations for the city and Mr. Orr reports that the Eastwood Construction Company which was awarded the contract for $643,062 has poured 1,900 cubic yards of concrete into the structure.

It took approximately 11,500 bags of cement, 1,900 tons of crushed stone and 1,500 tons of sand to make the 1,900 cubic yards of concrete.

Five Carloads Of Lumber

One hundred and ten tons of structural steel and 90 tons of reinforcing steel were used along with five carloads of rough lumber—or 100,000 board feet.

If all the conduit and electric wire could be unrolled in a straight line, it would stretch for 22 miles—the distance from Peterborough to Bethany—and there is eight miles of water and steam pipe, enough to reach from here to Lakefield.

The outside of the building is faced with Queenston Limestone and 13,000 cubic feet, or if you prefer, 500 tons of cut stone and granite went into the building.

There are 200 doors of hollow metal and wood, 150 rooms, and 164 windows. Forty-one thousand square feet of partition tile were used in the walls.

An entirely automatic hot water heating system will heat the City Hall and the Public Library. The hot water will be converted by two oil burning Spencer type boilers with a heating surface of 944 square feet.

Coat Of Arms Focal Point Of New Council Chamber

Carved in oak and painted in brilliant colors, the coat of arms of Peterborough is the focal point of the council chamber in the new city hall.

Red, green, gold, blue and white provide an effective contrast with the soft brown oak panelling of the chamber walls. The coat of arms is centred on the south wall above the mayor's dais.

Layout of the council chamber is simple. At the south end is the mayor's dais, with a box-like counter about 10 feet long, four feet high, and 30 inches in depth.

In front of it is a smaller, slightly raised desk which will serve the city clerk. Both are plain, cleanly designed desks, with moulding bordering the front of each to relieve the simplicity.

Half-way down the chamber is a three-foot-high barrier dividing the council's seating area from the public area. A door in the centre of the railing opens into the administrative area.

Benches For Public

In the north half of the council chamber are benches for the public, designed to seat about 75 people.

Walls of the chamber are all oak panelled with what is called a combed finish. Even with varnishing the walls will not shine, rather they will have a soft glow, as the varnish used is made so that it will dry to a dull finish.

From each corner, for about eight feet, rectangular oak panels are used. Each is about 30 inches by 44 inches, and they are separated by a narrow moulding. But in this panelling on the south wall left of the mayor's dais is a door, almost invisible when it is closed.

Panelling beside the doors is vertical, and the doors themselves are panelled. One set of 12-foot doors leads out of the council chamber, and a second set, the same height, leads into the mayor's reception room off the north end of the chamber.

On either side of the door leading into the second floor corridor from the chamber are two sets of false doors, both 12 feet high. On the corridor side, these doors are plastered over.

Special Lighting

Illumination for the handsome council chamber comes from six hollow squares set in the ceiling and holding fluorescent lights.

Around the end of the ceiling is plain, white smooth plaster moulding. The rest of the ceiling is rough white plaster. Down the centre of the ceiling, from north to south, are four metal air conditioning vents.

On the west wall of the council chamber are three tall windows, overlooking George St., Confederation Square, the armouries, and PCVS. Outside each window is a gold-knobbed steel flagstaff.

Seating accommodation for the aldermen consists of turquoise upholstered oak swivel chairs. Behind the dias, the mayor will sit on a straight-backed chair, with a high back, which is flanked by two similar chairs, with lower backs.

Over the door leading to the mayor's reception room is a clock, oak-faced, with bronze hands and hour markers. The hours of 3, 6, 9, and 12 are marked with circular pieces of bronze, while the other hours are designated by short, narrow bronze strips.

VINCENT EASTWOOD, Peterborough's senior citizen today. Mr. Eastwood was born in Smith township, where his forefathers settled in 1831. He was a member of the Board of Education from 1899, serving for many years and was later chairman. He learned the hardware business and later became manager of the Royal Bank. He is the senior member of the City Trust Commission and has been its chairman for many years —(Roy Studio Photo).

Opponents Of Mayor Spoil Barbecue When Ox Stolen At City Hall Opening

A century ago, Peterborough had struggled from a part of the township of North Monaghan into the full-blown stature of a town, whose borders encompassed 2,000 people.

On September 27, 1851, Mayor Charles Hudson the second Mayor laid the cornerstone of a town hall, which formerly stood on the recently vacated market site.

To help the citizens make merry, Mayor Hudson donated an ox, which was to be roasted whole on the market square. The chef entrusted with the job of barbecuing the beast didn't know too much about it, and by midnight, the inner meat of the ox was still raw.

Accordingly, the cook told the citizens to go home and return in the morning; then they could eat their fill. The crowd dispersed, but a few mischievous ones blackened their faces, seized, tied, and gagged the chef, and carted the ox away.

Not until several years later were the culprits known though a number of men were brought before the justice of the peace and acquitted of the mischief.

There was as well a suspicion of skulduggery in the town council's acceptance of plans and estimates for the new town hall. Council accepted plans drawn by a Mr. Thomas of Toronto. Mr. Kivas Tully also submitted plans and was incensed when he learned Mr. Thomas' plans were accepted.

Members of the council were: Mayor Hudson, James Harvey, Joseph Spenceley, John Reid, Thomas Chambers, Clark Spalding, James T. Henthorn, Edmund Chamberlain, Egerton Perry MD, Thomas Hutcheson, Robinson Rutherford, and John Haggart. W. H. Wrighton was town clerk.

So the town was started, with a population of about 2,500 and a bit of amusing vandalism at one of its first official celebrations. From the jottings of a municipal historian, we learn further.

1851 — First public sewer constructed on George St. from north of Hunter St. to King St., and along King St. to the river.

1852 — Census of this year. In town number of houses 333, families, 350, population 2,191. Census of 1855 showed increase to 3,400.

1856 — Debenture debt of the town as computed in this year was £1,814 3s 2d. Municipal expense for the year £2,707.

1857 — E. Burnham presents proposition to council to lease part of market block, facing Simcoe and George Sts., at 7s 6d per ft. To erect three-storey brick buildings within two years of date of contract or lease, single or double stores, at discretion. There was at the time on George and Simcoe Sts., still open, 482 feet, and all the frontage on Charlotte St. At a public meeting held afterwards the proposition was discussed and recommended to council to be accepted if council approved.

1858 — Bylaw to build the following gravel roads in the county, Peterborough to assist, was submitted to people and defeated. Roads proposed, Peterborough to Norwood, to Warsaw, to Keene, crossing at locks. In all 100 miles. Cost estimated at £500 per mile.

1858 — James Hall commissioned by council to proceed to Montreal and sell debentures of the town. Sold £1,000 at a discount of 22 per cent. Reported a balance could be disposed of at 21 per cent if deemed advisable.

1858 — Amount to be raised for municipal purposes, £3,783. Deduct, from licenses, £1,363. Balance £2,420. Rate 2s 9d in the pound. County amount was of this sum, £327.

1858 — Proclamation in Canada Gazette constituting Peterborough East as Ashburnham.

1858 — Assessor's return for year as follows: real estate $991,190; income, $83,350; personal property, $182,200. Total, $1,256,690. Population, 4620, an increase of 390 over that of the year previous.

1859 — Council entertains proposal to enlarge limits of town. Passes formal petition to the Legislative Council to have limits extended. To take in one range behind park lots in rear and as far north as Snyder's mill.

1859 — Council appropriates £400 to assist in building a bridge across the river, between points on the river bank at the boundary of Smith and North Monaghan. This is the first mention of what was afterwards the Smith St. bridge, now Inverlea bridge.

1859 — Bylaw submitted in council to have the town separated from the county for municipal purposes.

1861 — Thomas White, Jr., appointed census commissioner for the town. Census to be taken as on the night of Sunday, Jan. 13. The enumerators: R. Rowe, W. Johnton, R. Rutherford, John Ritchie. Result, town population was: Males, 1,964. Females, 1,872. In all, 3,836. Compared with census of 1852, when the population was given as 2,191, the return showed an increase of over 75 per cent. With regard to parentage and nationality the population of the town stood as follows: Irish, 814; Scotch 274, United States, 139, English, 406, West Canadian, 1903, East Canadian, 286. By denominations: Church of England, 749, Catholic 1,230, Methodist 829, Episcopal 14, Bible Christian 95, Free Church 538, Church of Scotland 220, Baptist 78, others 27.

1861 — An act obtained consolidating the debt of the town and vesting the management of the debenture indebtedness in the hands of a Board of Town Trust Commissioners.

1862 — First action taken by the town council to ensure that none but building of brick and stone shall be erected in the business section of the town, especially along George St.

1866 — At a meeting of council it was decided by a resolution that a salary be paid to the mayor, from year to year, of $400.

1867—The population of the town as per the assessment roll is placed at 4,250. Real property $949,160. Income $64,600. Personal property $178,200. Total $1,191,960.

1867—A bylaw to issue debentures to provide for the erection of a new town hall, to the extent of $16,000, was submitted to the ratepayers and defeated. Majority against 102.

1868—Rate for taxes for the year made as follows: county rate 1¼ mills, common schools rate 2 mills, grammar school rate ½ mill, town rate 7¼ mills, total 11 mills.

1870—At a meeting of council authority was given to advertise for plans for a system of waterworks, and to offer a bonus of $100 for plans accepted, with estimate of cost of the works.

APPOINTED CITY CLERK in 1941 E.A. Outram had served 10 years as assistant. Mr. Outram had been well trained for the office by the veteran S. R. Armstrong who had for 47 years been city clerk. Prior to his appointement to the city hall staff, Mr. Outram was a reporter on the Examiner.

Plan Two Open Days To Inspect City Hall

The new city hall is to be thrown open to the public for inspection on Monday and Tuesday next, afternoon and evening. The opening ceremonies on Friday are scheduled to take place in front of the hall with special seats being erected for the audience. Then following the opening ceremonies the official inspection tour of the building will be made.

James Stevenson With 10 Years As Mayor Of Peterborough Heads List Of 33 Chief Magistrates

By DAVE WHITE

When Max J Swanston steps down from office at the end of the year, he will be the 33rd mayor since Peterborough was incorporated as a town in 1850.

In 101 years the population has grown from 2,000 to 37,000 and the office of mayor has developed from a part-time, volunteer job to one that takes up nearly all the time of an energetic businessman. Since 1866 the mayor has received remuneration but it has never been a sum to compensate him for his administrative responsibility.

Public spiritedness—often necessitating a personal loss of money and leisure time—is still required.

To a good number of the incumbents the mayoralty was a stepping stone to further success in politics. James Hall and W. S. Conger were both elected to the Legislative Assembly Hall in 1847 and Conger in 1856 and 1863.

Five ex-mayors have held federal seats since Confederation and as many others were unsuccessful. The successful candidates were Charles Perry, James Stevenson, James Hall (old riding of Peterborough East), James Kendry and J. J. Duffus.

J. J. Duffus went further up the government ladder, eventually being named to the senate. He was born in Otonabee township in 1878 and was educated there. After farming for some time he moved to the city and became a successful car salesman.

He was a member of the city council in 1909 and 1910 and again 1912-14. During the stern war years of 1916-17 he was mayor of the city.

And in 1935 he won the riding of Peterborough West in a vote that split four ways. The runner-up was J. F. Strickland who polled 6342 votes to the Senator's 8,027.

He was appointed to the Senate by the Mackenzie King government, just before the federal election early in 1940. One of the seven ex-mayors of Peterborough still living, he is the only one holding a political office.

An ex-mayor who has won even greater success, though outside his native province, is the Hon. Roland F. McWilliams, lieutenant governor of Manitoba. He and his wife are attending the Oct. 26 opening of the new city hall.

He was born in Peterborough in 1874; was educated in Peterborough primary and secondary schools, and went on to the University of Toronto and Osgooue Hall. After obtaining his law degree he practised in Peterborough 1899-1910.

In the civic elections of 1902 he was first elected to council and he was returned in 1903, 1904 and 1906. And in 1907 the ratepayers elected him mayor.

He was Liberal candidate for the Legislature in 1905.

After leaving Peterborough he went to Winnipeg and was subsequently appointed lieutenant governor of Manitoba.

10 Years Mayor

James Stevenson, an Irishman who came to Peterborough via Port Hope, has the record for the most number of years as mayor. He was returned for 10 years, including one uninterrupted incumbency of six years.

He was an astute businessman, prospering in the hardware, and the coal and wood business. In 1854, four years after incorporation he was elected mayor; again in 1857-59; and finally, 1889-91.

Largely through his efforts Peterborough persuaded the Canadian General Electric Co. to begin here.

For more than 50 years he was a member of the Board of Education and 27 of those years was chairman. He was also actively associated with many other civic groups.

Mr. Stevenson was a Conservative all his political life and was a warm personal friend of Canada's first prime minister, Sir John A. Macdonald.

Twice he was elected to the House of Commons: in 1887 and again in 1891. He died in 1910.

His successor as Conservative standard bearer at Ottawa was another ex-mayor of Peterborough James Kendry.

Mr. Kendry was born in Oshawa in 1845 and learned the woollen business elsewhere in Ontario. In 1879 he became manager of the Auburn Mills at Peterborough and proceeded to modernize the plant.

For many years he was a member of the town council and the Board of Education. He was elected mayor for the four-year period 1892-95; and again in 1900.

Peterborough West's first elected representative at Ottawa after Confederation was Charles Perry, a prominent lumber dealer, and mayor of Peterborough for five years.

He was elected on a Conservative platform.

Mr. Perry was another astute businessman and was a pioneer in developing the lumber trade with the United States. He owned the Nassau mills, at that time considered the finest in the province.

In 1861 he was elected mayor and he retained that office until he resigned early in 1865 for business reasons. Two years later he was elected to Canada's first parliament. He died in 1876.

James Hall, a Scot who settled in Peterborough in 1835, was another ex-mayor who was elected to parliament. In addition, he was four years in the legislative assembly.

In Peterborough he started the first tannery and opened a store. While attending the old legislative assembly in 1848 he saw a wild-eyed mob burn down the buildings, destroying many irreplaceable historical records.

He was defeated by John Langton in 1851 and in 1856 he was appointed sheriff of the United Counties of Peterborough and Victoria. After they were split up he remained as Peterborough county sheriff till 1872.

Mr. Hall then resigned his office to contest the election for Peterborough East. He had previously been a Reform candidate but he was elected to parliament in 1874 on a Liberal platform.

He was mayor in 1852 and 1855 and sat for many years on the county council. His other activities were as a trustee on the school board and he was influential in persuading the Bank of Commerce and the Bank of Toronto to establish branches here.

Mr. Hall died in 1882 at the age of 77.

Benson First Mayor

The first mayor of Peterborough was Thomas Benson who was born in County Tyrone, Ireland, in 1804. His family went to the United States and then settled in Port Hope.

He came to Peterborough shortly after being disbanded from the militia in 1845. Here he entered the milk business. He served several years in council and was mayor in 1850 when the town was incorporated.

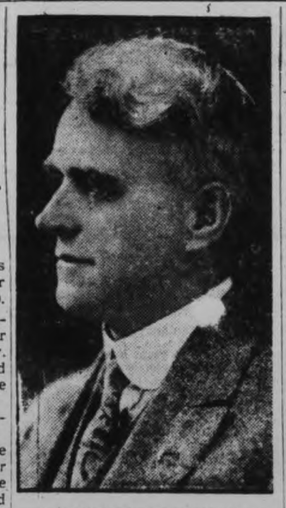
During the celebration over the municipality's new status there occurred the famous "ox barbecue", now accepted as part of Peterborough's folk lore.

During the celebration over the laying of a corner stone for the new town hall, an ox, donated by Mayor Benson, was spirited away by some of the rougher element before the citizens had a chance to taste the barbecue.

It caused some bad feeling but just as much jesting. One wag even wrote some verses commemorating a farcical court case when some of the subjects were put on trial.

Benson was killed seven years later in one of the country's first and worst railroad disasters. A Great West Railway passenger train crashed through a swing bridge over the Desjardins canal near Hamilton. Sixty people were killed, including Peterborough's first mayor.

One of the city's best visual links with the past is the T. H. G. Denne collection of old photographic prints, on display at the public library.



Mr. Denne was mayor in 1901 and 1902 and a strong advocate of municipal ownership of the waterworks. He was in the flour and grain business. He encouraged industry to locate in Peterborough and was active in getting municipal work done.

The Denne collection contains 165 prints of 19th century and early 20th century people, landmarks and public events.

His collection includes a number of "firsts": first frame house, first white baby (Jeanette Scott), and the first street car. It is reputed to be one of the finest collections of photos depicting local history in Canada.

All 33 ex-mayors will envy the 1952 encumbent, whoever he may be. Though there has been town planning, the plans have never until now materialized into a proper city hall with municipal offices.

The official opening will mark a new era in Peterborough municipal politics.

ALDERMAN, MAYOR, Member of the House of Commons and now Senator is the municipal and political history of the Hon. J. J. Duffus. Mr. Duffus was mayor in 1916 and 1917. He was elected to the House of Commons for Peterborough West in 1935 and named to the Senate in 1940.

East Wing Of New City Hall Set Aside For The Police

Occupying the most space in the new city hall is the police department, which takes up all rooms in the east wing of the building except the boiler room in the basement.

Among innovations for Peterborough in the police wing are offices for the crown attorney, and defence lawyers, a room for witnesses and an office for the magistrate. As well, the police chief and the deputy chief have separate offices, and for the first time, a secretary. The secretary doubles as receptionist and her desk is located behind a wooden counter between the offices.

The court room, clean and bright, is a welcome change for the magistrate, crown attorney defence counsel and the press. It is of white plaster, with recessed ceiling lights, two windows at either end and floored with light green linoleum.

A few benches are placed toward the front of the court room, and chairs—50 of them—are available to accommodate any overflow there may be.

The magistrate's bench is not yet made, and for a short period, the mayor's dais from the old council chamber is filling the gap.

Starting in the basement, there are 10 cells—four for women and six for men. A shower is provided, and in all the cells except one, there is a toilet, flushed by a push button.

Also in the basement is the common room for the constables, with a kitchen, washroom and showers adjoining it. Towards the west end of the east wing is a room for holding stolen goods.

On the first floor of the east wing are offices for the police chief and his deputy, a large room for the desk sergeants, and adjoining it a radio room. Also adjoining the sergeant's room is the vault.

Opposite the desk sergeants' office are rooms for the identification officer and the detectives. As well, there is a room for photographing prisoners with a small darkroom off it.

On the second floor (top floor) of the east wing are the offices for the crown attorney, defence counsel, the court stenographer, and magistrate, as well as a room for witnesses.

The large court room—24' 8" by 40' 10"—fills out the top floor of the east wing.

Many Attempts Made At Amalgamation Between Town, Village Of Ashburnham

By DON GRANT

Although the village council never used the building to any great extent, Ashburnham hall, situated at the corner of Hunter and Mark Sts., has played a prominent part in the history of that section of the city.

In its early years the hall contained several of the village's civic departments and some commercial stores. The hall itself has in its more than 100-year history been used for civic meetings, church and other organizations.

Before 1858 when Ashburnham was Peterborough East, the hall was the centre of community activity on the eastern side of the Otonabee river and continued that way until after the village was incorporated in 1858. Then it housed the village jail and the equipment of the volunteer fire department.

Immediately after Peterborough East became Ashburnham, the Ashburnham village council used the public school for meetings, leaving the town hall for social functions and larger civic meetings.

This was probably because the village clerk, John Wood, was also the headmaster at the school, and his room was used for the council meetings. Between the school and the hall, the council met until the amalgamation with the city after the turn of the century.

Discuss Amalgamation

Probably the most significant meetings held in the town hall during its history were the Ashburnham citizen meetings to discuss the amalgamation with Peterborough.

The first meeting was held in 1872 when a committee was appointed by the Peterborough town council to confer with the village council on the proposed union. On October 11 the town's committee reported the basis for the union: the municipality of Peterborough would be divided into six wards, two of them in Ashburnham; the united municipalities were responsible for all debts; the east wards were to have two councillors each and the station of the Canadian Pacific Railway was to remain in Ashburnham.

In January, 1873, a vote was taken by the ratepayers, the results (46-9) favoring the amalgamation. However, the town council bylaw never passed beyond the first reading and the union faded.

Again in 1889 Ashburnham citizens were union-aroused when a deputation from the Peterborough council met with the village council. They decided to again refer the proposal to the ratepayers, but again the union failed.

For a third time amalgamation was discussed in 1894 when, backed by the Peterborough papers, a meeting was held by the citizens of village and town.

Planning Sewage System

Although the majority favored the union, the Ashburnham ratepayers were afraid of the $160,000 sewage system that the town was flirting with. For a third time the proposal fell through.

The councils kept pushing amalgamation until 1903, when on October 13, a joint committee of the two councils met. Progress was made and it was decided to hold another vote on October 26. A sewage system for the village it was understood would be constructed for not less than $10,000 if the communities united.

The vote, although not decisive, favored the union, both in the town and village, and on December 18, proclamations officially announced the amalgamation, Ashburnham becoming Ward 5 with representation at the next election.

Since then, the present brick building has replaced the frame building but the uses are still the same, various organizations employing its facilities from time to time such as the Ashburnham Civic Association in 1901, the Ashburnham Ratepayers Association in 1921 and 1931, and the Patriotic League of Ashburnham which did work for soldiers during the First World War.

In more recent times the Ashburnham hall has been used by the Red Cross Society, by churches in Ashburnham, by the Peterborough Boxing club and by other athletic groups.

Ashburnham hall's main use now is the practice room for the Peterborough Citizens band which holds practices there once a week, otherwise the building stands, a monument to Ashburnham's history as a village.

A. A. McINTYRE was elected mayor in 1920 when returning officer and city clerk S. R. Armstrong broke the tie that had resulted on the recount following the election. On election night, W. H. Taylor led by one vote. Mr. McIntyre asked for a recount, which was held before Judge E. C. S. Huycke. The recount resulted in each having 1,483 votes. Mr. Armstrong cast his vote for Mr. McIntyre as he was the man senior in years of service on the council.

James Stevenson Served Peterborough For 55 Years

$51,318., the addition to the Queen Alexandra school and the King Edward school by Rutherford Bros. for $34,000.

Honor James Stevenson

On October 10, 1906 at the Board of Education meeting James Stevenson who had retired in 1905 was honored. He had served 55 years continuously.

At the inaugural meeting in 1909 L. M. Hayes was named chairman. Mr. Hayes served the board for 18 years. He practised law with E. H. D. Hall until he was appointed senior judge for the County of Wellington in 1914. John Crane succeeded Mr. Hayes as chairman in 1911 and 1912. Mr. Crane came to Peterborough in 1886 as junior clerk in the Ontario Bank and later became associated with the Dominion Bank and opened the first branch in Peterborough. He was organist and choirmaster of St. Paul's church for 19 years and later with St. Andrew's. Mr. Crane was a member of the Board of Education for 14 years, secretary of the Nicholls Hospital Trust for 50 years and for many years a member of the Nicholls Park Commission. First elected to the Board in 1906 Dr. M. A. Morrison was chosen chairman for 1913 and 1914. Dr. Morrison had taught school for a brief period before he started to study dentistry and on graduation in 1892 he came to Peterborough. Prior to being elected a member of the Board of Education he had served for three years as an alderman.

B. F. Ackerman who had brought his harness business to Peterborough in 1882 became a member of the Board in 1905 and in 1915 and 1916 was chairman.

Dean Of Survivors

Dean of the men who have served on the Board of Education since 1900 and are still alive is Vincent Eastwood. Mr. Eastwood was first elected to the Board in 1899 and remained a member until 1905. He returned for a second term in 1911 and remained until 1918. He was chairman the last two years he was a member of the Board. He was followed by Roland Denne who after being chairman for two years was elected to the city council and later served as mayor.

Then there followed as chairmen in the last 30 years: Dr. F. C. Neal, 1921; A. A. Fowler 1922 and 1923; J. M. Greene 1924; J. A. McKone 1925 and 1926; E. B. Fowler 1927 and 1928; Dr. J. J. Craig 1929 and 1930; Mrs. W. R. Morris 1931 and 1932; E. F. Reid 1933 and 1934; Dr. A. Moir 1935 and 1936; Dr. G. R. Scott 1937 and 1938; John R. Marshall 1939 and 1940; D. G. H. Melton 1940 and 1941; H. G. Walker 1942; Dr. C. M. Scott 1943; G. Wilson Craw 1944; T. J. Carley 1945; C. Alex Sollitt 1946; D. V. Canning 1947 and 1948; Mrs. F. W. K. Harris 1948; Frank Jobbitt 1949 and 1950 and Dr. Ralph Honey 1951.

In this period 1921 to 1951 Mrs. W. R. Morris served for 20 years. Mrs. Morris was the first woman ever elected to municipal office in Peterborough and although at first her invasion of a municipal field controlled by men was not taken too gracious by several of the males, Mrs. Morris remained and gave a leadership in education in Peterobrough which finally resulted in the erection of the vocational school at the collegiate. A former teacher she was alive to the problems of the teachers, a past president of the Ontario Home and School Federation she also had the viewpoint of the parents. She fought hard for the vocational school at a time when the idea was none too popular among educational leaders and others in the city.

The Prince of Wales school was opened in 1921 and then followed a period of 20 years when the Board of Education had no accommodation problems in the public school and the collegiate and vocational school had sufficient room.

However in 1942 the public school population started to increase and continued to increase. The city through annexations and people moving in added 10,000 to its population and this influx of new citizens could not help but be felt in the school population. By 1946 more room was necessary and since that time the board has hardly been able to keep ahead of the increasing flow of children into the public schools. A six-room addition was built to Queen Mary School and similar additions to Confederation and Prince of Wales schools and a four-room school was built on Parkhill Rd.

The PCVS became overcrowded and building is now under way on Monaghan Rd. in the south end of the city. Even with all this there is an ever increasing demand for more room to house the pupils.

Secretary-Treasurers

Ivan O'Beirne, the first secretary-treasurer of the board, held that position until 1874. Then for a period of two years Charles Perry was secretary-treasurer. He was followed by William A. Morrow 1876 to 1887 to be succeeded on his death by his son W. G. Morrow. Mr. Morrow was 23 years secretary-treasurer and it is to him that Peterborough is indebted for its new city hall. G. Harry Thompson succeeded Mr. Morrow in 1910 and held that office until 1939. These men had all been part-time officials. The Toronto Savings and Loan Co. had for 50 years provided the office space and the board room. The story is told that the night Mr. Thompson took over from Mr. Morrow he asked about the books and other office equipment. Mr. Morrow pointed to the minute book and the ledgers and said that is all. There was not even a typewriter.

When Mr. Thompson resigned J. E. Huggins who was appointed first full time secretary-treasurer remained until 1949, when K. S. Wightman was appointed.

Superintendents

The new Common School Act came into force in 1844 and Elias Burnham was appointed superintendent of schools for the Colborne district of which the township of North Monaghan was a part. Mr. Burnham was paid £25 a year and later £50 including travelling expenses. He was succeeded by Thomas Benson in 1850. After the retirement of Mr. Benson in 1852 the county was divided into four sections for purposes of school superintendence with Thomas Fortye being named in charge of the township of North Monaghan. He continued until 1865 when D. W. Dumble, BA, was the first appointment to be made by the Board. This superintendent's job was not taken too seriously. It was a part time affair and gave the man the right to go into the schools and look things over. But it was the members of the Board, in those early days, who actually took their duties very seriously and inspected the schools and the instruction being given. They would examine the pupils and more than once severely reprimanded the teacher for his handling of the school and the apparent lack of progress on the part of the pupils.

Several superintendents followed Mr. Dumble, whose term of office might only be a year and then be reappointed several years later when the Board had forgiven them. Two of these were Ivan O'Beirne and James Stratton. Then in 1892 the first full time public school inspector was named. The appointee was J. W. Garvin, who came from Woodstock. His salary was $1,200. Mr. Garvin in his first report to the Board said that "aesthetic culture has been much neglected." This statement alarmed the members and they seemed very interested in finding out if the government would cut the grants on account of this lapse. He was succeeded in 1895 by Alex Wherry of Windsor, who unfortunately was drowned while canoeing in Little Lake the following summer. In November, 1896, Duncan Walker of Brockville was named inspector. Mr. Walker then commenced a long career in the service of education in Peterborough and the province of Ontario. In 1907 Mr. Walker resigned to become first principal of the Peterborough Normal School, and later became director of professional education for Ontario.

Alex Mowat, also from Brockville, was named inspector in 1907 and continued for 20 years when he resigned, and K. S. Wightman, who had been principal in the public schools since 1918, was named inspector. In 1947 Mr. Wightman was named superintendent of schools, and P. D. Windrim, who was principal of the Prince of Wales School, was appointed inspector.

Collegiate Principals

J. J. Jeffers was one of the first principals after the Grammar School became recognized as a Collegiate Institute. In 1881, he resigned to be succeeded by John Dixon, 1881 to 1883; Dr. Tassie, 1884 to 1886; and J. H. Long 1886 to 1889.

Then commenced 19 years of faithful service by Cortez Fessenden, who was also mathematics master. In 1908, when the present Collegiate was opened, he resigned as principal, and continued to teach for several years. His place was taken by H. R. H. Kenner, who had been on the staff since 1893 as classics master. Mr. Kenner, who later was honored by Toronto University with a LL.D., served for 35 years as principal until 1943, when after 50 years' service to secondary education in Peterborough, he resigned. The present principal, C. S. Browne, who had been mathematics master since 1914, was named principal.

Ball Club Pays $500 On Lights

Poor attendance at the senior baseball games this year limited the turnover to the city council this year for payment of the lights to only $500, the same as last year.

The financial statement of the Riverside lighting fund for 1951 season was announced to the Recreation Commission Tuesday night. It carried a bank balance from the 1950 season of $1,029. Receipts from the 21 baseball games this year of $1,275 brought the total to $2,304. After payments amounting close to $1,600 had been paid, the fund had only $704.

The $500 payment was made out of the $704 by the recreation commission who control the lighting fund.

When the lights were installed early last year, the annual payment was set at $2,500, if possible. The 1950 season was short under the lights and that payment was agreed at $500. The poor season this year forced the small amount paid again.

Alex Sinclair blamed the poor year on the Toronto teams of the Viaduct League, saying that the Toronto teams were "seldom here on time, never played with a hustle, and never played the baseball to bring the fans back."

G. A. O'Sullivan Dies At 73

Solemn requiem mass for George A. O'Sullivan, who died last Wednesday, was said Friday at St. Mary's church, Campbellford. Mr. O'Sullivan, who was 73, was born in Seymour township, a son of the late Cornelius O'Sullivan and Mary O'Brien.

In 1914 he married the former Mary Nathan, who died last June. For 31 years, he had operated a grocery store in Campbellford, retiring in 1944.

He is survived by three sons, Frank of Ottawa, Paul of Campbellford and the Rev. Joseph O'Sullivan of Peterborough. There are two brothers, Rt. Rev. F. J. O'Sullivan of Peterborough, John of Lansing, and two sisters, Sister M. Antoinette of Mount St. Joseph and Mrs. E. R. Pegnam of Rochester, NY.

Mr. O'Sullivan's son, Joseph, celebrated mass, assisted by the Rev. F. Pegnam and the Rev. William O'Flaherty. Final absolution was given by the Most Rev. Gerald Berry, Bishop of Peterborough, and graveside prayers were said by Father O'Sullivan and the Rev. J. Moloney.

Pallbearers were C. O'Sullivan, B. Daly, W. J. Smith, R. McDougall, J. Anderson and L. Doherty.

Members of the clergy present at the service were the Revs. V. McFadden, J. Moloney, W. Meagher, C. Carroll, J. J. Garvey, J. Walsh, J. Lynch, P. Lynch, V. Gillogly, L. Rishea, H. Black, C. Kay, G. Wolff, J. Coughlan, J. Houlihan, V. Perdue, J. Greenan, R. Garvey, J. Weiss, F. Grant, K. Malane, H. Fitzgerald, J. Hickey, G. Gaughan, G. Sullivan, V. Corkery.

James J. McMartin

The funeral for James J. McMartin, 398 Aylmer St., who died Sunday was held today from the Duffus funeral home to St. Peter's Cathedral for solemn high requiem mass.

Celebrant of the mass was the Rev. G. Weiss; deacon of the mass was the Rev. R. Garvey and subdeacon, the Rev. J. Hickey.

Pallbearers were: Norman Shaughnessy, Joseph Shaughnessy, Cecil Shaughnessy, Wilfred Jones, Alfred Hawthorne, Thomas Monk. Burial was in St. Peter's cemetery, where graveside prayers were said by Father Garvey.

George W. Soulby

The funeral for George W. Soulby, 313 Boswell Ave., who died Sunday, was held Tuesday, from the Nesbitt funeral home. The Rev. M. P. Poole of All Saints' Anglican Church conducted the service.

Pallbearers were: Herb Martin, F. H. Dearborn, Albert Rundle, David Bell, James Juby, Ken Sloane and W. J. Prindible. Burial was in Little Lake cemetery.

Cecile Candidate

PLANTAGENET, Ont., Oct. 24 —(CP)—Hon. Louis P. Cecile, Ontario Minister of Travel and Publicity, Tuesday night was unanimously chosen at a nomination meeting to represent the Progressive Conservative party in Prescott riding in the forthcoming provincial elections.

Complete Suspension

During the hearing, the younger Patterson . . . made charges before the OHA sub-committee against his teammates, his father, and D. L. McKnight, that they, as a team, had thrown the series with Peterborough Petes."

The suspension hearing followed.

The letter, in giving background to the series with Peterborough, said the OHA had decreed at a meeting in Belleville last January that teams finishing first and second in the cup would play off for the right to proceed further in the Allan Cup playdowns.

Opposed Arrangement

"D. L. McKnight oposed this arrangement and the meeting was almost broken up on that point. Mr. McKnight stated his club was not interested in the Allan Cup playoffs since he felt it had not the strength and also it would probably mean operating at a deficit for the season. However, in the interests of unanimity, Mr. McKnight eventually conceded the point and the agreement was struck."

The letter-statement added that the players had been offered a dinner party by Patterson if they could make the Allan Cup playoffs. The team finished second, and, while the players were being entertained at Patterson's home, McKnight discussed the playoffs with them, including such things as "players getting time off from work."

"Two nights later, the Nylon team entered the playoffs against Peterborough, the team they had beaten only three times during the regular season, two of these games in overtime . . . The better team won the series as expected. We most emphatically state that we do not believe there was an agreement to permit Peterborough Petes to win the series."

Jailed 14 Years

CHICAGO, Oct. 24 —(AP)—Frank Ekamp, 54, was sentenced to prison for 14 years Tuesday for the death of a baby girl in a fire he set to get even with his landlord. Ekamp pleaded guilty to murder and arson in the June 13 fire that killed Geraldine Tuzik, 4. Ekamp's landlord had barred him from the building because he was drunk.

Snakeskin-Tight Festive Dresses Shown By Fath

PARIS, Oct. 24.—Long evening skirts were nearly as tight as mummy wrappings in the new mid-season fashion collection shown by Jacques Fath today. The lady who wears one will move with sinuous glide.

Opening during Fath's absence in the US, the new collection was a sparse one with only 14 new models, padded out with boutique numbers.

It seems the mid-season collections as a whole this year will be fewer and smaller than ever before. Majority opinion is that many houses can't afford the expense, but some dressmakers insist they are still too busy with customers for their fall collection to make a new one.

Fath obviously aimed at the Christmas holiday trade with a collection leaning heavily to evening and cocktail clothes.

Next to black bold scarlet was the favorite color. The one huge-skirted number was as merry as a Christmas bell in deep red violet. With this one exception, all the long dresses were snake-skin tight with angle hobbling hems, prim and proper with high-necked long-sleeved jackets.

The designer is still faithful to bell skirts in his short dresses. One dress had a real skater's skirt swinging out from beneath a short double basque effect. Most day dresses were in jersey with moderately narrow skirts.

Simplicity was the over-all theme of the collection.

Whiteley Crossed Atlantic 69 Times

A. P. Whiteley, a director of G. Whitaker & Co. Ltd., wool importers of this city, is making one of his periodical visits to Peterborough from the company's headquarters in Bradford, Eng. This visit follows his 69th voyage across the Atlantic.

In celebration of the company's 50th year of existence, he, along with Mrs. Whiteley, leaves for California at the end of this month and from there journey to New Zealand and Australia, returning to England via Singapore and Ceylon. This constitutes a round-the-world tour which lands the voyagers back in England at the beginning of April next year.

Mr. Whiteley commenced working with the firm from its commencement in 1901, and after opening the company's department in Boston, Mass., in 1909, also opened the Canadian branch in this city in August, 1920, from which date Gordon Monkman has been resident manager. He was a guest at the Rotary luncheon at the Empress Hotel last Monday, and was presented with a nepheline ash-tray by the president and fellow Rotarians.

Freedom Train Czechs Arrive In Halifax

HALIFAX, Oct. 24 —(CP)—Eleven Czechs who crashed the guarded frontier of their country in a stolen train will complete their flight to freedom today. They are due here aboard the refugee liner Goya.

They were passengers aboard a Czechoslovakia express when engineer Jaroslav Konvalinka and three friends re-routed it through to the Czechoslovak-German border and broke through barricades into the American zone of Germany.

Thirty-one jumped at the chance to remain in Germany and some applied for entry to Canada. The others were returned to Czechoslovakia along with the train.

Immigration Minister Harris said Tuesday in Ottawa that eight had been denied entry. He said their cases had to be considered on the same basis as those of many other refugees who had crossed the Iron Curtain.

Drunk Arrest No. 13 For Lawrence Tierney

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 24 (AP)—It was drunk arrest No. 13 for Actor Lawrence Tierney today.

Police took him into custody outside a bar which they said he had entered, shoeless and offered to "whip anybody in the house." He was booked on suspicion of being drunk and disorderly, and was jailed.

His 12th arrest was only two weeks ago in a Santa Monica church where he reportedly created a disturbance. He was without shoes on that occasion, too.

Lili St. Cyr Reopens With "Milder" Act Police Say Patrons Still See Too Much Girl

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 24 (AP)—The physical assets of Lili St. Cyr—almost all of 'em, anyway—went back on public display on Tuesday night.

The statuesque stripper, formerly of Montreal, went into temporary retirement last week after the law accused her of "lewdly exposing her person." She re-opened at a filmland night club with a "milder" act.

The paying patrons were enthusiastic, even though they saw less of Lili than she is accustomed to exposing. But two sheriff's officers, present in the role of "art" critics, failed to applaud.

There was, they said, still too much of Lili.

For the sake of art (and $5,000 a week), Miss St. Cyr does an act that is simplicity itself. She disrobes and takes a bath.

For Tuesday night's "milder" version she peeled off her gown and unmentionables behind a small screen.

Sheriff's Captain Walker Hannon said it was too small.

He also said there should be a screen in front of the big champagne goblet in which Lili does her scrubbing. With these modifications, Walker and Capt. Pete Sutton said, the show could go on.

"But it still looks like a strip act to me," Hannon commented darkly.

Miss St. Cyr, 30, luscious, leggy veteran of 14 years on the burlesque circuit, will be arraigned Thursday.

Need Training For Employees

Personnel training was stressed by the Personnel Association of Peterborough Tuesday at its opening meeting of the 1951-52 season at the Empress Hotel.

Hal Crane, formerly of Peterborough, now factory superintendent of the Gutta Percha Tire and Rubber Company, led the series of four speakers by explaining the need for supervision training and the pitfalls to be avoided in implementing a training program.

Robert Howsam, Studebaker of Canada, spoke on the need for providing the proper atmosphere and other aids to make a training program acceptable to personnel.

Other speakers were: Miss Betty Jane Skinner, personnel division of the Robert Simpson Company, on training in retail sales; George Harrower, Institute of Supervisory and Personnel Development, on the steps to be considered in starting a training program.

Wet Paper Drive Will Net $700

Whenever the Boy Scouts hold a paper drive, Peterborough citizens can count on rainy, windy weather for that one night. That is the feeling today of the Peterborough Boy Scout Association as Mother Nature dealt the poorest weather Tuesday night in the 11 collections conducted so far.

At 6 pm, in spite of the rain, the cubs, scouts, leaders and fathers met to begin the fall drive for an expected 100 tons of waste paper. But the leaders decided to send the boys home and work with the fathers.

The fleet of trucks started out and after all were soaked to the skin, they had collected 60 tons of paper. They filled only four of the expected eight freight cars.

Peter Dominik, assistant commissioner, said "there was a lot of paper left, but it was practically impossible under the weather conditions to collect all of it."

He explained that most of the people didn't realize that good or bad weather, the drive would go on. But today, he added, the trucks went out a second time to pick up that people had left out.

In the past 10 drives the Scouts have collected about 100 tons of paper and cardboard on each drive, netting about $900. From this drive the result will be about $700. This money will be used by the various cub, scout and rover groups as well as the Peterborough Association.

She leaves two sisters, Mrs. Alice Kerwon, San Diego, California, Mrs. Margaret Betts, Buffalo, NY, one brother, James Foley, Buffalo, and an uncle John McGuire, Kin

Bancroft Lions Realize $488 From Auctioning

BANCROFT, Oct. 24 (ENS). — Everything from a 6-cylinder 24-foot motor boat to a miniature salt shaker went under the auctioneer's hammer at Bancroft Lions Club's white elephant sale in North Hastings Community Centre Saturday afternoon and evening.

Raised for the welfare fund of the club was $488 as a result of the gigantic sale that filled the Centre with people and merchandise of every kind, shape and form. Among the varied articles sold were waffle irons, electric razors, school desks, used clothing, shoes, boxing gloves, stoves, car chains, bottled minnows, an orange squeezer, a cocktail shaker, tea pots, ash trays, clocks, lamp shades, beds, pictures, golf clubs, umbrellas, tables, dishes, 2 bags of potatoes, skiis, snowshoes and almost anything else that could be found in an attic or cellar.

For the young there were a number of cute puppies that found ready bidders among the boys and girls. With the pups was sold a case of biscuits that might have originally been dog biscuits, or it might have been some leftover supplies from the camp of Paul Bunyan. Two of the most interesting items were a goat and a number of pure-bred Hereford cattle.

Auctioneer R. R. Loney, who handled both the afternoon and evening sales, donated his services. In charge of the affair was a committee of Lions headed by Mike Burns and Whitney Martin.

Springville YPU Holds Meeting At Fairmount

SPRINGVILLE, Oct. 24 (ENS) —The Young People's Union had an evening of recreation and worship at Fairmount on Friday evening. The worship service was brief. Marie Hooten read the Scripture and Hazel McIntosh told a true story of God's immediate answer to a missionary's prayer. Myrna Seymour and Eleanore Bowles arranged the program of games for the evening. Refreshments were served.

Carl Preston, younger son of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Preston, has been taken to Riverside Isolation Hospital, Toronto. His many friends wish him a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. William Seymour and daughters Myrtle and Wilma, and Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Seymour and Mr. and Mrs. Gordon McIntosh attended the wedding on Saturday at Hamilton of Jean Rachel Seymour, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Seymour, to Lyle Allan Smith, also of Hamilton.

Before moving to Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Seymour and family lived in Cavan Township.

Hastings Chamber Plans To Hold Party

HASTINGS, Oct. 24 (ENS).—The local Chamber of Commerce held a dinner meeting Monday evening. The president, A. Orr, called on Arvel Soper, who introduced the guest speaker, N. Avery of Toronto who spoke on "Progress in a small village."

The Chamber has decided to play host to the children of the village on Hallowe'en night. J. Lynch was appointed chairman and his committee is Bruce Scott and Fred Crate. The children are asked to be at the town hall at 7 p.m. on October 31 and to come in costume. The program will consist of three movies, judging of costumes and an amateur contest and then a shell-out of candy and apples.

Court Martial Sgt-Major

KLAGENFURT, Austria, Oct. 24 (Reuters).—A sergeant major was court martialed out of the British army here Tuesday for dating a pretty Czech girl he was supposed to be holding in a cell on spy charges. Sgt. Maj. Eric Donald Ferguson was in charge of conducting the girl, attractive Maria Wograina, 21, from her cell to the courtroom during her spy trial last February. She was acquitted of working for the Czechoslovak Communists. Ferguson admitted in testimony that he had taken the girl out to fashionable restaurants when she was supposed to be in jail.

Church Anniversary

MARMORA, Oct. 24 (ENS). — The anniversary service of Cordova United Church was held on Sunday afternoon with the Rev. G. D. Young officiating and a good congregation present. The choir of St. Andrew's United Church, Marmora, led the singing of special hymns, and Mrs. Russell Long rendered a solo. An address was given by the pastor on the subject "My Own Church."

Hear Testimony From Larry MacPhail

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 (AP) —Larry MacPhail, former boss of the New York Yankees who criticized baseball's rules, was today's witness before Congressmen investigating the game.

The House monopoly sub-committee found a copy of a critical report on baseball written by MacPhail. A major league attorney said he had tried to gather up all copies of it after it was rejected by the major league steering committee.

MacPhail wrote the report in 1947. It expressed doubt that some baseball regulations, like the reserve clause which binds players to their clubs were legal. It also called baseball a business, and said it was a badly-run business.

The report was rejected as not reflecting the opinion of most baseball club owners.

MacPhail is expected to be questioned about his views on the controversial reserve clause, the draft rules and the farm system—now that he is a horse breeder in nearby Maryland.

Metras Ignores Student Wrath

LONDON, Ont., Oct. 24 (CP). —Johnny Metras, coach of the University of Western Ontario football team, declined comment Tuesday night on a story appearing in the latest issue of The Gazette, University of Western Ontario student newspaper, concerning the plight of the team this season.

Metras said he preferred to ignore the matter.

The story gave the result of a student poll taken on the Western campus on "what is wrong with the Mustangs."

Some students blamed inexperience as the main factor. Others mentioned "fumbleitis" and poor blocking.

More felt that there was a need for a good quarterback. One reply said "the only quarterback we had was (Ray) Truant and when he got hurt the Mustangs were done."

Eleven students went so far as to blame Metras, himself. One student said "He plays too many favorites. Good players are made to sit on the bench because Metras shows a dislike to them. This is causing a great deal of dissension in the team."

Lady Lions Plan Dinner For Men's Section

MILLBROOK, Oct. 24 (ENS)—The Lady Lions met at the home of Mrs. Dick Hutchinson on Monday night. The new president, Mrs. Stewart Snelgrove, was in the chair.

It was decided to contribute $20 to help the men's club in providing prizes for costumes, games and treats for the children's Hallowe'en party the Lions sponsor each year in the Armouries.

Mrs. Percy Hamilton was appointed treasurer to replace Mrs. Fred Hindle who has moved from Millbrook to Petrolia.

The south group, under the direction of Mrs. Homer Ouellette is to serve dinner to the men's club for their November meeting on the 5th. Mrs. H. Kerr and her group will be in charge of refreshments for the Lions Club dances being held in the town hall on Nov. 1.

At the close of the meeting the members from Bailieboro served refreshments.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Kennedy left Monday on a motor trip to the west coast.

Arrest 3 Suspects Trying To Steal Safe

INGERSOLL, Ont., Oct. 24 (CP) —Three suspects were arrested following an unsuccessful attempt early today to steal the safe from the local bureau of The Woodstock Sentinel-Review. It was the second time in two months that the office had been broken into.

The men were surprised in their attempt to open the safe, but they escaped. Two were picked up outside Ingersoll. The third was arrested in London.

Farewell Party

HASTINGS, Oct. 24 (ENS).—The Cobourg road school was the scene of a farewell party when friends and neighbors gathered to bid farewell to Ed. Fanning and his sister, Mrs. T. J. Lamey, who are moving from their farm to the village of Hastings.

Mrs. Frank Coveney read an address which Miss Clara Williamson had prepared. Mr. Fanning and his sister were presented with an occasional chair, a tri-light lamp and a purse of money Mr. Fanning and Mrs. Lamey replied.

Biltmores Clip Kitchener 6-2

By The Canadian Press.

Guelph Biltmores handed Kitchener Greenshirts their first defeat in six Ontario Hockey Association Junior A League starts by clipping them 6-2 Tuesday night.

The loss, before a hometown crowd of 5,348 fans—a record for the young season—cut Kitchener's first place lead to one point over Guelph.

Andy Bathgate spotted Guelph an early 1-0 lead but the goal was matched by Graham Joyce's effort four minutes later to tie the count, for the only scoring in the first period.

Guelph took the lead again in the second frame as Dean Prentice, then Bill McCreary scored before the stanza was half over. Rookie Greg Hicks cut the margin to 3-2 and that was as far as Kitchener got.

Bilts tallied the only three goals of the finale, with Ron Murphy, Louis Foninato and McCreary, again, scoring in that order.

Mrs. R. Hartshorn

Funeral service for the late Mrs. Roxie Hartshorn, 52, of 175 River Rd. N., who died Monday in hospital following a prolonged illness, was held Tuesday at the Kaye funeral home. The Rev. M. W. Heslip of Madoc Presbyterian Church and the Rev. Ralph Hobson of Park Street Alliance Church officiated. Pallbearers were Marshall and Hugh Heslip, Wilfred and Eric Hartshorn, Frank Nield and Walter Batley. Burial was at Little Lake Cemetery.

Korea Volunteers

OSLO — (CP). — More than 1,000 Norwegians volunteered when it was announced the Norwegian surgical field hospital in Korea would be enlarged. Present staff of the 200-bed hospital includes 83 Norwegians plus technicians, nurses and truck drivers. Only about 85 more are needed.

Poor Posture Can Cause People To Talk Hoarsely

By FRANK CAREY

TORONTO, Oct. 24 — (CP) — If you talk hoarsely, or othewise with effort, it may be due to poor posture, a researcher on speech defects said today.

Professor Harlan Bloomer, of the University of Michigan's speech clinic, declared that while there are various more-serious causes of hoarseness and other speech difficulty, one possible cause is "improper breathing."

And, he told reporters at the 20th annual meeting of the American Academy of Pediatrics, improper breathing can result from failure to maintain a "reasonably erect posture".

"Most of us," he said, "don't breathe properly for easy or normal voice production. For normality in voice, air must be available under pressure—and the way to get that pressure is to contract the abdominal muscles so that the diaphragm is raised."

"Adequate posture" could promote that type of breathing.

"Otherwise, if air is not available under pressure, the tendency is to constrict the throat during speech, resulting in abnormal voice production."

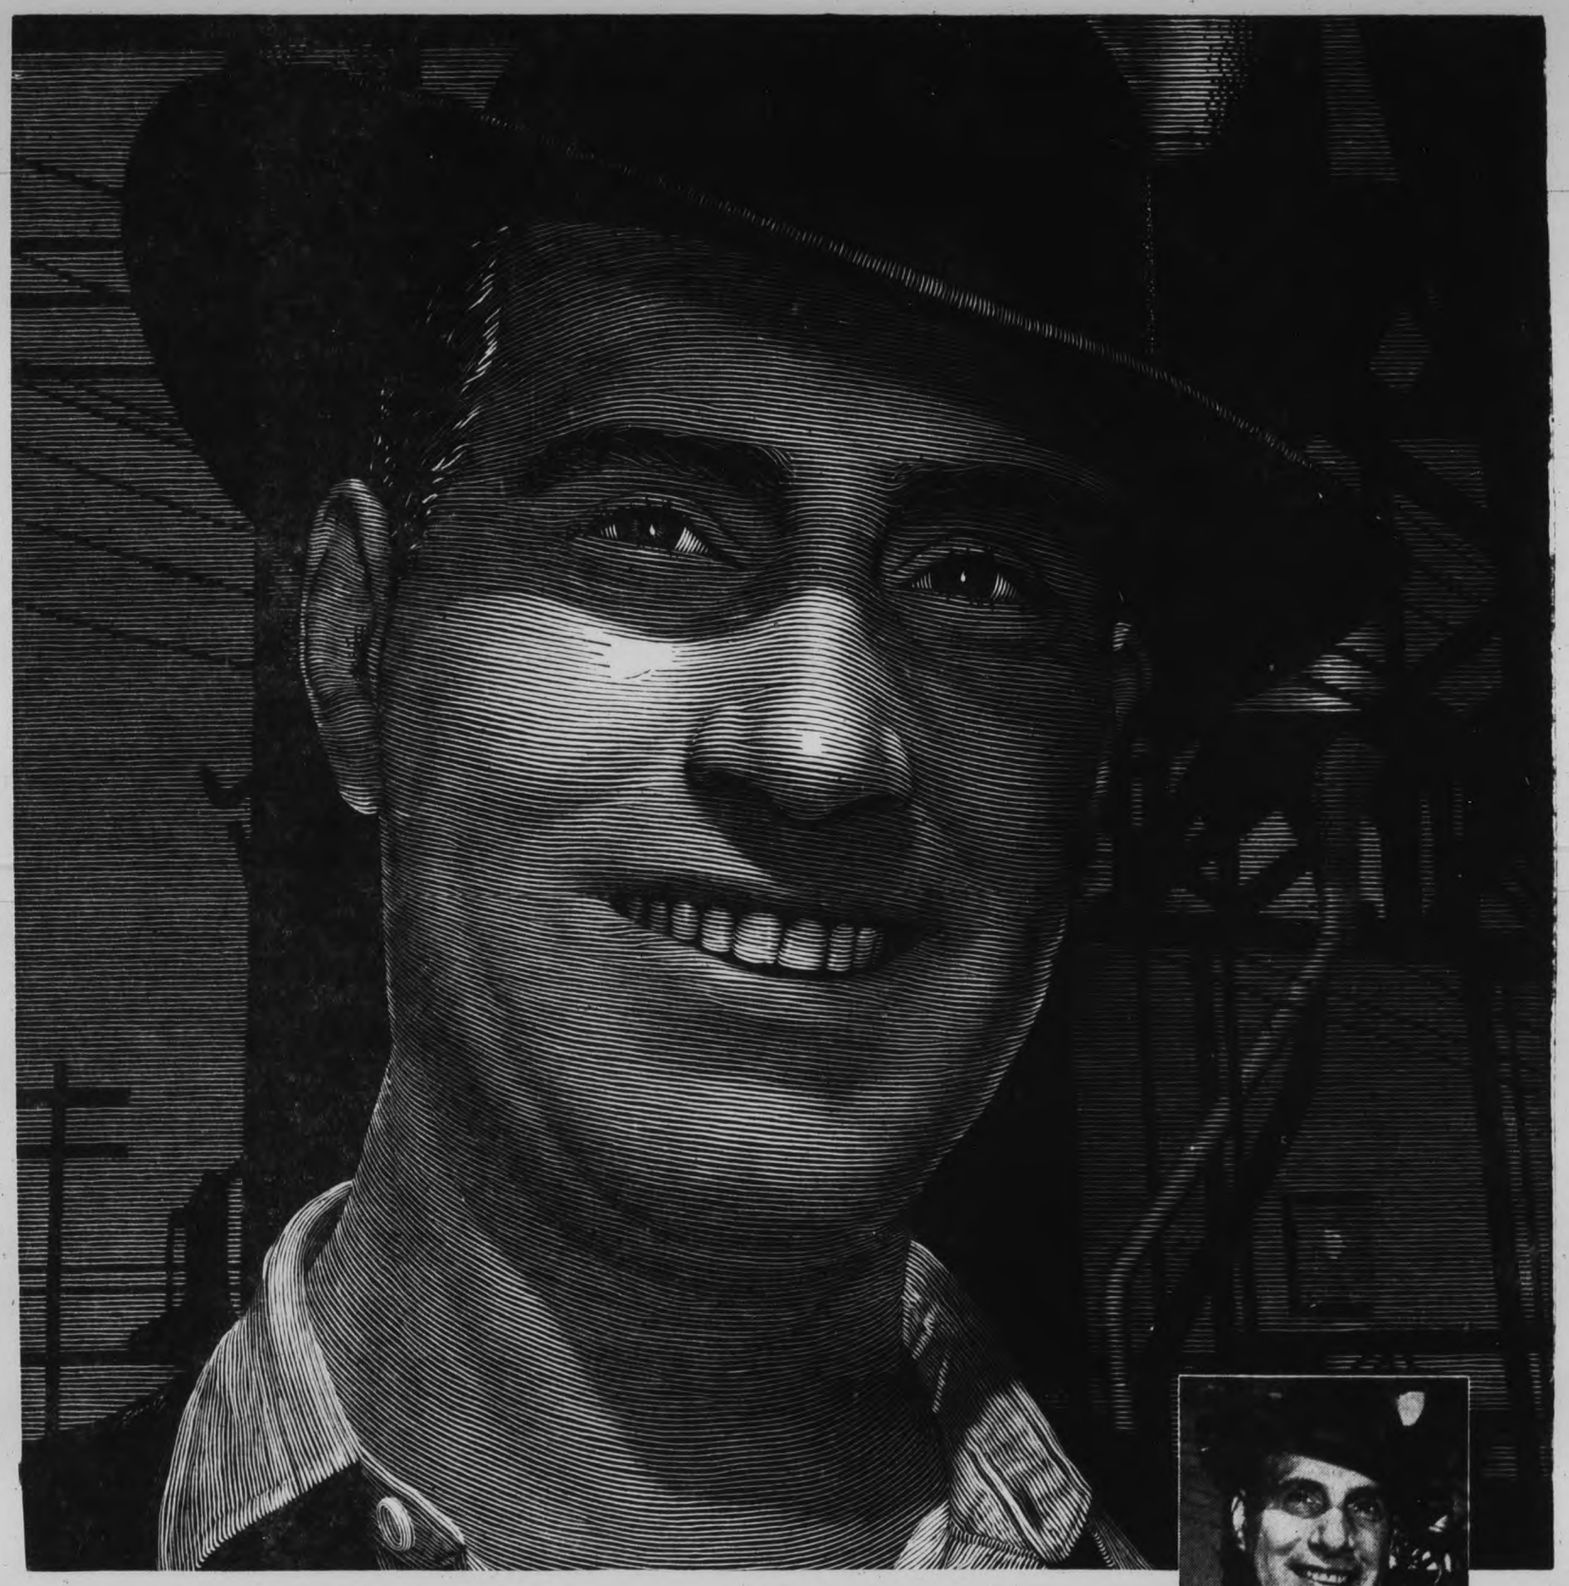
Discussing other aspects of speech disturbance, Bloomer said that "many" cases of stuttering, distortion or omission of sounds, and the rapid-fire type of speech known as "cluttering" have their origin in the first year of a child's life, even though they may not be recognized until the third or fourth year.

Emotional tenseness in the baby caused by such things as parental "heckling" could be a factor, he said, adding, however, that poor sleeping or eating habits could also be "physical" contributory factors. The fact that a parent might have a speech difficulty himself could be a further contribution.

People like lawyers and preachers can develop "corn-like" growths on their vocal cords from over-use of their voices. In rare cases this was also true of people who raise their voices constantly, in talking to hard-of-hearing members of their household.

In all such people, temporary silence could sometimes eliminate the inflammation, although in some instances surgical attack might be necessary.

Thieves Surprised In Lindsay Restaurant



LINDSAY, Oct. 24.—Two breakins took place in Lindsay during the past weekend. In one case about five dollars in petty cash was taken. In the other, the offenders were surprised and fled without taking anything.

Wilbur Heslop, insurance salesman in the Temple building, entered his office Monday morning to find that it had been completely ransacked. Entry had been made through the front door. Money was taken from a penny savings bank and also the petty cash drawer.

The unsuccessful breakin took place at the O.K. cafe. About 6 am Monday, the cook was on his way into the kitchen when he heard a door slam, a car horn and then a car pulling away.

Police found that the rear door of the cafe had been opened. The burglar was apparently making his was through the kitchen when the cook came in. Nothing was taken.

STOPS NEURITIC-NEURALGIC PAIN! ASPIRIN

*MR. WALTER W. BELLOW . . .

What do you think of Canada Savings Bonds, Mr. Bellow?
I guess that if they have taught us anything it's how to save. They certainly taught us that.

How is that?
Well, some of my friends cashed their bonds as soon as they were paid for, but I didn't. I realized that it is possible bit by bit to save a substantial amount of money by buying bonds. Once I had a bond, I wanted to keep it.

How do you pay for the Bonds?
Usually by payroll deductions. But one year the company didn't use that plan, and I was so anxious to buy a bond that I arranged with my bank to pay so much on a bond each month.

Do you plan to buy Bonds again this year?
Oh, yes. I'm a great believer in buying these bonds.

Why are you buying them?
Because they are such a safe investment. The interest may not be so large as on some other investments; but you can always be sure of their value and you can cash them any time at the bank for 100 cents on the dollar.

What is your purpose in buying Canada Savings Bonds?
For the future. It's nice to have something you can cash in an emergency. They're a protection for the security of our home. I've always felt a sense of security in knowing that I had money in bonds which I would not be likely to cash.

Have you cashed any of your Bonds?
Yes. I sold one because I had a chance to buy a woodworking machine for my home at a bargain. I had to buy it immediately and had no trouble in getting cash for a bond right away at the bank. It was a wonderful feeling, when I saw the ad for the machine in the paper, to be able to put my hands on the cash I needed for it.

Do other members of your family buy Canada Savings Bonds?
I buy some for my wife. Our son used to buy Victory Bonds when he had his own paper route, but now he is at university and it takes all his money to pay for his tuition.

Walter W. Bellow, 51, lives at 1618 West 60th Ave., Vancouver, B.C. He is a woodworking machinist at Sigurdson's Millwork. Born in Winnipeg, he moved to Victoria in 1937 and to Vancouver in 1940. He was married in 1927. They have one son, who is a student in his third year at the University of British Columbia. Mr. Bellow's hobbies include gardening, woodworking and playing the piano and the banjo.

Chinese Reds Starting Greater Purge

TAIPEH, Formosa, Oct. 24 (AP)—The Chinese Nationalists say heads are rolling again in a new and greater blood purge on the Communist mainland.

The defence ministry asserts that the new program calls for the extermination of anyone suspected of secret dissatisfaction with the Red regime or with the previous purges.

The ministry estimates more than 200,000 Chinese have been massacred in Kwangtung province alone in the new phase of the blood purge.

The Communists are supposed to be paying special attention now to former employees of the Nationalist government, whom the Communist regime absorbed by the thousands when it seized control.

Eventual Elimination

The ministry says the Communists plan to eliminate eventually every Chinese who ever served under the Nationalists.

Labor and farmer unions also are reported under closer scrutiny.

The Communist regime is said to have instituted a new chain guarantee system. By this method, if an individual goes over to anti-Red guerrillas a large number of his personal guarantees can be punished. Presumably his guarantees would be relatives.

"All jails on the mainland," the ministry says, "are packed. Prisoners, young and old, are engaged in forced labor under especially brutal circumstances."

To Keep Telephone

BRANTFORD Oct. 24—(CP)—The ivory telephone presented by this city to Princess Elizabeth will be installed in Clarence House, city council has been advised by Michael Parker, equerry-in-waiting. "Their Royal Highnesses are happy to have so useful a present from 'the telphone city'," he wrote.

TO SUEZ—Gen. Sir Brian Robertson in the Middle East, has flown from London to the Suez Canal Zone with orders to keep British forces there. Egypt's efforts to evict Britain from the Canal Zone have led to rioting and bloodshed.

THEIR EARS COVERED against the blast, US Marines go into a huddle as one of their comrades, second from right, pulls the lanyard of a rocket launcher somewhere in Korea. Sparks fly around the missiles and smoke billows around as another salvo is on its way to the Communist foe.

Old Mariners Gather To Spin Yarns

WINNIPEG. — (CP) — A group of old mariners gather here every Monday night to spin tales of the sea, sing a sea chanty or two and occasionally "splice the main brace."

Called the Cutty Sark Club after a famous sea clipper, their headquarters, or "ship" as they prefer to call it, is appropriately adorned with sailing gear.

Models of famous sailing ships of the pre-steam era, pictures, rope mats and various other seamen's articles are displayed. One cherished antique is a seamanship manual printed in England in 1783.

There now are 30 members of the club in Winnipeg and 40 others in Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, Denmark, the United Kingdom, United States, Finland, Germany and Tasmania. Until eight years ago, only old-time followers of the trade winds were allowed in the club. However, since their number has decreased, any sailor now is allowed to join.

Six of the original members of the club still are alive. One of them—87-year-old Charles Stankey of Waskada, Man.—is the only survivor of the first Cutty Sark crew.

Established by Mayor

It was a model of the Tea Clipper that inspired the formation of the Mariners' Club. C. F. Gray of Victoria a former seaman and Mayor of Winnipeg, saw a model of the Cutty Sark in a Winnipeg store and formed the club of retired sailing men.

The real Cutty Sark has been in a drydock on the Thames River in England for the last 14 years. Built in 1870, she set many speed records on runs from China and Australia but after the inauguration of steamships could get no cargoes.

After a mixed career, including mutinies and ever-present friction among her crew, the Clipper was sold to a Portuguese firm in 1895 and rechristened Ferreira. She roamed the seas for 10 more years and then was turned into a naval training ship.

The landlocked members of the Cutty Sark Club no longer have an opportunity to see a full-scale version of their namesake because they are thousands of miles from coastal waters.

However, they have their models, their pipes and their memories. Every Monday night the nostalgic strains of "Shenandoah" flow from their ship usually followed by a rousing chorus of "Blow the Man Down."

Coldwell Blames Industry Groups

OTTAWA, Oct. 24 (CP) — M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader, charged Tuesday night that government arguments against direct price controls are supported by powerful financial and industrial organizations whose profits have soared since controls were removed.

But some of these organizations so vehement in their opposition to price controls through legislation, were determined to maintain "the price controls which they have exercised over the years."

"They resist any proposals to make illegal price fixing by manufacturers," the CCF leader said in a speech prepared for delivery. Mr. Coldwell, speaking in the free-time political broadcast, the nation's business, over a CBC trans-Canada network, renewed his call for price controls now.

"As I have often said," he added, "it is not a matter of whether we have controls or not, but whether they shall be exercised through a democratically-elected parliament or by members of the Chamber of Commerce and by the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, whose sole interest is the maintenance—indeed the increase—of their swollen profits."

South Koreans Praise RCN Doctor's Great Skill

ABOARD HMCS CAYUGA IN THE FAR EAST — (CP) — Six months ago Joseph Cyr was a doctor in Edmundston, NB, but six months have wrought a lot of changes.

In recent weeks he's been earning the heartfelt admiration of Koreans and learning a heartfelt respect for them in turn.

As a Surgeon-Lieutenant in the Navy, the 28-year-old Maritimer was the leading figure in a tough episode that happened during a patrol by this destroyer on the west coast of Korea.

Ably assisting him was PO Robert Hotchin, 24, of Hamilton, the ship's medical assistant.

The Cayuga had provided heavy bombardment support for a successful raid by South Korean Marines and other troops behind Communist lines. Three serious casualties among the South Koreans were brought aboard the Cayuga. The day cabin of Cmdr. James Plomar of Saint John, NB, and Winnipeg, the ship's commanding officer, was quickly transformed into an operating room.

First came a man with a bullet lodged just over his heart. In 10 minutes the bullet was extracted. Another had a shell splinter in the groin and the third had had a bullet pass clean through his chest and out his back.

Lieut. Cyr believed the man had only one chance in 100 of living. The doctor collapsed the lung through which the bullet had passed. The other lung was tubercular.

Given Last Rites

The man was a Christian and the Rev. Richard Ward, Toronto, Roman Catholic Chaplain, administered the last rites.

Simply and sincerely the wounded man told an interpreter to say he knew he was going to die, but he did not mind if it would help bring freedom and unity to Korea. Two days later the young soldier was still alive, cheerfully puffing a cigarette.

The wounded were sent ashore and later Lieut. Cyr landed on the island to examine them. He found six others needing attention and in a mud hut performed more operations, including an amputation at the knee, with such instruments as he had taken with him in the usual surgical kit.

A South Korean officer expressed the thanks of the wounded. Canadian doctors, he said, would not soon be forgotten.

Nor would they be forgotten on another island where Lieut. Cyr had been called on earlier to perform another amputation. The mud hut's operating table was a wooden bench and 20 Korean Marines crowded around to see the operation.

The wounded Marine attempted to walk back to his barracks after that operation and had to be restrained by his comrades.

He and the others earned the doctor's admiration for their courage and sturdiness.

MORE MOTHERS AND DAUGHTERS USE FIVE ROSES

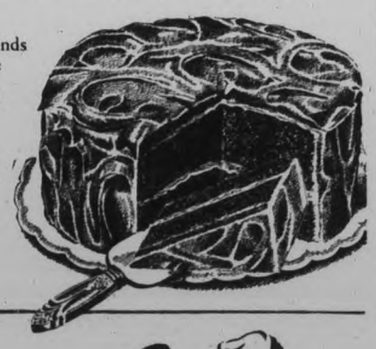
"A woman has to be practical to run a home, and the first thing I taught my daughter was to use just one flour for all her home-baking . . . FIVE ROSES. For cakes, cookies, buns, pies and bread, we both find FIVE ROSES ALL PURPOSE FLOUR is economical, dependable and nutritious. I've used FIVE ROSES for years . . . and its quality is just as good as ever—first-class!"

MRS. CLEMENT ABBOTT, Bonavista, Nfld.

"My mother has used FIVE ROSES ALL PURPOSE FLOUR ever since I can remember . . . used it for every home-baking need. In my own kitchen, too, I depend on FIVE ROSES' even texture and fine-milled quality for sure, nutritious results every time!"

MRS. IVY AMBEAULT, R.R. # 1, Bar River, Ontario

"One of the many things I owe mother is the teaching she gave me in her own kitchen when I was growing up. She taught me how to bake cakes, pies, cookies and bread with FIVE ROSES ALL PURPOSE FLOUR . . . taught me so well that I never have a failure in my own home. Both our families are FIVE ROSES families."



MRS. JAMES MAY, Box 276, Lunenburg, Nova Scotia

"Mother brought our whole family up on crisp, country-fresh home-bakings from FIVE ROSES flour, so naturally I use it for all my baking. My little one — and my husband, too! — can't wait to get into the cooky jar or taste pies made with FIVE ROSES — and when I bake a batch of bread, it seems to be eaten up in a minute! As soon as my little girl is old enough, she'll begin baking with FIVE ROSES — making three generations!"

MRS. GORDON SHEPHERD, R.R. # 1, Brigden, Ontario

Every year we receive thousands of letters telling us about the wonderful home-baked cakes, cookies, pies and breads that housewives make with this original all purpose flour! We know you will be equally pleased with FIVE ROSES — the "oven tested" flour for all home-baking.

Think Labor Gains In Early Vote

Balloting Heavy In Early Hours, Results To Be Slow

LONDON, Oct. 25. (AP)—An unprecedented surge of voting during the first six hours of the British general election today cooled some of the pre-election optimism in the Conservative party, one of its officials said.

Estimates of the expected Tory majority "have been scaled down," he added.

The official said the number of people who cast ballots between 7 and 9 am was "much greater than last time." The majority of these early voters would be Socialist government supporters, balloting before they went to factories and industrial plants.

"Every indication is that they (the Socialists) have succeeded in getting out a big vote," the official said.

Between 9 am and noon, the source said, the polling appeared to be running two per cent greater than in the 1950 election. Conservatives said they were confident that these ballots were "at least evenly divided, if not favorable to us."

The source, who asked not to be identified, said "estimates of the majority have been scaled down now. They are talking about 35 to 45 seats."

Approximately half the results in the election will be declared by dawn Friday but the final result may not be known until the afternoon.

Labor had a majority of six seats at dissolution of the 625-seat house.

This estimate, in fact, was the one held by independent analysts during the last four days. But Conservative supporters had talked of majorities running from 70 to 100 seats.

Say 500,000 Qualify For Pension

20-Year Residence Qualification Only Big Requirement

OTTAWA, Oct. 25. (CP) — Health Minister Martin said today that approximately 500,000 of an estimated 700,000 persons 70 and over have already qualified for federal pensions of $40 a month, starting next January.

An additional 15,000 to 20,000 applications are being approved each week and it is expected that registration will be completed by the end of the year.

He made the statements in the Commons while introducing legislation to provide pensions for all persons 70 and over, regardless of means, who have lived in Canada at least 20 years.

Disability pensioners and recipients of war veterans allowances, retired employees of industrial or commercial corporations, or municipal, provincial and federal governments, retired missionaries, members of the clergy and of the religious orders all will be eligible for the pensions.

Some Uncertainty

Mr. Martin said he mentioned the special categories because there appeared to be some uncertainty as to whether they would be eligible.

At present, pensions of $40 a month are paid to persons 70 and over who have lived in Canada for at least 20 years and who can prove their need for a pension. The Federal government pays 75 per cent of the cost.

Using Sales Tax Corporation Levy To Finance Plan

OTTAWA, Oct. 25. (CP)—Partial text of Finance Minister Abbott's statement in the Commons on measures to finance old-age pensions: It is proposed that the Old Age Security Act will impose these three kinds of taxes and they will be levied on what for convenience I might describe as the 2-2-2 formula. This means a two per cent sales tax, a two per cent personal income tax and a two per cent tax on corporate profits. I shall comment briefly on each of these items.

The two per cent sales tax levied in the Old Age Security Act will not be in addition to the present 10 per cent sales tax. Concurrently with the enactment of this tax in the Old Age Security Act, effective Jan. 1, 1952, provision will be made for a reduction from 10 per cent to eight per cent in the rate under the Excise Tax Act. In effect, a two per cent sales tax is being transferred from one act to another with no change in the over-all rate. I estimate the revenue from this source should amount to about $145,000,000 next year.

The sales tax more nearly approaches the ideal levy for financing social security than any other tax in our system. Where under social security provisions the benefits are to be universal it is only right that contributions to the fund should likewise be universal. Income tax, incidentally, reaches, I believe, about half of our working population. It seems clear that all should take at least some part, however small, in making provisions against need.

Rather Harsh

Taxation for social security finds justification in the benefit principle of taxation. All pensioners, rich and poor, receive equal beneftis. From this it could quite reasonably be argued that all should make equal contribution towards the fund, but such a system might be regarded as harsh and impracticable.

Under the sales tax method of financing, the burden through the $6,000 a year man will be contributing by means of sales tax about three times as much towards his $40 a month pension as the man with the $2,000 a year income. The $10,000 a year man will similarly be paying about 10 times as much for his pension as the $1,000 a year man. In the light of these facts, I suggest that

Churchill Sues London Paper On Libel Count

LONDON, Oct. 25 — (CP) — Winston Churchill sued the London Daily Mirror, a pro-Labor newspaper, for libel today for a general election spread saying Labor is the party "you can really trust" to defend the peace.

Conservative party headquarters announced the suit in mid-afternoon while millions of Britons were choosing between Churchill's Conservatives and Prime Minister Attlee's Laborites at the polling booths.

The Conservative party said in a statement:

"A writ has been issued on behalf of Mr. Winston Churchill for alleged libel contained on page one of today's issue of the 'Daily Mirror'."

All editions of the mass-circulation newspaper were alike today.

All bore the headline "Whose Finger?"

Have Sketch

Under the headline was a sketch of a gun.

The caption under this said: "Today your finger is on the trigger. See you defend peace with security and progress with fair shares. Vote for the party you can really trust. The Daily Mirror believes that party is Labor."

Nothing else appeared on the page except a picture of Attlee in the lower left-hand corner, and a picture of Churchill in the lower right-hand corner.

The Conservative party would not elaborate its brief announcement. Churchill himself could not be reached. The Daily Mirror also declined to comment.

Neither side could comment publicly before the suit is settled without risking a charge of contempt of court.

Woman Doctor Kidnapped, Found Safe

LONDON, Ont., Oct. 25 (CP) —A woman psychiatrist was safe at home today after being abducted and held prisoner four hours by two young men who robbed her of $20.

Dr. Olive Stewart, 41, said later she used her psychiatry on the men who kidnapped her in her own automobile after forcing their way into the car at a busy downtown London intersection about 9 pm.

She quoted her captors as saying they "were sorry" and "didn't like to do this" when they let her out of her car in the Oxford county of Canning, six miles west of Paris and about 50 miles east of London.

Discovery of the car later in Galt, about 12 miles northwest of Paris, touched off a hunt by scores of provincial police cruisers that centred on the Galt area.

The case recalled the kidnapping in London 17 years ago of John Labatt, millionaire brewer, who was held for ransom four days in a Muskoka district cottage, 12 miles from Bracebridge. Labatt was released after his brother, Hugh, was reported to have drawn $150,000 from a London bank for the payment of ransom demanded by the abductors.

However, there was no apparent motive for the kidnapping of the prim practitioner whose specialty is the treatment of mental diseases.

Dr. Stewart and a friend, Dr. Elizabeth MacKay of Toronto, were walking along a downtown street to where Dr. Stewart had parked her grey sedan. Dr. Stewart slid behind the wheel and Dr. McKay was about to follow her into the car when the kidnappers brushed her aside.

One man climbed into the back seat and the other got in beside Dr. Stewart. As the car pulled away, with Dr. Stewart driving, one of the men held his hand in his pocket and told her:

"You wouldn't want to make me shoot, would you?"

Lt. Governor Meets Old Pal

Peterborough's most distinguished former mayor, Hon. Roland F. McWilliams, Lieutenant Governor of Manitoba, arrived at the CPR station at 11:40 this morning to take part in the official opening of the city hall Friday. Mayor Max Swanston extended an official welcome to the lieutenant-governor on behalf of the city, and Arthur J. McClellan, who played football with His Honor when Peterborough won the Dominion Intermediate rugby championship in 1899, also met him as he stepped down from the train. It was a sporting reunion as the two old-time local football stars swapped tales of the game back in 1899 when Mr. McClellan blocked a kick to score the winning touchdown as Peterborough defeated a team from Montreal Westmount 4-1 to win the Canadian Intermediate crown.

Captain of Team

The Lieutenant-Governor was captain of the Peterborough football team of 52 years ago.

Elected Mayor of Peterborough in 1907, he went to Winnipeg in 1910 where he has lived ever since. On November 1, he will celebrate his 11th anniversary as Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba.

"I come back to Peterborough at least once a year," His Honor told The Examiner. He added that he was last here this spring visiting his sister, Mrs. W. H. Miller and nephew, Robert McWilliams.

While he is in Peterborough, he will be staying with his nephew, Robert, at 374 Hunter St. West.

New York Housewives, Children Queue Up In Grocery Stores As Milkmen Strike

NEW YORK, Oct. 25 (AP)—Housewives and children rushed to queue up in grocery stores and processing plants for milk rations today as a milkmen's strike cut off deliveries to 12,000,000 New York area consumers.

Milk drivers and plant workers in New York City and surrounding counties, northern New Jersey and southwestern Connecticut, represented by the Teamsters Union (AFL), walked out Wednesday demanding a 20-per-cent pay increase.

How long the supply on hand for over-the-counter deliveries would last was questionable.

Some stores that had stocked up estimated they could dole out milk for two days. Stocks of others were depleted already.

Some restaurants were serving coffee without cream or milk.

The 15,000 strikers exempted hospitals, schools, military installations and institutions from the tie-up.

Former Queen Dies In France

VERSAILLES, France, Oct. 25 —(AP). — Former Queen Marie Amelie of Portugal died today. She was 86.

She was a granddaughter of the last King of France and the mother of the last King of Portugal. For more than 20 years she lived in the quiet Chesnay suburb of Versailles, near Paris, where the inhabitants spoke of her as the "forgotten Queen."

Her death followed a long illness.

The widow of King Carlos I, Marie Amelie fled from Lisbon with her son, King Manuel, during the revolutionary coup of 1910, when Portugal was proclaimed a republic.

The former Queen was born in Twickenham, England, the daughter of Prince Louis Philippe d'Orleans, Count of Paris, on September 28, 1865. Her father was the son of France's King Louis Philippe I.

During the Second World War she defied the Germans by hanging the Portuguese Republican flag from the window of her home. She was driven from her chateau in 1940, but later was allowed to return.

United Church Peeved Not At Royal Dinner

TORONTO, Oct. 25 — (CP) — The United Church of Canada, which claims a membership of 800,000, protests that it was not represented at the state dinner in Ottawa Oct. 10 for Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip.

In an editional in this week's issue of the church paper, "the United Church Observer," the church voices "a sincere and vigorous protest."

"There was no representative of the United Church of Canada present at this function," it says. "No invitation had been issued. Two Roman Catholic representatives were present in their official capacities and one Anglican ..."

Sees No Hope Of Red Friendship

TORONTO, Oct. 25 — (CP) — A. D. P. Heeney, under-secretary of state for external affairs, said today that in the foreseeable future "there seems to be no real prospect of our being able to establish friendly, or even normal, relationships with the Soviet world."

The one world hoped for at the end of the Second World War is unattainable as far ahead as one can see, he said in a speech prepared for delivery. Mr. Heeney was addressing the combined luncheon meeting of the Toronto branch of the United Nations Association in Canada and the Empire Club.

Four Injured In Collision

BARRIE, Oct. 25 (CP) — Two youths and two girls were injured, one severely, early today when an automobile in which they were riding collided with a truck and plunged over a 30-foot embankment on a highway a mile south of here.

Police said the driver of the truck leaped from his vehicle and fled.

Most severely injured was Paul Tremblay, 19, of Belle Ewart, in Simcoe County. Taken to hospital in Toronto with a compound fracture of the skull and other injuries, he was given a 50-50 chance of survival.

William Armstrong, 19, Barrie, was brought to hospital here with a crushed chest; Dawn Lauson, 16, Barrie, suffered severe facial cuts; Kathryn Wilson, 16, Barrie, was treated for shock.

Police said the truck, owned by First Co-op Packers of Barrie and believed stolen, went out of control on a curve, smashed into a guard rail, careened off into the path of the car and then wound up in a ditch on the opposite side of the road.

Pound Rail System

US EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Oct. 25 (AP) —Allied planes pounded the crippled North Korean rail system today in one of the war's most concentrated attacks.

Wave after wave of fighter bombers roared down on Communist rolling stock. US Fifth Air Force officers said the Reds were completely surprised and had no time to seek shelter.

Nine locomotives and 99 railcars were destroyed. Nineteen locomotives and 129 cars were listed as damaged.

Three brief jet battles were recorded during the day. One Russian-made MIG-15 was damaged. There were no reports of allied losses.

Russian Envoy Confers With Egyptian Leader

CAIRO, Oct. 25. (AP)—Russia's envoy to Egypt met for 90 minutes Wednesday night with Egyptian Foreign Minister Salah El Din, and Cairo newspapers erupted today with banner headlines on the news.

Salah El Din told a reporter after the meeting that he and Soviet Minister Semen Pavlovitch Kozyrev had discussed "Egypt's support of Russia's demand for appointment of a Russian judge at The Hague international court, and other questions concerning Egypt."

The independent newspaper Al Ahram said Salah El Din, asked by reporters whether Russia had offered Egypt arms, replied that armament affairs were not discussed.

Won't Leave

Britain, already maintaining a tight military and naval control of the Suez Canal zone, reiterated her determination not to be forced out of the vast cotton-growing Sudan to the south.

In the Sudan's capital, Khartoum, civil secretary Sir James Robertson told the Legislative Assembly today Egypt's cancellation of the 1899 condominium agreement is invalid. The agreement set up joint British-Egyptian control of the Sudan, which Egypt now claims as hers alone.

Egypt has said she will give the Sudan self-rule under the Egyptian crown, with Egypt retaining control of defence, finance and foreign affairs. From the British side, Robertson today promised the Sudanese "a full self-governing constitution" by the end of next year.

Robertson indicated, however, that Britain also plans restrictions, at least at first, on Sudanese independence. The constitution, he told the Assembly, would satisfy the "immediate aspirations of the Sudanese.

Weather Delays Atomic Exercise

LAS VEGAS, Nev., Oct. 25 — (AP).—Threatening rain today put a damper on the preliminary phase of Exercise Desert Rock, the joint Army-Atomic Energy Commission manoeuvres.

The initial rehearsal for the atomic battlefield test was held at dawn Wednesday with B-29 bombers making what appeared to be a conventional bomb run.

The AEC did not say how many such dry runs will be made before the atomic drops start.

No test was scheduled today.

Buffer Zone Compromise

MUNSAN, Korea, Oct. 25 (AP) —The United Nations today proposed a give-and-take compromise to set up a buffer zone across the war-torn Korean peninsula.

The UN proposal called for the Allies to yield about 200 square miles of North Korea in the east, and for the Communists to give up a similar area in the west.

The buffer zone would be about 2½ miles wide and follow generally present battle lines.

The proposal was introduced in a sub-committee meeting in Panmunjom shortly after cease-fire negotiations were resumed by the main Red and Allied teams, ending a 64-day breakdown in the parleys.

There was no immediate indication of Communist reaction. The Reds previously demanded a buffer zone along the 38th parallel, old political boundary between North and South Korea.

Maj.-Gen. Henry I. Hodes, who presented the allied proposal, cautioned the Reds to accept it or face a less favorable offer later.

Moonshine Mixture Kills 32 Effects Spread To Tennessee

ATLANTA, Oct. 25 (AP) — A deadly moonshine mixture of wood alcohol and water has killed 32 persons in Georgia and its effects have spread to Tennessee.

Two residents at nearby Winder, Ga., died of methyl alcohol poisoning Wednesday night, Police Chief G. L. Banks said, and a third was in critical condition.

Police at Nashville, Tenn., said a man who left Atlanta early in the week was in critical condition with symptoms of liquor poisoning.

Thirty persons—26 of them negroes—died here after drinking the poisonous brew.

Police arrested a former convict on a manslaughter charge today.

Prosecutor Paul Webb announced that John R. Hardy, whose police record shows several convictions of liquor law violations, was taken into custody at an Atlanta hospital.

Hardy went to the hospital for treatment of injuries he said he received in a car accident.

Police charge that Hardy bought the illegal liquor into Atlanta. They pressed a hunt for another man accused of mixing the deadly brew.

The two latest Atlanta victims, who died Wednesday night, were negroes. Charlie Simmons, 42, died within an hour of drinking the poison. The other victim was John Blount, whose wife died Monday.

Of 13 negroes arrested by the police, eight have been charged with involuntary manslaughter. The others were still being questioned.

Since the first deaths Monday night, 207 persons—five of them white—have been treated at the municipal hospital. Thirteen remain in the hospital, two of them blind.

BULLETIN

Hint Possible Chance Oil Talks To Reopen

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25 (AP) —State Department officials appeared cautiously optimistic today about chances for the resumption of talks between Britain and Iran in their bitter tug-of-war over Iran's oil nationalization.

United States officials were reported to be exploring intensively with Iranian Premier Mohammed Mossadegh proposals for a formula which might provide a basis for negotiations. The British government is being kept informed of developments.

American officials were hopeful today of working out some formula which would meet Iran's adamant insistence on control of its rich oil industry, but still permit Britain to continue marketing the oil at a substantial profit.

George C. McGhee, Assistant Secretary of State took over discussions with Mossadegh when Secretary Acheson left today en route to the Paris session of the United Nations General Assembly.

TWO FORMER FOOTBALL BUDDIES, the Hon. Roland F. McWilliams, Centre, lieutenant-governor of Manitoba and former Mayor of Peterborough, and Arthur J. McClellan, Right, met on the station platform today at noon for the first time in more than 50 years. His Worship Max J. Swanston, Left, and Mr. McClellan formed a delegation of two to welcome the lieutenant-governor to the city on the eve of the opening of the new City Hall in which he will participate. — (Examiner Staff Photo)

Philip Catches Eight Fish Durina Holiday

VICTORIA, BC, Oct. 25 (CP)—Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip today had their last day of rest before getting back into the hurly-burly of their Canadian tour.

They enjoyed a quiet day Wednesday at Eaglecrest Lodge, 106 miles north of here, fishing and walking through the 225 acres of autumn-tinted woodlands which surround the resort.

It rained heavily during the morning for the sixth consecutive day of their stay in British Columbia and the Royal couple stayed indoors by the fire.

But the rain let up somewhat in the afternoon and the couple went fishing in Georgia Strait.

Catches Salmon

Philip pulled in eight grilse—young salmon weighing about two pounds each.

The Princess, dressed in blue raincoat and hood with calf-high rubber boots, didn't do any fishing. Philip wore a tweed jacket and grey flannels.

The motorboat was handled by E. L. Boultbee, one of the owners of the $500,000 Lodge.

Later in the afternoon, the couple walked around the grounds. Philip carried a shotgun but no pheasants were spotted.

The report on the couple's holiday activities came from an information officer with the Royal party. Reporters covering the tour have remained here to permit the Princess and her husband some privacy during their brief vacation.

Today the couple was scheduled to watch some timber-topping by high-riggers. Other plans for the day were not announced.

ATTLEE AND NON-VOTERS—Britain's Prime Minister Clement Attlee strolls with some children from his own London constituency, Walthamstow West, during the general election campaigning. Britons go to the polls today to choose a government.

33 Million Deficit With US

OTTAWA, Oct. 25. (CP)—A $33,700,000 deficit in Canada's trade with the United States during August—result of a sharp climb of imports over exports—brought Canada's total adverse balance in US trade to $407,700,000 for the first eight months of 1951, the Bureau of Statistics reported Wednesday. However Canada chalked up slight gains in increased sales to Britain and other countries, trimming the total August deficit to $3,900,000 and paring the over-all eight-month debit balance to $335,800,000—still the highest deficit in history. The eight-month deficit in US trade was the largest since the $644,500,000 recorded for the same period in 1947.

Exports to the US during August increased to $195,800,000, from $170,000,000 last year, pushing the eight-month total to $1,527,600,000 from $1,257,800,000.

Total Imports Up

With Canada's industrial and consumer markets demanding increased supplies of foreign goods, total imports from all countries during the month increased to $357,500,000 from $267,300,000, driving the eight-month total to $2,830,500,000 from $1,979,800,000.

Total exports during August climbed 32 per cent to $353,600,000 from $260,600,000, and during the eight-month period to $2,494,700,000 from $1,965,500,000.

In trade with Britain, Canada scored a small surplus of $27,600,000 for the month, bringing the eight-month credit balance to $88,000,000 compared with only $61,100,000 last year. Exports for the month totalled $66,600,000, compared with $42,800,000, increasing the eight-month total to $395,000,000 from $315,020,000.

In spite of Britain's drive to increase dollar sales, however, imports from the UK increased only slightly to $39,100,000 for the month from $34,300,000 last year, boosting the eight-month total to $307,000,000 from $254,200,000.

Note Weaker Support On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, Oct. 25 (CP) — Weaker support today in early afternoon dealings eased stock market prices for moderate declines. Industrials opened with little trend after a strong two-day advance.

Papers and liquors shared first place as industrials' strongest sections. Gains were fractional. Utilities, agricultures, constructions, steels, foods, refining oils, banks, textiles, retail stores and miscellaneous industrials made little headway. Manufacturing companies weakened.

Base metal leaders edged higher while lower-priced issues showed a majority of moderate gains. Falconbridge, International Nickel, Noranda and United Keno Hill added fractions. Barvue, Cassiar, Mindamar, Osisko, Sherritt-Gordon and Silanco climbed pennies.

Western oils dipped slightly. Ajax Petroleum, Canadian Collieries, Devon-Leduc, Jupiter, National Petroleum, Royalite and Calvan Consolidated drifted lower. Calgary and Edmonton, Long Island Petroleum and Selburn countered the trend with small gains.

Senior golds turned mixed after early weakness. Juniors held firm while prospects and holding companies showed little trend.

Turns In Alarm

Dr. MacKay ran to give the alarm while the car drove off.

The 95-pound Dr. Stewart, severe and professional-looking in pale shell-rimmed spectacles, said later that she wasn't worried over the turn of events because she knew her friend would tell the police and that they would look for her.

Her captors, "quite young," seemed perturbed at having abducted a doctor.

"I never talked so long or so fast or used my psychiatry to such advantage," she related. "We drove all over the countryside."

The men's main worry seemed to be over how to get rid of her.

Walked To Canning

After they let her out, she walked a mile down a deserted country road until she reached the village of Canning. There she knocked on the door of Mr. and Mrs. Harold O'Connor, telephoned police and calmly drank coffee with Mr. and Mrs. O'Connor until a police cruiser arrived.

Dr. Stewart was graduated from the University of Western Ontario here in 1935. During the Second World War she attained the rank of squadron leader in the RCAF medical services. After the war, she joined the staff of the Ontario Hospital at St. Thomas, as clinical director and remained there until 1947. She resigned to enter private practice here as a psychiatric specialist.

Dollar Down

MONTREAL, Oct. 25 — (CP)— The American dollar today opened at 5 1/32 per cent premium to the Canadian dollar, down 1/32 from Wednesday's close. That is, it took $1.05 1/32 Canadian to buy $1 American.

The pound sterling was $2.94 1/16, down ⅛ from Wednesday.

Under the new program, pensions will be paid to all 70 and over regardless of means provided they can meet the 20-year residence requirements. The program will be financed on a "pay-as-you-go" basis by special contributions into a fund established especially for the purpose.

The first pension payments will be made in January.

The federal government has been authorized to share on a 50-50 basis with the provinces the cost of pensions to needy persons between 65 and 69 who have lived in Canada for at least 20 years. These payments will start in January in those provinces which have signed agreements by that time with the federal government.

In addition, the federal government will share on a 75-25 basis with the provinces the cost of $40-a-month pensions to blind persons 21 and over who have lived in Canada for at least 10 years. These payments also will start in January in provinces which have concluded new agreements with the federal government.

Mr. Martin said there now are approximately 320,000 persons 70 and over receiving the federal-provincial pensions on a means-test basis. These persons along with an estimated 380,000 others will qualify for pensions under the new federal program, making a total of 700,000.

About 145,000 needy persons between 65 and 69 are expected to qualify for the federal-provincial pensions when agreements have been concluded with all provinces.

Approximately 8,000 blind persons are expected to qualify under the Blind Pensions Act.

The three programs are expected to cost the federal government a total of $378,000,000 in 1952, compared with 1951-52 pension expenditures of $106,000,000.

Damages Train, Fined

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 25 — (AP) — A motorist who damaged a train in a triffic collision was fined $537. The verdict Wednesday went to the Seaboard Air Line Railroad against J. K. Tyler. The railroad sued for $2,500 and Tyler filed a counter-claim for $4,999.99 as the result of the collision in 1947. The court ruled Tyler was negligent.

Seeks Fifth Term

TORONTO, Oct. 25 (CP) — Mayor Hiram McCallum will seek a fifth term in Toronto's Dec. 3 municipal election, it was learned today. He is expected to make his formal announcement later this week.

Priest Marries California Girl

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 25 — (AP)—A Roman Catholic air force chaplain, recently returned from Korea, was honeymooning today with his 24-year-old bride.

He was identified by the San Francisco Call-Bulletin as Lieut. Thomas J. Mitchell, 34, of New York.

Mitchell was discharged from the hospital at Travis Air Force base near San Francisco last Friday. A Travis spokesman said the priest was found to be free of psycho-neurotic symptoms.

A Rena justice of the peace, Laurence Laymon, said he performed a marriage ceremony there last Friday for Thomas J. Mitchell and Pauline Zaina of Ukiah, Calif.

A Travis officer, who asked not to be identified, said he was acquainted with Mitchell, and that the priest, while in Korea, decided he no longer could keep his vows of celibacy and could not in good conscience perform the duties of a priest.

An official of the San Francisco Catholic Archdiocese said a priest by marrying, automatically would be excommunicated from the church.

Foggy and Cold

The weather—usually considered a key factor in British elections—was foggy and cold over most of England and Wales. Rain clouds were reported over Scotland and Northern Ireland. Clearing weather was forecast for most of the country later today.

Election experts of both parties said the total vote might exceed the record set last year when 28,769,477 (85 per cent) of nearly 35,000,000 registered voters cast ballots.

From Buckingham Palace came word that the King, still recuperating from a major lung operation will remain awake until midnight tonight to get election results.

Election-recording boards were set up in Piccadilly Circus and in other gathering points by London newspapers.

Sales Tax

any argument about unfairness of using sales tax for financing old age pensions is not very impressive.

The proposed personal income tax will be in addition to the tax at present in force. A special levy of two per cent on taxable income will be imposed with a ceiling of $60 on the amount of the tax. That is to say, the social security tax will be two per cent of taxable income or $60 a year, whichever is the lesser. The intention is to have a separate item on the income tax form identifying this special tax. This tax will not come into force until July 1, 1952.

Starts In Middle

For the first year as a whole, then, the tax will be only one per cent with a limit of $30. The change in the withholding rate by employers will be on the basis of a two per cent tax commencing in the middle of the year.

I might explain why the coming into force of this tax has been delayed six months.

In my budget last spring, I resorted to the use of surcharges in the income tax field. This was a temporary device to bridge a period of extreme uncertainty in the international situation. It was hoped that by next spring we should have a clearer view of the prospects. Accordingly, I stated that my tax proposals of last spring were to be regarded as an interim policy for the period of the current year.

My present intention in my next budget is to discard the device of the surcharge and to embody direct in the income tax structure such a level of taxation as appears to be necessary in the light of the situation next spring. Whatever seems necessary at that time will constitute the new rate structure.

No Predictions

Certainly I make no predictions now as to what the budget of next spring will have in store for us. The present point is that there will be at least a technical revision of the income tax rate structure in the process of removing the surcharge as such, and in order to avoid having to require employers to change their tax withholding tables twice in a six months' period, it seemed preferable to postpone the coming into force of the two per cent social security tax so that the one revision of the tax withholding tables could give effect to both changes at the same time.

The point I should make quite clear is that whatever happens to the ordinary income tax—whether it is abolished completely, cut to half, or doubled, there will be in existence a two per cent special tax for old-age security. On a full year basis, this two per cent additional on taxable income of individuals should yield approximately $95,000,000.

The third item of revenue in the old-age security act will be an additional two per cent on corporate profits effective January 1, 1952. It is expected that this tax will produce approximately $65,000,000 in a full year.

At present the tax on corporations is 15 per cent on the first $10,000 of profit and 38 per cent on the excess with a 20 per cent surcharge on the 38 per cent rate only, making the effective rate of 45.6 per cent on profits over $10,000.

The additional two per cent will bring the rates to 17 per cent on the first $10,000 and 47.6 per cent on profits above $10,000. In addition to the Federal tax there are corporate income taxes of five per cent in the eight provinces with which we have tax agreements, and taxes of seven per cent in Ontario and Quebec.

Potato Expert In The Chips

TORONTO (CP)—E. C. Snyder of Preston, one of Ontario's top potato experts and the donor of a championship in the vegetable show at the Royal Agricultural Winter Fair to be held here Nov. 13-21, is one man who is really "rolling in the chips."

The Waterloo county potato grower, who is the donor of prize money in the Royal's table stock potato class, has uncovered a profitable market—he produces potato chips, millions of them.

Mr. Snyder, who got the idea of turning his crop into potato chips in 1933, when two bags of potatoes were selling for as low as 25 cents, is now processing up to 300 bags of chips a day in a plant which employs 40 people.

This year the chip king has 150 acres in potatoes and his plant, which operates year-round, provides a market for hundreds of Ontario potato growers.

So jealous is Mr. Snider of the quality of his product that he used a hydrometer to check the specific gravity of his potatoes. This is done because a high reading indicates a low moisture content, which is essential for high-grade chips.

Common Sense Needed In Liquor Store Vote Says Mayor W. M. Cramp Of Orillia

FRANK ROOT of Campbellford, LEFT, chats with Mayor W. M. Cramp of Orillia at a meeting in Campbellford when Mayor Cramp told the citizens of the advantages to the town in establishing government stores for the sale of beer and liquor.—(Bill Reid Photo)

CAMPBELLFORD, Oct. 25 — (ENS)—"Let commonsense rather than prejudice be your guide. I am confident that you will not regret this forward move and will be opening up a more prosperous future for your community and the surrounding area," said Mayor W. M. Cramp of Orillia, on Wednesday evening, pointing out the advantages of having a government liquor store and beer warehouse in the town.

Mayor Cramp came to Campbellford to give the citizens of the town an idea what to expect if government stores are established as a result of the vote on October 31.

Mr. Cramp gave many examples of improvements in business and other conditions in the town of Orillia as a direct result of the town voting wet. He spoke of the prohibitionists as a minor group controlling the majority. Temperance, he said was not abstinence, but moderation in all things.

He pointed out that in towns such as Campbellford where beer and liquor is not available, people must drive to other towns to procure their supplies. When in these towns, the people purchase not only their liquor and beer, but groceries, clothing, gasoline and many other items.

This, he said, was particularly true of Orillia. People who go to other towns to make their purchases of beer, are also inclined to drink while they are there, he said, creating traffic hazards on the roadways leading to and from the town.

Mr. Cramp gave figures showing violations under the LCA had courtrooms crowded in Orillia before the stores were established, whereas in the past two months, only two cases have been reported in each month. Orillia also had the highest accident record in that section of the province, but it is now one of the lowest, he said.

Speaking of business increases, the mayor gave figures, and read letters from a number of prominent business men which showed sales in jewellry, clothing, drugs, automotive supplies and the restaurant business up in varying amounts from 20 to 32 per cent.

Collections are not as hard to make now as they were previously, and using his own business as an example, he said sales were much above last year, despite higher costs of many items.

One of the bitterest opponents of government stores, a man who predicted a decline in business is now building a wholesale warehouse containing nearly 35,000 square feet of floor space, to accommodate the increased business that has come in from out of town as a result of the establishment of the stores.

Bootlegging in Orillia has been virtually wined out. Previously there were 76 known bootleggers. At this point the mayor said that from what he could find out from people who had travelled through the Campbellford district, that number was one short of the number reported to be in Campbellford. (A few years ago there were 42 known bootleggers in Campbellford, and this number has reportedly increased greatly during the past few years.)

The mayor said he was definitely not in favor of beverage rooms, and said that of all the towns that had voted in government stores, not one had subsequently voted in a beverage room, and it was not likely any would. Likewise none of the towns that have voted in government stores in recent years have subsequently voted them out. The merchants and citizens of the towns all appear to be perfectly satisfied with the stores as they are being operated. "They provide added employment, and have a moderating effect on drinking," he said.

Local option was introduced in Campbellford in 1908, and has held sway ever since. If stores are established, the speaker pointed out that they can be voted out if desired, and the establishment of government stroes in no way affects the rights of local option.

Glen Taylor, who presided as chairman of the meeting, thanked the mayor for his address, and also thanked Charles Wickens of Edgewater Park for donating the hall for the occasion. Mr. Taylor is president of the Campbellford Affirmative Citizens' Committee. George Braham also expressed his thanks to the speaker, and to the business men who accompanied him on his trip, and warned against overconfidence in the result of the plebiscite. He urged everyone to get out and vote and said his committee would provide cars, baby sitters or trained nurses to anyone who needed them, on election day.

After the mayor's speech, the crowd enjoyed dancing until midnight. A large number of councillors and officials attended a dinner given for Mayor Cramp prior to the general meeting.

Ayrhart Urges 'Yes' Vote Campbellford Liquor Store

CAMPBELLFORD, Oct. 25 — (ENS)—Mayor J. E. Ayrhart of Campbellford was not able to be present at the address given by Mayor W. M. Cramp of Orillia on Wednesday evening, but forwarded a letter, excerpts from which are below.

Mr. Ayrhart has promoted the idea of a beer warehouse and liquor store in the town for many years.

To the Citizens of Campbellford:—I hoped to be present in Campbellford at the meeting on October 24, to express my views regarding the coming plebiscite.

I have never histated to do everything within my power to further the interests and welfare of my home town and its citizens, many times at considerable inconvenience and expense to myself. Yet I have felt amply rewarded by the confidence shown me time after time on election day.

All the decisions I have made, have been made to the best of my ability and in the interest of the majority of the citizens. Many people think that by keeping these stores out of the community they are preventing excessive drinking, but the opposite is true.

Bootleggers in the town thrive and there has never been any scarcity of liquor. Young people consider it clever to be able to go to a bootlegger and procure a bottle of whisky to take to a dance. With the bootleggers out and government stores in, this will be impossible.

Any system that says ⅓ of the people can force their will on 2/3 is wrong in the first place, and anyone who thinks forcing people to drive 10 miles to Hastings or farther to other towns to purchase spirits is tending to prevent people from drinking are so badly mistaken, it is pathetic.

I have seen far more indulgence in so called dry towns of Canada than I have in towns where government stores are located.

If I thought a government liquor store and beer warehouse would cause more drinking or be responsible for any of our younger people learning to drink, I would fight as hard against them as anyone, but I know the reverse is true.

As your mayor, and this is probably the last advice I will give in an official capacity, I do not hesitate to say: Vote yes for a liquor store and warehouse, but never vote for a beverage room.

Signed. J. E. AYRHART,
Mayor, Town of Campbellford.

Mr. Glen Taylor read the mayor's letter to the meeting.

Mrs. Nelson Tait Dies In Cobourg

COBOURG, Oct. 25 (ENS) — The death occurred here Wednesday of Mrs. Nelson Tait after a long illness. Her death came as a result of a series of heart attacks during the past few days. She was born at Wicklow but had resided in Cobourg most of her life and was active in Women's Institute work, being a past district president. She was also a member of the Rebekahs.

Mrs. Tate was twice married. He rfirst husband was Herbert Wicks, who died after about 42 years of married life and six years ago she married Nelson Tate. There is one son by the first marriage, Laird Wicks. Also surviving are a sister, Mrs. Fred Earl and a brother, George Cool, both of Cobourg. Funeral will be on Friday with interment in St. Peter's Anglican cemetery.

Tonight's Bedtime Story

In the great Dominion of Canada, in 1951, there were three little pigs, who lived with their Mother. One day the Mother Pig said: "You are old enough now to live by yourselves." So the little pigs went out into the world to seek their fortune.

The first little pig met a man with a load of straw. "Man, man," cried the little pig, "will you give me some straw to build myself a house?"

"Haven't you heard about the cost of hay, straw, feeds and all farm products?" asked the man, driving on.

The second little pig met a man with a load of sticks. "Man, man," he cried, "will you give me some sticks to build myself a house?"

"Not with timber at its present price," said the man. "Why, I can even sell these softwood limbs for $16 a cord, for firewood." And he drove on.

The third little pig met a man with a load of bricks. "Man, man," he cried, "will you give me some bricks to build myself a house?" And the man said: "Little pig, you have obviously not been doing much building lately; I wouldn't give a brick to my own mother, and even if I did give you some you couldn't get an ounce of structural steel for your single-family dwelling-unit." And he drove on, chuckling at the little pig's simplicity.

So all three little pigs went back to their Mother, and lived a crowded and uncomfortable life in the old family sty, writing letters to the paper to ask why the Government didn't do anything about it.

Ottawa's Highway Control

The Supreme Court of Canada has unanimously ruled that the Federal Parliament has constitutional power to control interprovincial and international highway traffic. This ruling is not of immediate importance to everybody who uses our highways. They will still be provincial-built, maintained and policed by the provinces. The importance lies in the constitutional significance of the ruling.

* * *

The judgement was given on a case brought to the Supreme Court from lower courts, involving a dispute between an American bus company operating into New Brunswick. New Brunswick had ruled that the bus company could not pick up or drop off passengers at New Brunswick points on its route between Boston and Halifax. What has now been decided is not that such restrictions on bus company operations may not be imposed; but that the Federal Parliament, not a provincial legislature, has the authority to do so. Provincial governments can assert control over highway traffic only if that traffic begins and ends within the provincial boundaries. They cannot bar their highways to buses, trucks or other commercial traffic using these roads as a "through" route from one province to another, or from the United States into Canada. Control of such traffic is now within the jurisdiction of Ottawa.

* * *

The Supreme Court ruling, based on the British North America Act of 1867, reasserts what the Fathers of Confederation intended when they framed the Act. Matters affecting two or more provinces, or a province and another country, are the sphere of the Federal Government. This seems an essential basis of Canadian law and government, but in the 85 years since Confederation it has been circumvented decade after decade by legislative default or decisions of the British Privy Council. During those 85 years there was a drift towards provincial supremacy halted only twice —in 1914-19 and 1935-39. So great was this tendency that the "strength of a legislative and administrative union" which Sir John A. Macdonald hoped for was dangerously impaired. There was, for instance, a constitutional paralysis in the thirties. Various Dominion-Provincial conferences since then have tried to reconcile unity with diversity and fit the country constitutionally for changing, expanding peace-time conditions.

* * *

Gradually some cohesion and strength has come from these and from the realization of the need for action on national rather than provincial and sectional lines. The Supreme Court's judgement on the highways question halts the legislative and constitutional drift to ten provincial kingdoms, and asserts what the founders of this country intended and is more than ever necessary to its health and strength: that the Federal Parliament is the governing authority on any matters outside the boundaries of a single province. There are to be no road-blocks between one province and another; and any barriers between Canada and the United States are to be erected only by authority of the Federal Parliament. That is as it should be; Canada is one nation; not a loose collection of ten principalities.

At Last—The Smellies!

The trouble with modern life is that you cannot think of anything horrible without discovering, shortly afterward, that somebody has invented it. We have often joked about "the smellies"—movies accompanied not only by sound, but by appropriate smells. And now Professor Basso Ricci, of Milan, Italy, has made the smellies a reality; his invention has been tested and found practical.

The Professor is enthusiastic, but we find his reports depressing. When the hero of a film is seen riding over the prairie, the Professor can cause a light and pleasant breeze to blow in the faces of his audience; that is fine. But if the hero jumps from a parachute, the Professor can make his audience feel an appropriate difficulty in breathing, and that we should not like at all. If somebody in the film has a cold, Ricci can make you want to sneeze; he can make the audience feel drowsy in a sleepy sequence. This is wonderful, no doubt, but we do not want to undergo such experiences. The art of acting we admire, but we do not want to have it supplemented by the use of opiates and stimulants.

We doubt, however, if the Ricci invention will catch on in North America; our censorship of movies is too careful. To see a lovely woman on the screen is occasionally permitted, but we cannot imagine that the Ontario Motion Picture Censorship Board will allow us to smell her scent; acts of violence might result which the ushers could not control. Ricci makes a great point of the fact that when people on the screen are drinking brandy, he can fill the theatre with a delicious brandy bouquet; this, of course, would drive all the thirsty souls out of the theatre in search of a drink, and would cause all the advocates of total abstinence to cry aloud in indignation. Any realistic evocation of the smell of a New Orleans alley (in Streetcar Named Desire) or a medieval sewer (in Hunchback of Notre Dame) would chase away the paying customers. And what about the thousands of people who are allergic to dog-hair? Lassie would have to go back to the kennel, a broken dog.

We are sorry we ever joked about the smellies, and we shall take care never to think of anything horrible again. This is an age where one's bad dreams are likely to come true.

Why Was There No Explanation?

In matters of public concern it is always best to provide an official explanation of any unusual act; if no explanation is given there is likely to be suspicion that something is being concealed.

Consider the discontent and rumour which has arisen about the transfer of Major-General Kurt Meyer from Canada to Germany. Meyer was a Nazi officer whose fate is of special interest to Canadians, for he was condemned to death for his complicity in the shooting of Canadian prisoners-of-war in Normandy; later his sentence was commuted to life imprisonment and he was brought to Canada and put in one of our penitentiaries here; now he has been taken back to Germany, presumably to be imprisoned there. But he was removed from Canada quietly—almost by stealth—and this has created a bad impression.

Presumably Germany wants Meyer because he is a native of that country and Germany now enjoys a renewed sovereignty. It is said that Meyer was not enjoying privileges which are common to life prisoners; specifically, he could not be visited by his family, because they are in Germany. Frankly, we do not find this a sufficient or convincing reason for his removal.

It is hard to suppress the feeling, also, that Meyer will not be kept in prison in Germany. The Allies imprisoned him, for an offence against us. Are the Germans, who are especially devious and petulant in matters concerning national pride, likely to keep Meyer in prison to please us?

The mistake in this matter lay in not making public the fact that Meyer was being returned to Germany, and the reasons for that return. If the reasons were not good enough to make public, they were not good enough to excuse an act which appears to have been done secretly.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Doctors are puzzled by a woman who cries from one eye only. Of course this permits her to watch the effect of her weeping with the other.

A news item says that three motorists have robbed a hitch-hiker—an unpleasant reversal of the usual unpleasant procedure.

As the Ottawa Journal wryly remarks, the time is not far off when this country will be needing a good five-cent cigarette.

Islamic Sickness World Crisis?

by SEBASTIAN HAFFNER

THE Pakistani Prime Minister, Liaquat Ali Khan, was the third leading Moslem statesman to be assassinated this year. Earlier, the Persian Prime Minister, General Rasmara, had been murdered in March, and King Abdullah of Jordan in July. But these are only the most prominent recent victims of assassination in the Moslem world. Besides them, the Persian Minister of Education was also murdered this year, and if one looks back over the past year or two, one has to add to the last seven Egyptian Ministers or Prime Ministers, two Syrian Prime Ministers, and one Libyan ex-Premier.

THE circumstances and background of these crimes are not always exactly alike, but they are sufficiently similar to make one feel that the murders are more than the disconnected acts of fanatical individuals. Nearly all the victims of assassination were, or were suspected to be, "Westerners" — men who tried to co-operate, or at least to come to terms, with the leading Powers of Western contacts, and who stood for the "modernization" and "progress" of their countries in the Western sense of these words. Their murderers were nearly always representatives of the same mixture of political emotions; fanatical religious zealotry, extreme nationalism, hatred of everything foreign in general and everything Western in particular, and devotion to "holy war".

It is probably wrong to suppose that behind all these murders, or even behind many of them, there is a widespread, deliberate, and purposeful plot. But it is hard to escape the suspicion that even so they are a portent of possibly very grave political developments.

✧ ✧ ✧

ONE is reminded of the large-scale series of political murders, which took place in Germany in the early years of the Weimar Republic, and to which within a couple of years in the early 'twenties two leading German statesmen—the Finance Minister, Erzberger, and the Foreign Minister, Rathenau—as well as a number of lesser-known political figures, fell victim. These murders, also, were at that time the work of individuals or small groups, without a common organization or a clear political programme; but those individuals, too, had a curiously identical mental make-up and were driven by the same explosive mixture of political emotions. Hitler was at that time unknown outside the world of Munich beer cellars, and the Nazi Party hardly existed in most parts of Germany. Nevertheless, it is clear in retrospect that these murders were manifestations of exactly the mentality which within a decade was to produce Hitler's Third Reich—that in them the thing which was to become known as Nazism was already active before it had a leader, an organization, a programme, or even a name.

Could it be that a similarly dangerous and irreconcilable movement is in the making in the Moslem world? If so, it would certainly confront the West with a problem and danger hardly less serious than the present Communist one.

✧ ✧ ✧

SEEN in a historic perspective, the Moslem world is certainly at a very dangerous stage of its development. Islam has, of all world religions, probably still the strongest grip on its adherents; and it has always been a fighting religion. At the same time, the Islamic world has adopted the Western concept of nationalism (perhaps the most dangerous and inflammable element in the amalgam of modern Western civilization), and it has sufficiently nibbled at science and industrialism to want its fruits, without as yet being able to grow them by its own efforts. Nor has it learned the new social techniques of the West by which industrialism is humanized. It has accumulated resentment through several generations' experience of Western Imperialism, and has by now become sufficiently independent to translate this resentment into action. And it is torn between the wish to be as strong, wealthy and powerful as the hated and alien West, and the equally strong wish to retain and affirm those beliefs and institutions which prevent it from becoming strong, wealthy, and powerful. From such insoluble dilemmas civilizations easily tend to escape into violence.

BRITISH policy, at least for the last thirty years, has been one of consistent and deliberate appeasement of Moslem nationalism —in contrast to French policy, which continues unashamedly to be one of imperialism and assimilation. It looked for some years as if the British policy was more successful than the French one, but recent experiences throw some doubt on its superior wisdom.

To give in to national aspirations of dependent communities, even if the communities concerned have as yet little of the attributes of viable nationhood except fanatical nationalism, and even if premature political independence retards their economic and social progress and interrupts the process of Westernization, may still be defensible on the ground that it avoids conflict. If it does not avoid conflict but leads, at a slightly later stage, to even more bitter conflict, the case for it becomes very thin indeed.

✧ ✧ ✧

IT now looks as if the national emancipation or near-emancipation of the Moslem States, at a stage when they were mid-way in the difficult transition from one civilization to another, has left them with a split mind and is releasing dangerous and violent forces which threaten to pass out of the control of the rational and Westernized leaders of the original emancipation movements. If the thin crust of these leaders is broken up by assassination and intimidation, the West may find itself faced with forces as feverish and irrational as those of European Fascism and Nazism to which they bear some resemblance. If this political sickness should spread through the Moslem world, which inhabits almost uninterruptedly the whole land-strip from Morocco to Indonesia, it could produce a world crisis of the first magnitude and a crucial test for Western civilization and the Powers which represent it. The old-fashioned political scheme of imperialism versus nationalism would be thoroughly inadequate in dealing with such a situation. We may rather find ourselves involved, without quite knowing it, in a world conflict betwen civilizations, a return match of the medieval conflict between Islam and Christianity, in which our complicated post-Christian Western civilization—based on science, industrialism, nationhood, political democracy, social planning, and secularized Christian ethics—may face an uncannier and more alien opponent than its demented uncle, European Fascism, and its hostile cousin, Russian Communism.

Sinclair Lewis In Swift Verse

by C. F. CRANDALL in the New York Herald-Tribune

SINCLAIR LEWIS won a pound from me once—it was worth $4.86 then—on a bet he could not write a sonnet within four minutes, based on end-rhymes which I would provide. I have the result on my desk as I write this.

We were dining at the Spanish Restaurant on Swallow Street, off Piccadilly, in London. I forget when—some time between the wars in the late '20s or early '30s. Just four of us. Lewis, Hank Wales, of the Chicago Tribune, one of its top correspondents; Herb Bailey, of British United Press, a red-headed tough and brilliant English journalist, and myself, now the only survivor, unless Hank has hidden himself in retirement somewhere.

I forget how the conversation drifted into a semantic discussion, in the course of which I recalled Ford Madox Ford's claim that, given the end-rhymes for a sonnet, he could complete the poem in two and a half minutes. In his "No More Parades" he has his favourite character, Tietjens—a projection of himself—perform this feat in a casual way, amid the turmoil of an orderly officer's dugout in the front line.

I told the party that a few months earlier I had been the table companion of Ford on an Atlantic crossing, and that, late one evening in the bar, I asked him if he really could do that. When he said "Certainly", I said "Fine! Do it now and I will provide pencil and paper." But he said he was not in the mood, which I could readily understand, and suggested some other time.

✧ ✧ ✧

WHEN Lewis heard this, he said:

"Anything that fat slob can do I can do. Want to bet?"

"Okay", I said, "make it a pound."

He nodded, and I got a piece of paper from a waiter and started to write, in a column, fourteen words to end the lines of a sonnet, with the first, fourth, fifth and eight lines tuned to one rhyme, the second, third, sixth and seventh to another, with the remaining six lines sharing three rhymes among them.

It took me a lot longer than the agreed sonnet schedule to think of words that rhymed that way—words that had no connection and meant nothing—and while I was at it, Lewis said:

"Now, wait a minute! Ford is a poet; a real poet. I haven't written a poem for twenty years. Give me four minutes?"

I agreed, and finally produced the following words, written in pencil in a column at the right side of the narrow sheet: EYES, WAR, DOOR, RISE, FLIES, ROAR, MORE, CRIES, HIGH, CROW, DAWN, NIGH, SQW, LAWN.

Then Hank Wales pulled out his stopwatch; Lewis borrowed a fountain pen, and I handed him the paper.

He stared at the column of unassociated words for about fifteen seconds, motionless. Then he started to write swiftly. But at the seventh line his pen ran dry. He made a brief but appropriate comment. I handed him my pencil and he continued to write with hardly a pause, until he had finished, just ten seconds ahead of the deadline.

Here is the result:

"The things that pass before these dreaming eyes
The scarlet and the dirty grey of war
The dying woman carried through a door
The auto racers flashing o'er a rise
The new clean youth that o'er the ocean flies
Silent and grim amid the ocean's roar
And sighs alone for dangers more and more
And hears on desolate coasts the bittern's cries
Oh! these things make me hold my head on high
Oh! these things make me laugh and cheer and crow
In them I see mankind's more noble dawn
And see the smiling angels now draw nigh
For in these things a newer soul we sow
And walk with angels now on Heaven's lawn.

I have the original with his signature, faded but still legible; not a poem for an anthology, but in the circumstances it seemed to me sheer magic. Anyway it cured me of writing. I stuck to a desk thereafter.

✧ ✧ ✧

INSTEAD of paying the debt in cash, I bought a bottle of wine. Vintage champagne was cheaper in those days. While we were sampling it, Lewis said, "Hell, you think that's a trick! I'll show you a trick! Give me any topic you like and any poet you like, and I'll improvise in his style".

The news sensation of that particular day was the arrest of a Member of Parliament, who was also an internationally known economist, together with a girl, on a charge of certain improprieties in Hyde Park. So one member of our party complied with:

"Here's a nice topic, Red — Midnight in Hyde Park: and by Kipling."

And with only an instants' pause Lewis started in the swing and rhythm and rhyme of some of the "Barrack Room Ballads", an hilarious and rather ribald extension of the press reports. On he went line after line without a pause, until after a few minutes I put up my hand and said "Milton". And in less time than you could change the gear in your car, he translated the same theme into the solemn beat of Milton's blank verse, and wickedly.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

There was a man of the Pharisees, named Nicodemus, a ruler of the Jews: the same came to Jesus by night, and said unto him, Rabbi, we know that thou art a teacher come from God: for no man can do these miracles that thou doest, except God be with him.

Jesus answered and said unto him, Verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God. Nicodemus saith unto him, How can a man be born when he is old? can he enter the second time into his mother's womb, and be born?

Jesus answered, Verily, verily I say unto thee, Except a man be born of water and of the Spirit, he cannot enter into the kingdom of God. (John 3: 1-5.)

Letters To The Editor

WHO OWNED FIRST CAR?

Sir: Can any Peterborough citizens with long memories inform me when the first typewriter was brought into the town, also the first automobile, the first motor truck, the first gasoline launch, the first radio, and the first television set? In each case I would like to know the approximate date, the model or make, and the owner. Also when did the first airplane fly over Peterborough, and who was the first in town to own one, and what type? These modern pioneers should have their names recorded in the History of Peterborough and the Kawarthas which I am engaged in writing, and information would be welcomed.

PENSIONERS' VOTE

Sir: Will you please settle this argument in your voice of the people.

1. Is a person of 70, drawing a Means Test pension entitled to vote in the coming election?

2. What amount of wages over and above the forty dollars a month can a married man earn in 1951 "Means Test Pension", no dependents?

3. When does a person register for the No Means Test Pension who is 70 next June, now or next June?

Yours truly,
FACTORY WORKER.

(Ed. Note: 1. Yes, he is entitled to vote unless he is living in an institution for the aged and not fully paying his own way in it.

2. A married man aged between 65 and 70 may earn up to $720 a year (i.e. $60 a month) and still get the full pension of $40 a month provided he is living with his wife and if she does not get the pension or otherwise have any income. If the wife also gets the pension he may earn up to $240 a year (i.e. $20 a month). The principle is this: couples may have a combined income up to $1,200 a year including pensions before they are disqualified from old age assistance. Thus if husband and wife are both pensioners they get from the pension $960 a year. This allows them to earn together an additional $240, to bring their combined income up to $1,200. If either earns more than $240 a year, the $40 monthly pension is correspondingly reduced, and will disappear when their combined earnings come up to $1,200 a year. In "earnings" must be included victory bond interest, estimated rental value of a house which the pensioner may own and live in, etc. The "old age assistance" to persons aged betwen 65 and 70 is designed to help only those in very great need of financial assistance; who would otherwise be practically destitute.

3. A person who does not reach the age of 70 before next June need be in no hurry to register for the universal old age pension. Sometime next winter will do. Best not to leave it until June, however.)

Court To Decide If Backing Careless Driving

Defending an Indian River man on a charge of careless driving, T. J. Carley, KC, said in police court Wednesday that if his client is convicted on the evidence, district farmers would be guilty of negligence every time they crossed highways with hay wagons or cattle.

"If this man is held guilty of carelessness, I don't see how anyone could cross our provincial highways," said Mr. Carley in urging Magistrate W. R. Philp to dismiss a charge of careless driving against Manley Neff of RR 1, Indian River.

The charge against Neff was laid following an accident on Highway 7 just east of the city limits May 9. Neff was backing across the highway when Earl H. Houston of Otonabee township, who was driving a motorcycle east on the highway crashed into the rear of Neff's truck.

Broken Leg

Houston received a broken leg in the accident and he is still on crutches with his leg in a cast.

After hearing the evidence, Magistrate Philp adjourned the case until October 30 for judgment.

Neff testified that he was going west on Highway 7 when a foreman of the company he was working for hailed him from a service station on the south side of the highway.

Under questioning by defence counsel Carley, Neff said he backed his truck up the full length of the vehicle (17 feet) on the shoulder of the road. Neff said he started back across the highway on an angle toward the south east, "looked up and saw the motorcycle about 300 feet away when the truck was about the centre of the highway...I kept backing up, saw the motorcycle getting close to me. I stopped and then the motorcycle hit me."

Houston, the injured motorcycle driver, testified that the truck was in motion at the time of the collision but Neff denied this, claiming he had stopped the truck before the motorcycle struck the left rear wheel.

The evidence of Houston was given on a charge of reckless driving but crown attorney J. A. Bradshaw said he was "inclined to agree" with Mr. Carley's submission that "on the evidence there was nothing to warrant a conviction of dangerous driving." Magistrate Philp dismissed the reckless driving charge.

When a charge of careless driving was read against Neff, he pleaded not guilty, and with the consent of Mr. Carley, the crown evidence given in the reckless driving charge was allowed to stand for the lesser charge.

When Houston was called to the stand to reply, he said he could have pulled off to the side of the road, but added: "It is not safe to pull a motorcycle off on the shoulder in the spring."

Under examination by Crown Attorney Bradshaw, Houston said he did not go behind the truck "while it was still moving because he would have been killed if the truck had run over him, and he did not go to the right because he would have been on the wrong side of the road."

Kept Backing

In submitting the crown's case, Mr. Bradshaw said Neff "knew the motorcycle was coming fast—then he was negligent in continuing to back up, knowing the motorcycle had travelled between one-third and one-half the distance" (from the time he first saw it).

Mr. Carley contended there was "no careless driving on the part of Neff.

"Surely a man couldn't be asked to do more than Neff did," said Mr. Carley, stressing the point that Houston "could have turned in the store, the service station, or gone behind or in front of the truck."

"I have yet to see a case where a person has turned out endeavoring to find a way around an obstacle to avoid an accident," said Magistrate Philp. "It seems to be human nature to hold to one's own side of the road."

"Suppose the motorcycle was travelling 50 miles an hour and had covered half the distance (to the truck when it paused before backing on the highway), would the motorcycle driver expect the truck to go ahead and back across his path? I think not, Mr. Carley," said Magistrate Philp.

After adjourning the case against Neff until October 30 for judgment, a similar charge of careless driving against Earl Houston, the motorcycle driver, was read in connection with the same accident. It too was adjourned until Ocotber 30.

Sticks To Job

METHUEN, Mass., Oct. 25 — (AP)— A 15-year-old newsboy, wounded in the face by a stray bullet Wednesday, insisted on delivering his papers before accepting medical attention. Maurice Gagnon told police he was pedaling along his route when he heard a shot and something struck his cheek. He wiped away the blood and set out to deliver his remaining 19 papers. His next customer, Joseph O'Brien, offered to take him to the hospital, but Gagnon insisted he had to "finish my route." O'Brien took him the rest of the way in his car and then to the hospital.

Says Canadian Price Level Soars Past US

NEW YORK, Oct. 25 (CP). — An official of the United States Office of Price Stabilization reported Wednesday that without price controls Canada has seen her average retail price level rise almost nine times as fast as it did in the US from January's general price freeze to August of this year.

James G. Lyons, OPS regional director for New York and Northern New Jersey, made the statement which he said was based on a Canada-US study made by the US Bureau of Labor Statistics.

In contrast, Lyons noted, retail prices had been rising faster in the US than in Canada during the period between outbreak of the Korean War June 25, 1950, and the January, 1951, price freeze here.

He emphasized that he was not implying that the general cost-of-living was lower in the US than in Canada, "but only that the price level has been rising more sharply for our great and good neighbor without price controls."

From the date of the US price freeze January 26 to August of this year (the latest date for which comparative data is available) food prices rose 12 per cent in Canada and only 0.4 per cent for the US, Lyons said.

Foods Dropped

In the same period, foods dropped 0.7 per cent in New York City. For the same span, retail prices rose 7.8 per cent in Canada compared with only a 0.1 per cent rise in New York City.

"Prices for necessities such as clothing, rent, fuel, house furnishings, and for the miscellaneous group including transportation, medical care and recreation also have risen more rapidly in Canada since we have elected controls and our neighbor has not," Lyons added.

"On the other hand, it is interesting to note that before our January freeze, prices for all of the cost-of-living items except rent (which has been under almost continuous control in many US cities) had been rising faster in the US than in Canada."

Orfuns and PCVS Teams Go In Important Games

Sport fans will have one eye glued on Morrow park and the other eye directed at the CNE stadium Friday night when Peterborough's Orfuns and the PCVS Garnet and Greys engage in the season's most important games. Both games share equal importance.

Coach Frank Gnup's Orfuns have a do or die type of grid game at Morrow Park with the Galloping Ghosts. A loss will drop the Orfuns out of the running in the intermediate "A" play while a win would make the horizon rosier, perhaps a tie at the end of the season.

Around the league centres, the odds favor Gnup, guaranteed that the Orfuns will "do a better job this time than last."

Ghosts Cash In

The Ghosts took advantage of Orfuns not playing their positions adequately and slipped them a three-touchdown loss in their first meeting.

Gnup added, "We're in better shape and the boys know their plays better. We'll give them a run for the money by throwing everything we have at them".

Except for a slight knee injury to Spike Matthews, the Orfuns are in good shape. Gnup will be counting on former PCVS junior, Creighton Johnson, at centre secondary. The lanky lineman, an up-and-coming senior player, missed the first game with the Ghosts.

The lineup will be much the same as the Oshawa game: Murray Dewart at quarter, Bill Huntley, Ron Hodson, Lou Nickle and Lally LaLonde at half, Spook Graham at snap, John Lynch and Frank Fitzgerald at inside, Gord Beatty and Wally Farr at middle, Don Mc Gillis and Clive Naismith at outside.

Red Feather

In Toronto coach G. B. (Bev) Goulding will lead his Garnet and Greys against Kirkland Lake in the Red Feather tournament for the Ted Reeve trophy and the Ontario Secondary School championship.

This will be Peterborough's second attempt for the championship in the past three years. As COSSA representatives two years ago, they played Sarnia in the opening game and lost 2-1 although they outplayed the blue and white throughout the game. This time coach Goulding is making no predictions but he has definite hopes, based on previous experiences.

Caught napping at lest six times Saturday by Orillia's sequence sleeper play, three in a row for a touchdown, the Collegians stressed Monday their pass defence and pass blocking. They followed up with extra work on tackling and kick formation.

New Opponents

Every game for the PCVS team this year has meant new opposition so the footballers should be used to various teams' play. Meeting Kirkland Lake for the first time, therefore, should not be any great obstacle.

The Garnet and Grey starting line will be the same as in the Orillia game; Bryan Young at quarter, Warren Brown, Murray Grafstein, Buster Jensen and Bob Craw at half, Paul Frise at snap, Larry Forbes and Hugh Outram at inside, Jim Telford and Stan Facendi at middle, Spin Hope and Ted Sanders at outside.

The championship is awarded, not on winning the game, although it counts considerably, but on the team's offensive and defensive strength, the strategy used, smartness in action, sportsmanship and team spirit.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

Chicago Black Hawks of the National Hockey League traded forwards Bud Poile and George Gee to Detroit three years ago today, in exchange for forwards Armond (Bep) Guidolin and Jimmy Conacher, and defenceman Doug McCaig. Chicago general manager Johnny Gottselig said the deal "will help strengthen our defence" but the Hawks during the summer were still trading in efforts to improve.

Anti-Trust Law Violations Hearing Ended

By JOSEPH C. GOODWIN.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25 (AP) —A House committee has wound up its investigation of baseball but chairman Emenuel Celler (D-NY) cautions there is no quick answer to the question of whether the sport violates the anti-trust laws.

"There are many complicating factors," Celler said Wednesday as the hearings closed. "For that reason the sub-committee will not attempt any hurried solution."

Celler guessed it might take several months.

The hearings ended shortly after Larry MacPhail, former New York Yankee president, called for the organization of six major leagues instead of the present two.

MacPhail didn't say how, or where, his six major loops would be set up. And the members of the judiciary sub-committee apparently were too surprised to ask.

Ford Frick, baseball's new commissioner, declared in a television interview in Cincinnati Wednesday night he believed it was "improbable" there ever could be six major leagues.

Six Too Many

Frick said that at some future date he could envision three, possibly four major leagues, but that he thought six such loops were "improbable."

MacPhail also contended that major league radio and television broadcasts are killing minor league baseball, and the major league farm system should be sharply restricted.

The sub-committee questioned MacPhail at length on a document he wrote in 1946 that called baseball a legal monopoly, said it was a big business and questioned the legality of certain baseball regulations.

MacPhail said the idea of the document, drawn up by a steering committee he headed, was to jar other major league club owners in adopting certain accompanying resolutions. The resolutions, he added, were adopted.

30 Attended Nylon Workout

KINGSTON, Oct. 25.—Thirty candidates attended the initial practice of the Nylon-SAC senior "B" entry Tuesday night in the Community Memorial Centre but coach Stan Scrutton made it a light affair owing to the poor condition of the ice surface. The junior Vics, who were carded to follow the seniors into action, were kept idle under the circumstances.

Among those who went through their paces at the Nylon gathering were goalkeeper Don Dougall, Bob Markle of Owen Sound, Don Murray, Bud Ohlke and Jack White of last year's Queen's University seniors, Cliff Aitkin, recently of the Gananoque intermediates, Ron Babineau, from the Pacific Coast League, and Stan Stewart, a local forward who has seen service with Vics, Renfrew and in the Scottish League.

The next workout will be staged on Friday and it is thought likely that a large squad will be present then and on Saturday. The management has lines out for reinforcements and is hopeful that some well-known puck-chasers will answer the call.

Trying For Match With Maxim–Charles

NEW YORK, Oct. 25 (AP). — Promoter Jimmy Murray of San Francisco said Wednesday he is negotiating for a match between light heavyweight champion Joey Maxim and former heavyweight champion Ezzard Charles.

Murray said Maxim's manager, Jack Kearns, and Charles' co-managers Tom Tannas and Jake Mintz, had agreed to the bout but had not yet reached an agreement on terms.

The 10-round bout, which would be staged in San Francisco Dec. 12, would be the fifth between the two fighters. Charles has beaten Maxim four times.

Juvenile Champ

Greentree stable's Tom Fool clinched the juvenile championship the hard way Wednesday by capturing the $53,000 East View Stakes at New York's Jamaica race track. The son of Menow-Gaga, responding gamely to one of Ted Atkinson's whipping specialties, won first money of $35,225 by a neck over Lazy F Ranch's Put Out. Another neck behind in third place came King Ranch's Risque Rouge.

The victory boosted Tom Fool's total earnings to $155,910 on a record of five victories and two seconds in seven starts.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

There'll be a hot time at Morrow Park around eight Friday night when Cobourg's Galloping Ghosts tackle Frank Gnup's Orfuns. A most important ORFU fixture. The Orfuns have been trying vainly for several years to stop the Ghosts, who keep on winning Ontario and Eastern Canada intermediate titles. Most gridders around the circuit say the Ghosts are the luckiest outfit alive and unvariably win on the other guy's fumble. But it can't all be luck. No, this will be a hard battle as Orfuns are really rolling lately and might well stop the Ghosts in their tracks. A flock of lakeshore fans coming up with music and noise. Should be a swell scrap before a big crowd.

Other weekend grid activity has PCVS seniors meeting Kirkland Lake in Toronto tomorrow night to start the big two-day Red Feather tourney. Bev Goulding's bunch are highly hopeful of the outcome. Johnny Lynch's junior St. Peter's squad can clinch group honors Saturday aft in Cobourg with a win o'er the lakeshore lads. To advance in "B" playdowns. SPS seniors had a postponement of an exhibition with Whitby last p.m. away. Separate school rugby schedule resumes on Tuesday with St. Peter's playing St. Alphonsus. Sacred Heart plays St. Anne's next day. It winds up on Nov. 8.

Cut Out Those Fags

Smoking is a hot subject in sports circles, according to a bulletin from Sports College, since the dismissal of a McGill halfback for breaking training. Lloyd Percival, coach of this government-sponsored College, says it has been found that smoking has increased 22 per cent since '45 among teenage athletes in Toronto. Another medical authority claims that cigarettes can reduce team efficiency by as much as 25 per cent. Endurance tests among senior athletes have shown reductions up to 40 per cent in stamina and ability to recover after hard physical effort. It is certainly not advisable for younger athletes to smoke. Seniors, too, should be careful.

The Petes' hockeyists have signed two imports to date, centre Stan Groshak (on Chicago Hawks' list) and leftwinger George Steele. Both are husky, fast-skating young pucksters, and will show regularly in the senior "B" schedule lineup. A couple of former junior "B" Oddfellows, Bob Wyatt and Dean Wasson, have also been signed by the club, we hear, among others. Complete list has not yet been released since open workouts for the Petes are booked for 8.30 tomorrow e'en and again at 10 a.m. on Oct. 28 in Civic Arena. That's likely the last open drill, as Jim Ellis and Drake Jopling will have a pretty fair idea then as to the 1951-52 team.

An Early Exhibition

An exhibition hockey tilt will be staged in Lindsay tomorrow night between the senior "B" Petes and Coach Al Burns' intermediate "A" Muskies of the Scugog centre. Junior West, who played ball for Lindsay the past season, will be opposing his buddies of the same team, Stu Hicks and Lew McTaggart. Others with the Burns' bunch are: O'Connell, Davis, Green, Hennessy, Parker, Crawford, Sixty Coombs, Corley, Lewis, Mike Burns, Blake, Abercrombie, Donahue, Mac Ellis and a few more. Incidentally, Eagles will miss Al Burns on defence this season, as the hard-hitting player has been turning in a fine game at the blue line the past couple of seasons.

* * * * * *

Junior "B" Oddfellows, under Coach Johnny Godfrey, are working out regularly and go again at six p.m. tomorrow and at two p.m. Oct. 28 in the last open drills. Some 25 players still in the running for berths and it looks like another strong junior squad here. Manager Len Symonds is hopeful of a similar grouping to last year which had Belleville, Oshawa, Port Hope, Peterborough and Lindsay in a tight race. The IOOF-ers lost six via the over-age route and Ray Douglas has gone to Waterloo, but some right promising replacements are on tap. Elmer Pearse is club president this year, Herb Youngs vice-prexy, Glen Edwards secretary and Bob McCuaig treasurer. The Triple Link Club also sponsors a juvenile PMHA team. New equipment has replaced that burned in the big George St. fire early last summer.

Hardy Horse

SAULT STE. MARIE (CP.) — When a taxicab struck a horse on the highway near here, the horse apparently was not injured. Provincial Constable Bill Cook reported the horse may have had a few minor bruises, but the taxi was damaged to the extent of $30.

HIGH STEPPER—A Cadre Noir mount salutes as Capt. Jacques d'Illiers puts him through drill preparatory to the National Horse Show at Madison Square Garden, Oct. 30-Nov. 6. Ten crack cavalary officers from the old school at Saumur, France, are to provide the spectacle.

Orfuns Asked To Play Benefit Game

Peterborough Orfuns have been asked to play a benefit game in Hamilton with the Hamilton Panthers for Angelo Cicero, a lineman with the Panthers, who died a week ago as the result of a nose injury.

A meeting was held by the Orfuns' directors and no decision will be made until after Friday's game with the Cobourg Galloping Ghosts.

The directors feel that they should not commit the team to exhibition games until the league playoff situation is cleared.

Might Be Tie

At present there is the possibility of a three-way tie for first place in the Eastern Ontario intermediate league between Peterborough, Cobourg and Oshawa Red Raiders. If not, a possible two-way tie for second place between the Orfuns and the Ghosts.

The injury was believed to have been suffered during a game between the Western Ontario league-leading Panthers and Weston in Weston on October 8.

At the time Cicero did not complain of any injury and seemed quite cheerful. The next day he was rushed to hospital with a high temperature and died a week later.

Here And There In Sports

By The Canadian Press

In an all-out effort to pave the way for a new deal in football in Calgary, president Tom Brook and the complete executive of the Calgary Stampeder Football Club resigned office at a closed meeting Wednesday.

The announcement, made by former president Brook, followed three days of discussion in which various committees met with the purpose of arriving at some solution which would put Calgary football on a firmer basis.

Decision of the executive to resign in a body was made so that the decks could be cleared for a new deal in Calgary football as soon as possible. It was thought that taking such a step would allow the next executive plenty of time to get organized on its plans for next season.

Stampeders finished out of the Western Conference playoffs for the second consecutive season.

There was no mention made concerning the status of coach Les Lear who has handled the team for the last four years.

It's expected the financial question will pose the biggest problem and rumor has it the team is anywhere from $30,000 to $50,000 in the red following this season's operations.

The Winnipeg Blue Bombers are making no bones of their intention to win when they meet Eskimos at Edmonton Saturday in their sudden-death semi-final football game.

The winner earns the right to advance against Saskatchewan Roughriders for the western championship and a chance at the Grey Cup final.

The confident Bombers feel it's just another game.

But there was cause for concern in the Bomber fold Tuesday when Don Mattingley was taken to hospital with a mild case of blood-poisoning resulting from a bruise. The youthful centre from Sarnia, is expected to be out in a couple of days but his absence from the line-up Saturday would put a big dent in Bomber plans.

Jockey Richard McCraw, 23, was killed Wednesday when he was tossed over his horse's head during the running of the seventh race at Waterford Park in Newell, W.Va. Deputy Sheriff Robert Edwards said McCraw's horse, Junior Ireland, stumbled or was bumped at the three-quarter pole. McCraw was thrown and broke his neck.

Jockey Gil Robillard, suspended last summer by the Ontario Racing Commission in its investigation of the race-fix scandal, and re-instated Tuesday "pending further investigation," rode Wait On Me, winner in the first at Toronto's Dufferin Park Wednesday. Up on Little Slip in the second, Robillard failed to grab the double—which paid $57—placing to Georgie V by 12 lengths.

Li'l Arthur King of Toronto carved out a split 10-round decision over Teddy (Red Top) Davis of Hartford, Conn., Wednesday night before a small crowd at New York's St. Nicholas Arena. King weighed 134¾, Davis 132½.

Directors of the Maple Leaf Gardens in Toronto announced on Wednesday night they will present an annual trophy, known as the J. P. Bickell Memorial Trophy, to the Leaf hockey player who has shown the greatest prowess during the previous season. The late J. P. Bickell was a director of the Maple Leafs. Directors will select the winner at their annual meeting.

Boston Red Sox Wednesday gave veteran catcher Warren (Buddy) Rosar, 37, his unconditional release. Rosar, who began his big league career with New York Yankees in 1939, came to the Sox from Philadelphia Athletics after the 1949 season in a deal which sent infielder Billy Hitchcock to the A's.

Plastic "Bird" Not Liked By Local Badmintoneers

Peterborough badminton players in general have expressed disappointment in the new plastic shuttlecock, claiming it is not up to advance notices. While it is much more durable than the feathered shuttle, the flight and pace of the "bird" are not consistent. It has been tried out since the season opened recently at the Market Hall.

The club executive has brought back the token system of paying for birds, which was so popular a few years ago. A player may purchase four tokens for half a dollar, the price of one bird. When a foursome commences a game, the person supplying the bird receives a token from the other three players. If they have not bought tokens they must pay the shuttle supplier 13 cents. Thus every player shoulders a fair share of the cost.

The club captain will run a round-robin tourney Nov. 3 and hopes for a good turnout.

Champions Play

Some top-flight racquet wielders will put on an exhibition in Port Hope this Friday. Barbara Ince, Joan Warren, Dick Birch and Grant Henry, all champion players will be there, and Peterborough players are invited to see the play.

The local club journeys to Port Hope on Nov. 10 for inter-club matches, the return being here the next week. An invitation has been sent to the Toronto Strathgowan Club for a match here Dec. 1.

Some youngsters around 10 and 12 years old have signed up. Joy Elmsley had a group of youngsters out Tuesday for their first lesson. Instruction will be supplied by the club Tuesday and Thursday evenings for anyone wanting to learn the fine points. Those interested should contact Roy Johnson, club captain. Verna Rose is the ladies' captain.

OMHA Rules Forum Plans 9 Appearances

TORONTO, Oct. 25 (CP)—The Ontario Minor Hockey Association rules forum will make the first of nine appearances this season in Thorold, Nov. 1.

The sessions are primarily designed to instruct referees and encourage uniform interpretation of playing rules. Coaches and managers will also be asked to attend.

Other dates: Gravenhurst, Nov. 2; Wingham, Nov. 7; Oakville, Nov. 8; Wallaceburg, Nov. 9; Belleville, Nov. 15; Simcoe, Nov. 16; Kitchener, Nov. 20; Lindsay, Nov. 23.
